TESTED IN MAMMON'S CRUCIBLE TO WHAT IS LOVE REDUCIBLE?

Relatives of 82-Year-Old Man Who Wish to Annul His Marriage to Woman Aged 35, Tell Stories of His Oddities—Doctors Are Prepared to Testify Both For and Against His Sanity.

Barrie, Oct. 1.—"The idiocyncrasies of the 82-year-old bridegroom," would seem an appropriate title for the peculiar law suit that confronted Justice Britton in the assizes here yesterday, by which Catharine McCormick, maiden lady, hopes to have her octogenarian second cousin, Michael Fraser, declared insane and incapable of handling his own affairs, whereby she hopes to annul his marriage to 35-year-old Hannah M. O. Robertson of Dundas, last January, and thus prevent an estate of $80,000 passing into the hands of strangers upon his death.

For a so-called "civil" suit, the evidence yesterday showed anything but amity between the opposing factions, and the court-room, which, yesterday morning, was the scene of one of the saddest tragedies, when two people were sentenced to death, was suddenly converted into a theatre of crude burlesque. Wave after wave of laughter swept the crowded room, and as ridiculous instances pertaining to the case came to light from the witness stand.

There are three eminent sanity experts ranged on one side against equally eminent experts on the other, three who will attempt to show that old Michael Fraser was and is of sufficiently sound mind to appreciate the seriousness of taking unto himself a wife, and three who will say that he is a lunatic.

The defence of the marriage will be supported by the expert testimony of Doctors N. H. Beemer, superintendent Mimico Asylum; C. K. Clarke, Toronto Asylum, and J. H. Cameron, M.D., insanity specialist of Toronto University. Associated with them are: Doctors Russell, ex-superintendent Hamilton Asylum; P. H. Spohn, ex-superintendent Penetang Asylum, George Bowman, Penetang, and Dr. Richard Raike, of Midland. On the side of the plaintiffs are Drs. Arthur Jukes Johnson, and J. M. Cotton of Toronto, and Edward Ryan, superintendent Rockwood Asylum, Kingston. Dr. Ryan gave evidence last evening to show that Fraser was a victim of senile dementia, and it was unshaken in a rigorous cross-examination by Counsel J. K. King, K.C.

Justice Britton decided to hold the balance of expert testimony for Osgoode Hall. The judge also intimated to Mr. King last night that he would not bring old man Fraser down to-day from Midland.

The evidence of Robert McCormick and Catharine McCormick went to show that insanity was prevalent in the Fraser family, from the father of the seven boys down to Michael. Of the whole seven boys, Samuel, who was once reeve of Tay Township, was the only one that didn't show insane proclivities, they swore.

Richard Hartley and Wm. Smith neighbors, corroborated the observations of the McCormicks as to Michael Fraser's peculiarities, and told of the measures the second cousins adopted to try and prevent the alleged marriage. From Smith it developed that a self-appointed committee assumed charge of Michael's affairs upon the death of the last surviving brother, John, and through this committee, Robert McCormick got $3,000 and his sister $1,000 from Michael, after his brother's demise, Aug. 31, 1909.

On Sept. 30, Michael and Miss Robertson planned to get married, which the "committee" succeeded in thwarting, it appears. Mrs. Robertson then threatened to bring a breach of promise suit, and Dr. McGill, on the "committee," told her to go ahead and he would make the judge laugh at her by relating Fraser's physical and mental incapacity.

Miss Catharine McCormick, plaintiff, was put on the stand by A. E. Creswicke, K.C., and corroborated in detail the testimony of her brother as to the tendencies of the whole Fraser family.

"What other indications did you observe of insanity?"

"He cursed and swore about taxes and the town and the country in general, though he didn't swear in former years."

Justice Britton: "Apparently, then, he was afflicted with some mania against schools and taxes, as his brother John was?"

"Yes, just the same." From John's death on Aug. 31, he had acted queerly towards women. "He asked me to marry him on the day of John's funeral, and again on the second of October. While the funeral service was on he asked Miss Brown to play the piano, and he wanted both her and me to sit on his lap."

Miss McCormick intimated that it was an evidence of insanity on Michael's part to want to marry his second cousin.

"Did he speak of Miss Robertson."

"Yes, and I said, 'Don't talk nonsense,' and be said, 'Perhaps it is nonsense.' Then he told me how she loved him. She used to sit on his knee and kiss him and told him she loved him better than King Edward or anybody in the universe."

Dr. Edward Ryan medical superintendent of Rockwood Asylum, Kingston, examined Fraser on June 14 last, in the presence of Doctors Raikes, Jukes, Johnson, Clarke and Cotton. He found the heart enlarged and hardened. Fraser had the date of his birth correct, and gave the names of his brothers, but wasn't clear as to whether they were living or dead. First, he said two were dead, and he had seen John two months ago. None had died in the asylum. He had said Monck was the present Governor-General and Cartier was Premier. He didn't know who represented the county in the Parliaments.

IRISH LEAGUE'S PRESIDENT ADDRESSES BIG GATHERING

At Concert and Mass Meeting of the Sons of Erin, "Tay Pay" O'Connor Gets a Fine Reception and Raises $2,000 Towards the Political Fund.

Toronto, Oct. 1.—T. P. O'Connor, M.P., founder of The Star, The Sun, The Weekly Sun, "M.A.P.," and "P.T.O.," editor-in-chief of The Era, president of the United Irish League for a quarter of a century, was the greatest Irishman in Canada yesterday, and will remain long enough to celebrate his 62nd birthday on Oct. 5 on Canadian soil.

"Tay Pay" was here four years ago, and as he approaches the grand climacteric, gives every evidence of having developed and mellowed into one of the ripest and sanest-minded men in British politics to-day. His address last night on "The New Ireland" was a model of moderation and eloquent exposition.

Mr. O'Connor also addressed the Toronto Press Club last night, and it is no breach of confidence to say that a more high-minded standard was never set up for any body of professional men. Mr. O'Connor carries his ideals into his own journalistic practice and into his politics. They may be briefly defined as fair and clean. Mr. O'Connor while in Toronto is the guest of D. D. Mann and will attend the Woodbine to-day and remain over Sunday in the city.

He is here for the purpose of assisting in the replenishment of the war-chest of the Irish parliamentary party. Mr. O'Connor would prefer to call it the peace-chest, perhaps, but it would not be so generally recognized under that designation. It was under the banner of peace, however, that last night the replenishment went up in the neighborhood of $2,000. If all the other Canadian and United States burghs do as well the $100,000 asked for will not be long wanting.

An Irish concert preceded the address. President Roche of the local branch of the league introduced Hon. J. J. Foy, acting premier, as chairman of the meeting. Consequently there was no treason talked, and the sanguinary Sassenach was comfortably buried away and unmentioned even in the briefest obituary notice.

TO ENLARGE 24TH REGIMENT

Chatham, Oct. 1.—At the meeting of the Kent County W.C.T.U., it was decided to institute a campaign against the use of cigarettes by minors. The association will personally see that the law is more strictly enforced. They will also seek to have the evils of intemperance taught in the public schools. Mrs. Helmstead of Wallaceburg was elected president.

Col. Hodginson, D.O.C., of London, has approved the plans to enlarge the 24th Regiment to make it a county regiment. Several towns have indicated a desire to contribute companies. The companies in Wallaceburg will be the first to enter.

Charles Chenell, a Swede, employed on J. S. Fraser's farm, in Dover Township, yesterday morning tried to adjust some of the machinery under the engine without first shutting off the steam. The machine started, and he was crushed to death.

William Evans, a little son of William Evans of Wallaceburg, fell from a tree yesterday morning and was seriously hurt. His companions dared him to climb up and he lost his hold.

COTTON MILLS CLOSE DOWN

London, Oct. 1.—The Board of Trade intervened yesterday in an attempt to avert the lockout in the cotton mill industry, which was threatened for Oct. 3.

The masters and the workmen met at Manchester last evening, but the conference broke up without a settlement having been reached. The employers' federation therefore ordered their mills to close at noon to-day.

THERE MAY BE MORE ARRESTS

Brockville, Oct. 1.—On the 15th inst., Robert E. Cughan, manager of the Farmers' Bank in Athens, and Melvin Forrest, teller in the same institution, were arrested and brought here to answer to a charge of theft.

The accusation against Cughan is "that within the past five months he did steal and convert to his own use a sum believed to be in the neighborhood of $900. The same charge rests against Forrest, with the amount at $500. Both cases came up yesterday for a preliminary hearing before Police Magistrate Deacon.

Forrest elected to be tried summarily and pleaded guilty. He was remanded for sentence, and will be used by the crown as a witness against Cughan, who pleaded not guilty.

Forrest, it is understood, will make restitution and throw himself upon the court for mercy.

FUGITIVE FROM RUSSIAN DOUMA

Winnipeg, Oct. 1.—Longinus Theador Gerus, fugitive member of the Russian Douma, has arrived here from Chicago to give evidence on behalf of Savva Fedorenko, whose extradition is sought by the Russian Government.

Gerus was one of 55 members of the Douma who were indicted and one of nine who escaped. He was pursued across country for seven months, but finally made his way out with the assistance of a forged passport. Interest in the Fedorenko case is increasing on account of the prominent refugees who are fighting to have the prisoner released.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Robert W. Gordon dropped dead at Pembroke.

The situation in China is said to be such that foreigners are in danger.

The Gottfried Brewing Co., Chicago, plant was destroyed yesterday; loss $500,000.

The Times-Democrat building, New Orleans, was destroyed by fire yesterday; loss $125,000.

The Canadian Railway Accident Insurance Co. of Ottawa has been absorbed by the Liverpool, London & Globe.

Regina local optionists have taken over the King Edward, a half million dollar hotel, and will run it without a bar.

A block of buildings in Gulf Port, Miss., including postoffice, two hotels, two theatres and several business houses were destroyed by fire yesterday.

GOLD, VALUED AT $17,000 MISSING

Vancouver, Oct. 1.—It has just leaked out that a big mail robbery took place at White Pass on the Yukon Railway, between White Horse and Skagway, on Aug. 17, when lead brick was substituted for gold bullion.

This following the theft of bullion between Fairbanks and Seattle seems to indicate an organized gang on the Yukon River route.

Postoffice Inspector Greenfield from Vancouver, and several other officers are working on the case.

The missing gold is valued at $17,000, and although the robbery took place on American territory, it was a consignment from Dawson, and looted from the Canadian mails.

ACCIDENTAL DROWNING

Goderich, Oct. 1.—The adjourned inquest investigating the drowning of Colin McIvor on the 20th inst., was reopened last night, and the coroner's jury brought in a verdict of accidental drowning.

From the evidence given by his two companions in the sailing boat, the whole party were more or less under the influence of liquor. McIvor was sitting on the lee rail of the boat, just behind the foresail, and was to a certain extent hidden by the mainsail from the view of his companions, who were sitting in the stern of the boat. While sailing along quietly McIvor fell overboard backwards, striking the water headfirst, and sank immediately.

LADY EDGAR IS DEAD

Crnadian Biographer and Writer Dies in London, Eng.

Toronto, Oct. 1.—The death took place suddenly yesterday in London, Eng., of Lady Edgar, widow of the late Sir James David Edgar, K.C.M.G., P.C., the death of whose brother, Col. Bramley Ridout, was chronicled only yesterday.

Lady Edgar, accompanied by two of her daughters, Miss Beatrice and Miss Marjorie, left Toronto last spring for a prolonged visit to England and the continent. After a visit to Rome she returned to London in June to be present at the marriage of her son, Keith Edgar, an officer of the Royal Engineers stationed in India. After this Lady Edgar spent the season touring abroad or with friends in England and Scotland. For some time during the summer they were the guests of Lord and Lady Aberdeen at the vice-regal lodge in Ireland. Up to the last Lady Edgar had been in the best of health.

Matilda Ridout, Lady Edgar, was a daughter of the late Thomas Gibbs Ridout, and a grand-daughter of Hon. John Ridout, who was surveyor-general of Canada from 1810 to 1829. She inherited literary tastes, writing several interesting and valuable books dealing with Canadian affairs. One of these, "The Years of Upper Canada, in War and Peace," was largely compiled from records and letters left by her father and grandfather, both of whom took an active part as officers during the troublous times of the war of 1812. Another work well-known to students of Canadian history is a contribution to the Makers of Canada series, the "Life of Gen. Brock."

Matilda Ridout married James David Edgar in 1865. She was actively interested in her husband's political career, accompanying him to British Columbia when he was despatched thither on an important political mission by the Mackenzie Government in 1874. In her former residence on Bloor street she was noted as a most charming hostess, and later, from 1896 to 1899, as wife of the Speaker of the House of Commons at Ottawa, she filled an important social position with grace and dignity.

As president of the Woman's National Council, Lady Edgar accompanied that great organization to the Pacific coast in the summer of 1907,

JOKE ENDS IN MANSLAUGHTER

Montreal, Oct. 1.—Sentence will be pronounced by Justice St. Pierre on Monday on Louis Garceau and Joseph Pittote, who were found guilty of manslaughter with a recommendation to mercy on a charge of having caused the death of Faustin Peltier, on June 28.

Peltier, who was asleep in a coal yard, where he and the two prisoners were employed, was tipped out of a cart as a prank. Falling on his head he died from the injuries received.

DESERTED BY FALSE FRIENDS

Sioux Lookout, Ont., Oct. 1.—George Ford has come back to civilisation after being marooned on an island in Lac Seul for 43 days.

He had a terrible experience, and his nervous system is still in bad shape. He came up from Duluth to Prospect to trap along the English River, but was deserted by his companions, who took his boat, both guns, all his valuables and a large share of the provisions.

Ford did his best to attract the attention of the Hudson Bay Co. steamer which passed occasionally, but was foiled many times. He finally changed the location of his camp and lighted a huge bonfire. The steamer then bore down on his improvised home and rescued him. The police are looking for the false friends who deserted him.

WITH MILITARY HONORS THEY BURIED HIM

London, Oct. 1.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—At Aldershot yesterday several thousand spectators witnessed the funeral of Lieut. Gzowski in the military cemetery. The interment was of the most impressive character. The Buffs, to which the Queen's Own was affiliated during their stay, furnished a firing party. The band and drums of the batallion followed. Among the chief mourners were Lord Strathcona and about 100 officers, with a detachment from nearly all the corps in camp.

Q.T.R. Engineers Get Increase.

Montreal, Oct. 1.—The Grand Trunk announced officially last night that a satisfactory settlement has been reached with their engineers, the latters' representatives leaving for home later in the evening.

It is stated that the men were given an increase of 12 per cent.

Carson the Good.

Carson City, Nev., Oct. 1.—For the first time in fifty years the doors of gambling houses in this state have been closed. Under the recent action of the Legislature of Nevada, gambling in this state will be prohibited on and after Oct. 1.

MARY DOLAN MAKES PLEA FOR MAN WHO WRONGED HER

Court Explains That Law Leaves Him Only One Decision, But Case Will be Appealed—McNulty Shows Extreme Emotion When Sentenced.

Yesterday afternoon the Review told the fate of McNulty and Mary Dolan. They are to be hung. The additional details are as follows—

Barrie, Oct. 1.—Justice Britton yesterday morning sentenced Mary Dolan and Thomas McNulty to death by hanging on Dec. 14 next, for the murder of the woman's illegitimate infant, McNulty having, it was alleged, counselled the crime.

"Mary Nolan," commanded the kindly judge, white-haired, gentle-voiced, "Mary Dolan, stand up." She stood, trembling, sobbing. "Have you anything to say why the sentence of this court should not be passed upon you?"

"I want to say," she began looking around frightenedly. "I want to say that, all I have said, in this court room, is true. I got a letter on Friday telling me to strangle the baby. I——, I—— want you to be as light as you can on McNulty."

Then she collapsed. She sank in a heap in the dock. The attendant doctor revived her.

"You have had a fair trial, Mary Dolan," began his lordship. "It is one of the most pitiful trials I have ever had before me, but the fact remains that you have had a very fair trial. The jury could have made no other finding than it did. They saw fit to add to their verdict a recommendation of mercy and in that recommendation I may say I agree and shall forward it to the proper authorities. "I shall not make use of any words that should be to any extent a reproach or a reminder of your past life. It is a very sad past life, for you were a loved child of a kind mother, who did all a mother could to keep you in the path. There is only one sentence which I may pass upon you, and it is a very trying ordeal for a judge. It is so even to pass sentence upon a male prisoner, but I have never before been called upon to do such a thing in the case of a woman."

When the final dread words were spoken, the woman shrieked and fell in a faint.

McNulty was then brought in, his wife and her sister following, weeping.

"All I've got to say," he said, "Is that I never wrote such a letter in my life. That is all I've got to say."

His lordship nodded and replied that Mary Dolan's evidence had been given with an appearance of perfect veracity.

"You seemed to think that if you did not see the child, did not handle it, you could with impunity counsel the killing of it," said his lordship.

"I advise you not to rely too much on the recommendation of mercy which the jury has added to its verdict. I shall forward it to the executive, but in the meantime I must pass the sentence by law upon you."

McNulty swayed from side to side and moaned as the words fell upon him. His counsel will appeal.

DISCLOSURES AT CONEY ISLAND

New York, Oct. 1.—As a result of the disclosures of vice conditions at Coney Island following the recent official investigation under Acting Mayor Mitchell's direction, a dozen indictments, said to be of police officers charged with responsibility for law observance at the resort, were returned yesterday by the King's County grand jury. It was unofficially stated that one of the indictments was against Police Inspector John J. O'Brien. The indictments, with others, returned against proprietors of alleged disorderly resorts, swell to 30 or more, the total of persons under indictment as a result of the Coney Island scandals.

QUARREL IN CROWD ENDS IN MURDER

New York, Oct. 1.—An express train in the subway was the scene of a mysterious murder at 1 o'clock yesterday morning. A well-dressed young man, apparently returning from the theatre, was the victim.

His assailant, according to the police, was Charles Wright of Elizabeth, N.J., who was arrested.

According to bystanders, the two men stood near each other in a crowded car. They did not appear to be acquainted, but suddenly it was noticed that they were having a violent quarrel about something. Then came a shot.

DIDN'T LIKE THE FARM

Guelph, Oct. 1.—The first attempt to escape by any prisoner from the new provincial reformatory farm was made Thursday by George Cowan, an English lad, 16 years of age, who was transferred here recently from the Central Prison, Toronto, where he had been sent to serve a term of six months for jumping freight trains. He was caught seven miles away, and yesterday elected to be tried by the judge.

Received Into Sisterhood.

Cornwall, Ont., Oct. 1.—Miss A. Huot, daughter of P. A. Huot, Alexandria, and Miss Catherine MacDonald, daughter of Angus MacDonald, of Glen Robertson, made their final vows and were received into the Sisterhood of the Hotel Dieu, Order of St. Joseph. His lordship Bishop MacDonnell of Alexandria presided. Rev. Father A. A. MacRae of Dickinson Landing preached the sermon.

Must Return Gambling Wins.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Mrs. Bertha Sommers has been awarded a verdict of $2,850 against Benjamin F. Mayer, formerly keeper of a handbook. Mrs. Sommers sued for $3,840, which amount she claims her husband lost in gambling on the races. Sommers testified he had lost an average of $10 a day with the handbook keeper for six months.

Busy Berlin.

Berlin, Oct. 1.—This has been a year of substantial growth for Berlin. Population shows an increase of about 900, bringing the total up to 14,500 and in nine months over $250,000 worth of new buildings have been erected.

Germany's Interest.

Berlin, Oct. 1.—The Ministry of War yesterday announced that it would give $25,000 as a prize for an overland aviation competition.

Virginia Harned Seeks Divorce.

C.M.A. VISIT MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 1.—Battling against time, members of the public affairs committee of the Commercial Club, gave the visiting members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, three hours of the most strenuous entertainment yesterday.

A special train bearing 160 Canadian boosters did not arrive until noon. An address had been prepared by Mayor Hayner, and Wallace C. Nye of the Commercial Club, A. E. Zonne, chairman of the public affairs committee, and Frank J. Meyst, chairman of entertainment committee, spent the early morning preparing speeches, all had to be eliminated. The Canadians were hungry and the committee was anxious to utilise the automobiles which it had recruited to take the party on a joy ride.

An interesting incident came when a delegation of the women made a hurried visit to all the leading retail stores.

HIGH-HANDED OFFICIOUSNESS

Winnipeg, Oct. 1.—T. L. Humberstone, M.A., B.Sc., of the University of London, who is in Canada arranging plans for the Congress of Universities of the Empire, which is being held in England in 1912, complains that he was ejected from the Soo train, which leaves Winnipeg for Chicago at 6 o'clock, by American immigration officials here. Humberstone had a ticket for Toronto, and hoped to make the trip by way of Chicago.

Governor Acquitted.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 1.—The jury in the libel case against Governor Carroll has returned a verdict of not guilty. Governor Carroll was placed on trial a week ago, charged with criminally libeling John Downie, former chairman of the state board of control.

Yanks Getting Whip Hand.

Liverpool, Oct. 1.—Mr. Justice Grantham arrived by the Empress of Ireland. He says at present Americans are getting the whip hand in Canada. The Canadians are loyal, but economy might outweigh this

HEADQUARTERS OF THE CAMORRA

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 1.—Detectives who are investigating the murder of Joseph Luvers, an Italian, two days ago, say they have located the American headquarters of the Camorra, or "Black Hand," through the confession of an unnamed Italian.

The officers say they have positive proof that the headquarters are located in a little town in New York.

Hearst a Factor.

Rochester, Oct. 1.—The first session of the Democratic convention opened yesterday, but it is not believed the slate will be written till to-day. It is believed that, in view of the elimination of Mayor Gaynor from the contest for governor, Mr. Hearst becomes a factor to reckon with.

Found Twelve Skulls.

Montreal, Oct. 1.—Workmen engaged in digging the foundation for a new office building on St. James street in the commercial centre of the city yesterday unearthed twelve Indian skulls and a portion of the old fortification of Ville Marie.

Typhoon In Philippines.

Manila, Oct. 1.—A typhoon of unusual severity swept over the valley of Cayagan River, Northern Luzon, on Sept. 24. Four towns were practically demolished.

THE CHIMES

It will be a pleasant surprise to those interested to know that $50 has been credited to the chimes fund from the senior girls' class of St. John's Sunday school. These girls have quietly made useful articles—toothsome and necessary—and raised this sum—God bless 'em. May the chimes ring out at their wedding—yes, and may their marriages be happy ones.

NO INSURGENCY AGAINST LIBERALS BUT MUCH GRAFT

Some Liberal newspapers have been decrying insurgency in the Conservative party because there has been a frank discussion in Conservative newspapers on the tariff issue. Liberal newspapers have contained diametrically opposite statements on the tariff—as when we see protection upheld in Nova Scotia and denounced further west. Why is not this insurgency? Is it because the Liberals know that when it comes down to a question of business all will come into line?

A remark by Mr. Roosevelt throws a good deal of light upon questions of graft and insurgency. Graft prevails because there is not enough insurgency in parties which are in power. Men are unwilling to apply the same judgment to their own political party that they do to the party of their opponents. Mr Roosevelt said in his speech at Buffalo:

> "I believe in party government, but the moment a question of honesty is involved I recognize any distinction it is that it is a little more my business to hunt out of public life a crook who no party distinction. If I make a claims to belong to another."

It is perfectly known that there has been abundance of graft on the part of the Laurier Government. But where has there been the insurgency on the part of the Liberals in resentment?

A VISION

Toronto, Sept. 29.—For the first time in several years the prospects are that the Thanksgiving Day demand will not increase the price of poultry in Ontario.

By far the largest supply of the poultry raised in the province is marketed in Toronto, and local dealers say they are receiving supplies large enough at present for all demands. Thanksgiving Day is but a month away, and, unless the offerings diminish considerably, which is not likely, there will be no scarcity.

Chickens are now quoted on the farmers' market at 11 to 13 cents a pound, ducks 10 to 11 cents a pound, geese 9 to 10 cents a pound, and turkeys at 12 to 14 cents a pound; dressed, one to two cents additional.—Hamilton Herald.

Hurrah! we had planned to have but one chicken, and now we will have two, and will not need to feast on that delicacy "the neck and wing" and dad can have a bit of the breast and a bit of the leg. This is something to look forward to.

MUST RELY ON CONSERVATIVES

The new western provinces have been robbed of their rights. They have been deliberately set up as inferior provinces. The older provinces find it necessary to be constantly on their guard at Ottawa to withstand the constant, insidious and increasing encroachments on their rights; they have, as a matter of fact, to rely on the Conservative Opposition, to secure fair treatment.

NO FUN FOR THE COP

The members of the police force have another kick coming, and this time it is a strong one. The latest order that has been issued by Chief Smith, and which has gone into effect, is that the members of the force are allowed no more to participate in athletic events. This move was taken by the chief after a great deal of consideration. It is claimed that in view of the fact that many accidents happened to the men when they were taking part in the different games the rule will have to be strictly adhered to.—Hamilton Herald.

Chief Smith, you are mistaken. Let the men mix it up. Johnny Burke tried to commit suicide in your city the other day, and if it wasn't for a flying tackle that one of your "cops" gave him, he would have got away with the job. "Right, left, right, left," what exercise is that for a policeman? Let them run, they can catch a thief quicker; let them mix it up in rugby, they can slip on the cuffs quicker. Chief, you're a good fellow, but as an old friend, let us tip it off, you're in wrong.

SAM LUTTRELL

Sam Luttrell will commence an evangelistic campaign at the Park St. Baptist Church to-morrow. Sam is an ex-tank. Whether he has a blossom or not we cannot say. We have never seen him, nor have we his photograph. However, we understand that he is genuine. Genuine men are rare, and because Sam Luttrell, ex-tank, former drunkard, is that, he can look forward to success in his work. There is a big field for him in Peterborough.

IN THE COURTS

The literary world will be more or less interested in the divorce suit brought by the wife of Richard le Gallienne, the poet. There would be a better flavor to the sensation perhaps, if the respondent were not so intimately associated with the Roycroft-Hubbard outfit of East Aurora, a circumstance which is calculated to cast suspicion on any man's literary genuineness. However le Gallienne's wide reputation and popularity with a certain element of the reading world will direct attention to the case in which he is concerned.—Vancouver Province.

W. C Nicol you are wrong. the land of the western sun is too much for your nerves. The Hubbard outfit as you term them, are true, ring true to those that have ears they look true to those who have eyes. Gallienne is hitched to a three minute mare he is in the 1.58 class We did not advocate divorces but we do not think that a man who is gifted with the spark of genius should be attached to a person who sees nothing in the sunset the song of the bird the rain,—poets, artists of any kind should never marry. Dick when you are freed don't try it again.

LITTLE DORIT IS DEAD

London, Sept. 29.—A link with Charles Dickens has been severed by the death of Mrs. C. M Hayman, one of the novelist's closest personal friends. She was asserted by her family to have been the original Little Dorit. She would have reached her eighty-first birthday next month.

Mrs. Hayman's father was a solicitor living in London, and was for years an intimate friend of Dickens. The novelist was a visitor at his house and took a keen interest in all the members of the family.

Memories of Dickens. Why is it that to-day we have no writers, who can tell us what we know, who can sigh for us, cry for us, dream for us, fail for us, succeed for us, and describe us life as it is? Who has the mantle? It must be somewhere. Who has the mantle of that old-time newspaper reporter, Charles Dickens?

NEW ARMORY AT EDMONTON

Edmonton, Alta., Oct. 1.—Col. E. B. Edwards, commanding the 101st Edmonton Fusiliers, has received an official communication from the Minister of Militia stating that as soon as a suitable site is provided the Government will immediately erect an armory here to cost not less than $100,000.

A HANDSOME ART VOLUME

From the bindery of the Review was sent out yesterday a very handsome memorial album, designed and made for St. Peter's T.A.S. It contains portraits of the clergy of St. Peter's Cathedral and Church of the Sacred Heart, and of all the past-presidents of the society since its foundation. A brief announcement is given with each portrait. These are mounted on a rich brown card, bordered in gold. In addition a set of leaves are supplied, on which each of the past presidents will inscribe his views of the T.A.S. and what was accomplished during his incumbency. Additional space is provided for the officers of the next ten years. The volume will be a very interesting record of the doings of the society, and a permanent reminder of those who have worked for and founded its interests.

Bobcaygeon Bridge

The new Little Bob bridge at Bobcaygeon is fast nearing completion, and a short while ought to see the structure open to traffic.

The two steel spans have been placed, and the concrete work finished, but the approaches are as yet but roughly filled in with stone.

The Round-Up

A Romance of Arizona

Novelized From Edmund Day's Melodrama

By JOHN MURRAY and MILLS MILLER

Copyright, 1908, by G. W. Dillingham Co.

"Take him down to the creek an' hang him to that big cottonwood!" cried Show Low savagely.

"Out with it," growled Sagebrush.

"Las' time there was an affair at that cottonwood the rope broke, an' the hoss thief dropped into the creek, swum acrost an' got away."

In all seriousness Peruna replied: "I hope so. I can't swim."

Polly, glancing down the valley, saw Buck McKee, with a half dozen of his outfit, riding furiously to the rescue of Peruna.

"I reckon you are talkin' to him now," coolly replied the foreman.

"You've got one uv my boys over here," bellowed Buck, adding with the implied threat, "an' we've come fer him."

Sagebrush was not bluffed by Buck's insolence or his swaggering manners. "I reckon you can't have him—not just yet."

"What's he been doin'?" demanded Buck.

"He killed Billie Nicker—that's one thing."

"Self defense," loftily replied Buck. "He wus 'tendin' to his own business when yer two men come up an' begin pickin' on him."

Bursting with anger, Parenthesis strode up to Buck and shouted, "He was brandin' one of our yearlin's; that's what his business was."

"Who's the boss uv this here Payson outfit?"

Sagebrush suggested in addition, "Perhaps you mean that brandin' other folks' cattle is the reg'lar business of the Lazy K outfit."

"Anything with hide an' no mark is Lazy K to you all," growled Show Low.

"You're goin' strong on reg'lar proceedin's, I see," said Buck to Sagebrush. "You ain't sheriff uv this here county, are you?"

"That's jest it. Somebody's got to act sooner or later, an' if there ain't no reg'lar law we'll go back to the old times an' make our own."

"You're a fine lot to set up as law abidin' citizens," sneered Buck.

"Workin' fer a man that had to hop the country to keep clear of the rope," interjected Peruna, who, heartened up by the advent of McKee, began pouring oil on a smoldering fire.

Sagebrush turned savagely upon him. "That'll do fer you."

Echo walked hastily to Sagebrush's side. She felt her presence might help to avoid the outbreak which she saw could not long be avoided.

Peruna had lost control of tongue and discretion by this time.

"You'll never see him back in this section agin. You all know where he is—'cross the line in old Mexico. Why, she's fixin' to make a clean-up now an' sell out an' join him!"

Sagebrush reached for his gun, but Echo restrained him.

"You"— he cried.

Buck turned angrily on Peruna. "You keep yer mouth shet!" he shouted.

Peruna subsided at his boss' command, mumbling, "There ain't no female can pull the forelock over my eyes."

"Take care!" warningly called Buck.

Peruna fired up again regardless of consequences. "Why, I see through her game! She's glad to get rid of him so's she can play up to her ranch boss, Handsome Charley there."

Before any of the Sweetwater outfit could reach Peruna's side or pull a gun to resent the insult Buck was on top of him. With a blow full in the mouth he knocked him sprawling. Echo had seized Sagebrush's hand, preventing him from firing. The other men moved as if to kick Peruna as he lay prostrate.

"Let him alone. He's goin' to ask the lady's pardon!" snarled Buck, covering him with a gun.

"No, I'll be"— he began.

Buck bent over him, speaking in a low tone, tensely and quickly. "Quick! I don't want to have to kill you. Don't you see what I'm playin' fer?"

"He ain't fit to live!" shouted Show Low.

Buck turned on the cowboy. It was his fight, and he was going to handle it in his own fashion.

"Lemme handle this case," he interrupted. "There hain't no man can travel in my outfit an' insult a woman. You ask her pardon—right smart."

"I didn't mean what I said."

Peruna struggled to his feet. Buck commanded:

"Down on yer knees."

A glance at Buck showed Peruna how deadly in earnest he was. Reluctantly he sank to his knees.

"I didn't mean what I said. I hope you will excuse me," he whined.

"No!" interposed Sagebrush.

The cowboys seized Peruna.

Buck saw that his bluff at bossing the situation was called. He turned appealingly to Echo and rapidly fabricated a moving tale about Peruna's heroic rescue of himself from drowning in the Gila river. "An' I swore I would do as much fer him some day. Now I perpose that we all give him a kick an' let him go—let him have two hours' start, after which the game laws will be out on him."

Sagebrush cried out against the plan, but Echo was moved by McKee's appeal for his comrade and, speaking low and beseechingly to Sagebrush, said, "It will save a range war that we can't afford to have till Jack and Slim get back." Sagebrush finally assented.

"Two hours' start. Well, he'll have to go some if he gits away. Kick him an' let him go," he commanded.

Echo turned away.

The cowboys who held Peruna threw him to the ground, and every man of the Allen and Payson ranches gave him a vicious kick, Show Low putting in an extra one for his murdered bunkie. Last of all, McKee approached the prostrate man and made the mistake which was to cost him his life by booting Peruna cruelly.

Rising from the ground and trembling with anger, Peruna turned on the half breed, saying, "I'll square this deal, Buck McKee."

"Losin' vallyble time, Peruna. Git!" was all that his former boss deigned to answer.

Peruna limped over to his horse, which Parenthesis had been holding in custody, mounted it and rode off at a lope for the river ford. He crossed it in sight of the Sweetwater outfit and disappeared behind the river bank. Here he dismounted and, picking a small branch of cactus, put it under his horse's tail. The poor beast clapped his tail against it and, with a scream, set off on a wild gallop across the mesa. Peruna hobbled up the river a mile or so, half waded, half swam, to the other side and entered an arroyo whose course led back near the camp of the Sweetwater outfit. He had been disarmed by the cowboys of his revolver, but not of his knife.

Bowing to her, hat in hand, Buck made his apologies. "Ma'am, I'm plumb sorry. My mother was a Cherokee squaw, but I'm white in some spots. If you'll let yer ranch boss come along with us we'll settle this brandin' business right now."

Sagebrush did not care to accept the offer, but Echo ordered him to go with the Lazy K outfit. Seeing it was useless to argue with her, he said, "Come on, boys."

Ere they had ridden out of sight Echo sank exhausted on the seat by the fire. She buried her face in her hands and sobbed.

Polly played the role of comforter.

"Don't mind 'em," she said. "Better come to the ranch with me. You're all tuckered out. You've been runnin' this ranch fer a month like a man."

"I'll take your advice, Polly, and ride home. Tell dad I want him, will you?"

CHAPTER XVII.

BUD'S conscience was not troubling him so much now. In fact, he was rather proud of his conduct of late. He had shaken Buck McKee, and he had forgiven Echo for all the hard thoughts he had against her—without considering that she would be more than woman if she failed to harbor resentment against the man who had prevented her from calling her husband back from the desert.

In the absence of Slim both Bud and McKee had attained a feeling of security in the matter of the Terrill murder. McKee had already ventured to use some of his share of the robbery in gambling. Bud had not yet convinced himself either of the right or the advisability of spending his share.

CRIED DAY AND NIGHT

Mrs. R. E. Sanford, Inverary, Ont., writes:—"My baby was sickly for over a week with bowel and stomach trouble and cried night and day. Nothing I did helped her in the least till I began giving her Baby's Own Tablets. They helped baby right away and now she is a big healthy child with fine rosy cheeks. The Tablets are certainly a wonderful medicine and I recommend them to all my friends who have children in the house."

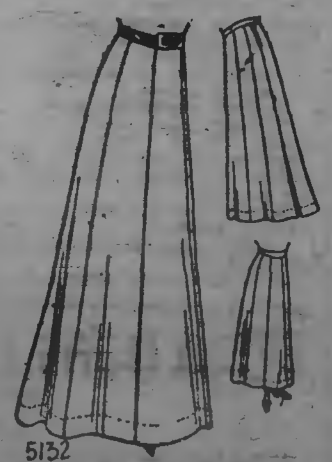
What Baby's Own Tablets have done for Mrs. Sanford's baby they have done for thousands of other little ones simply because they go to the root of so many childhood ailments—that is, they drive all impurities from the stomach and leave it sweet and healthy. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE DAILY REVIEW PATTERN SERVICE

Every day we will print and illustrate a new pattern. These are the very latest and thoroughly up to date.

On receipt of order, giving the number of pattern desired and 10 cents, along with name and address, the pattern will be mailed.

Be careful as to the right number.



LADY'S NINE-GORED SKIRT.

All Seams Allowed.

While most of the skirts this season are fancy, there is always a demand for the plain model. Stout women generally prefer it to all others, and for constant wear it is certainly the best. It may also be used as a "drop" under sheer materials, in which case it should always be made of silk. This model is cut in nine gores, and if desired may be in ankle length. The lower edge measures 3½ yards. This skirt may be made of tweed, cheviot, serge, broadcloth or any of the heavy materials, and a trimming of braid or several rows of stitching at the bottom would take away the plain appearance. The pattern (5132) is cut in eight sizes—22 to 36 waist. To make the medium size requires for full-length skirt made of material with up and down 4¾ yards 36 inches wide; without up and down it needs 3¾ yards 36 inches wide.

MINT COIN COUNTER.

A most interesting machine recently installed in the United States mint is the automatic weigher for coins of all denominations. Last year the government coined nearly 8,500,000 pieces of gold and 36,000,000 pieces of silver. Formerly each piece was weighed by hand. Seated at long tables, each with a balance in front of her, were from thirty to sixty women "adjusters." It was their duty to weigh each piece. Pieces which were too heavy were reduced with a file. Those that were too light were thrown aside to be put again into the melting pot. Gold pieces were weighed twice, once in blank and once after coinage.

The new weighing machines have each ten balances, which are set according to the required weight of the coin which is being tested. Then they work automatically, each machine taking ten coins at a time. The movement of the beams of the scales determines into which of several chutes the weighed coin shall drop. If it is too light the scale beam moves up and the coin is dropped into the "lights." If it is too heavy the scale beam drops and the coin falls into the "heavies." If it just balances the coin drops among the coins which are of the proper weight. The work is very rapid and very accurate.

There are eight of the weighing machines now in the mint, and they have displaced thirty-four women who earned $2 a day. Even with the weighing machines in operation the entire requirements of the law are not complied with mechanically. The law limits the deviation of coins in bulk as well as in weight. They must therefore be divided into four groups, which are, in the language of the mint, "acceptable heavies," "acceptable lights," "too heavies" and "too lights." A bag of coins, therefore, must not be made up altogether of coins which possess the highest degree of "tolerance" nor of coins having the lowest degree of "tolerance." If a bag were filled with 500 "acceptable heavy" half dollars it might weigh from 500 to 1,000 grains more than a bag filled with 500 "acceptable lights" of the same denomination. Therefore the coins have to be mixed in proper proportion to bring the weight of the bag to the legal requirements.—Philadelphia Record.

THE BEST REMEDY

For Women—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Belleville, Ont.—"I was so weak and worn out from a female weakness that I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took several bottles of it, and I gained strength so rapidly that it seemed to make a new woman of me. I can do as good a day's work as I ever did. I sincerely bless the day that I made up my mind to take your medicine for female weakness, and I am exceedingly grateful to you for your kind letters, as I certainly profited by them. I give you permission to publish this any time you wish."—Mrs. Albert Wickett, Belleville, Ontario, Canada.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will cure female weakness and so successfully carry women through the Change of Life as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs.

For 30 years it has been curing women from the worst forms of female ills—inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and nervous prostration.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

BAZAAR WAS BIG SUCCESS

Young Ladies of St. John's Realized Fancy Sum for Chimes Fund

The senior girls' class of St. John's Sunday school, as a result of the bazaar held by them yesterday afternoon and evening, has assisted the Chimes Fund to the extent of $50.00.

Fancy articles and candies were made by the young ladies and offered for sale, and five o'clock tea was served in the Guild room. There was a large attendance at the bazaar in the evening.

FROM ACROSS THE BRINY DEEP

A young English lad, Eric N. Ryall, who is sixteen years of age, strong and healthy, and with good appearance, will arrive here on or about October 7th. He took passage on the Royal Edward, Thursday.

Anyone needing such help as this young lad might give can secure further information from Mr. G. H. Howson, immigration agent. He comes with good recommendations.

A young German, Paul Weinert, nineteen years of age, who comes from Hamburg, and has been in this country for some time, reported at the office this morning. He is a fine looking young fellow and appears to be capable of giving a good account of himself.

A HIGH WIND

Whew. What's the matter with the oil waggon.

The wind is what might be called rather high. Hats, rats, etc., etc., fell by the way at noon. One irate East City ped. caused a whole lot of fun, when his top piece suddenly left its rightful place and landed in the drink at the bridge. Stones, sticks and other things he used without avail, and his property glided down the stream. There are many trees down to-day, and the number includes a fine maple at Central Park, which was damaged considerably last spring and, by the way, could have been saved had it received proper attention at the time. Last night's storm was a corker. There was plenty of rain lightning and thunder. The probabilities say cooler weather by to-night.

J. J. TURNER MEN TAKE OUTING

HECLA FURNACE

The Perfect Type of Warm Air Furnace

Clean, Invigorating Heat

Warm air heating is the only system of heating that gives heat plus ventilation. Warm Air Furnace is the only means of ventilating the house every minute of the day and night, without opening windows.

No Water Pipes to Burst

"Hecla" Warm Air Furnace has no leaky valves to overflow and ruin carpets floors and ceilings. There are no water pipes to freeze and burst—no pipes to drain if you leave the house in winter for more than a day.

No Gas—No Dust

You've seen a blacksmith put a steel tip on an iron horseshoe. He welds iron and steel together and makes them practically one metal, without even a line to show where they join. THIS IS A FUSED JOINT. It is the same kind of a fused joint that connects the steel and iron used in the construction of "Hecla" Furnaces.

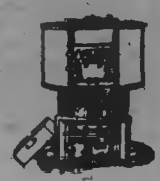
Fused Joints are permanent joints—absolutely preventing any gas, dust or smoke escaping into the house.

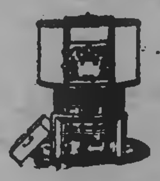
20 years use, in hundreds of homes, has proved the value of Fused Joints.

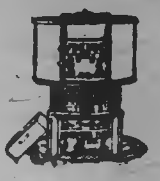
This Firepot Won't Burn Out

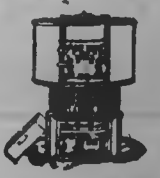
There are 97 steel ribs fused into "Hecla" Firepots, which increases the radiating surface 300%.

The fire may get red hot but the firepot won't. The steel ribs help the firepot to radiate the heat almost as fast as it is generated.









Save 1/7 of Your Coal Bill

The steel ribbed Fire Pot—a "Hecla" Patent—will save you one ton of coal in seven. We make this saving statement only after the most exacting tests, both in our foundry and in the homes of hundreds of owners of "Hecla" Furnaces.

Lasts A Lifetime

The "Hecla" Combustion Chamber is made of castiron. Practical experience proves that a castiron combustion chamber is better than steel. It is stronger and lasts longer—and with its corrugated surface has more heating power than any steel combustion chamber.

Easy Shaking Grate Bars

"Hecla" Grate Bars are not geared or fastened together. Each bar can be shaken separately, easily. Thus, each part of the fire can be shaken much or little as needed, cleaning the fire of all ashes, without turning good coal and live fire into the ash pan. The Dust Flue carries all dust up the chimney.

The Firm Behind The Furnace

It's a wise plan to know the people with whom you do business. We have been making Stoves since 1851—and Furnaces for more than 30 years—right here in Preston. We have made our name stand for satisfaction and reliability all over Canada.

Let Us Plan Your Heating

and give you the benefit of our experience. Send us a rough diagram of your house, showing size and location of rooms, and we will lay out and send you, free, a complete plan for a system of heating, showing the cost of putting in the right "Hecla" Furnace. 98

OPERATIONS IN BUILDING ACTIVE

$20,665 in Nineteen Permits for Month of September--Last Year Figures for Same Were $46,485

Nineteen building permits were taken out at the city clerk's office during the past month of September, making a total of $20,665, which is a decrease of $25,820 for the same month of last year, when the figures were $46,485. Building operations throughout the city are very active, and give promise of continued activity. Outside work has been assisted greatly by the splendid weather conditions, and contractors are hoping for a continuance, as there is considerable work to be finished before the season is over.

September permits were—

W. Stock, shed, Dunlop street, $35.

Mrs. Sarah Thexton, enlarging dwelling, Reid street, $250.

John T. Robson, kitchen, Cross street, $250.

Jas. B. Brown, dwelling, Margaret avenue, $1,900.

Peterborough Canoe Co., factory, Water street, $7,000.

Herbert Huffman, dwelling, Margaret avenue, $1,700.

Ernest Lee, dwelling, Bolivar street, $1,500.

Gus White, repair building, Charlotte street, $400.

Patrick Hogan, barn, Hunter street, east, $125.

R. A. Morrow, store, Charlotte street, $2,400.

T. Hurley, addition to residence and office, Hunter street, $500.

Sam W. Londry, store, Aylmer street, $175.

M. E. Ketcheson, shed, Douro street, $1500.

H. Bradshaw, stable, Bolivar street, $100.00.

EVERYTHING PLENTIFUL AT THE MARKET TO-DAY

A rattling fine market this morning. There was a goodly quantity fo all market articles represented. Apples were particularly plentiful, and were eagerly bought up. Chickens, geese and turkeys were also very numerous to-day, the price of chickens having risen slightly since last Saturday. No hay was in evidence this morning.

The following prices prevailed:—

Potatoes—$1.00 a bag.
Apples—15 to 20 cents peck.
Eggs—30 cents doz.
Butter—26 cents lb.
Turkeys—$2.00.
Cabbages—5 cents to 10 cents.
Geese—$1.00.
Chickens—80 cents to 95 cents.
Tomatoes—75 cents.
Grapes—30 cents box.
Corn—10 cents dozen.
Pumpkins—10 cents.
Citrons—5 to 20 cents.
Piglets—[illegible] for $[illegible].

DR. SAM LUTTRELL AT Y.M.C.A.

The men of Peterborough will have a special priviledge to-morrow in the opportunity presented by the Y. M. C. A. to hear Dr. Sam. Luttrell at the Men's Meeting.

This great evangelist needs no words of praise to recommend him to the people of this city. He is a man who was himself lifted from a life of shame to one of honour and power by the power of the Gospel which now he tells to others. He can help the man who needs the help most, because he has been there himself and knows.

The meeting will be held in the parlours of the Association and will be bright and interesting. If any man doubts that these meetings are worth attending, all he has to do is ask some man who has been present. There are no clap-trap methods used, just a simple Gospel meeting with bright singing by the audience and a solo or quartette, and a good "straight from-the-shoulder" talk suitable to men.

The meeting commences at 4.15 sharp.

EDSON WILL BE A COAL CENTRE

The Canadian Courier prints some comment on Northwest propositions, and says—

A Dominion land surveyor has been out at Edson, Alberta, talking about lignite coal. He says that the Brazeau coal is nearer anthracite than bituminous. Pittsburg experts agree with him.

Two years ago it was that Brazeau got into the popular vocabulary, when Col. Talbot, a quiet parliamentary gentleman for Belle Chasse, Quebec, returned from the knees of the Rockies with wonderful tales of newfangled coal. There was much boom talk about the Brazeau region. The Canadian Courier published a great illustrated story, dealing with the colonel's adventures. But the surveyor says that he "had to be shown." He came, he saw, he was conquered. "I was fairly astonished by what I saw. The coal seams are so deep and solid that you can see them from either side of the river. You don't have to dig at all. The coal is right there on the surface, and it is the hardest coal I have seen anywhere west of Edmonton."

Lignite coal is Alberta's fortune—just now potential. It is lying there under the timber and the smoking lodges of the Stoneys, waiting for the snort of the railway engine. Edmonton sits on lignite, as does Strathcona. There are cake layers of it thirty feet thick all along the headwaters of the Saskatchewan, the place where you can also see weather made. It is Edson which is to be the coal centre of Alberta, according to the surveyor. The G.T.P. is to send a branch down there. That will be a first step in turning a potentiality into actuality. The future of Edson—he has it all laid out.

When the mines begin to cough, he says that thousands of men will be employed there. Hundreds of houses will sprout up. Lots will boom into three figures. The coal will be ported over to Edmonton—supply post and distributing point for Edson.

THE CAR TO BUY

Russell-Knight

The Car Noted for its Great Power, Flexibility, Quietness and Endurance

Russell-Knight 1911 Models: 22, 26 and 38 H.P.

CRITICS CONFOUNDED

Interested critics said a year ago: "Do not buy a Knight motor, it is an experiment—in a year or two it may be all right."

Partly this is true—the Knight engine will be improved. Quite frankly we venture to hope that each Knight engine and each Russell car we make will be better than the one before. We believe that our 1914 cars will be better than those of to-day.

But this is the fact that must be borne in mind :—

The Knight engine built in its first year, by the first firm building it in a commercial way, under official observation, put up a performance which no valve motor made by any firm after years of experience has been able to equal.

Is not this conclusive proof of Knight superiority?

Then consider that since that time the engineering skill of five of the leading engineering firms of the world have worked for the improvement of the motor, and have been aided by the experience of over 2,000 users.

To-day the Knight motor stands on its record in all quarters of the globe as a tested, tried-out product of superlative excellence.

In the 1911 Russell "38" you get the culmination of this work in engine design.

Send your name to receive new catalogue of Russell 1911 models with prices.

HAVELOCK HAPPENINGS

An Accident —Picture Show Will be Opened — Personal Items.

(Special to The Review.)

Havelock, Sept. 31.—Mr. Wallace Kelsh, of Belmont, who is employed as fireman at the Randolph McDonald Works on the Trent Canal at Trent River, was very badly burnt by an accident which happened at the construction works on Wednesday morning last. Mr. Kelsh, in an endeavor to clean out the flues in the engine, which they have at the works there, was very badly burnt about the hands and head, and as a result will not be able to work for some time.

COLLECTOR APPOINTED.

Mr. J. F. Breckenbridge has been appointed collector of taxes for Belmont and Methuen for 1910 at a salary of $100.

The two month old child of Mr. and Mrs. James Campney passed to the great Beyond on Thursday afternoon after a short illness. The funeral took place from the family residence on Friday afternoon to the Maple Grove cemetery. The sympathy of the village is extended to the bereaved parents.

Mr. James Buchanan, of Belmont, is selling his farm stock and implements by auction on Oct. 8th.

PICTURE SHOW.

Mr. T. E. Dineen will inaugurate a moving picture show in the town hall commencing on Saturday evening, Oct. 1st. Mr. P. J. Foley, of Toronto, has been engaged to sing illustrated songs. This is the first moving picture show to be started in Havelock, and Mr. Dineen guarantees the best picture service that can be secured. Two performances will be given each evening, the first starting at 7.30 o'clock, and the later at 9 o'clock.

St. John's church are holding their Thanksgiving services on Sunday, Oct. 2nd, where Prof. T. Herbert Cotton, of Wycliffe College, Toronto, will preach at both services. The church will be decorated for the occasion and special music given. Services will also be held at the Rush Point schoolhouse at 2.30 p.m.

PERSONAL.

Miss Ledima Johnston, of Norwood, was the guest of Havelock friends on Wednesday.

Mr. Jas. Lonergan, of Peterborough was in town on Saturday last.

Mr. Jas. Morrison, who has purchased the McKay tailoring establishment, has moved into the residence on Alexander street, adjoining that of Mr. J. Sexsmith. Mrs. Morrison and family arrived in Havelock on Friday.

Miss Lottie Chiles, of Peterborough, was in town on Friday.

Mr. Wm. Cochrane has left for Banff, Alta., where he will undergo treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. B. McKee, of Peterborough, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Sawyer on Sunday last.

Miss Robson, of Norwood, was in town on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates and Miss Dorothy, of Pittsburg, and Miss Margaret Morrow, of Philadelphia, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Squires.

Mr. and Mrs. C. McIntyre, of Moose Jaw, Sask., are visiting in town.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Brown have returned from a visit to Tweed and Napanee.

Mrs. John Lang, of Toronto, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. E. Oldrey last week.

A large number from town attended the Campbellford fair on Wednesday.

Mr. Wm. Mathison was in Peterborough on Friday.

Mr. Ward Barlow, of North Bay, formerly of town, has been promoted to the position of yardmaster at Sudbury.

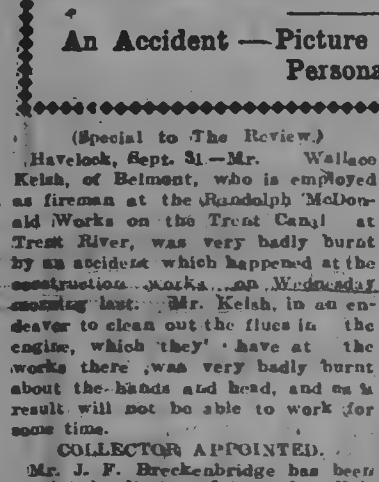
Mr. and Mrs. George Ackerman were in Norwood on Monday last.

THEY GOT THE BUMPS

A spectacular bicycle collision occurred Wednesday evening on Charlotte Street, between Mr. William McIlmoyle, King Street, and a young lad about twelve years of age. They were approaching each other at a fair rate of speed and the young lad it appears was watching the street car and did not notice Mr. McIlmoyle. They collided forcibly. Both were thrown to the ground and Mr. McIntoyle had the back wheel of his bicycle twisted and bent. The boy evidently thought that he would come in for a scolding, and hurriedly mounted his wheel and rode off.

PERSONAL

Mrs. P. Metz received word last evening of the critical illness of her sister in Kansas City, and left last night for home. Mrs. Metz was boarding here with her husband, who is a stationary engineer here with the Canadian Stewart Construction Company.



LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

(To The Editor of The Review.)

Sir,—In Tuesday's issue of the Review I noticed a complaint over the incessant whistling of engines on railroads inside the city limits. The matter was brought before the Council, with the object of having a by-law passed to prohibit whistling inside the city. Permit me to say that this would be a terrible mistake. While it may seem a nuisance to a few, it is a boon and a blessing to many. If they are not allowed to sound the whistle, there will be nothing to alarm and warn the public who are travelling on the outskirts of the city.

For instance, take these foggy mornings when the different gangs of section men, of which there are six in Peterborough, going out to work each morning, unable to see a pole's length ahead of them. The only note of warning which they can receive is from the whistle. Coming on winter when the snow is falling the sound of an approaching train is sometimes unable to be distinguished without the whistle. In the city limits the shunter is sometimes backing up and the engine is at the reverse end. In such cases the bell cannot always be heard, and the whistle is a necessity again. There are other good reasons which may be cited. After a railroad experience extending over a period of about thirty odd years, I have seen many cases, some of them personal, where the use of the whistle was a direct means of saving life.

Probably some young drivers are apt to whistle sometimes unnecessarily, but generally speaking I do not think the complaint is worthy of mention.

SAFETY.

A NEW VENTURE

The first of the meetings in connection with the St. John's Guild of Good Fellowship will be held in the Princess theatre to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock.

This guild welcomes all men of eighteen years and over, and provides the opportunity of spending a pleasant and profitable hour. The Rev. Charles Carpenter, of St. John's church, is the director and will take for his subject to-morrow "The Making of the Man." The subjects week by week will be on varied topics of interest, and those attending the meetings will be asked to suggest themes for ensuing discourses. Men of all classes and creeds will find a hearty welcome, and, as the name of the guild implies, the spirit of good-fellowship will be one of the prominent features.

Those in charge are desirous of forming a volunteer orchestra, and will accordingly appreciate all help that may be forthcoming in that direction. It is a movement deserving of the cordial support of our citizens, and no doubt a good audience will be present to-morrow to hear more about the venture.

DOG POISONER IS AT WORK

The dog poisoner is again at work in the west end of the city. Mr. T. W. Robinson, Weller street, found his terrier lying dead on the pavement near his residence this morning, and last evening the dog belonging to Mr. James Maude, Weller street, was also poisoned. Both canines were pets and were in no way annoying or vicious.

A Sudden Departure of a Purse a Two Dollar Bill and Bracelet

A. Mrs. McGee, reported at the police station to-day, that she had lost $2.00 and a bracelet, but as the department is not equipped with a fleet of aeroplanes, it is not likely that the lost articles, particularly the money will be recovered.

Mrs. McGee was near the corner of Hunter and George Streets, and the days gale was at its best. In the midst of her endeavor to keep her equilibrium, her purse dropped to the sidewalk, and opened. The two dollar bill, the purse and the bracelet bid a fond farewell and with the aid of the breeze, departed for unknown regions.

LINERS ON SPORT

There is much more than a grain of truth in the contention of a Massachusetts woman that athletics will conduce to healthier and more normal lives for women. The same may be for men. The men and women who take plenty of exercise in golf, tennis, swimming, baseball or rowing are not as often mixed in domestic troubles as those whose leisure is spent in idleness. She says healthy bodies and clean minds go oftenest together.

That is one reason why sport for young or old is encouraged. It is the reason colleges urge their students to do gymnastic work and join the athletic teams. The recreation centres of large cities, the playgrounds, football and baseball parks, the full swimming beaches, and public golf links will all have their beneficent effect on the bodies and minds of the coming generation.

Overend did not turn out last night in uniform for a good and sufficient reason—there was not a suit in the gymnasium large enough for him. Ken will be out to-night.—Kingston Standard.

TENNIS

The final of the ladies' singles in the St. John's Tennis Club competition will be played this afternoon, the finalists being Mrs. W. L. Richardson vs. Miss Lillian Dean. The prizes for this season will be presented at the A.Y.P.A. apron and tie social at St. John's school on Monday next at 8 p.m.

AFTERNOON SESSION

Of Women's Missionary Society Convention — Thursdays Meeting

The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Speer took the chair. After prayer by Mrs. Campbell, a Bible reading, taken by Mrs. Allum, was very impressive. The thought was the great privilege to think that people could have such close communion with their Heavenly Father, and the great good that might be accomplished if they walked more closely in His steps, and more obedient to His call. This was followed by personal testimonials from the delegates, as to the great good they had derived from the W.M.S.

Miss Ethel Gibbs gave a very interesting paper on Missions in General.

Mrs. (Dr.) Middleton gave a solo, which was enjoyed by everyone.

Mrs. (Rev.) Henderson, who attended the General Conference with Rev. Mr. Henderson gave a very clear account of the work carried on in the Crossley Girls' Home in Port Simpson, also the Chinese Rescue Home, in Victoria. Her talk would intensify the interest of those who heard her, in the work done by our Society in that part of the world.

A duet by Mrs. Sargent and Mrs. Howson was appreciated.

The Mission Band conference was introduced by Mrs. Lightfoot, by a very instructive paper on Practical Suggestions as to the Interesting of children in Missions. A good discussion followed, entered into by Mrs. R. Mann, Mrs. Speer and Miss Syam. Mrs. Payne read a paper on the importance of training boys in missionary lines.

Mrs. (Dr.) Morrison gave a good paper on Systematic Giving, and many new converts were won over in favor of the system.

The question drawer was read and answered very satisfactorily by Mrs. (Rev.) Campbell.

The meeting then adjourned till 8 p.m.

NORWOOD

(By Farmer George in the Norwood Register.)

O, Norwood is a busy hive, and wondrous hard to beat; her citizens are all alive, and steady on their feet. Since Local Option hit the town they've got to go that way; or else the cop will run them down, and hustle them away. It is a most unpleasant thing to stand before the beak and when his worship shouts "explain," you are too full to speak. He then will fine or confine you, and heap on you disgrace, your boss will get another man to take your vacant place. Your wife will weep, your children howl, because they have no bread; and you will rear and rage and scowl, and wish you were dead. Yes, Norwood is a nifty town, and, lest you should forget, just jot these memoranda down, you'll not repent, I bet.

RHEUMATIC PAINS

Not Due to Cold Wet Weather—The Trouble is Rooted in The Blood

Many people believe that the twinges and tortures of rheumatism are due to cold, damp, or wet weather, and treat themselves by rubbing with liniments and lotions. This is a serious mistake, and one which allows the disease to progress to such an extent that it is often impossible to get it out of the system. Rheumatism comes from poisonous acid in the blood, and it must be cured through the blood. All the liniments, and rubbing, and so-called electrical treatment in the world will not cure rheumatism. This is a medical truth which every sufferer from this excruciating trouble should know. Rheumatism can only be cured by driving the poisonous acid out of the blood, and enriching and purifying it. There is no medicine will do this so speedily and surely as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They actually make the new, rich, red blood, which drives out the poisonous acid, upbuilds the system, and makes the sufferer well and strong. It is because they do this that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured thousands of cases of rheumatism after all other treatment had failed. As proof, we give the case of Mrs. F. X. Boisseau, St. Jerome, Que., who says—"Almost two years ago I was a terrible sufferer from rheumatism. The trouble first located in my right leg, rendering all work impossible, and walking excessively difficult. I tried to cure myself by means of all sorts of liniments and lotions, but without avail. The trouble was constantly growing worse, and the pain more and more unbearable. Finally the disease spread to my other leg, and I was all but helpless, and I was completely discouraged, thinking I would be a sufferer for the rest of my life. At this time I read an advertisement in our home paper, of this trouble being cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to try them. I first got four boxes of the pills, and after using them for several weeks I could see that the painful rheumatism was gradually disappearing. I continued taking the Pills, however, until I had used about a dozen boxes, when every symptom of the trouble had disappeared, and I could walk as freely as ever I did, and do my housework without the least trouble. I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to every rheumatic sufferer."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dresden will be one of the towns which will have a company of the 24th Kent Regiment, if the project by which the strength of the regiment will be doubled is successful.

CAUGHT NAPPING—THE DRY WICK OF AN EMPTY PROFESSION

Comments on the S. S. Lesson by Evangeline, Oct. 2nd. Matt. 25: 1-13.

The parable of the virgins is history written in advance. Our Lord dared to stand before all the skeptics and infidels in Christendom and to commit Himself to a prophetic programme of the Christian age—to tell us before hand of what would befall our race.

Boldly and fearlessly He exposed Himself to the perpetual danger of being

and consequently false in His pretensions. A programme proves true or false, according as it is fulfilled. Our Lord practically took this stand before the world—

I am God, the second Person of the Trinity, in order that you may see that I am, I tell you before hand things that are going to happen on the earth, I sketch out to you the whole course of future events. Prove Me by this. Let every age as it rolls by bear witness to My truth or falsehood. I am willing to stand or to fall by this test. "Now I have told you before it come to pass that when it is come to pass ye might believe." (John 14;29.)

Let us take up the Lord's challenge and look briefly at some of the predictions given previous to this lesson before considering it more in detail. If from the year 33 A.D. to 1910 the history written in advance has been fulfilled in the "profane history" of the intervening centuries, perhaps you will admit that the parable of the virgins is no fairy tale, no comet scare, but a prediction affecting our future destiny and worthy of profound consideration.

Passing over the great number of predictions referring to the tragedy of all ages, foretelling it in every detail, of which we have abundant confirmation in history, and without examining in detail the great number of predictions of the destruction of Jerusalem, of the Temple, and of the Jewish people which seemed most improbable when given, He foretells that the favored nation would no longer enjoy but that the Kingdom of Heaven or the new age would be universal. "The field would be the world." The revelation of God would be for all.

He said that God's way of working in future would be altogether different from the past. It would be like that of a sower sowing seed. Life-giving truth would be scattered everywhere. All life comes from seed. The Word of God has in it the germ of Spiritual life. He would work in the hearts and lives of men imparting new life. He said that the subjects of the new kingdom would not be received as nations, but as individuals. He predicted that the false would be mixed with the true, tares would grow with the wheat.

foolish and wise virgins, sheep and goats, until the great day when He would separate the true from the false.

Have such predictions been borne out by subsequent events? Then may we confidently look for the fulfillment in the future of the events referred to in the parable of our lesson.

Have you sufficient curiosity to pry into the secrets of the future? Read the parable of the virgins.

The heavenly Bridegroom is coming back again to claim his bride, the True Church, at an hour when we "think not."

You do not believe it! Then turn up the two hundred and eighteen references to the fact in the New Testament, and see for yourself. In the parable the wise virgins represent the bride, the foolish, the professing church, having the form of godliness without the power. There was so little difference outwardly between the two that one could hardly tell the real from the false.

For nearly twenty centuries the Bridegroom has tarried. Why? Because He laid upon His prospective bride the responsibility of getting out the invitations, and they are not out yet. "The gospel," He says, "must first be preached to all nations." "The gospel of the kingdom shall first be preached in all the world for a witness, then shall the end come."

The truth is

to her evangelistic responsibilities. She is asleep to God's magnificent purposes and plans revealed in the Sure Word of Prophecy, specially in the Book of Revelation. She is asleep to the fact that Jesus Christ is really coming again, and while she sleeps carry her whithersoever they will in their aeroplanes of ritualism, bleriots of rationalism and their dirigibles of higher criticism. The church has yet to emerge from the dark ages of her history if she to escape the scathing denunciations pronounced upon the religious leaders of the first century by our Lord—"Woe to you, for you shut up the kingdom of heaven against men, for ye neither go in yourselves, neither suffer ye them that are entering to go in."

Already the cry is going forth "Behold the Bridegroom cometh; go ye out to meet Him."

There shall come in the last days scoffers saying, "Where is the promise of His coming?" says Peter, "for since the fathers fell asleep all things continue as they were."

Are you ready to meet Him? Does the never failing oil of the Spirit of God shine through your life? Sooner than you think the door may open into His banqueting house. There will be no time for preparation, for it shall be done in a moment, in "the twinkling of an eye." For the Lord Himself shall descend from heaven with a shout—and the dead in Christ shall rise first, and we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air."

"They that were ready went in with Him and the door was shut. Afterwards came also the other virgins saying, Lord, Lord, open unto us. But He answered and said, "I know you not." There will be no landing place inside the door for aviators with their dry wicks of an empty profession in "a lamp so percolated by criticism" that it can't hold oil. There will be no hypocrites in that church.

"Many will say to Me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied (preached) in Thy Name and in Thy Name done many wonderful works? Then will I profess unto them I never knew you, depart."

Such is the parable and its interpretation. The events of the slowly unfolding ages have come out exactly as He said they would. The snapshot that He took of the careers and true characters of two very different classes which would develop in the Christian age, the true church one in spirit with Himself, and a vast worldly ecclesiastical system have come out on the negative exactly as He took them twenty centuries before.

Yes, He knew how present day Pharisees and Sadducees would evade the subject of His coming. He knew how the bride would keep His waiting for the invitations to get out. He knew how the adversary would administer to her an anesthetic and keep her under the influence of it as long as he could, and just as surely as the first part of the parable is being fulfilled before our eyes shall the latter part have its fulfillment in time.

Oh! that the sleeping Church might be aroused! Behold, He cometh! Awake! Awake!

Vanderbilt Cup Course, L. I., Oct. 1.—Two dead, three fatally injured, and several others hurt, was the tale of disaster piled up half an hour after the opening of the great Vanderbilt cup race this morning.

Driver Harold Stone, of Columbia car No. 12, was killed, and his mechanican, William Bacon, fatally hurt, when their car swerved from the track and crashed into a telegraph pole.

The mad, all night rush of thousands of autoists to the course was responsible for another of the deaths and several of the injured.

A FINE PROGRAM AND A HIGHLY PLEASED AUDIENCE

Successful Concert by 57th Band and Assisting Artists—Encores Were the Order of the Evening—A Popular Concert That Really Proved Popular

An immense and highly pleased crowd attended the popular band concert at the armories last night, when a programme was provided that fully lived up to all advance notices.

The special numbers were attractive features and met with much approval. Miss Lavina Hallihan was at her best in "Killarney," and for an encore sang that beautiful number from "The Bohemian Girl"—"I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Hall." On her second appearance on the program she gave "La Paloma," and was insistently recalled. She sang "Home, Sweet Home," with fine expression, and the applause was so enthusiastic that she was forced to reappear and gave another verse of this popular selection.

The Ark Quartette were heard to splendid advantage in two taking numbers, "Watch the Possum Stew," and "Women." The members of the quartette are Messrs. W. E. Cunningham, bass; Asa Huycke, bass; Joe Zepp, tenor; Ed. Walton, tenor.

Miss Katie Leary was most cordially received in her finished reading.

All the numbers by the band met with warm appreciation. The opening march, "Semper Fedeles," with bugle and drum accompaniment, won with high favor and had to be repeated. The arrangement of Lauder's songs and Silver Bell were also among the most popular and heartily encored numbers of the programme. The heaviest number of the evening, "La Fremeisberg," was given with fine effect.

Miss Sisson, of the Conservatory staff, was the accompanist for the vocalists, and played with sympathetic and excellent expression.

There seems no doubt that the "pops" of the 57th band should prove most successful and largely patronized entertainments.

PAPER DYNAMITED

Five Hundred Thousand Dollars Financial Loss—But 20 Lives Were Lost

(Special to the Review)

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 1.—At least twenty persons were killed and many others seriously injured at 1.05 this morning, when an explosion occurred in the Los Angeles Times building. Officers of the Times Publishing Company declare the building was dynamited. The building was completely gutted by fire, which followed the explosion. The property loss will reach half a million dollars.

TEN DAYS UP TO-NIGHT

THE Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN

The Big Campaign for 500 new members at the Y. M. C. A. will probably close as has been announced to-night. That is the first ten days of the campaign will close, for if the 500 new members are not secured the Campaigners will likely just stay with it till they are. Unless a larger number than is now expected comes to-night there will not be 500 new names. While the leaders of the Campaign are sorry that the end was not obtained in the ten days, they feel greatly encouraged at the way they have been received by those whom they have approached and are glad that they have added as many as they have to the roll. There are a great many who gave answer, when approached, that they would join in the course of a few weeks. This is what has encouraged the men to stay with the task till it is completed.

Those who have been working have worked hard, just as hard as they could, and when the fact is considered that one man has secured almost thirty new members and several have secured over twenty, it will be seen that the reason for the failure to win the desired result was due to the fact that there were many who did not do their duty. Those who have worked have enjoyed the work. They feel like continuing the effort. Not one feels like giving up. This, however, will likely be decided at the meeting in the building to-night.

The Association feels deeply grateful to the local press for the publicity given the Campaign through it's columns. This was of inestimable worth to the workers. A debt of gratitude is due, too to the local Clergyman who so kindly referred to the Campaign in their pulipts last Sunday.

Ruth Billings Tripped Over Stone While at Play—Is In the Hospital

Ruth Billings, a pupil of the Queen Alexandra school, while at play with a number of other pupils, during the afternoon intermission yesterday, tripped over a stone and broke a bone in her right limb and also injured her ankle.

Dr. Morgan attended to the injuries and the patient is getting along nicely in the Nicholls hospital.

The mishap occurred on Barnardo avenue, on which the school faces. The stone, which was a large one, was in such a position that the little girl's foot was caught underneath it, and she fell over. Her home is on Lisburn street, Auburn.

OBITUARY

MRS. LETITIA FINLAY

After reaching the grand old age of ninety-five, the spirit of Mrs. Letitia Finlay passed into the great beyond this morning, after a life full of usefulness and service to all with whom she came in contact.

Coming to this country in 1833, she settled in the township of Dummer, near Norwood. In 1848 she was married to the late Mr. John Finlay, whose first wife died some years previous. She proved to be a kind and affecttionate mother to the six children of Mr. Finlay. Their names are William, of Rapid City, Man.; John, ex-M.P., of Norwood; Thomas E., of Lucknow, Ont.; Mrs. J. Clysdale, of Lakefield; Mrs. Robert Hargreson, Water street, city, and Mrs. George Elliott, Norwood.

There were three children by her marriage. They are Mrs. James A. Bell, Smith township, the late Mrs. J. C. Turnbull and Mr. Malcolm Kidd, with whom she was residing at the time of her death.

The deceased was a Baptist in religion, and the funeral will take place on Monday at 2.30 p.m. Service will be conducted at the house by Rev. J. R. Webb, before proceeding to Little Lake cemetery for interment.

THE FORMULA OF "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Is On The Outside Of Every Box For All The World To See

Every user of "Fruit-a-tives" knows exactly what is being taken. The formula of this famous fruit medicine is printed plainly on the outside of every box. We have stated many times—and now state clearly—that "Fruit-a-tives" is made of the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes, with valuable heart and nerve tonics and antiseptics.

Everyone knows that fruit juice is healthful—but perhaps some do not understand why this is true.

Fruit juice consists of about 91% water, 8% of sweet principle, and 1% of a bitter substance. It is the quantity of bitter principle in fruit that gives the fruit value as a medicine. An eminent physician of Ottawa, after years of experimenting, found a method of increasing the bitter principle in fruit juice, thus increasing the medicinal or curative qualities.

The juices are first extracted from fresh, ripe oranges, apples, figs and prunes. By a secret process, some of the sweet atoms are replaced by the bitter principle. Then tonics and antiseptics are added, and the whole made into tablets, now known far and wide as "Fruit-a-tives."

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world that is made of fruit juices, and is one of the few remedies that have let their composition be known from their introduction to the public.

"Fruit-a-tives" is nature's stimulant for the liver, bowels, kidneys and skin. In cases of obstinate Constipation, Liver Trouble, Indigestion, Backache, Rheumatism, Headaches and Impure Blood, this wonderful fruit medicine cures when everything else fails.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold everywhere at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c., or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited. Ottawa.

QUEEN'S OWN REACHES CANADIAN SOIL AFTER TOUR

Quebec, Oct. 3.—The steamer Canada of the Dominion Line, bringing the Q.O.R. fresh from their English laurels, arrived in port at 10.30 yesterday morning. The commissioner's wharf had been decorated with flags of all nations, on account of the arrival of the regiment.

Earl Grey, accompanied by Lady Grey, stood on the dock and watched the regiment disembark and get into regimental formation. Then he walked in front of each company with Col. Sir Henry Pellatt, and looked the men over. After that he returned to his carriage in front of the corps, mounted that and gave an address. He said:

"I congratulate you, gentlemen, on the parts you have individually and collectively played in what appears to have struck the popular imagination as an almost epoch-making one in the education of the Empire. We have read with pride the reports of the enthusiasm evoked in England by the smartness and efficiency of the Queen's Own, and more especially have we learned with loyal gratification of the royal marks of approval and encouragement the regiment received from our sovereign."

Col. Pellatt is looking the picture of health, having received at sea by wireless good news of his son. He refused to be transferred in midocean from the Canada to the Empress of Britain, to return to England, according to arrangements taken, preferring to stay with his regiment and return his men to Toronto, but he intends to start in eight or ten days from Toronto for London, to bring back his son with him, when he will be well enough to undertake the trip.

Out of thirty-six officers, ten, said Col. Pellatt, has been affected with typhoid fever in England, which, according to him, had been caused by certain poisoned food that they had eaten, or bad water they had drunk somewhere. His son had been very low for some days, but he was considered now as out of danger and progressing very favorably. The latest news says all the officers who have been left in the hospital are in fair way of recovery.

The hard work has done wonders for the men physically. Their friends will be surprised when they get home. During manoeuvres the fat ones lost their superfluous flesh, and all hardened up. Those who arrive home lean can blame it on sickness. The ones who were not sick have spent the week getting fat. It is surprising how plump one can become during a week of inactivity after a long season of hard work. However, the seasick ones have been doing fairly well in the eating line for the past two or three days.

On Tuesday a storm sprang up, and about ninety per cent. of the regiment were sick. In calm weather half the regiment is fed at once and the other half the next. During the storm, and for a couple of days after, there was only one sitting, and there was sparse attendance at that. Thursday the biggest storm since March last swept the ocean, but strange to relate, few were ill. The men had become innured to life on "the briny," and took an interest in watching the huge waves. Consequently the attendance at meals was fairly large.

GODERICH ORGAN FACTORY BURNED, LOSS $100,000

Spontaneous Combustion is Believed to Have Been Cause of Conflagration on Saturday Night—Stratford and Clinton Rush Fire-Fighters to Scene.

Goderich, Oct. 3—About nine o'clock Saturday night fire was discovered in the basement of the Goderich Organ Co.'s factory on the corner of East street and Cambria road. The firemen arrived promptly on the scene and managed to keep the fire inside the building until about 10.30 p.m., when the flames broke through the roof.

There was a strong northwest wind blowing, almost a gale, and it looked as though one section of the town was doomed. Help was telephoned for from Clinton and Stratford.

Showers of sparks and blazing pieces of wood were blown as far as a quarter of a mile on the windward side of the fire, and the flames almost reached across the street. It was only by the energy of the firemen and the citizens that the nearby houses were saved, and, had these caught fire, nothing would have saved the eastern portion of the town.

At 11 p.m. the building was one mass of flames, the roof and the top story of the walls having fallen. The firemen now used all their endeavors to save the other building belonging to the company. At midnight the fire was under control, but still blazing briskly, owing to the oil and other inflammable material in the building.

The Clinton and Stratford Fire companies arrived on the G. T. R. train at 1 a.m., the train being held at Stratford to load their equipment. Although the fire was under complete control of the local firemen when the visitors arrived, they did some good work assisting to extinguish the fire. All the huge lumber piles at the back of the factory were saved.

The building, plant and stock which it contained is a total loss, amounting to about $100,000, covered by the usual insurance.

The fire started in the northeast corner of the building, in the basement near the oil house. The cause can only be conjectured, spontaneous combustion being the most likely explanation. The watchman was the only person in the building at the time, and had made his rounds at 8 o'clock, and found everything O. K. At a few minutes to 9 o'clock, in making his rounds, he smelled smoke, and immediately turned in the alarm.

VANDALS USED BLUE PAINT

Berlin, Oct. 3.—The opening of the new $3,500,000 town hall at Dresden by King Frederick Augustus of Saxony Saturday was marred by the offence of a gang of vandals during the night.

The magnificent white marble flight of steps, 72 meters long, was painted blue throughout. It was only by the efforts of an army of workmen that the building was made partly presentable for the ceremony.

LOCK-OUT SHORT LIVED

Manchester, Eng., Oct. 3.—The lock-out by the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners Saturday of the operatives in 500 mills is likely to be of short duration. George R. Aswith of the Board of Trade, who has the matter of a settlement in hand, has secured the approval of operatives to the revised terms of a compromise proposition, which the employers are expected to accept. Indications are that the mill will soon be re-opened.

STOVE FACTORY BURNED

Merrickville, Oct. 3.—A fire broke out yesterday morning in the Percival Plow & Stove Co.'s premises, and did a large amount of damage. The finishing shop, where the fire was first discovered, is in ruins, and at the time contained a large quantity of ranges ready for shipment to customers between Halifax, N.S., and Winnipeg, Man. The loss will be heavy, but the company have other premises in operation at Newburgh, which will help them out to a great extent in filling orders. The cause of the fire is uncertain. The building was insured in several companies.

MUST HAVE DISCIPLINE

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—Moses Baratz, national organizer for the Socialist party of Canada, said last night in reference to the expulsion of James Simpson of Toronto from the Socialist party that the party must have discipline, and could not permit one of its members to take a position from a capitalistic government. The party in Canada is now going through a purifying process, over 700 members in Ontario having been expelled for supporting freak reforms.

INSPECTOR GREER TO HAVE HELP

Goderich, Oct. 3—Provincial Inspector Greer returned to Toronto from Goderich on Saturday after spending a week on the Anderson case, in order to have a conference with Attorney General Foy and Supt. Rogers.

The authorities have determined to leave no stone unturned to locate the murderer of young Lizzie Anderson, and it is understood that another officer will be assigned to the case to assist Inspector Greer. Whatever information has been obtained during the week is being carefully guarded, although rumors of important developments at the inquest on Wednesday are current.

AMUNDSEN WILL SEEK SOUTH POLE

Christiania, Oct. 3.—According to a letter received here from Captain Ronald Amundsen, on board the Fram at Madeira, Amundson has decided to proceed on an Antarctic expedition. He promises to send details when he arrives at Punta Arenas.

This change in plans has occasioned surprise, as it was the original intention of Amundsen to start early next year on a drifting voyage for the North Pole. The Fram was first to go to San Francisco, where it was to be fitted out, and it was calculated that the drift through the polar ice would occupy not less than seven years.

ENGINE UPSET AT WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, Oct. 3.—A Canadian Northern switching engine ran down a St. Boniface street car in Norwood Saturday and upset, and the rear trucks of the trolley car were torn off. The car was crowded with passengers and great excitement was caused. Dr. A. Meindle of Winnipeg cut his hand by jumping through a broken window, but the other passengers escaped injury.

Now Watch Uncle Sam.

London, Oct. 3.—London financiers have received a cablegram from Nicaragua, stating that the United States has completed arrangement for a loan to Nicaragua of $20,000,000, the United States taking over the financial administration of the country.

THE PHOENIX REPORTED ASHORE

Kingston, Oct. 3.—The steamer Phoenix, Capt. J. Richards, is reported ashore on Poplar Point shoal, some three miles above South Bay Point. Fears are expressed that her consort, the barge Sherman, Capt. Matthew Hourigan, has gone down with a crew of probably six. The Sherman had coal for Kingston and the Phoenix coal for Ogdensburg. They left Charlotte on Saturday about noon, and during the afternoon struck the westerly gale, which later hauled around to the northwest. During the wildness of the gale the tow line broke and the Sherman went adrift.

The Calvin Wrecking Co. of Garden Island has sent the steamer Donnelly and lighter to rescue the Phoenix. Vessels coming into port report seeing the Phoenix ashore, but saw nothing of the Sherman. The Phoenix and Sherman belong to the George Hall Coal Co. of Ogdensburg.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

George Hallows, Toronto, was fatally injured by an auto yesterday.

M. Wynmalen, a French aviator, reached a height of 9,121 feet at Mourmelon, France, Saturday.

Aviators Dickson and Thomas collided in mid-air at Milan, and Dickson was very badly hurt.

George Harrington, 13 years old, was probably fatally injured in Toronto yesterday by a horse stepping upon him.

The action to upset the marriage of Michael Fraser of Midland and Miss Robertson will be concluded at the Assizes in Toronto.

Protestant ratepayers of Cambridge Township have brought action against the school board to prevent the teaching of the Roman Catholic catechism in the public school.

Twenty-nine United States sailors are thought to have perished through the capsizing of a launch on board of which they were returning to the battleship New Hampshire.

The official report of conditions in the cholera infected district of Italy during the past 24 hours shows the following: Naples City, 11 new cases, Naples Province, 17 cases, Apulia, 2 cases, Sassari Province, 2 cases.

The death took place yesterday of Hon. J. K. Ward, member of the Quebec Legislative Council, aged 91 years, and a very large lumber merchant in his time. He contested St. Antoine division of Montreal West twice in the Liberal interest, but was defeated.

One hundred and fifty miners, possibly more, are entombed, probably dead, in Mine No. 2, at Palau, Mexico, in the Las Esperanzas mining field, operated by the National Railways of Mexico, as a result of two explosions. The men are mostly native and Japanese miners.

Earl Grey has signified his intention of paying a visit to the university and school of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, where there will be a public meeting of convocation in the afternoon in the new convocation hall, and His Excellency will receive the degree of D.C.L. honoris causa.

THE ATHENS BANK CASE

Brockville, Oct. 3.—The Athens Bank case came up again Saturday before Magistrate Deacon. Melville Forrest, former teller of the branch at Athens gave a mass of evidence, detailing how the money had been taken from the cash from time to time. He also verified a number of weekly statements of the bank and statements of deposit ledger balances, which had been signed and certified to by Cughan, that they were false.

Before the court adjourned, Inspector Fitzgibbon of the Farmers' Bank swore out a warrant for the arrest of Cughan upon a second charge of falsifying the statements of the bank. The magistrate committed Cughan for trial on the first charge of theft, and remanded him to jail for a hearing on the other.

BIG TRIP FOR SUBMARINE

Paris, Oct. 3.—The submarine boat Archimede has accomplished a non-stop voyage from Cherbourg to the mouth of the River Gironde and back a distance of 1,625 miles, in less than five days.

The vessel is of a size sufficient to allow four officers' cabins and accommodations for a crew of 38 men. She is as comfortable as a torpedo boat destroyer. She could blockade a port for a week.

Aviator's Fiancee Suicides.

Paris, Oct. 3.—As a tragic sequel to the death of Edmond Poillot, the French aviator, his fiancee, who has shown almost uncontrollable grief, went to his grave yesterday and fired a bullet into her heart. Poillot was killed on Sept. 25 while making a flight with a passenger.

White Star to Abandon Holyhead.

London, Oct. 3.—It is reported that the White Star Steamship Co. had decided to abandon Holyhead as a port of call.

FULLER DETAILS OF OUTRAGE ON THE LOS ANGELES TIMES

Newspaper Office Destroyed by Explosive and Nineteen Are Dead—Attempt is Made to Blow up Three Other Places by the Perpetrators.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 3—The building occupied by The Times Publishing Co. was destroyed by fire Saturday morning and there is a heavy death list, estimated at between 15 and 20.

An attempt to destroy the residence of Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, publisher of The Times, by an infernal machine was made following the explosion which earlier destroyed the buildings and plant of The Times. A suspected effort to blow up the auxiliary plant of that paper is also reported. It was however, in the destruction of The Times' buildings that the only serious damage was done.

The fire was proceeded by an explosion and immediately the building was enveloped in flames. The explosion occurred on the second floor of an addition to the old building.

The editorial rooms were on the third floor, but it is believed the greater part of the men on this floor escaped death.

One of the reportorial staff, so far as could be learned, was in the local room at the time of the explosion.

The mortality was not confined to The Times' employes, for one fireman lost his life.

A powerful infernal machine was also found Saturday in the residence of Secretary Zeechandlaar, secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association.

Gen. Otis, who is on his way home from Mexico, and other responsible heads of The Times, unequivocally charge The Times' building disaster and the narrowly averted attempts at further destruction of life and property to labor union sources. The leaders of union labor repudiate the accusation, and offer all aid in their power to detect the culprits.

The Times made public the following telegram from Gen. Otis: "Your wire, with its terrible news, reached me this morning. I am amazed at the desperation of the criminal conspirators in destroying The Times' building, and slaying its loyal defenders, whose loss I deeply deplore, but The Times itself will live on, bravely defending the vital and essential principle of industrial freedom, under which law must yet triumph in the entire nation." (Signed) Harrison Gray Otis.

For twenty years, following a quarrel with the Typographical Union, and the changing of The Times to a non-union paper, Gen. Otis has fought unionism. He has been ably seconded in this fight by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, whose secretary's home was the object of a frustrated dynamiting attempt Saturday.

The president of the local Typographical Union issued orders that union printers may work with the non-union printers of The Times in any of the local newspaper offices in setting up copy for The Times. This was announced after a consultation of the union men and the managers of other newspapers.

The City Council met in special session Saturday and appropriated $25,000 to determine the cause of The Times' explosion, and provided a reward of $2,500 for the capture of those responsible for the outrage.

Mayor Alexander and the City Council, meeting with other city officers and labor union leaders during the day, agreed to call off the union labor parade, planned for next Monday night as a demonstration against the local conditions alleged to be hostile to the interests of union labor.

The death list of the disaster probably will total 19. There are four known dead, and 15 are missing, whose bodies probably lie in the still smoking ruins of The Times building.

The entire building was in ruins at 1.45, and but two walls were standing. In addition to the complete plant of The Times, the building contained the large jobbing and commercial plant of the American Engraving Co. The property loss is estimated at $500,000.

The force of the explosion was exerted on the mechanical departments of the paper, and most of the dead and injured were members of these departments.

Managing Editor Harry E. Andrews said: "The Times building was destroyed by dynamite this morning by the enemies of industrial freedom. The Times itself cannot be destroyed. It will soon be reissued from its auxiliary plant, and will fight its battles to the last."

Two men were arrested about two blocks north of The Times' building, and are being held for identification.

The Times employed non-union printers and maintained a large battery of linotypes for teaching operators in the use of these machines.

Recently union labor forces have been engaged in a life-and-death struggle in Los Angeles with the merchants inclined to favor the open shop system.

FOUR KILLED AND TWENTY INJURED RECORD FOR ONE DAY

New York, Oct. 3.—Four killed and twenty injured is the record for one day at the Vanderbilt Cup race at Long Island Motor Parkway Saturday. The dead are:

Matthew R. Bacon, mechanic to Harold Stone, when the car plunged off bridge and turned turtle on bursting of rear tire.

Charles Miller, mechanic of Cherolet's machine; killed instantly as the car smashed into a touring car on the edge of the course.

Edward Lynch, of Glen Cove, Long Island, 85 years old; struck by touring car as he was returning home after the race; died in Nassau Hospital.

The board of supervisors of Nassau County, Long Island, will hold a special meeting to-day to consider the advisability of cancelling the permit for the grand prize automobile race scheduled to be held over the Vanderbilt Cup course on Oct. 15. Notwithstanding Saturday's list of four dead and more than twenty injured, incident to the Vanderbilt, A. R. Pardington, general manager of the Long Island Motor Parkway, is authority for the statement that nothing but official interference shall stop the grand prize.

Several drivers booked to participate in the event have demanded more adequate policing of the course, and last night Wm. Pickers, manager of Barney Oldfield, gave out the following message which he says Oldfield sent from Chicago: "Withdraw my entry from grand prize race, unless course will be guarded completely by troops. I am unwilling to risk my neck and car."

Several of the Nassau County supervisors are undecided whether to attribute Saturday's fatalities to lack of policing or to the carelessness of spectators, but C. C. Painter of Oyster Bay, a member of the board, who will offer a motion to cancel the permit to-day, issued this statement last night: "The killing and maiming at yesterday's automobile race seems to me to indicate the end of the kind of sport on the highways of Nassau County. If it does not, then I am much mistaken. The thing has gone far enough. Shall we wait for a wholesale killing before taking action?"

Four persons killed and 19 injured, several of them probably fatally, was one result of the sixth Vanderbilt Cup race.

Many of the victims were spectators, run down when the racing automobile crashed into the crowds lining the parkway.

Of those who lived to the finish, Harry Grant, driving a 120-horse-power Alco, was a winner by the narrow margin of 25 seconds, one minute and six seconds ahead of John Aitken, at the wheel of a National.

By his victory Grant repeats his exploit of last year, when he captured the cup in a car of the same make.

MISSING MEN NOT FOUND

Kenora, Oct. 3.—The return yesterday afternoon of one of the searching party who left five days ago to find the missing men, Charles Jones and Stanley McCanon, who disappeared twelve days ago while hunting on the lake, brought to town only the sad intelligence of the discovery of their canoe upside down in the main channel of Whitefish Bay. Two paddles, besides McCanon's coat and a cap belonging to Jones, were found, making very conclusive evidence as to the fate of the two men.

TO FORM PART OF MAIN LINE

Winnipeg, Oct. 3—It has been learned here that the Canadian Northern line, now in course of construction northwesterly from North Battleford will be diverted to the west to connect with the Yellowhead Pass line at St. Albert, north of Edmonton, and will form a section of the main trans continental line. The road will open up a magnificent farming country between North Battleford and St. Albert.

FREIGHTER FOUNDERED

Detroit, Oct. 3—The package freighter New York, operated by the New York Steamship Co. of this city, foundered yesterday morning in Thunder Bay, off Point Aux Barques, Lake Michigan. Her crew was picked up in yawls by the steamer Mataafa, bound for Cleveland.

Marine men here think the freighter mentioned is "The City of New York," which was bought some years ago by George Plunkett of Cobourg.

WHAT WILL THE DIRECTORS DO?

London, Oct. 3.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Many rumors are afloat regarding what the Canadian Pacific directors may announce regarding land either in the form of an extra dividend of a land bonus. It is admitted that the directors may do nothing, but it is suggested that the shareholders would not be inclined to surrender everything to posterity.

CUSTOM'S INCREASE

The customs increase of over $8,000 for September, 1910, as against 1909, is gratifying. Some one is buying more boots, more coats, more sugar, more jewelry, more machinery. We are growing. We have no band wagon, but we are listening to the glad music of prosperity continually.

THE WORLD'S ALRIGHT

While the papers are filled with the accounts of murder and divorce, robbery and embezzlement, yet there is plenty of true love in this earth; there are many honest, earnest and noble-hearted men and women in the world. Here we are in Peterborough, a man is arrested for theft, found guilty and sent down. However, the other eighteen thousand people are mainly honest. But the papers feature the unfortunate thief. In domestic circles there is felicity and warmth of response between man and wife, but it is only when we read of those in high jinks society fighting for separation and divorce are we inclined to think love has lost its power. Bill Jones and Tom Jones and John Brown and Bill Brown, who work hard at their daily labor, they are the sinew of our country. They live happily. We couldn't get along without Bill Jones or Bill Brown, but we could very easily dispense with some of these lobsters (male and female) these human parasites, who figure in high life to the discredit of the race.

WRITE NOW

Say, young fellow, do you ever write home? Your mother often thinks of you and she is wondering now perhaps just where you are, what you are doing and how you are getting along. Why don't you write? 'Twill not be long till Christmas, and with the flight of the days her mind will go back to the hour when you believed in Santa Claus and were mystified as to how he ever came down the chimney. But you know now, you are undeceived, your heart has been undeceived in many things, yet, sir, if your mother lives she loves you. When you came into the world you brought your love with you, and there's no love like the love of a mother. Write her, and write to her now.

"THE VICTIM OF HIS OWN VANITY"

The western critic who says that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is "the victim of his own vanity" if he thinks he has made any impression upon the West, touches upon one of the characteristics of the Premier that stands out prominently. We never had in the office of First Minister a public man who attributes so large a degree of the good things enjoyed by the country to himself. In the West he took the credit for the work of his predecessors and for that of the farmer. The opening up of the country and the crops were all the results of his powerful influence. Nor was Providence allowed to be remembered for the gifts we receive from above, except he shares with the all-powerful Laurier in the good that has been, and is being done. The people of the West were, according to advices from that quarter, much surprised at the vainglorious representations made by this politician. The fact that they were not deceived is not surprising.

JIMMY SIMPSON

There's one member of the Royal Commission who knows what it is to get tired on duty, at his work, who has hobnobbed not only with the poor, but the great who knows life from the sides of the worker and the side of the employer. A man can shake hands with this fellow if his face is black as a chimney sweep and that man's name is Simpson, Jimmy Simpson.

BEWARE OF DOGS

That was a timely sermon by Rev. H. J. Keith last night on the subject "Beware of Dogs." All dogs haven't got four legs, bark, wag their tails. There is the two-legged cur. Yes, we have them right here in Peterborough. They are not where McNulty is now, but if they keep up their actions they may hear the judge say those words that McNulty paled before. But, dogs—why, while Peterborough has a few two-legged ones, the four-legged bunch of worthless curs is a scandal. They have no excuse for living—neither well-bred or handsome their chief existence in many parts of the city seems to be merely to keep us awake. The two-legged lady dog we have not—that is, we have not met them.

HEARD THE WRONG VOICE

Charles E. Coling, of Winnipeg, was once a policeman in that western metropolis. But lassoing drunks is tame work, and, not figuring in the limelight sufficiently to satisfy his yearning and ambitious soul, Coling resigned. He commenced a weekly publication called "The Live Wire." Coling at once got in the limelight. He was too live, the Crown attorney promptly prosecuted him, describing the publication as "lewd, obscene, immoral and filthy." Not every one can run a newspaper, although everyone can tell the editor how its columns should be edited. Yet, put them at work and say, "Here now, it's up to you, proceed." They would last as long as a snowflake in hell. Coling was a good policeman, but a poor publisher. He dropped into the wrong niche. You are a plasterer, that is probably where you can do your best work; you are a preacher, you are, no doubt, where you belong; but, plasterer or painter, the farmer who grows the grain, the miller who mills it, the baker who bakes it, we should ever be alive for the voice, the quiet voice that infallibly directs us, the opportunity that is ours to possess. Coling heard the wrong voice.

A MIRACLE

"They can conquer who think they can."—Dryden. Conrad Schaumberg, 566 Park avenue, New York, was seized, when a three-year-old child, with spinal meningitis, and some of the nerve tissues of the lower portion of the spinal cord destroyed. The lower limbs were absolutely paralyzed. This was twenty-four years ago. To-day, in his home, he is walking, haltingly, but walking as a child. His useless legs are becoming useful; the diseased tissue is becoming rejuvenated. What cured this man, this cripple? Medicine? No, mind.

"Schaumburg's cure has been effected by exercising a new theory in medical science," said Dr. Fox at the Hotel Frederick, who claims he cured him by hypnosis. "Pathologists have held that nerve tissues once destroyed cannot be revivified, rejuvenated. And they hold that in paralysis like Schaumburg's all the nerve tissues of the lower portion of the spinal cord are destroyed.

"I treated Schaumburg on a different theory—that only a part of the nerve cells and tissues are destroyed, and that part are in a state of latent activity. I tried to revivify these latent nerve tissues, and with most gratifying results. When he came to me for treatment he could not move a single muscle of his legs. They were cold, blue and almost without sensation. I put him into the hypnotic sleep, and by the power of suggestion first succeeded in re-establishing perspiration, which meant improved circulation. That was the first great victory. Then I succeeded in making him voluntarily contract the muscles of his thighs, and later all the muscles in his legs. The next step was to give him the power to bend his legs at the knee joint, and now he can walk like a little child. His legs are developing, they are growing constantly, and in due course of time I expect that they will gain nearly their normal size. Schaumburg has been taking a treatment every day up to the last few days."

Mind over matter, or soul over body, which ever one will, is one of the great and tremendous possibilities that we are commencing slowly to recognize. Call it the Grace of God, call it auto-suggestion, call it what you will, there is a power within every man to perform miracles—to raise from death some hope, to slay some dragon that would slay us. However, few of us will take time to go in and close the door and listen to the voices from the silence.

OUR VISITORS

Rev. Dr. Luttrell has arrived, and so has the Royal Commission. Dr. Luttrell will try and make men better through a course of evangelistic services in the Park Street Baptist Church. He got so low through booze that he became a bum, an outcast. He knows what he's talking about. The Technical Commission are going to try and make it easier for student and teacher, master and man. None on the commission were ever tramps, but it's a safe bet that heaven and hell will take more interest in the Park Street Baptist Church than in this Royal Commission, with all its doings. One man deals in things eternal; the other, the Royal Commission in everything.

HELPING THE CAUSES

Paris, Sept. 29.—A special from Brussels says that the picture, "Bath of Diana," by Rubens, has been bought by an American collector for $200,000.

This will do more to aid Socialism than a thousand lectures by the most ardent band of workers. Socialism of the sane type is growing, and is bound to one day become a tremendous power—anarchy, never. It will be by evolution rather than revolution. The Socialists should say "thank you" for the man who, in this hour of want, locked up $200,000 in a non-producing picture, no matter how great the masterpiece.

Welland, Oct. 1.—Sam Beattie was fined $100 for selling liquor after hours in his hotel, the Dexter House, Welland.

Welland temperance advocates, who are working for the passing of local option in that thriving town, should thank Sam for his assistance to the cause. The liquor people are blaming the temperance people for putting them out of business. Great Scott, they are cutting their own throats. In every spot where they break the law they merely hasten the hour of their eviction.

STRAWS WHICH SHOW THE WIND

The Liberal press has been representing the Laurier tour in the West as an ovation, as a sort of royal progress. It is useful sometimes to obtain the opinion of an outsider. The New York Outlook, the weekly journal, which includes Theodore Roosevelt on its staff as "Contributing Editor," has this to say:—

"Hitherto, when a Dominion Premier or political leader of first rank went on a speech-making tour he delivered his addresses, and resolutions of confidence and congratulations on the English model were all that followed.

"There were new and wide departures from this mode of procedure when Sir Wilfrid Laurier was in the West.

"It was in no sense a triumphal progress with eulogy all along the line, that the Premier made from Ottawa to Vancouver."

"Crowds there were at every place where the Premier's special train was brought to a halt. But there was very little of the enthusiasm that greeted Sir Wilfrid Laurier when between 1887 and 1896 he went into the constituencies, urban and rural, east and west of Ottawa, as the trusted and esteemed leader of the Liberal Opposition in the House of Commons, and as the most vigorous and fervid opponent of the National Policy of the Conservatives.

"Complaint and criticism and expressions of disappointment for the most part bluntly stated, were awaiting the Premier from his own party all the way from Winnipeg to Calgary."

"No Premier in any British country ever had to listen to more outspoken criticism outside the walls of the House of Commons than was addressed to Sir Wilfrid Laurier by the numerous spokesmen of farmers and grain-growers associations as he travelled through Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

"This throng and unexpected criticism of the Premier arose out of the feeling that the Liberal party since 1896 has been false to its pledges with regard to the tariff, and false to the Liberal program of 1893, on which the Liberals, now in control of the Government at Ottawa, climbed into power."

The Real Bargains Go to Those Who Read the Ads

Ninety-nine per cent. of the real bargains in the stores go to those who read the store advertisements.

The other one per cent. go to those who casually drop on the bargains in the rush of shopping.

If you can't afford to be one of the "one-chance-in a hundred" people, read the store ads and learn of the bargains straightway.

And as 99 per cent. of the bargain getters are ad. readers, so 99 per cent. of the real bargain givers are advertisers. When you read all the advertised bargains, you know about all the bargains in town that are really worth while.

The Round=Up

A Romance of Arizona

Novelized From Edmund Day's Melodrama

By JOHN MURRAY and MILLS MILLER

Copyright, 1908, by G. W. Dillingham Co.

Both conscience and fear advised him to keep the blood money intact. He carried it with him wherever he went and became in time quite pleased with himself because of his compunctions in doing so. He was even pharisaical about McKee's gambling. No; when his mind had become clear about keeping it he would make an honest use of it, such as investing in a saloon in Florence. When, however, he suggested to Polly that dispensing liquors over a bar and running a faro game on the side would be a congenial occupation suited to their talents she sat down forcibly upon his aspiration, and they finally compromised on Polly's proposition to conduct a livery stable in Tucson, where, Polly felt, though she did not say so to Bud, that Sheriff Hoover, with whom she had been flirting too dangerously, would not be in evidence, as in Florence.

Polly, however, was greatly puzzled over Bud's confidence in his ability to raise the wind that would launch this delectable but to her mind illusory enterprise. In a moment of weakness he intimated that he already had the money in hand.

"How did you get it?" she demanded.

"Saved it," he said.

When she asked him how he could have saved the thousand dollars demanded for the stable out of his salary of $10 a month he replied:

"By economizing. I've cut off my chewing tobacco."

"That cost you but two bits a week, an' you've taken up cigarettes at a dime a day," said observant Polly. "I know what you've been doin'. You've been gamblin'."

"Cross my heart, Polly, I haven't," said Bud, and Polly, who had no great objection to using money won at cards so long as she did not positively know the fact, discontinued her objections and resumed the delightful occupation of castle building. The home she had in view consisted of three rooms over the livery stable.

"I want a red carpet in the front room an' wall paper like that at Bowen's store, with hosses jumpin' gates on it"—

"Don't you think there will be a little too much horse there, Polly, with the stable under us and the smell coming up?"

"Sho, Bud, you can't have too much hoss. Why, it was the hoss smell about your clothes that made me fall in love with you," exclaimed the enthusiastic horsewoman. She continued:

"An' I want a yellow plush furniture set, an' a photograph album to match, an' a center table, an' a 'Rock of Ages' picture, an' a boudoir"—

A boudoir was beyond the ken of Bud. He knew nothing of housekeeping. This must be one of those strange articles the mystery of which he would have to solve before he could feel that he was really a married man.

"What the devil is a boudoir?" he asked.

"I don't know what it is, but all rich women have them."

Bud took both of Polly's hands in his. Looking her fondly in the eyes, he said: "Then, by thunder, I'll get you two of 'em. We'll raise the limit when we furnish that shack. I'm the happiest man in the country."

"Well, you ought to be," laughed Polly. "Just see what you are gettin'.

"I've got to chase myself back to the house. You're ridin' night herd tonight, ain't you?" she added.

"Yes. I'm on the cocktail tonight. I am going to bunk down here. I'll be up at the house at sunup, and we can go over to Florence together."

"What the devil is a boudoir?" he asked.

"I'll have breakfast ready for you. Rope my pony for me, will you?"

Bud was smiling and happy again. All of his troubles were forgotten. "All right!" he cried as he started to mount.

"Say, you're awful forgetful, aren't you?" asked Polly demurely.

Bud looked about him, slightly bewildered. Then he realized his oversight. He ran to Polly's side and tried to kiss her, but she motioned him aside, saying: "Too late. You lose."

"But I didn't know," stammered Bud.

"Next time you'll know. On your way!" airily commanded the girl.

Bud's face darkened. "Oh, well, goodby."

Polly looked after him, perplexed and angry. His surrender to her whims without a fight nettled her.

"Goodby yourself," she snapped. "He's the most forgetful man I ever loved. If I thought he was a gamblin' man I'd get a divorce from him before I married him. I would sure," murmured Polly as Bud disappeared toward the corral.

"Is Bud Lane over here?" he asked.

"You must have passed him just now He's just got in from night herdin'."

"I thought I seed him comin' this way. When's the weddin' bells goin' to ring?"

Polly flushed. "Next month. Then you'll lose Bud's company fer good," she answered defiantly.

"Well, I hain't been doin' him much good," Buck assented. "I'm goin' back home, though."

Polly gazed at Buck in surprise. Here was a new view of the man, one she had never considered. It was strange to hear this outlaw and bad man talk of a home. The repetition of the word "home" by Polly led him to continue:

"Yep, up to the strip, where I wuz borned at. This here climate's a leetle too dry to suit me. I'm goin' to get a leetle ranch an' a leetle gal an' settle down fer sure."

"I wish you may," said Polly heartily. "You sure acted mighty fine about that Peruna insultin' Mrs. Payson."

Buck sat down on the step of the wagon. He hesitated for a moment and then asked, "Say, did you ever have a premonition?"

"Nope! The worst I ever had was the hookin' cough."

Buck smiled, but did not explain to Polly the meaning of the word.

"Well, this premonition," he continued, "hits me hard, an' that's what makes me start fer home. Thought I'd like to say goodby to you an' Bud. I go north with the big drive in the mornin' an' won't see you agin."

"Well, good luck an' goodby to you." Polly held out her hand in her most friendly fashion.

Buck arose and took off his hat. As he stepped toward her he cried: "Same to you. Goodby." Grasping her by the hand, he added warmly, "An'—happiness."

Buck looked after the girl as she swung across the prairie to find Bud.

"She's a darned fine leetle gal," mused Buck. "Seein' Bud so happy kinder makes me homesick. Things is gettin' too warm fer me here, anyway. If Payson gits back he'll be able to clear himself about that Terrill business, an' things is likely to p'int pretty straight at me an' Bud. I'm sorry I dragged Bud into that. I could have done it alone jes' as well an' kep' all the money."

McKee sat down to wait for Bud. His mind was filled with pleasant thoughts. Having assumed a chivalrous role in the Peruna incident, he was tasting something of the sweet sensations and experiences that follow a sincerely generous action.

His enjoyment in contemplating his own virtues was overcrowded, however, by a vague presentiment of impending danger, the "premonition" he had spoken of to Polly, a word he had picked up from fortune tellers, whom he often consulted, being very superstitious, as are most gamblers.

And Nemesis in the person of Peruna was indeed approaching. The outlaw crept out of the draw behind the contemplative half breed and, leaping upon his back, plunged his knife in McKee's neck with a fierce thrust, into which he concentrated all his hatred for the humiliation he had endured.

With a stifled cry Buck struggled to his feet to face his assailant, drawing his gun instinctively. The knife had bitten too deeply, however. With a groan he fell. Weakly he tried to level his gun, his finger twitching convulsively at the trigger. Peruna waited to see if he had strength enough to fire. A sneering smile added to the evil appearance of his face. Seeing Buck helpless, he snatched the gun from his hand. Then he turned his victim over so he could reach the pocket of his waistcoat. With the blood stained knife he ripped open the cloth and extracted a roll of paper and money. Peruna was kneeling beside the body of his former friend when a voice drawled:

"Drop that knife!"

Peruna jumped up, with a grunt of dismay, to see Slim Hoover sitting on horseback, with his revolver held upright, ready for use.

Peruna tossed away the knife, with a snarl.

"I'll take care of your friend's bundle an' the papers an' money you took from his pocket. Drop them! I didn't figure on gettin' back to business as soon as I got home, but you never can tell, can you?"

The last remark was addressed to his deputy, Timber Wiggins, who had joined him.

"This here's Timber Wiggins, deputy sheriff of Pinal county," explained Slim for Peruna's enlightenment. "Mr. Wiggins, will you take care of this friend of mine?" continued the sheriff, glancing from Peruna, who looked at him stolidly, to Wiggins. "I reckon he's been doin' somethin' naughty."

"Anything to oblige," replied Wiggins, who had solemnly entered with Slim into his assumed formality.

Wiggins stepped behind Peruna and, reaching forward, removed Buck's gun from the outlaw's holster, which had been empty since Buck, earlier in the day, had taken his revolver after he had insulted Echo.

"Anything to oblige," said Wiggins to Slim. Then to Peruna he commanded: "Let's take a walk. You first. I'm noted fer my politeness."

"You might tie him up some," suggested Slim.

"I sure will," answered the deputy as he marched his prisoner toward the corral.

Slim hastened to the side of the fallen man and turned him over on his back to get a glimpse of Peruna's victim. He saw that Buck was still breathing, although mortally wounded, the blood gushing from his mouth.

McKee recognized the sheriff. "Hello! When did you git back?" he asked.

"Jes' now. Is this your money?" said Slim, holding the role in front of McKee's eyes.

"No; it's your'n—part uv what I took from 'Ole Man' Terrill. The idee uv not recognizin' yer own property!" McKee grinned at his joke on the sheriff. "I held the old man up, an' that's all there is to it."

"Who was with you?" asked Slim. "There was two."

McKee was silent.

"Bud McKee was the other man," hazarded Slim.

"No"— began Buck, but Slim interrupted him.

"He was with you that night. He come to the weddin' with you. It ain't no use in denyin' it. I've been thinkin' it all out. I was fooled by Jack's pacin' hoss. You an' Bud"—

Here McKee interrupted with a solemn denial. Whether from a desire to foil the sheriff, whom he knew was Bud's rival in love and so thought him the young man's enemy, or from the benevolent spirit induced by the recent contemplation of his virtues, McKee was impelled to give an account of the murder which very convincingly indicated Bud as a protesting catspaw rather than a consenting accomplice.

At the end of the story he smiled grimly:

"So while you wuz out uv the county on a wil' goose chase after an innercent man Peruna he goes loco on paten' medicine an' gits the guilty party. Joke's on you, Slim. I nomernate Peruna fer nex' sheriff."

"Drop it!" ordered Slim sharply.

GIRLS' DRESS.

All Seams Allowed.

The little dress pictured above is an excellent model for a school dress; where so many are needed, only the simplest designs should be selected. The waist closes in front, and at each side are two backward-turning tucks and two forward-turning tucks at each side of the back. The bishop sleeves are finished with a turn-up cuff, and a deep collar completes the neck. The skirt is side-plaited, the plaits turning toward the back; the skirt closes down the center-front and is joined to the waist by a belt. Any suitable material will develop well in this design; of course, care should be taken not to select the heavy cloth materials. The pattern (5144) is cut in sizes 6 to 12 years. To make the dress in medium size will require 4⅞ yards of material 27 inches wide, 3⅝ yards 36 inches wide, or 2⅝ yards 44 inches wide, with ⅝ yard of contrasting goods 27 inches wide.

UNREALIZED BLESSING.

Consolation by the Court to an Applicant For Divorce.

"Well," the judge asked, "what is the matter? You say your wife has not proved unfaithful to you, and you admit that she is as sweet tempered as she was before you were married. You will have to give some good reason for wishing a divorce or the case will be dismissed."

"Your honor, I was deceived."

"In what way?"

"My wife seemed beautiful before I married her."

"Most men's wives seem beautiful to them before they are married."

"But my wife is not what I thought her to be."

"Come. You must be explicit. Did you find that she padded her figure or made use of an artificial complexion?"

"It wasn't exactly that, judge, and yet it was something in that line. She had always worn a big braid of purchased hair fastened over her ears in accordance with the prevailing style. Before we were married I never saw her ears. Oh, it was awful!"

"What was awful?"

"Her face when she let her ears loose. They spoiled her looks altogether. I claim that she married me under false pretenses, and I want a divorce."

"You can't get a divorce on any such plea as that. Go back to her and try to be happy."

"Pshaw! What have your nerves got to do with it?"

"You'd understand if you could see her with her false braids off. Every time I see her when she lets her ears loose I can't keep from expecting her to give a flap or two with them and then fly away."

"Go back to her. You don't know how you are blessed. Few men ever have any reason to entertain that fond expectation."—Chicago Record-Herald.

WHAT THE ROYAL COMMISSION IS APPOINTED FOR

The Royal Commission is a secretive body.

Dr. Robertson, the chairman, was approached by the Review to-day and asked what his opinion was of the manufacturing plants of Peterborough was.

"I have no opinion to offer," said the doctor, in a kindly but final tone. "A chairman never knows anything."

In answer to a query as to the scope and purpose of the commission Dr. Robertson said its mission was to get as much information as possible on the technical facilities and possibilities of different places visited. Sworn evidence is taken from educational authorities, heads of industries and Trades and Labor Councils, all the testimony being taken verbatim by the shorthand reporter of the commission.

The commission commenced its work in Nova Scotia, and has been engaged now for two months. The country will be covered from coast to coast.

After Canada has been inspected the commission will visit United States, England, Germany, France and other countries. The report of the technical educational methods and industrial conditions in this and the other countries will be laid before the government, that they may study the weak and strong features of them, and act accordingly in the interests of technical advancement in Canada.

AROUND AND ABOUT

The granolithic walk at Inverlea Park is showing signs of an early grave. Already at two points the walk is broken, and sets forth anything but a creditable sight.

Two more weeks and the public parks of the city will close for the season. The police protection which has been given has been satisfactory, and the "blue coats" have been responsible for the almost entire suppression of rough house tactics which in recent years was a disgrace.

Caretaker Hedge has certainly done splendid work in Victoria Park. His heart is in his work, that's why.

That noise which many north-bound citizens heard Saturday at noon, was no doubt the falling of a big oak tree immediately south of the Normal School. The tree was rotten at its base and the terrific wind blew it over, making almost a clean break about six inches from the ground.

One of the objective points to a Sunday afternoon stroll is the new Smith street bridge. Large numbers visited there yesterday. "Street corner" opinions on the bridge were many and varied, and it is really interesting to "butt in" on the group of both ladies and gentlemen and hear the discussions.

"I don't think they'll hang the girl," is a much quoted statement about the city. The punishment which has been meted out to Mary Dolan and Thomas McNulty has given room for some discussion. Sympathy for the girl is expressed on all sides.

That bicyclist who lost his hat at the corner of George and Hunter streets Saturday night had hard luck all right. His christy blew off and in front of an approaching rig. The horse sidestepped it and the front wheel missed, but the hind wheel made a complete wreck of the hat, and there were some on the street mean enough to laugh.

Try it next Sunday and don't fail to express your opinion. You need't care. You didn't build the bridge and perhaps don't know any more about such work as the others.

Speeding on the city streets by automobiles is becoming dangerous for pedestrians, and also for the occupants of the cars, but it looks as though no preventive steps will be taken as yet. Probably, as in other matters a fatality is necessary before the eyes of the authorities will be opened.

ROYAL COMMISSION HERE

The Royal Commission on industrial Training and Technical Education arrived in Peterborough last night from Belleville.

This morning, in company with Industrial Commissioner Duggan, they are being shown through the city schools and leading manufactories of the city.

At three o'clock this afternoon they were in session for the purpose of consulting with the educational officials of the city, and at 8 o'clock to-night will confer with labor representatives and other interested in technical development and improvement.

PARK STREET CHURCH PLEASED WITH DR. LUTTRELL

Large audiences greeted Dr. Sam. Luttrell at the Park Street Baptist Church yesterday and were delighted at his forceful and practical presentation of the gospel.

Dr. Luttrell uses no-clap-trap methods to get people to decide for Christ.

He believes that Jesus Christ is able to save to the uttermost, since by the power of the blood he was redeemed from a drunkard's hell and death.

In the morning he gave a most interesting address upon "Sacrifice" and in the evening he addressed his hearers, and held them spell-bound while he invited them to get into "Partnership With Jesus Christ."

A number came over the line during the day, and the meetings are to continue all this week at 8 p.m., except Saturday evening.

Next Sunday there will be a mass meeting of men at three o'clock when Dr. Luttrell will give a special address to men. The doctor knows just what is good for a man, as all will testify who attended the meeting yesterday at the local Y. M. C. A.

Come and enjoy the meetings with us.

QUEEN'S OWN RIFLES WENT THROUGH AT NOON

All are in Good Spirits and Eager to Reach Toronto — "All the Nice Girls Love a Canadian

Peterborough had a look at the returned Queen's Own Rifles to-day when the first train, with three hundred aboard, pulled into the C.P.R. station at 1.16 p.m. The second train followed fifteen minutes later. Sir Henry Pellatt is travelling in the first train, and also those on the sick list. All of the latter are improving.

As the big mogul of the first train became distinguishable in the distance heads appeared at every window, and as the station was reached the Queen's Own Band struck up national airs. A deputation from Toronto, headed by Ald. Maguire, were in charge of a big consignment of "grub" for the returning warriors, and this was distributed and attacked in a right worthy manner.

To say that the "boys" are eager to reach home goes without saying. This desire can be read on the features of each at first glance. And such a happy crowd. Their actions are not unlike those of a number of school children, dismissed for the summer holidays. Snatches of English songs are to be heard coming from each coach, and the popular one is "Let's go down the Strand." This song was the first that was heard on the arrival at Aldershot. Another song, and one that was sung by the girls across the pond is, "All the Nice Girls Love a Canadian."

The correct name of the song is "All the Girls Love a Sailor," but the change was made to suit the occasion.

Magazines, newspapers, cigarettes are in evidence. The scene was a typical military one, and the good appearance of the soldiers was noticeable.

The trip over on the 'Canada' was stormy most of the time, and only two parades were held. The damp condition of the decks was responsible for minor accidents. The heel-plates on the boots had become smooth, and falls were numerous.

All speak enthusiastically of the trip and the welcome given by the mother country.

"The accounts in the newspapers," said one of the officers to the Review, "read like fairy tales, but I can assure you that we did not look at some of our work in that light."

The Peterborough boys on the train were eagerly sought for, and each received a hearty welcome from friends and relatives.

ELLIOT'S
MILLINERY

A great painter was once asked what he mixed with his paints. His reply was, "brains sir."

A few Ribbons, Lace and Plumes alone will not make millinery.

But when you mix these with artistic skill you have a creation that is worthy of admiration.

Miss Noble, our head milliner, is an artist of rare skill, she makes a study of faces and figures and is thus able to produce harmonious effects.

During the past month our millinery parlors were just like a reception, so many old and new friends greeted Miss Noble with whole hearted delight to see her back to Peterborough again.

Our millinery easily takes front rank.

In bewildering array on all sides are the dainty Parisian and the noted New York models.

Hundreds of varying styles and never two alike.

We feel grateful to the ladies for their appreciation.

If you haven't been here, come down and see us, you will be more than pleased

CLOTHES AND BASKET BURNED

In response to a telephone call yesterday at 1.45 p.m., the fire department reported at a house at 224 Dublin street owned by Mr. Vincent Eastwood and occupied by Mr. James Martin.

Spontaneous combustion brought about the alarm. Some clothes in a closet ignited and filled the house with smoke. The clothes and the basket they were in, were destroyed. No other damage.

POLICE COURT

A disorderly of Saturday night was fined $2 and $4.50 costs at the police court this morning.

He was the big noise in an uncalled for disturbance at a local hotel. Two other rowdies were about to be ejected from the premises and he took a hand on their behalf.

A chair and a cuspidor were broken in the mix up.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL

BEUTIFUL AND NOVEL

The Evening Record Traverse City says,—The Miss Florence Pierce Co., presenting "A Yankee Rajah," now at Dreamland, have a very beautiful and novel act. They carry their own special scenery, electrical novelties and effects, and the stage during their specialty presents the most dazzling appearance. Their act comprises mystifying illusions, ledgerdemain, illustrating, singing and Miss Florence Pierce is without question the most artistic rapid crayon artist ever seen in this city. The lady introduces an original novelty of drawing pictures rapidly with pencil strapped to her foot or elbow. There is a lot of variety in their offering. It's a decided novelty and was well appreciated.

This act will appear at the regular vaudeville performance at the Grand Opera House to-night, to-morrow and on Wednesday.

CUSTOM RETURNS

The custom returns for the past month of September show an increase of $8,068.65 over the same month of 1909. The figures for this month were $40,716.79 and for last year $32,648.14.

SPORTING NEWS

THAT 2:41 STEED DID NOT SHOW UP FOR EVENT

While there wasn't any turf event at the Driving Park Saturday afternoon Mr. Jas. Timlan, who is only at home when behind a fast stepper, was presented with a purse of $100. It happened like this. Some time in June, during a discussion on horses, Mr. John Ball, of Douro, made a wager with Mr. Timlan, that he (Ball) would personally train and drive his horse, one mile on the track before October 1, and do a mile in 2.41 or less. Each put up $50.00 and signed an agreement to the above effect, and it has since been in the hands of Mr. A. T. Johnston, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel. Saturday was the last day of grace, but Mr. Ball with his horse failed to put in an appearance.

PROBLEMS FOR THE MANAGER

The choice of pitchers—how to select the men to send against the various hostile teams, and in what rotation to work them—has always been one of the toughest problems for a captain, and, in this day of scientific ball with all its accompanying frills, is becoming still harder says a Cincinnati writer.

Here are three lines of procedure open to a captain, and each has its special advantages, with special drawbacks:

THE WORK OF THE PITCHERS

First, to work the pitchers in a regular rotation, never varying except in case of illness or disability; second, to work the best pitchers against more powerful teams, giving the tailenders over to the weaker slabmen, and thirdly, to work the good pitchers against the feebler clubs, trusting to team strength and gameness to carry the weaker hurlers to victories over the topnotchers. As side issues to these problems must be considered the advisability of using the left-handers of the club against teams with a number of left handed batsmen, and of working the right-handers on the reverse of the same principle; also, the wisdom of using certain pitchers against clubs which they are supposed to have "buffaloed," or of keeping other pitchers out of reach of certain teams that always flail them savagely.

It is complex and many-sided proposition and the manager who can solve it most successfully is the fellow who can win a barrel of games—even with a pitching staff of really inferior value.

The scheme of working men in regular order irrespective of any side issues, works well when the staff is evenly balanced but is shot full of holes when the staff is composed of men whose skill is widely varied, or when some one of the pitchers is an invaluable mark for any particular club. It will only go through successfully when the men are all on an even plane of utility and enjoy equally the confidence and enthusiastic backing of the fielders.

THE VIEWS OF SOME MANAGERS

Many managers believe in saving the greater pitchers for the grim battles with the topliners, figuring that the weaker pitchers with good support behind them, will dispose of the tailenders. This plan works well when the tail-enders are really feeble sisters, but in a close race, where even the seventh place team will stand as high as .400 this will never do—the tailenders in such a struggle are but the faintest shade easier to whip than the champions, and will everlastingly whale the tar out of the softer hurlers.

The reverse idea—using the best pitchers to mow down the tail-end teams, and thus harvest a big crop of games, while the strength and honest gameness of the club are relied upon to take a fair quota of decisions from the champions—is one that works finely at times, and then again turns up like a barrel hoop and kicks the sponsor in the shins. It often proves a sensible trick in a close race, where the clubs class well up together, but is just as likely to prove a boomerang.

THE USE OF LEFT HAND TWIRLERS

Using left hand twirlers when the hostiles have numerous left-handed hitters is also a favorite plan of battle, but is nullified to quite an extent nowadays by the fact that nearly every team has at least one right-handed slugger who, for that game, takes the place of the left-handed regulars.

Sending certain pitchers against certain teams which they are supposed to have buffaloed is a winning trick—for a while. And then, just when a game is most needed, the worm is sure to turn.

Talk about generalship, judgment of human nature, close calculating as to what the other fellows will or will not do—there is nothing more strenuous in the world than the proper selection and rotation of pitchers and even a game of chess doesn't call for more thought and application.

RA ! FOR THE PIG SKIN

(Rugby Notes Y.M.C.A.)

Do not forget the rugby meeting at the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow night, when members of the association who are interested in this line of sport are requested to meet in the club room of the association at 8 o'clock.

The senior "gym" class will hold its opening session this evening at eight o'clock. If you are contemplating joining this class get into your "gym" togs and come along to-night, and get in on the ground floor.

The Senior Business Men's Class will open Tuesday, October 4th, at 5.15 p.m. Several of the business men of the city have signified their intention of joining this class. This class is arranged especially for the "busy man" who feels he needs exercise. You need the exercise. We need you. So come along Tuesday at 5.15 and get in line.

A most generous offer has just been made to the Physical Department of the local association by one of our city's business men in the person of Mr. Wm. Lech, who has presented a trophy to the association for all-round swimming and general proficiency in life saving.

This line of physical activities will be in charge of Mr. W. O. Taylor. Mr. Taylor was for a number of years one of the leading swimmers of the Montreal Swimming Club, which is sufficient guarantee of his ability to look after this end of affairs.

This, along with the excellent trophy, should make this line of our work not only attractive, but should go a long way toward helping to develop useful men to have in any community—men who are able to save life and restore the apparently drowned. The association feel very grateful to Mr. Lech for his practical appreciation of the service which the association is endeavoring to render to the men and boys of Peterborough.

TRINITY COLLEGE SCHOOL HERE TO PLAY COLLEGIATE

Hurrah, a game of rugby is billed for next Saturday at Riverside. The Collegiates have arranged with the first team of Trinity College School, Port Hope, for a game to be played here. Neither aggregation needs any introduction. Both were seen at Riverside last season, and the spectators saw a splendid exhibition. The College boys are at it all the time and will be in good shape. The locals have been in the grind for the past two weeks and the practice Saturday afternoon helped a whole lot. The game will start at three o'clock sharp.

MORE RIBBONS

Hon. J. R. Stratton's horses cleaned up last week in Montreal at the horse show at the Arena, taking first in every class.

THIS IS GOOD MAN SECURED AS THE BOYS SECRETARY; THE BROTHER OF JACK TAIT WELL KNOWN CANADIAN MILER

Mr. Frank Tait, of the West End Y.M.C.A., Toronto, will be the new boys' secretary in the local Association. This was decided at a meeting of the executive at noon to-day. Mr. Tait is a brother of Jack Tait, the famous miler, who holds the Canadian record for this event. He has had considerable experience in boys' work in Toronto West End Association, that being the banner boys' department in North America.

Mr. Tait will assume his duties next week, arriving in the city on Monday, Oct. 10th.

SPORTING COMMENT

Captain Larsen's motor boat trip through the whirlpool rapids at Niagara has already proven an incentive to the usual number of genial idiots who will do anything foolhardy for the sake of notoriety that usually accompanies such acts. A man named Leach bobs up at regular intervals and goes through these rapids in a barrel. Of course he had to do the trick once more as Captain Larsen had succeeded in making the trip in a motor boat.

As a matter of fact, any child could have done just what Larsen did, not to speak of Leach's threadbare escapade. That Larsen got through the torrent with his life was a matter of luck and not skill, if the newspaper accounts of the affair are to be relied upon, inasmuch as from almost the first instance he struck the "white water," as the lumbermen call it, the boat was not under his control, but under the special protection of those who look after children, drunks and idiots.

It's time that the foolkiller made regular trips about Niagara and gathered in a few victims, and at the same time it would not be bad policy for those in charge of affairs at the international boundary to start a campaign against such notoriety seekers.

The falls and the rapids at Niagara are among the most beautiful and impressive bits of nature that human eyes have ever gazed upon, and men like Larsen and Leach don't add anything to the natural attractions.—Saturday Night.

The Argonauts at Toronto won the exhibition game with the Hamilton Tigers Saturday by two points. The score was 15—13, and both teams changed players during the contest.

A collision between two aeroplanes at a height of 50 feet at Milan, wrecked both machines and injured the occupants. The accident was caused through one of the drivers losing control of his machine.

Lefty McDonald whose name appeared so prominently with the Toronto Baseball Club, recently, was touched up for eight hits and eleven runs in the first innings of the Royal Oaks-Wellington's game. Wellingtons won 16—3.

After seeing Kaufmann and Kubiak fight Baltimore fans are of the opinion that Johnson could beat both in the one ring.

Because of the superiority of their catching department, most critics pick Chicago to win out in the world's baseball series.

Winnipeg is becoming the Reno of Canada. As a mecca for prize-fighters—most of them "has beens"—the Prairie City has New York eclipsed.

A Buffalo report says that Hughie Jennings will quit the Detroit Tigers and manage the Bisons next season.

George Stallings, their deposed manager, predicts that Hal. Chase will win the American pennant with the New York Americans in 1911.

"When a man begins to play ball mechanically, as I'm doing, it is time for him to quit it," says Hans. Wagner.

Rube Waddell has asked the St. Louis club to allow him to remain with Newark.

STONEY LAKE STORM TOSSED

Mighty was the wind in Peterboro' on Saturday, but the result of its mightiness was much more in evidence at Stoney Lake. People who came down from the lakes on Saturday say that they never before witnessed waves of greater heighth, or a scene of more boisterousness on Stoney Lake before. Some of the waves were between ten and fifteen feet high at the least.

At Juniper Island a skiff was lying on the wharf. A great gust carried it out into the water. Messrs. Harry Stock and Jack Brown, both being experts with the canoe, ventured out after it. At times it looked as if surely they must go over. However they reached the boat, but were forced to tow it and run before the wind to Nugent's Island, leave it there and paddle back to Juniper. It was certainly a daring feat to perform under such circumstances and only their skill prevented an upset.

The Islinda also had a rough passage down. Thirty or forty passengers were picked up at the different resorts and these had to be landed about a half-a-mile from Lakefield owing to the channel being blocked with logs. Ladies and all were put into a lumberman's punt about ten or twelve at a time, and taken ashore, and from there walked to Lakefield to catch the train. It was a decidedly novel experience for some of them, the punt being half full of water. They were compelled to stand.

THE BILLBOARD

Is the popular or ragtime song passing? The several recent revivals of standard, semi-classic and classical compositions that are now being whistled on the streets of every city in America unequivocally affirm that the songs characterized as ragtime are losing favor with the masses.

The clamor for the so-called popular dance music is becoming less pronounced, but, on the other hand, the demand for "songs that mother sang" is increasing day by day among those who six months ago, would have scorned any form of music other than ragtime. That this is true has been irrefutably proved by a number of leading bandmasters, minstrels and singers. Outside of the classics, or, what ten years ago was considered a popular song, not one of the ragtime hits (that perhaps for six months or a year were played in every home that sheltered a piano) is now remembered or played. The first few ragtime selections written—naturally treated considerable excitement among musicians, as well as the laity, and, as they really had some good musical qualities, the public placed upon them its stamp of approval. The effusions of the first writers of the popular songs, netted them snug fortunes, as the songs were new, catchy and tuneful. But to-day, with the field overcrowded with song writers, many of those literary abilities are not exceptionally remarkable we find our music stores overflowing with mediocre compositions. Some of the late songs are, to say the least, disgusting: the words blatantly nonsensical, and the lyric carrying just enough of the true in their strains, make the counterfeit all the more galling.

Last season, more than 3,000 songs were published, of which number less than fifty became popular. This fact alone would indicate that ragtime is becoming less popular, were there no other proofs to substantiate the claim that it is tottering.

Recently, a moving picture theatre singer rendered a song that immediately drew forth a burst of handclapping. It was Marguerite. The older persons went into raptures as they listened to words and music that had been dear to them so long ago, and the younger members of the audience, in one accord, joined in the applause. The number immediately preceding the song that created so much enthusiasm was one of the most popular songs of 1910, but, although the singer was more familiar with the former, little appreciation was shown.

Within the past quarter, not less than five classics have become popular, but while the original melody has been retained the time and score have been rearraged so that words could be set to the music. There could be no objection to the popularisation of classical melodies, until lately the delight of the scholar only, were the words accompanying them in keeping with the excellence of the music. But is is not unfair to marry sickening sentimality or salacious and suggestive words to masterpieces that for centuries have been regarded as sacred? If the music publisher realises that the regeneration of immortal themes will result in "bigger sales," let them give more thought to the ballads they link with the music.

In this age of progress, it seems ridiculous that we should be without able composers. The difficulty nowadays is that not enough time is taken in the preparation of verse or lyric. Let the music publishers of America devote greater effort to finishing their products and they will have more successes and less failures.

If ragtime must pass some other form of music will take its place. Let the next bidder for popularity be better, and what is lacking in quantity be made up in quality.

HISTORIC GOLD RUSHES

M. DE WINDT FORETOLD PRESENT ONE IN STEWART, B.C.

Each Big Branch of the Empire Has Been the Scene of a Gold Madness Where a Few Get Rich—Canada Had the Klondike, Australia the Ballarat Rush and South Africa the Rand Fields.

Thus a daily paper, in its description of the excitement created in Stewart, British Columbia, when the report came that seventeen miles distant, at a place called Bitter Creek, a great discovery of gold had been made. It is the old, old story of human avarice and greed. Reason disappears when the gold fever seizes on man.

The story of Klondike is even more amazing. The first find of gold of any importance was made in 1897—not by gold prospectors, but by a fisherman—at the junction of the Klondike and Yukon rivers. Immediately the news of the rich deposits of gold which were to be found got abroad there was a mad rush, not only from all parts of America, but also from Europe. Soon 30,000 people were on their way to the diggings, many destined never to return; for some 500 miles of the roughest Alaska country had to be traversed, and the route was literally paved with the bones of those who had joined in the mad rush without stopping to consider the difficulties the journey presented.

Husbands deserted their wives, while clerks, merchants, doctors, and lawyers sold all they possessed to pay their way to Klondike. But where one unpractical man succeeded in enriching himself, scores of professional miners came away worth hundreds of thousands. In spite of the warnings issued, however, and the fact that it needed a capital of something like $1,500 to get from England to Klondike, hundreds of people came from that country, only to return wrecked in health and pocket.

It is a curious fact that when Mr. Harry de Windt, the well-known explorer, returned from Klondike, in 1897, he said, during the course of an interview published in The Strand Magazine, that the Stewart region was richer even than Klondike. And after a dozen years there comes what may prove to be a romantic corroboration.

The fact is not generally known, perhaps, that it was the discovery of gold in California in 1847 which led to the discovery in Australia. Within four years the annual output from the fields of California reached $60,000,000, and it was a Mr. Hargreaves, who went as a miner to California, who first discovered gold in Australia. He was struck by the resemblance of the rocks near his home in Australia to the gold-bearing rocks of California. He systematically searched for signs of gold, and on February 12th, 1851, he found some of the precious metal for the first time.

The excitement created by the discovery was intense. Towns grew up as if by magic. Even police left their employment to try their luck at the diggings, while sailors deserted from their ships as soon as they arrived at a port near the fields. Men flocked in their thousands to Ballarat and Bathurst, and it was at these places where the world's biggest nuggets were found. Fifty miles north of Bathurst three quartz blocks containing 112lb. of pure gold were discovered, and the famous "Victoria Nugget," a single mass of pure virgin gold weighing 340oz., was brought from Bendigo. But the largest nugget of all was that christened the "Welcome." This was found at Ballarat on June 4th, 1858, weighed 2,516oz., and was valued at over $40,000. Within ten years gold to the enormous value of $480,000,000 had been brought to England from the two colonies of Victoria and New South Wales.

Two years ago one of the discoverers of the famous Kalgoorlie goldfield in Western Australia passed away in the person of an Irishman named Daniel Shea. He and a compatriot named Hannan, while prospecting for gold, camped on the site of Kalgoorlie when it was a wilderness. Hannan, in searching for a horse, kicked a nugget of gold. The news spread, a rush set in, and the wealth of the place soon became apparent. Hannan and Shea as the pioneers were awarded pensions of $500 a year—not a great sum when one considers that the annual output of the Kalgoorlie goldfield is between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884—the year the world's greatest goldfield, Witwatersrand, was discovered—until June, 1908, the total value of the gold production of the Transvaal amounted to no less than $1,600,000,000. It was a prospector named Arnold who first discovered that gold lay among the bare and lonely hills of Witwatersrand. In this case there was no great rush, for the simple reason that there was no chance for the miner without capital.

There are still more chances, however, for prospectors, like Croesus, the first really rich man known to fame, who is said to have discovered a little gold mine of his own, to find one for themselves; for, according to authorities, the world contains several unworked goldfields quite as rich as any yet discovered. Parts of Siberia are alleged to be richer in gold than Klondike, while Sir Martin Conway said some time ago that along the eastern slope of the Andes run many rivers rich in gold.

THE REIGN OF TERROR.

One of the most striking figures in the French revolution was Maximilien Robespierre, who was born on May 6, 1758. He was the head and shoulders of the French revolution, frequently remaining in the background, however, leaving the work of carrying out his plans with Danton and Marat.

There had been turbulent political times in France for several years. The king had made repeated concessions to the Republicans, while he cherished schemes for escaping their control, but each month added to his humiliations and to the boldness of his enemies. Finally in September, 1792, the national convention was organized, the monarchy abolished, and France was declared a republic.

The convention was divided into two parties, bitterly hostile to each other, one called the "Mountain party" and the other the "Girondists." Of the former the leaders were Robespierre, Danton and Marat, noted for their wickedness and cruelty. One of the most eminent of the Girondists was Vergniaud, distinguished for his eloquence.

The Mountain party having triumphed in the convention, the Girondist leaders were guillotined. The reign of terror was then inaugurated, during which the revolutionary tribunal, controlled by Robespierre, caused thousands to be seized and hurried to the guillotine. Among these victims was the unfortunate Marie Antoinette (October, 1793).

Alison in his "History of Europe" says: "Night and day the cars incessantly discharged victims into the prison. Weeping mothers and trembling orphans were thrust in without mercy with the brave and the powerful. The young, the beautiful, the unfortunate, seemed in a peculiar manner the prey of the assassins. Fifteen only were at first placed on the chariot, but their number was soon augmented to thirty and gradually rose to eighty persons who daily went forth to the place of execution.

When the fall of Robespierre put a stop to the murders arrangements had been made for increasing it to 150. An immense aqueduct to remove the gore had been dug as far as the Place St. Antoine, and four men were daily employed in emptying the blood of the victims into that reservoir.

The cruel and wicked men concerned in these atrocities almost invariably met with a violent death. Marat was assassinated by Charlotte Corday. The faction of Robespierre, triumphing over that of Danton, caused him and his adherents to be guillotined, and a few months afterward this dreadful period closed by the execution of Robespierre himself in 1794.

When Robespierre ascended the fatal car to go to his death his head was enveloped in a bloody cloth, his color was livid and his eyes sunk. When the procession came opposite his house it stopped, and a group of women danced around the bier of him whose chariot wheels they would have dragged the day before over a thousand victims. Robespierre mounted the scaffold last, and the moment his head fell the applause was tremendous. In some cases the event was announced to the prisoners by the waving of handkerchiefs from the tops of houses.

Guarding an Actress' Jewels.

Each night Miss Fanny Ward, the famous English actress, makes her appearance on the stage at the Palace Theatre, Shaftesbury avenue, in that clever sketch, "An Unlucky Star," she wears jewels worth $2,500,000. Miss Ward employs an armed detective who takes her jewelry to her dressing-room every night, and after the show carries it back to the depository at the bank. Once, when Miss Ward returned from a tour, she left her bag containing all her jewels and $10,000 under a seat in the public dining-hall of an American hotel. Luckily it was found by a waiter and put in the safe. "But," says Miss Ward, "you can figure for yourself just how scared I was."

The Horse's Ears.

Whether you drive a single horse or a team the principles are the same, but in driving a pair see to it that each horse does his share of the work and no more. A pair of horses, moreover, unless well driven are sure to get in the habit of wandering over the road. To drive well you must keep your eye and your mind on the horse. Watch his ears. They will be pricked forward when he is about to shy, droop when he is tired, fly back just before he "breaks" (into a gallop) and before he kicks. Before kicking, too, a horse usually tucks in his tail and hunches his back a little. When you observe any of these indications speak to him sharply and pull up his head.

Unparalleled Generosity.

Town Councilor—Have you heard, Mr. Skinflint, that our generous townsman, Mr. Muller, is defraying the cost of a new promenade all around the town? We think a wealthy man like yourself might also do something for us.

Skinflint—Well, what do you say to my giving you a park of oak trees?

Skinflint—Yes, yes; I'll make the town a present of an oak forest. You have only to find the land, and I will supply you with as many acorns as you may want for seed.

Prominent Brockville Man Dead.

Brockville, Oct. 3.—Richard G. Murphy, a prominent resident of Brockville, has passed away, in his 68th year, after a long illness. He had been a member of the Town Council and the council of the Board of Trade, and officiated frequently as police magistrate. For twenty years he was connected with the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association as a director or secretary, and came into close contact with the leading dairy authorities of North America. Mr. Murphy was an ardent Liberal and a member of many fraternal societies. His widow and one son, Dr. G. B. Murphy, survive.

Winnipeg Booming.

Winnipeg, Oct. 3.—Building permits for the first nine months of the year amounted to $13,132,800, easily creating a new record. For the same period last year the total was $8,369,750. The best previous season in construction work was 1906, and the total in 12 months then was only $12,625,950. The figures for the nine months in 1910 represent more building than those for the two years 1907-08 together.

THE CAR TO BUY

Russell-Knight

The Car Noted for its Great Power, Flexibility, Quietness and Endurance

Russell-Knight 1911 Models: 22, 26 and 38 H.P.

CRITICS CONFOUNDED

Interested critics said a year ago: "Do not buy a Knight motor, it is an experiment—in a year or two it may be all right."

Partly this is true—the Knight engine will be improved. Quite frankly we venture to hope that each Knight engine and each Russell car we make will be better than the one before. We believe that our 1914 cars will be better than those of to-day.

But this is the fact that must be borne in mind:—

The Knight engine built in its first year, by the first firm building it in a commercial way, under official observation, put up a performance which no valve motor made by any firm after years of experience has been able to equal.

Is not this conclusive proof of Knight superiority?

Then consider that since that time the engineering skill of five of the leading engineering firms of the world have worked for the improvement of the motor, and have been aided by the experience of over 2,000 users.

To-day the Knight motor stands on its record in all quarters of the globe as a tested, tried-out product of superlative excellence.

In the 1911 Russell "38" you get the culmination of this work in engine design.

SIGN OF THE GOLDEN LION

JACK THE HUGGER IS ACTIVE AGAIN

A couple of young ladies who board at the Y.W.C.A. had occasion to be in the west end of the city on Saturday night and this informal gentleman with the grizzly beard pseudonym, took after them. They quickened their footsteps, but the pursuer did likewise, and to make the long story of a long chase short, he followed them right to the portals of the institution. He made a clutch for one of the young ladies just as the building was reached, but she avoided him and the door was slammed in the face of the brazed Jack.

One of the young ladies swooned after she had got inside and it was quite a length of time before she was revived.

Chief Thompson was told of the affair and he promises that in the future the dark places will be watched as vigilantly as the size of the local police force will admit of. So it is to be hoped that Jack the Hugger will find himself in the embraces of a brawny cop.

200 MEMBERS TOOK COMMUNION

The regular quarterly communion service of the Sacred Heart T.A.S. was observed yesterday morning, about two hundred members taking the sacrament. In addition to the two regular masses a special one for the society was said at 7.30.

In the afternoon, in the basement of the church the fortnightly meeting of the society was held, and eight new members were initiated. Apart from the routine business a social club was formed, having for its object different means of recreation during winter months.

At the Church of the Sacred Heart last evening Rev. Father McGuire, of Douro, preached a very fine sermon on the Holy Rosary.

From now till next summer a sermon will be preached at the Church of the Sacred Heard every evening on some dogma of the Catholic Church

THE YOUNG LADIES TO LIMBER UP GYMNASIUM OPENS TO-MORROW THE HOUR IS EIGHT O'CLOCK P. M.

(All Girls Invited)

The Y.W.C.A. gymnasium opens to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. The girls of Peterborough are cordially invited to come in and judge for themselves whether it is not to their advantage to join a gymnasium class now.

To-morrow evening is free and open to all, and Miss Coventry hopes to have an opportunity of demonstrating the work to a large number. All intending to join Miss Steinhoff's cooking class at the Y.W.C.A., and all desiring information regarding it are asked to meet her to-night at 7.30 at the Y.W.C.A.

THE CAMPAIGN IS CLOSED WAS LARGE ENROLLMENT THE WORK TO BE CONTINUED

The campaign for 500 new members for the Y.M.C.A. closed on Saturday night with 310 new names added to the roll. One would suppose from the above statement that the workers would feel discouraged. This, however, is not the case, for they realize now that ten days was all too short a time in which to land such a number of new men. So many men signified their intention of joining at a later date that the members are going to continue right on quietly interviewing the balance of the men in the city until they have secured all who can be induced to join.

BEWARE OF DOGS! SERMON LAST NIGHT BY REV. H. J. KEITH WAS ON THE HUMAN "PUP"

"Beware of Dogs," Phil. III., 2, was the suggestive text on the theme. "Living in the Streets." The reference was taken from a scene common in Eastern city streets—the ravenous, snarling curs that infest the highways and attack the passers by. Paul used it in reference to those people who are constantly seeking to destroy the faith and character of others.

He suggests a real danger that exists to-day in our own city streets. We demand that our streets should be safe physically. We have the right to demand also that they shall be safe morally. Our streets are thoroughfares, not places of habitation, and those who waste valuable time on the streets are a danger to themselves and to the community. Our streets should be free from those whose language is profane and impure. Life on the streets means a life of no purpose and no sense of responsibility, and results in wasted years and an undeveloped character, and frequently a thing of disgrace.

Again, living in the streets is suggestive of the life of many Christians who run here and there and never get anywhere in their religious experiences. Like the pharisees of Jesus' day and Paul's time, they live on the surface and never get behind to a personal experience in the truth for which the forms of religion stand. Going to church is not religion and one must seek the inner sanctuary in private devotion. One should not be satisfied until he is on more than speaking terms with God.

Again, life in the streets is suggestive of the runaway, the exile, the prodigal—out in the streets of life away from our Heavenly Father's home. What a contrast found between life on the streets and life in our Father's Home.

NEW APARTMENT AND BOAT HOUSE AT JUNIPER ISLAND

Visitors to Juniper Island next summer will be considerably and very agreeably surprised at the convenient and commodious boat and apartment house, combined, which has just been completed, and is now in the hands of the painters.

The building was commenced at the close of the summer season this year, and is another evidence of the enterprise and activity which the proprietor of Juniper Island store, Mr Harry Stock, has shown this year in installing every necessary convenience that would be conducive to the comfort of summer visitors. The dimensions of the structure are forty by twenty-four feet, two storeys high with a verandah at the front and at either end of the upper storey overhanging the verandah below. It is situated in an ideal locality just at the rear of where the store stands, and faces McCracken's hotel across the lake. A well sheltered bay with an excellent landing place just in front of the boathouse is another attractive and necessary feature of the building. A platform and runway leading from the boathouse to the water has also been built.

The structure is intended to answer a double purpose. The lower part will afford ample accommodation for sixty boats, while the upper storey is divided into what might be called two suites of rooms or apartments, with four rooms in each part. Four cement pillars support the front part of the building. Each rooms in the apartments will be furnished with every necessity for housekeeping, including stoves, and so forth, leaving them in a suitable condition for summer people who wish to take up light house-keeping.

A double stairway at the rear of the house leads up to the verandah on the upper storey, and two doors at each end admit entrance to the two separate apartments, so that perfect convenience is thus provided should two families be occupying the flat at one time. It is expected that these rooms will be in great demand next year.

The house has gabled ends and open casement sash, stained green shingles on the roof, is well lighted, and the rooms are airy and comfortable. It is painted white with green trimming, and altogether for service and appearance cannot be rivalled at Stoney Lake. In round numbers the cost of the work is about $1,000.

Mr. James Frowde was the contractor who had charge of the work. It is now undergoing the finishing touches by the painters.

The Government is building a wharf extending sixty feet west of the present wharf, with a covered waiting room, similar to the one at Lakefield. The work will not be completed for a month yet. This is a much needed improvement which will meet with the heartiest approval of the summer visitors at Stony Lake next year.

HOW SHALL I TELL MY CHILD?

(Rose W. Chapman in Ladies' Home Journal)

Published by Request

"How can I tell my little girl the truth?" writes one mother. "She is only four years and a half old and she has already asked me where her baby brother came from. It seems to me too difficult to approach the matter with so young a child."

This mother's difficulty lies in the fact that she is thinking of telling her child a larger amount of the truth than the little one is really asking for. All the necessary facts can be told so sweetly and so simply that I do not see how any mother could really shrink from her beautiful opportunity.

WHAT I TOLD MY BOY

It has been said that each mother must discover for herself the best way of telling her own little one, because each child's mind has its own peculiar way of working. Yet I believe there are great similarities, also, in these early mental processes. So in answer to this hesitating mother let me tell the story as I told it to my own little boy when he was only three years and a half old.

He asked me the question when I was putting him to bed one night. It is the time when we have our confidences; we would not be interrupted; I knew the hour had come.

"Darling," I said, "do you remember the bird's nest outside our bedroom window, that we watched all last summer? Do you remember the mother bird sitting there day after day, and that I told you there were eggs under her which she was keeping warm? And then, by-and-by, do you remember the baby birds that I told you came from those eggs?"

Of course he remembered! How could he forget the wonderful happenings of bird-life that he had watched for the first time?

"Then you remember also, that I told you chickens came from eggs?"

The little head nodded in response.

"Well, you came from an egg, too. But it was such a tiny, little bit of an egg that if I'd had it right here in my hand you couldn't even have seen it. Now, of course, you can easily understand that anything so small as that might easily get lost. But it's too precious to be lost; so God has made a little room for it, right in Mother's body."

"Do you remember that you once asked me which part of you grew first, and I said that you grew all at the same time? Well, you see, in the first place you were this tiny, little bit of an egg. Then this little egg began to divide; and to divide again, and again, and again; and, by-and-by, two parts pushed out and began to look like arms, and another part pushed out and began to look look like a a head; and then, by-and-by, there were arms and legs, and hands and feet, and eyes and nose and mouth—why, there was a whole body! And all this time the dear little baby was in the soft, warm nest right in Mother's body.

"And Mother knew it was there! She ate for it, and breathed for it, and took long walks that it might be strong and well; she made little clothes for it, and dreamed about it, and prayed for it. For nine long months the baby belonged to Mother as it did to no one else; and then, by-and-by, when the baby was big enough and life its own individual life the door of the little room opened and the baby came out into the world. And Mother was so happy to think that at last she was going to see the dear little baby that she had loved so long.

"She'll never forget the first time she saw him. The doctor told her to keep her eyes shut, but she couldn't any longer. So she opened her eyes just a little bit—and there she saw her baby in Grandma's arms, and he was crying just as hard as he could cry. But, do you know, Mother didn't mind that the baby was crying, because that meant that his lungs were working, and his heart was beating, and he was going to live and grow to be her own big boy."

IT SEEMED LIKE A FAIRY STORY.

What a wonderful fairy story it seemed to the little chap as he listened with widening eyes and scarce-beating heart. And the best of it was that it was all true.

He was silent for a moment, and then in awe-struck tones he asked: "Is that little room there yet, Mother?"

"Yes," I replied, "it's such a wonderful little room I want to tell you more about it. When you were that tiny, little bit of an egg it was just a little room. And then as you grew the room grew, too, so it was just large enough to hold the little baby. And then, after you had come out into the world, the room began to grow small again, until by-and-by it was just the same size it had been at first."

Then there came another pause and then this question from the searcher after the beginning of things: "Whose room were you in, Mother?"

"I was in Grandma's room, because Grandma is my mother, just as I'm your mother, and that's what being a mother means."

For a week he came to me with questions upon those parts of the story that were not quite clear to his little mind. Each time, childlike, he would begin to ask the question as soon as he reached the door of the room in which I was sitting, and each time I would stop him and call him me, saying in a whisper: "What was it you wanted to ask me darling?"

Unconsciously imitating he he would then whisper his question, and I would whisper my answer—"Because," as I would always say, "we don't want anyone to overhear what we're saying about this beautiful secret, which belongs just to you and me."

ALL SAINTS' OPENING

An Array of Notable Speakers—Men's Mass Meeting Will be a Feature — An Auspicious Chapter in All Saints' History.

The rector of All Saints' has succeeded in arranging for the opening of the new church, a four Sunday's program of preachers that has probably not been before equalled in Peterborough. The church will (D.V.), be formally opened Oct. 23rd. There will be a choral celebration of the Holy Communion at 8.30, administered by the rector. At the 11 and 7 o'clock services the honor of preaching the first sermon is extended to the Bishop of the Diocese.

The arrangement is not complete yet, but a men's mass meeting to be addressed by some prominent laymen the afternoon of either the opening or following Sunday, is being planned for. Promises from the male members of many of the Protestant churches in Peterborough have been already received to help in a good male chorus for the occasion. A children's service will also be held on one of the afternoons.

On Oct. 30th Rev. Dr. Griffith Thomas, the new Professor of Ecclesiology and Old Testament in Wycliffe College, will be the special preacher. Dr. Griffith Thomas' name is a household word in England and he was presented with 1,500 guineas on the occasion of his leaving. He is the author of several books, "The Catholic Faith," "Christianity in Christ," etc., etc. He was also editor of the Church Family Newspaper, and left the position of Principal of Wycliffe-Hall, Oxford University, to come to Canada, the land of opportunity. Dr. Thomas is one of the greatest scholars of the Anglican Church, and it is hoped he will remain over Monday and give a lecture for Peterborough citizens.

On Nov. 6th, Rev. Dr. Symonds has provisionally promised to come. Dr. Symonds is vicar of Christ Church Cathedral in Montreal, and his name is almost a household word in Peterborough, where for many years he was the loved and popular rector of St. Luke's. Dr. Symonds will lecture on the following Monday on "The Life and Writings of Anthony Trollope." No doubt an overflow audience will greet the lecturer. The last of the special Sundays will be Nov 13th, when the Bishop of Ontario, the Rt. Rev. Dr. Mills, will honor Peterborough by a visit to us. The Bishop of Ontario is one of the best preachers in the Episcopal church, and a striking and charming personality withal. Large congregations will be glad to hear him, and it is possible he will address a second men's mass meeting. Certainly these arrangements for the opening of the new church will lay the people of Peterborough generally under great obligation to make them a success. To the former rectors and ministers of the parish will be extended the privilege of participating in the opening services.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION WOULD BENEFIT PETERBORO'

EVIDENCE TO COMMISSION FAVORS ITS ADOPTION HERE

How Citizens in Responsible Positions Reached Their Goal---Special Courses and Studies of Great Assistance---The Conditions in Local Manufacturing Concerns and the Remedy---School Questions.

The Technical Commission completed its work here last night, and the members left this morning for Toronto, where they sit to-day. Two sessions were held yesterday for a total of five and one-half hours. During this time sixteen representative citizens gave evidence.

All expressed themselves in favor of technical education, and every mechanic before the commission had received instruction other than what he had learned while fulfilling his apprenticeship course.

JAS. W. ROBERTSON
C. M. G., L. L. D., Chairman.

Do you think you would have been benefitted, had you had the opportunity of attending night schools while and after learning your apprenticeship? Do you think that the apprentices in your employ would be benefitted now if there were such schools? Do you think they would attend? These were favorite questions of the chairman, Dr. Robertson.

The object of the commission is to find out the equipment and needs of Canada in regard to undustrial training and technical education. They have to the end of January to cover the route marked out for Canada. Then Europe is visited, with a view of learning the conditions there, and all the work must be completed by next August.

Then by means of all the information secured the Government will know just what is required for the youth of the present day.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

In each case the witness is sworn.

His Worship Mayor Morrow was the first to be called, and in response to the chairman said that Peterborough had a population of about 17,000, and the city was growing. Its manufacturing concerns came first in importance. It had bright agricultural prospects and a good railway service. Water power not utilized to the full extent was at hand. Peterborough was a good place for the laboring man to live. With a tax rate of 22 mills, the proportion for educational purposes was 9 1-4, and the Board of Education has control of the maintenance expense of the schools.

MR. R. DOBIE.

The mechanical superintendent of the Canadian General Electric Co. said that the tool making department was the highest paid. There were from 60 to 65 skilled workmen in this department, and about 1,500 employees of the concern.

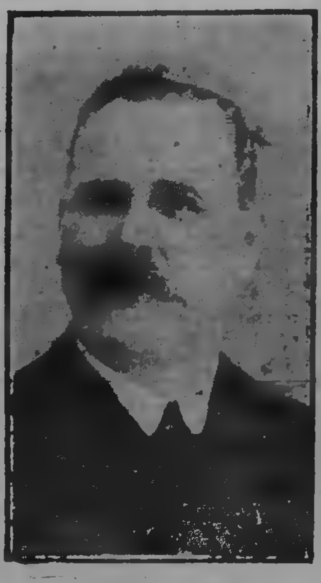
Discussing the tool department in particular Mr. Dobie explained that a four year apprenticeship course was carried out, giving the apprentice 4 1-2 cents per hour for first year, 6 1-2 for second, 7 for third and 10 for fourth, and at the end of that year a bonus of $100. For instruction further than what was secured in the shop the Company endeavored to make the apprentices take such courses that would help them, and he personally was greatly in favor of these courses. The majority of the skilled men came from the United States and Germany, and he thought the German mechanic to be a thoroughly trained and active worker. Canadians could not do some of the work, but if given the proper training, could be brought up to it. There were many men in the shop who could not read a drawing. His first experience was secured in the Stratford locomotive shops, and he finished up in Montreal, spending 17 years in all. He had had practical experience in many departments. Had he been able to attend night school twice a week he would have been greatly benefitted. He was strongly in favor of technical education, and if schools were established in Peterborough he believed the young men would attend. It would help them and also make for the greater success of the concern. The Canadian General had never had any trouble with labor unions. They were taking in apprentices all the time. He had noticed that many young children who were not properly educated came for work. He had tested them and found them lacking. Fourteen years of age, he believed, was too low an age for children to stop school. They ought to go till seventeen. He believed it would be advantageous to have a technical school in Peterborough.

MR. GILLESPIE.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie was asked if the Board of Trade had discussed technical education for Peterborough, and he answered in the negative. He thought it, however, a first-class subject for discussion, and promised to bring it before the Board, and, if possible, send a written report to the Commission.

LOCK CO.

Mr. Charles J. Caley, works manager of the Peterborough Lock Co., said that out of 130 men there were three apprentices, and 10 per cent. skilled workmen. He was a mechanical engineer by training secured by practical work and study. If night schools were started here he believed they would be attended by many from his concern, and this would help the company materially. While at present he had no great demand for highly skilled workmen, there would be more demand if the trade for high class locks grew. He was sure that local training was better than that secured through correspondence. The apprenticeship system should be kept up in Canada, although it was dying out in the States. In the latter place there was a necessity for specializing. It was becoming necessary here, too, in order to meet competition.



M. GASPARD DeSERRES

HON. JOHN N. ARMSTRONG

ELECTRIC DEPT.

Louis D. W. Magiea (incharge of electrical drawing and engineering at the C.G.E., said that in the test department were skilled men and an apprenticeship course, which took collegiate students and also college graduates. Night schools, he felt, would be helpful to them. He had received part of his instruction by private tutors, but believed that the same results, and even better, could be obtained with a class of say six. In the event of schools being commenced, he thought that those from schools of applied science, and highly experienced men would act as teachers. Two nights a week would not be too much for the men. When not intending to take a college course, he thought pupils should not leave school until sixteen. They could not get to understand the fundamental elements until then. He was in favor of manual training. One trouble was that young people do not know just what they are going to do, and take up some trade, mostly by accident.

QUEEN'S OWN RIFLES GET BIG WELCOME IN TORONTO

Mayor, Alderman and Citizens Turn Out En Masse to Cheer Sir Henry Pellatt and the Lads Who Have Been Advertising the Dominion in England.

Toronto, Oct. 4.—To say that the home-coming of the Queen's Own Rifles was an auspicious occasion would be to put it far too mildly. Seldom has a great civic event been attended with more enthusiasm or carried out with greater punctuality and success. From the moment the men detrained at North Toronto to the time when, surrounded by their happy relatives they broke ranks in the armories and scattered to their homes, it was one long, spontaneous, glorious welcome home from the fifty thousand or more who were out to see them to the boys in khaki who had been showing the regulars over home the sort of men they bred in the militia of Canada. The station platform, notwithstanding the admonitions of the police, "only uniformed men allowed through here," was completely filled with the eager relatives of the regiment. To the east of the station building, a temporary stand had been erected, for the use of the mayor, the City Council, and the notables of the regiment, and around this were clustered his worship, the entire Board of Control, and a liberal sprinkling of lesser lights in the shape of aldermen, all resplendent in top hat and frock coat. Others who were on hand included Hon. J. J. Foy, Hon. Dr. Reaume, Col. Grasett, Col. Delamere, Hugh Blain, Col. Langton, Major Caldwell, Magistrate Kingsford, Prof. Van der Smissen, J. W. Curry, K.C., Hon. J. S. Duff ex-Mayor Oliver, and Norman Macrae, Sir Henry's partner.

First among the returned wanderers came Lt.-Col. James Mason, who was greeted by a hearty handshake from all present, and before he had finished greeting all his friends, half the regiment had detrained and Col. Pellatt was in the midst of an uproarious throng. He was quickly led to the front of the little stand, where he could look down on the serried ranks of his followers, who were by now drawn up, line upon line, and, occupying all the ground to the south of the station yard.

All having been settled in their appointed places, an expectant hush fell on the assemblage, and Mayor [illegible], advancing to the front of the stand, delivered the civic address.

Amid a great burst of applause, Sir Henry Pellatt, looking tanned and very soldierly in his spic and span khaki, stepped forward to make reply. He said, in part:

"During our visit to the Motherland we have had very great pleasure in acknowledging many grand and enthusiastic receptions, but I can safely say, your worship, that not one has been appreciated more than the magnificent reception tendered to us to-day by our fellow-citizens of the grand old City of Toronto, our home.

"Our welcome to the Motherland was truly British with one exception only, that the old traditional British reserve was cast to the winds and we were made to feel at once that we were heartily welcome.

"Our men have been on their mettle, the watchword being 'Steady, Queen's Own, the Buffs are looking.' The good name of the regiment, the reputation of our city, and, above all, of the Dominion we were representing, were kept ever in mind, and if we have won the respect of the British regulars with whom we were so closely associated on the manoeuvres, then truly our imperial undertaking has fulfilled all the purpose that we of the Queen's Own could desire or hope for."

At the south entrance of the armories stood Gen. Cotton, Col. Galloway, Col. W. C. Macdonald, Col. Chadwick, Col. Robertson, and a number of other officers of the local regiments, and great was the rejoicing as they fraternized with their brother officers returned from over the ocean.

The total cost of Col. Pellatt's magnificent gift to his regiment can only be roughly estimated at present, but it is safe to say that he will have to foot a bill of from sixty to seventy-five thousand dollars before all expenses are paid, while incidental expenses to the men themselves and to the Government will amount to another thirty thousand.

DEAD NOW NUMBER 23 EIGHT MORE ARE MISSING IN HUDSON RIVER DISASTER

Accident to Barge of U.S. Battleship New Hampshire Proves Worse Than Had Been Expected—No Bodies Have Yet Been Recovered.

New York, Oct. 4.—Six sailors included in the tentative death list caused by the swamping of a barge being towed to the battleship New Hampshire in the Hudson River on Saturday night, are reported safe today. Five others reported as missing, but not recognized as being aboard the barge, turned up safely. This cuts the list of probable dead to 23, with eight missing, 31 in all.

In the face of these cheerful developments, two other drownings among sailors of the fleet occurred yesterday. One of the crew of the Kansas, believed to have been Eugene Audit, gave his life in attempting to save a young woman visitor to the battleship. She was rescued, but he perished. Last night a sailor, cleaning the side of the hospital ship Solace lost his balance, and was swept under the vessel by the tide.

Grappling for the lost New Hampshire men brought no results yesterday. One sailor's body was found, but examination showed it to be that of Joseph V. Dudley, a coal-passer from the repair ship Panther. He had been missing since Sept. 28.

Memorial services for the dead were held on the New Hampshire yesterday afternoon.

On the quarter-deck and in the forecastle the talk Sunday on the New Hampshire was the heroism of Midshipman Godfrew de Courcelles Chevalier, who commanded the steamer and sailing launch on Saturday evening.

Probably never in the history of marine rescues has one man succeeded in saving so many lives in one evening as did this gritty midshipman of the U. S. navy.

At first he worked in utter darkness, guided only by the cries of men who were drowning. His work was made easier at the start by the men following his directions when he reached them and helping in his efforts to save, but later, as the struggling sailors became more and more exhausted, his work became increasingly difficult.

Several times he was grabbed around the neck and partly throttled by terror-stricken sailors and then dragged under, only to fight himself free and once more go after his man.

His men on the launch implored him to give up and come on board, but Chevalier's reply was to swim off in search of another man in need of help. Slowly the number of those he rescued mounted up. More and more apparent it became that he was working on nerve, desperation and grit only.

He dragged his sixteenth man to the side of the steamer, and as the latter was hauled on board Chevalier once more started to swim off. He was not quick enough, for one of the steamer's crew reached over, and, with the assistance of another, managed to haul him on board. Chevalier did not know what he was doing: probably he had not been actually conscious for some minutes, a fixed determination dominating his mind and driving him machine-like to his work. He fought wildly to go overboard again. "They are drowning out there!" "They are drowning out there!" he cried over and over.

ADMITTED HER GUILT

Belleville, Oct. 4.—Mabel McMullen a young woman, is under arrest here charged with housebreaking and theft. The accused, after her arrest admitted that she was guilty of entering Sheriff Morrison's residence in this city and stealing therefrom furs, clothing, etc., to the value of about $300. She was at one time a servant in the sheriff's house and knew its surroundings. She was arrested Sunday evening at Trenton as she was about to board a train for the west.

A trunk containing the stolen articles was upon the train and was taken to Toronto, but subsequently returned to this city yesterday. She was remanded to jail for a week.

IS DR. COOK IN LONDON?

London, Oct. 4.—If Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the Arctic explorer, is in London, as recent cables to the United States declare him to be, he is doing an admirable job of self-effacement.

Dr. Cook, in an alleged interview, said he left New York Nov. 25, 1909, the time of his disappearance, for Toronto, thence to Halifax, thence to Liverpool, thence to Gibraltar, then to Tangier, Morocco, then to Portugal, and from Lisbon to Buenos Ayres; then around the Horn to Valparaiso, Chili; then across the South American continent by horseback and stage over the lordly Andes Mountains and back to Buenos Ayres, and from there to Liverpool and London. He has made his headquarters in the English capital since last May, taking occasional jaunts to the continent. Most of the time he had his wife for companion. His children are in European schools.

One of Dr. Cook's most surprising assertions is that for the most part he traveled openly under his own name, the only effort at concealment being that he would register with his initials "F. A." Cook" instead of "Frederick A. Cook," as in the heydey of his fame.

ROOM FOR GOOD ONES

New York, Oct. 4.—Sir James Whitney, Premier of Ontario, who is en route for Toronto, in an interview said: "We have plenty of wheat land in Ontario, and what's best is covered with pulp wood.

"Our agents are overrun with people, but there's room for good ones always. Any man who can keep his eyes open in Canada can be well to do—not wealthy, but well to do—in ten years. England is looking at Canada now.

"The people from the United States are running over into the northwest every day. Americans who remain in Canada for a while are well satisfied with their prospects."

Count Tolstoi Protests.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 4.—A protest against the Jewish pale by Count Tolstoi is published. The regulations setting aside the restricted district only within which Jews may reside legally are described not only as absurd and ineffectual, but as violating the natural rights of all beings to live and move upon the earth.

PRACTISING GUN PLAY

U.S. Has Heavy Armament on Lake Michigan—Can Sweep Area of Four Miles.

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—A display story, in a Chicago Sunday paper, telling of big gun practice there for the first time by the men of the U.S.S. Nashville, a cruiser attached to the naval militia, revives the discussion concerning the usefulness that is served by the Rush-Bagot treaty that was supposed to prevent just such a sort of thing in the great lakes.

For the first time since the Nashville was brought inland from the Atlantic coast the Illinois naval reserves are, it seems, to have an opportunity to discharge regulation war shells from its batteries of four-inch guns and six pounders and three pounders. Until yesterday the volunteer tars have had no real opportunity to test themselves and their weapons. Although the trim and business-like Nashville has been used by the reserves for two seasons efficient target practice on shipboard has not been a possibility.

Expert "gun pointers" indeed have been developed among the Chicago ship divisions. They have had all their practice by means of "sub-targets," with which only 22 calibre rifles were discharged. Last fall the officers and crew attempted some real range work at sea, but met with baffling difficulties both on account of weather and insufficient target arrangements.

This season the U. S. Government, which has taken the naval reserve boys of the country close to its official heart, came to the rescue. A regulation navy target, the kind used by marksmen on the men-of-war in smashing world records with thirteen inch devastation tubes, was shipped to Chicago last week.

The Nashville's armament is thoroughly up-to-date, in contrast with the obsolete allotment of ordnance usually doled to a militiaman. The ship's death-dealing equipment consists of the following:

Eight 4-inch guns, two 6-pounders two 3-pounders, two 1-pounders, and two Colt automatics.

Grain by G.T.P. Delayed.

Winnipeg, Oct. 4.—Unexpected delays prevented the starting of the first trainload of grain over the National Transcontinental Railway from Winnipeg to Fort William, but it is expected that it will go out to-day. The Grand Trunk Pacific has not yet taken over the line, but the work is being done under agreement between J. D. McArthur, contractor, the National Transcontinental Commission and the G. T. P. Connection at the west end will not be ready for several months, on account of delays caused by St. Boniface City Council and other railway companies, which have blocked the laying out of the line into Winnipeg.

PRAISE FOR THE CANADIAN SCOUTS

Liverpool, Oct. 4.—Sir Robert Baden-Powell, interviewed here, had high praise for Canada's Boy Scouts. He said the movement helps to develop the Imperial spirit, and the best men in the country are taking the movement up. Referring to his visit to the United States, he said there was no doubt the boys of Canada have a better knowledge of woodcraft and more experience of the veldt, but some of these places are growing into big towns, and the scout movement would help prevent the wastrel and hooligan element.

On the voyage home he wrote a scouts' guide book for Canada. He visited seventeen centres in Canada and found them all organized in the right way.

CHARGED WITH CHILD MURDER

Sherbrooke, Oct. 4.—May Doherty, a girl about 20 years of age, was arrested by High Constable Moe Sunday on a coroner's warrant charging her with child murder. She had been engaged for the past month at Cottage House, Lennoxville. She left the hotel on Friday night and said she would return for her trunk on Saturday morning. The proprietor was directed to certain suspicious circumstances and he immediately began to investigate. He sent for the village constable who forced open the trunk and they found the dead body of a newly-born male child.

WILL INVESTIGATE RAILWAY WAGES

Winnipeg, Oct. 4.—Judge McGibbon of Brampton, Ont., chairman, F. H. McGuigan and Mr. Lee, comprising the royal commission appointed by the Dominion Government to enquire into the grievances of the maintenance of way men of the C.P.R., C.N.R. and G.T.P., last evening opened the first session of the board, which will last all week. Evidence will be taken and referred to the Department of Labor at Ottawa.

Maintenance of way men all through Canada have been asking for some time for increased wages, and the appointment of the present commission is the step taken by the Government to avert what might have been a serious strike.

Howitt by Acclamation?

Guelph, Oct. 4.—The talk of the Liberal party in South Wellington bringing out another candidate in place of Nicol Jeffrey, who, after considering it for three days, decided not to oppose J. R. Howitt for the vacant seat, seems to be groundless.

A rumor to the effect that an independent candidate might be brought out has also fallen through, and it is almost certain that Mr. Howitt's election will be by acclamation.

CONTRADICTORY STATEMENTS

Here is an example of the way in which the Liberal party faces both ways on the tariff. The Toronto Globe on September 12th, said:

"And as a first step the Globe would like to see the unnecessary soft coal duty removed as the result of an agreement with the United States by which Nova Scotia would supply duty-free coal to New England and Pennsylvania would supply duty-free coal to Ontario and Manitoba."

While just about the same day Mr. E. M. Macdonald, speaking in a coal mining region of Nova Scotia, said:—

Mr. Macdonald clearly enunciated the policy of the Liberal party as affecting the tariff question. They had the same policy in the west as in the east. The people of the west did not want free trade any more than those in the east, and they ascertained that the only shouting for free trade in the west came from the Tory camp. He believed that the future of Nova Scotia was wrapped up in its manufactures, and there would be no tariff changes to disturb them."

Thus to condense:—

The Globe—Reciprocity in coal.

Mr. Macdonald—No tariff changes to disturb Nova Scotia.

WE ARE UNITED ALL RIGHT

The Kingston Standard has an article entitled "Wanted, A Canadian National Spirit." It declares that it is intolerable that there should be a distinctive French-Canadian spirit, which refuses to blend with the larger Canadian spirit. At the same time it believes that the French in Canada are no more to be blamed for present conditions than the English. "Have not the English for too long been supine, indifferent, and listless—conscious of and yet unconcerned with the French spirit and its manifestations?" There has not been a vigorous enough insistence that this is an English-speaking country, and that while the French must have their full rights, "there nevertheless is a strong desire to put Canada in the forefront of the peoples of the world by developing her as she should be developed—along British and Canadian, and not along French lines."—Toronto Star

We have the spirit all right, the spirit of the age, "How can I get that other dollar?" The Chinaman, the blackman, the Jap in the far west, the Frenchman in the east and we in the middle west, they are united on this question and while we differ on religion and politics, yet religion and politics are small potatoes apart from worship at the shrine of this God this great God, Gold.

A PUBLIC MEETING

On the 17th of October, in the Council chamber, the citizens of Peterborough will be invited to have something to say on the paving question. Gentlemen, now is your chance. But the trouble is that few people are able to think on their feet. Their tongues run fast on the street corner, or in the saloon, but when discussing a public question before public men, they make rash statements or say nothing at all.

The seventeenth of October will soon be here, and those who have grievances, or only think so, those who have sound plans, or imagine they have, should be there. A public meeting is a good thing—that is, if any number of representative citizens can be secured to attend it.

WELL ANYWAY

Well, anyway, Sir W[illegible], your Royal Commission will give Peterborough a lot of free advertising.

A MYSTERY!

There was the sound of digging in a back yard the other night, a digging and a swearing. The man was digging a long trench. A mystery? No, he was burying some old tins and garbage. That's all. It might seem strange to bury garbage in Guelph or any other up-to-date city, but in Peterborough there's only one thing more common than garbage—that's flies.

THE GARBAGE BY-LAW

You cannot expect a butcher to make an operation for appendicitis with a meat saw, and you cannot expect a body of men not alive to public health to do anything worth while with the garbage question. Ald. Turner endeavored to bring the matter up. He has tried to do so before. But although it is shown that flies feast on garbage and filth and spread disease and death, what is a babe or two compared to a seat in the council next year, some one offended or a dollar saved.

FOR THE MOTHER OF THE KID

Somewhere, sometime, somehow, a band of women thought of the mother, who works to keep up her home, who goes out washing, scrubbing, sewing. She upon whom adversity has set its heel. The children at home? Most women in adversity have children and husbands who are poor fathers to the flock. So, mother goes out and earns her living and dad regulates the affairs of the city or the nation in the bar-room, or sleeps peacefully in the grave. But whether widow, grass or sod, her husband dead and buried, or dead and buried through booze or inability to get work, the woman who works out is hampered by the thought of the child. Will it stray away and get run over, or will it set the house on fire; will they quarrel and injure each other? It is here that sometime some while ago kind woman came to the rescue of her sex. They are opening a room in the Y.W.C.A. where from 7.30 in the morning till 5.30 at night mothers who have small children may leave them in good hands. The charge? Oh, perhaps five cents a day per child, and if mother has a brood there will be a big reduction. Now, the ladies want two cots, a cradle, little kindergarten chairs, second-hand clothing, toys, rocking horses, the smile of the Ministerial Association and Salvation Army. But they want more than sympathy and prayers—they want the articles mentioned. The ever obliging Miss McCalla at the Y.W.C.A. will give all additional information. Remember the poor woman who has to work with the worry of her children left behind at home. Then dig down, dig up, and hand out. You've surely got something you can give around the house. You don't have to go out and scrub or work or sew. To-morrow is all well enough, but this hour is the time to get busy.

BUSY BERLIN

The town of Berlin, Canada, extends you a hearty invitation to be its guest on the 11th October next, when Niagara power will be officially turned on.

While Berlin is the first to receive the current, a score or more of other Western Ontario municipalities in the power-bund will obtain it shortly. The demonstration at Berlin will mark an epoch in public ownership.

Yours cordially,
C. C. HAHN,
Mayor of Berlin.

Berlin is a fine town. They all drink lager. But no one gets full. They all eat saur kraut and limburger cheese and they are united in the belief that Berlin is the best thing in the way of the small city line that ever came over the pike.

But then Guelph thinks the same thing and is also united.

So does Peterborough. But are we united?

Brantford is booming. Brantford has increased her population till now she is 21,000.

Brantford is increasing. Brantford is united. Are we?

MARY DOLAN

Are they going to hang Mary Dolan? Will Tom McNulty fall into space hitched to a rope. In the first place we hope not; in the second instance, yes, by all means. The girl murdered the babe, but McNulty was the father of it, and only for him such as child murder would not have been possible. Give Mary a term in prison, get her soul saved, turn her loose, get her married and she will make some one a good wife yet.

But in what is race suicide different from child murder? In what does the woman who refuses to become a mother on account of social duties, household wants, etc., differ from Mary Dolan in the eyes of the Great Judge. We cannot reply, but we can have our ideas on the matter.

WHY WAS IT!

The Ministerial Association asked the representative of the Review to withdraw from the monthly meeting held this morning in the Y.M.C.A. building. In Toronto the writer many many times attended the meeting of the Toronto Ministerial Association as a newspaper man. What is the question of such importance that the public are to be denied knowledge through the newspaper reporter? When the ministers are having a special sermon, concert, a special appeal for cash, they are only too glad to have the presence of the pencil pusher. What is the reason that the Review, representative was asked to withdraw?

WAS SHE LUCKY?

There's a fortunate girl in Guelph, that is if she is living. She was waiting at the altar to be married, but the groom didn't show up. If he is dead, if he was robbed or suicided she is fortunate. A groom, prospective, should take better care of himself. If he has changed his mind and skipped, she is twice lucky.

Many a man would give a good deal if he had never listened to her voice, felt the thrill of her eye or the pressure of her hand. He thought he had wedded an angel, it was all a mistake. He wedded a jealous blatherskite.

Many a woman sits alone in her tears. She thought she had wedded a real man. She erred. She captured a counterfeit, a libertine, a liar, a neglecter of home and honor.

So they both are wretched.

Ladies and gentlemen, some one said marriage was a lottery—no, its not, its an interesting event, quietly performed and premeditated while hypnotized by Cupid. There are many happy marriages and a walking hand in hand through love's dreamland right to the end. But yet many who are wedded who ever wish they had married some one else.

MOTHERS' WHAT OF YOU

It is said that some mothers have complained to Inspector Pinch that their daughters "walk the streets till late at night," therefore a "morality officer" ought to be appointed. We hardly think the case for a new official is to be so easily made out. What do those mothers want? Have they done their whole duty in the matter?

Girls should not be allowed to grow up in ignorance of the dangers which beset their footsteps in life, and the parents who do not warn them of the perils which they run in entering upon such flirtations grossly neglect their duty. Every city has its archieves of maidenly ruin, of life tragedies, which have had their beginnings in "just a harmless flirtation." Girls, beware! Respect your own dignity and womanhood. If your do not, can you expect that others will?—Hamilton Times.

Hamilton isn't the only place where girls walk the street. Wherever there is a street and wherever there are girls, there they will walk. BUT THERE IS NO DANGER AS LONG AS THEY KEEP WALKING.

Now many a Peterborough girl is in a funny position. She perhaps works all day in the Quaker Oats, or the C.G.E., or the store or office. The fresh air smells good, the pavement, its musical echo of the footfalls sounds good, the passing faces look good, to say nothing of the store windows. So she and her girl chum go out for a stroll when the sun is hid. Let them stroll. They are in no danger as long as they keep walking, if mother has done her duty at home.

Admitted Theft.

The Round-Up

A Romance of Arizona

Novelized From Edmund Day's Melodrama

By JOHN MURRAY and MILLS MILLER

Copyright, 1908, by G. W. Dillingham Co.

Exhausted with the effort and pain of talking, McKee dropped his head upon Hoover's broad breast in a faint. Hoover bore him down to the spring and bathed his wound and mouth. McKee revived and in broken phrases, which were accompanied with blood from his pierced lungs frothing out of his mouth, continued his observations on the ridiculous and unfortunate mistake Peruna made in killing him.

"Dern fool's bes' fr'en'—I would herd—'th low down intellecks—nev' 'preciated—no chance—to be firs' class —bad man."

And so Buck McKee, desperado, died, like many another ambitious soul, with expressions of disappointment on his lips.

CHAPTER XVIII.

BUD LANE, returning to camp, saw the returned sheriff supporting the dying murderer of Terrill and listening to what was undoubtedly his confession. He stole away before he was observed.

"It's all up with me," he thought. "Buck has told him. Slim hates me along with Polly. I'll get away from here tonight."

He met Polly by the mess wagon.

At once she saw that something had happened. Bud was deathly pale. He trembled when she spoke to him.

"Why, what on earth is the matter?" she asked.

"Nothing. I"— answered Bud, glancing about him as if seeking some way to escape.

"You're lookin' mighty pale. Are you sick?" persisted the girl.

"What!" cried Polly joyfully. "Is Jack with him?"

"Listen here," exclaimed the young wooer. "Slim's heard about our going to get married, and he's sworn to shoot me at sight." It was a lame, halting explanation, but the best Bud could invent on the spur of the moment. He wanted to get away to have time to think.

"I don't believe it!" replied Polly indignantly. "Why, Slim"—

"It's so. He's plumb locoed. The sun must have touched his brains out in the desert," he explained, with rapid invention. "I don't want any run-in with a crazy man. I might have to shoot, and Slim's been a good friend of mine, so I'm going to keep out of his way for awhile. I'll ride over to the railroad."

"Say, look here, are you scared of Slim Hoover? Just let me handle him," said Polly.

"No, no!" expostulated Bud. "Can't you understand? We've been such good friends, and—and—I can't pull a gun on him."

Polly was speechless with surprise.

"Don't hide!" counseled Polly. "Why?"

Bud gave her no answer, for he had already disappeared under the cover of the mess wagon.

"I don't like that a little bit. Slim never acted locoed before. I'll have to be mighty careful, I s'pose, for I think a heap of both Slim an' Bud."

Slim came up to the wagon with his face wreathed in smiles. "If it ain't Miss Polly!" he yelled.

Polly, having heard that crazy people had to be humored, ran to meet him and threw her arms about his neck.

"You dear, sweet, old red headed thing!" she cried. "When did you get back? Where have you been? Where's Jack? Have you seen Echo?" One question was piled upon the other by the enthusiastic girl. Slim had tried to stop her talking that he might give answer, but he might as well have tried to check a sand storm. Out of breath and puffing, he finally gasped:

Polly started all over again. "An' Jack—did you find him? Tell me all about it."

"See here," answered Slim. "I ain't goin' to say nothin' to nobody till I see Mrs. Payson."

"Oh, pshaw!" pouted Polly. "Not even to me?"

"Not even. What I've got to say she must hear first. I'm kinder stiff. If you don't mind, I'll set down a spell."

Slim's face was drawn and worn. Although he had lost none of his weight, he showed the effects of the siege of hard riding and fighting through which he had passed. The mental strain under which he had labored had also worn him down. Polly was more than solicitous for his comfort. Not only did she like the sheriff, but she was now fencing with him to protect her sweetheart from his wrath.

"You look tuckered out," she said.

"Well, I 'low as maybe I am. Been in the saddle for two weeks. Kin I have a cup of coffee?"

Polly began to mother him. This appeal for bodily comforts aroused all her womanly instincts. She made him sit down and poured the coffee for him, saying: "You sure can. With or without?"

"I'll play it straight," grinned Slim.

"I reckon you'll have to anyway Here you are."

Slim took the cup with a "Thankee." He drank long and deeply. Then he paused, made a wry face and danced his feet up and down, as a child does in anger or excitement.

"What's the matter?" asked the girl, with a laugh.

"If this here's coffee give me tea, an' if it's tea give me coffee." The sheriff put down his cup, with a shrug of the shoulders.

"Oh, that's it. I thought it tasted like sagebrush. How's Bud?" he suddenly demanded.

Polly glanced nervously at the speaker.

"Ain't you seen him lately?" Slim insisted.

Polly peeped into the wagon before she answered the question. "Yes—I see him every once in awhile."

In an effort to change the subject of conversation and get him away from all thoughts of Bud she asked, "Say, Slim, what't a boudoir?"

"A what what?" stuttered Slim.

"A boudoir," Polly repeated.

Slim was puzzled and looked it. Then a new thought lighted up his face.

"You don't mean a Budweiser?"

Slim ransacked his memory for the word. "Boudoir," he continued reflectively. "One of them 'fo' de wah' things we ust to have down in Kentucky?"

An explanation was demanded of him, and he proceeded to invent one. "Well, first you get a—get a"— Polly had fooled him so many times that he became suspicious in the midst of his creation and asked:

"Look a-here. You're sure you don't know what a boudoir is?"

"Why, of course not," answered Polly simply.

Slim was relieved by her reply.

"All right," he resumed, crossing his legs, as if the position would help him better to think. "A boudoir is a seegar."

"A seegar?" echoed Polly, distinctly disappointed. Bud's offer to duplicate the boudoir was now reduced to the proportions of "two fer a nickel."

"A boudoir is a seegar."

"What's a diplomat?" Polly asked.

Slim chuckled and with a twinkle in his eye drawled: "A diplomat is a man that steals your hat an' coat an' then explains it so well that you give him your watch an' chain. Sabe?"

Polly did not understand. She felt that Slim was laughing at her, but she could not see any fun in his remark. To end the discussion, however, she said, "I sabe."

Polly sauntered away from the wagon. As she passed Slim he tried to put his arm about her waist. She skillfully evaded him. The sheriff joined her in the shade of a cottonwood. "You know I've been thinkin' a lot of you lately, Miss Polly?"

"Only lately?" she asked mischievously.

"Well, yes—that is"—

This conversation was becoming too personal for Bud, who in an effort to hear all Slim had to say moved incautiously in the wagon. Slim heard him.

"Who's in that wagon?" he cried, moving toward it. "Show Low asleep?"

"No—Buddy," said Polly, thinking she might as well confess the deception first as last and using the childish nickname of her lover in order to soften Slim's anger against him.

"Nobody," repeated Slim, not fully convinced that he was mistaken, but stopping in deference to Polly's apparent denial.

"Who do you s'pose?" asked Polly pertly, taking courage when she found that Slim did not continue his investigation. "You ain't after any Buddy, are you?"

"No, but I'll just take a look in here, 'cause I got somethin' partic'lar to say to you, Miss Polly, an' I don't want no listeners." And he moved forward again.

At this juncture Polly began to ply her arts as a coquette. Looking shyly at Slim, she murmured, "Are you sure you are not after anybody?" The emphasis on the last word was so plain that a shrewder lovemaker than Slim would have been deceived.

"Eh? What's that?"

Polly turned her back to him with assumed bashfulness. Slim's courage arose at the sight. "Well, I reckon this is a pat hand fer me, an' that's the way I'm a-goin' to play it, if I've got the nerve."

Slim smoothed down his tangled hair and brushed off some of the dust which whitened his shoulders. "Look here, Miss Polly"—

Then his courage failed him, and he stopped. Polly glanced at him to help him over the hard places. Slim was greatly embarrassed. "My heart is right up in my throat. Well, I might as well spit it out," he thought aloud.

Again Slim started toward the girl to tell her of his love, and again his courage failed him, although Polly was doing her best to help him.

"Horse thief?" asked Polly coquettishly.

"No, heart thief," blurted Slim.

"Stealin' hearts ain't no harm."

"Well, just the same, I'm goin' to issue a writ of replevin an' try fer to git mine back," laughed Slim. He was about to slip his arm about her waist when she turned and faced him. The action so disconcerted him that he jumped backward as if the girl was about to attack him.

"Where is it?" asked Polly.

Slim, deeply in earnest, replied: "You know where it's hid. You know just as well as I kin tell you."

Polly became remorseful. She realized how much Slim was suffering, and she was sorry that her answer to him would be a disappointment.

"Please don't say any more, Slim," she said as she stepped away. Slim followed her up and, speaking over her shoulder, said: "I can't help it. You've got my feelin's stampeded now.

3,000 YEARS AGO THE EGYPTIANS CURED DISEASE WITH FRUIT

To-day, Canadians Are Doing It With "Fruit-a-tives"

—The Famous Fruit Medicine

We are apt to consider the age we live in as the most wonderful age that the world has ever known. It is, in many respects. Yet the ancients surpassed us in some things. Engineers of our 40-story sky-scrapers still marvel at the massive pyramids and the sphinx. So, too, the Egyptian physicians of 3,000 years ago, used fruit juices as a medicine for treating blood trouble, liver and kidney disease, and stomach weakness. Their method of mixing fruit juice as a medicine, is also one of the lost arts. A well known Canadian physician, however, perfected a method of utilizing fruit juices, which is one of the greatest discoveries of modern medical research.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the natural cure for Chronic Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion, Torpid Liver, Kidney Disease, Pain in the Back, Bad Complexion, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Headache and Neuralgia.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At all dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

THE DAILY REVIEW PATTERN SERVICE

LADIES' WAIST.

All Seams Allowed.

The design we illustrate is a plain waist, with ornamental features, which means a practical garment. The main portion of the waist consists of a panel front, the edges of which are stitched to form a tuck on each side. Two short tucks at the shoulders provide the fullness. In the back a tuck turning each way gives the panel effect. At the neck the waist is cut round and a tiny collar extends from the edges of the front panel around the neck. The sleeves are the regulation shirt style, and the wrist finished with a shirt cuff designed for link cuff buttons. This waist may be made of any of the wash materials, with the collar of a contrasting color, or it may be of taffeta or some soft woolen fabric; in this case, the collar should be of silk or satin. The pattern (5166) is cut in sizes 32 to 42 inches bust. To make the waist in the medium size will require 3⅞ yards of material 36 inches wide, with ½ yard of silk 20 inches wide for collar.

The Height of Kings.

A remarkable feature about the physiques of reigning European monarchs is that they are nearly all shorter than their consorts. King George V. is several inches shorter than Queen Mary. The German empress is a trifle taller than the kaiser, who always insists on the empress sitting down when they are photographed together. Czar Nicholas II. looks quite small by the side of the czarina. Alfonso of Spain is a head shorter than Queen Victoria Eugenie, and the king of Italy hardly reaches to the shoulder of Queen Helena. The queen of Denmark, too, is a good deal taller than her husband. Exceptions to the rule are the king of Norway and the new king of the Belgians. The latter is six feet two inches in height and the tallest king in Europe.—London M. A. P.

Women Smokers in London.

The woman smoker, far from being a result of a decadent civilization, is merely a survival of a rougher and harder life. Even today the women who live the hardest lives compatible with twentieth century civilization smoke incessantly. Go into any tramps' lodging house and you will find not only old and young women, but bits of girls scarcely in their teens, puffing contentedly, not at cigarettes, but clay pipes charged with black twist tobacco. It is part of the etiquette of the "road" for the men after they have vigorously puffed at their "dudeens" to hand them to the women tramps who have no supply.—London Standard.

A Dead Game Sport.

Sir Claude de Crespigny has crossed the North sea in a balloon and is the only white man who has successfully swum the first Nile cataract. He has escaped from the coils of a python, dived among the sharks to amuse a few friends at Bermuda and enlisted as a scout during the Boer war because red tape threatened to keep him in England waiting for a billet until, as he put it, "all the fun was over," three of his sons also being at the front at the time. One might search the world over to find an individual more fond of sport and adventure. In swimming, shooting, running, riding and rowing he excels.—London Tit-Bits.

Naco, Ariz., a town of 1,300 people near the Mexican border, was reported as being destroyed by fire.

OPERATION HER ONLY CHANCE

Lindsay, Ont.—"I think it is no more than right for me to thank Mrs. Pinkham for what her kind advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. When I wrote to her some time ago I was a very sick woman suffering from female troubles. I had inflammation of the female organs, and could not stand or walk any distance. At last I was confined to my bed, and the doctor said I would have to go through an operation, but this I refused to do. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now, after using three bottles of it, I feel like a new woman. I most heartily recommend this medicine to all women who suffer with female troubles. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills and think they are fine."—Mrs. FRANK EMSLEY, Lindsay, Ontario.

We cannot understand why women will take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, without first trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

TRAIN WHISTLING A SAFEGUARD

But G.T.R. Will be Asked not to do Any More of it Than Necessary

Ald. Turner Makes Another Bid for Garbage Legislation — Citizen Objects to Collection Methods.

Mr. A. R. Kidd complained to the council last night that he was taxed $6.15 in arrears on a lane for which he had never been assessed. The city solicitor wrote him threatening suit. Mr. Kidd thought the procedure very irregular, and some of the aldermen did too.

On motion of Ald. Phelan and Ald. Graham the Finance Committee will look into the matter.

Messrs. R. C. Braund, R. T. Braund and J. M. Green were present to ask for an amendment to the building by-law governing the structure they are putting up on Charlotte street. The amendment was made.

The city fathers were divided in opinion as to the need of train whistling. Some thought it was the cause of too much annoyance, and others thought it was a necessary evil in protection of the public. On motion of Ald. Bradburn and Ald. Butler, G. T. R. Divisional Superintendent Lynch will be asked that no more whistling be done within the city limits than necessary, and the proproposed by-law to stop the whistling will, therefore, not be passed.

Ald. J. J. Turner brought up the garbage by-law again. He wanted to see it tried in some specified district in the city. The matter was referred to the Property Committee, who, a short time ago, sidetracked this vitally important issue till next year.

Ald. J. J. Turner is leaving the city on a business trip, and was granted two months' leave of absence.

WAS GIVEN GRANITE SHOWER

A largely attended consecration meeting was held in Charlotte Street S. S. room last evening, where Rev J. G. Brown delivered an interesting and instructive address on autumn leaves, comparing the leaf to our lives. He brought out many interesting comparisons, and told how each person could make his or her life better. After the roll-call, everybody sat down to a table spread with refreshments and did full justice to them.

A complete surprise was sprung on one of the departing members who has been a faithful worker for years, when she was given a granite shower. Rev. G. W. Henderson made a short address in which he said that they would much miss the services of Miss Higins.

A solo by Mr. Miller was another pleasing feature of the evening.

The singing of the Doxology brought the evening to a close.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS ABOUT "THE VULTURE"

A love story that is bound to be a success.—Chicago "Examiner."

"The Vulture" can be classed with Third Degree."

"The Lion and the Mouse," and "The Third Degree."—Chicago Tribune.".

Will draw crowds wherever played, because it's a strong substantial real play.—Albany "News."

"The Vulture," scores a hit and well it should. It holds and really interests you and one can safely stamp it a success.—Chicago "Inter Ocean."

"The Vulture," a play with psychological inferences, had its first city production last night and was a success from start to finish. In other words "The Vulture" is "A Bird."—Boston "Herald."

The numerous curtain calls after each act of "The Vulture" certainly must have been very gratifying to its author, Wm M. Fletcher. The author is new to theatre-goers, but the success of his latest play places him with Chas. Klein, Eugene Walters and other successful American writers.—Providence "Times."

NEW DRUG BUSINESS IS OPENED HERE

Mr. W. J. Kent, of Ottawa, has bought out the drug business of H. S. Macdonald at George and Hunter streets.

Mr. Kent is a pharmist of high standing having had eighteen years practical experience in the drug business.

He should be favored with a large patronage.

UNVEILED A MONUMENT

The Woodmen of the World, about fifty in number, drove out to Douro cemetery in busses on Sunday to participate in unveiling a monument to the late Elizabeth Taylor. Special music was provided by a quartette from St John's church. The party left here about ten o'clock in the morning and arrived home at six o'clock in the evening. The monument is a very handsome one.

MURDER!

JURY FINDS TRUE BILL

(AT BELLEVILLE)

Belleville, Oct., 4.—After some hours deliberation the grand jury at the assizes here this morning returned a true bill against Robert Parker, charging him with murdering William Masters. The accused, when arraigned through his counsel, Mr. H. G. Porter, K.C., M.P., pleads not guilty Mr. Peter White, K.C., is Crown prosecutor. The jury was selected after many had been challenged and is composed solely of yeomen. There is an array of witnesses for the Crown and defence and much interest centres in the case.

PRESS ASKED TO WITHDRAW

The Ministerial Association of the city were in conclave at the Y.M.C.A. parlors this morning. Unlike similar bodies in other cities, the newspaper representative was asked to withdraw while they were in session, the president stating that anything they desired to have made known would be handed in. This is contrary to the action of ministerial bodies in cities like Hamilton, Toronto, Montreal and so on, and why the reverend gentlemen should insist on the withdrawal of the press is a matter of conjure. Is it just a matter of habit?

MURRAY STREET CHURCH HELD RE-UNION CONCERT

An informal social evening, which had for its object the furthering of friendship among the church people, was held last evening in Murray street church. A large attendance and a splendid musical programme followed by refreshments, constituted the evening's proceedings and each part was thoroughly enjoyed. The following was the programme:

Piano duet—The Misses Elcome.
Vocal solo—Miss Clara Kidd.
Vocal solo—Miss Elcome.
Vocal solo—Mrs. Miller.
Violin solo—Miss Hope Miller.
Piano solo—Miss Janet Quinn.
Vocal solo—Mr. Bruce Quinn.

A laughable number on the programme was what was called a unique quartette composed of Mr. George Cochrane, Mr. R. Harding, Mr. Riddell, and Mr. Porter White. These gentlemen rose to sing "Speed Away" and illustrated the song literally.

Mr. Geo. Schneider and Miss Millar were the accompanists for the evening.

HOME FROM WEST

The Peterborough party who took in the manufacturers' excursion to Vancouver per special train, arrived home yesterday highly delighted with the trip and with the royal manner in which they were entertained all along the line. Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Collier, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stratton composed the Peterborough quota, who were among those who had the privilege and enjoyment of the visit to the Pacific coast.

In conversation with Mr. Collier he stated that they were feted and banqueted at every stopping place along the route. At Vancouver the whole party, numbering about two hundred and thirty-five, were in convention At the various western cities and towns through which they passed Mr. Collier stated that they received urgent invitations to establish a branch of their business. Altogether the Peterborough party cannot speak in any too glowing terms of the pleasure of the trip.

Columbia University has followed the example of the University of Chicago and established a students' bank.

THE CHIMES

At noon to-day the chimes subscription list stood at $4,507.47. Several contributions have been received during the past few days, as well as that of $50 from St. John's girls' Bible class. One donation comes from a resident of the country. A number of subscriptions, including two large ones, have been paid, and the total cash receipts are now $3,095.52. This is very encouraging, and no doubt other payments will be made shortly.

Helping the Children

ANNOUNCEMENT

To my friends and the general public of Peterborough:—

I beg to notify all my friends and the public generally that I have disposed of my drug business to Mr. W. J. Kent a gentleman whom I can recommend to the people of Peterborough as one fully capable to run a drug business in an up-to-date manner in every respect.

In making this announcement I beg to thank my many patrons for their kindnesses shown to me in the past 30 years and trust they will give the same confidence to my successor as they did to myself.

It affords me very great pleasure to feel that in retiring from the drug business I am placing that business in the hands of a gentleman who is in every respect worthy of the confidence and esteem of the citizens of Peterborough.

Signed,

H. S. MACDONALD

INTIMATION

With reference to the above I beg to announce to the people of Peterborough, that having purchased the business of Mr. H. S. Macdonald, I feel that my long and varied experience in every line of the business justifies me in saying to the people of Peterborough that my constant aim and desire will be to give them a service in the drug and sundry line second to none in the Province. Having ample capital I do not intend to be undersold and at all times will guarantee the quality and standard of my goods to be equal to the best procurable.

The stock being badly depleted I am purchasing new lines in every department and hope to have them ready for your inspection in the course of a week or two. Eighteen years experience as a prescription specialist will be a sufficient guarantee that this particular branch of the business which I intend to personally supervise will lead to the best results for both the medical man and his patient. "Uniformity of quality and drugs true to name will always prevail.

JOHNNY EVERS OUT OF WORLD'S SERIES

Cincinnati, Oct. 1.—Victory for the cubs to-day, boosting the leaders to within one game of the pennant, was earned at a fearful cost when Johnny Evers king of second basemen, fractured his right leg above the ankle while sliding home in the fifth inning. There was deep gloom to-night about the cubs quarters despite the 9 to 6 beating administered Cincinatti for the injury to Evers will in all probability keep the peerless Trojan out of the world's series.

Evers was first up in the fatal inning and drew a pass. Sheckard sacrificed him to second, and when Hofman singled the speedy John attempted to tally coming from third to the pan in a burst of speed and hurling himself for a slide. As he did so the bones of his right leg were heard to snap.

The slide attempted by Evers was unnecessary for he could have scored without taking chances or crippling himself, but when he "hit the dust" his spikes caught on the runaway doubling his right foot under him. The laceration of the flesh surrounding the break was so severe that the blood dripped to the ground as he was being taken off the field.

With Evers out of the line-up in the world's series it is more than likely Chance will send Zimmerman, his star utility man to the second bag. Zimmerman came to the cubs on the recommendation of Evers, and all season has been a valuable performer both in fielding and bitting, although he seems to play his strongest game at third base.

WINNERS IN COLLEGIATE ANNUAL ROAD RACES

Dark Horse Easily Won Senior Event But Junior Race Was Closely Contested—Field Day Sports for Friday

The first of the annual athletic competitions of the Collegiate Institute were held yesterday afternoon, when the senior and junior road races were pulled off. A win by a good margin marked the senior race, but the junior furnished a great finish between Murray Carlisle and Clare Stewart. The route was from the Institute crossing on McDonnel street to the boundary, north to Smith street, east to Water street, south to McDonnel and west to starting point.

The results were—

Junior Race—1, Carlisle; 2, Stewart; 3, McIntyre.

The jumping events will be held Wednesday afternoon, and the field day at Riverside Park on Friday. The events to be contested are—

1—100 yards, senior.

FIRST GAME ON OCT 17TH

Dates for World's Series Between Athletics and Cubs Announced—First Game in Philadelphia

Cincinnati, Oct. 3.—The games between the Chicago National League team and the Philadelphia Americans for the world's baseball championship will begin in Philadelphia on Monday, October 17. This decision was reached by the National Commission here to-day. The other games are scheduled as follows:—

Second game—Tuesday, Oct. 18, at Philadelphia.

Wednesday, Oct 19—Teams on railroad going to Chicago.

Third game—Thursday, Oct. 20, at Chicago.

Fourth game—Friday, Oct. 21, at Chicago.

Place of Seventh game if necessary.

Place of Seventh game (if necessary) to be decided by toss of coin.

WALTER JOHNSON CALLS ATHLETICS

Chicago, Oct. 4.—The Philadelphia Athletics will beat the Chicago Nationals in the world's championship series through the superiority of their pitchers, in the opinion of Walter F. Johnson, the star pitcher of the Washington team.

"I don't see how Chicago can average more than 2 1-2 runs to the game against such pitching as Manager Mack's men will offer," Johnson says. "The heavy-hitting Athletics should have no trouble in reaching the plate oftener than this. The Chicago team has the better defense, but defense wont score runs."

ZION FOOTBALL TEAM

There is Dinnie, Chittick, Heardy, Sage and me,
Though I'm not a good player, as you all can plainly see.
As for the other six fellows, I don't know much about,
But I think they can put "Number Six" to route.
There is Windrum with his spectacles he shoots the ball so far;
There are Roshoroughs on the right and left, their names begin with R;
There's Northey, he's our goal tender, no better can be found,
And Roger Trennum is a little fellow, but he's always on the bound.
And Albert Olver I near forgot, he comes last of all,
But never mind, he's a man for a' that, and he can certainly hit that ball.
So now I've sung my little song, that song of Z-i-o-n,
If you can find a team that can play, just come and try our men.—

Composed by J. Albert Ball, aged 13, a pupil of S.S. No. 11, Smith, on the occasion of a match being played between No. 6, Smith, and No. 11, Smith

Many Lives Lost In Gales.

London, Oct. 4.—Many lives are reported lost in terrific gales which have lashed the North Sea, hurling several wrecks on the coast in the past twenty-four hours.

The steamer Welhome foundered in the gale off Cromer and was sunk. The engineers were drowned and several of the stokers were reported missing. The others on board were saved after a long fight against the sea. Despatches to mercantile marine agencies yesterday reported that several other vessels, most of them fishing craft, are believed to have been lost.

Near 15,000 Mark.

Berlin, Oct. 4.—Assessment Commissioner Huehnergard has submitted the assessment returns for 1910, showing that Berlin has had one of the most prosperous years in its history. The population shows an increase of 38, making a total of 14,600, just 400 short of the necessary 15,000 before Berlin enters the ranks of cityhood. The total assessment amounts to $6,764,551, an increase of $325,493. There were 290 births recorded. Dogs number 188.

Has Concussion of Brain.

Guelph, Oct. 4.—A St. Andrew's College student named Lerge, a member of the Rugby team that was here on Saturday playing with the O. A. College team, was accidentally hurt during the game and sustained concussion of the brain. He was removed to the General Hospital, where the doctors have good hopes of his recovery, though they state that he will have to remain there under careful treatment for a week or more.

Poison In the Gravy.

Chatham, Oct. 4.—Five members of the family of T. S. Stegmann, together with a guest, were poisoned on Saturday night by eating gravy stiffened with flour in which rough on rats had been mixed. The flour had been placed on a pantry shelf. The cook did not know the poison was in it. All the victims will likely recover.

The Plague In Mauretius.

London, Oct. 4.—Ten deaths occurred from plague in Mauretius Island in the week ending Sept. 29, according to a cablegram received yesterday from the governor. There were twenty new cases developed in the same time. Mauretius is a British colonial possession in the Indian Ocean.

Dined With King Frederick.

Copenhagen, Oct. 4.—King Frederick received Brooker T. Washington, and conversed at length with him on the subject of the colored race yesterday. Last night he dined at the palace, meeting the members of the royal family, including the Queen-Mother, Alexandra.

To Commandeer Autos.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—A plan to make all private automobiles available for military service in time of necessity, is suggested by Major-Gen. F. D. Grant, who until July 1, commanded the Department of the Lakes, in his annual report for that Department, made public yesterday.

INDIAN RIVER NEWS

Special to the Review.

Indian River, Oct. 1.—Farmers are busy now making preparations for the approaching winter by bringing in potatoes, apples, etc.

Indian River Baptist church held a social a few weeks ago and it proved quite a success. Misses Bryce and MacFarlane, and Mr. and Miss Weir, all of Keene, very ably displayed their musical talents by assisting in the programme.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kidd, who have returned from their honeymoon, are residing at their home in the village here.

Messrs. Gib Elmhurst and Robert Hope left here on Friday night last to go travelling.

Mr. Macleod has resigned his services as pastor of Indian River Baptist church. He will be greatly missed by his many friends.

Misses Mabel and Mary Elmhurst attended prayer meeting at Villiers a few weeks ago.

Why Should I Carry Insurance?

BECAUSE

It is better to have it and not need it, than to need it and not have it.

Insurance Co's are paying out over one million dollars every day of the year to those who have met with misfortune, but who have sufficient foresight to have made provision against such mishaps by insurance.

An Important Feature in Your Stove is a Well Proportioned Flue

If, because your range is not satisfactory, you are advised to pull down your chimney and build a taller one, or put a stack on the one you have—or something else that involves expense and trouble—

Don't do it until you have examined your Range flues—where nine out of ten times the cause of failure lies.

Compare the flues of any other stove with those of the

HAPPY THOUGHT

If your flues are too large, the products of combustion are carried quickly past the point where they should be efficient. Result—an enormous fire to do little work.

Whereas—if the flues are undersize—the oven refuses to work and the natural result is dissatisfaction.

In a "Happy Thought" Range this feature has been thoroughly studied and mastered—there is no trouble of this kind whatsoever.

A FINE PROGRAM; THE TENNIS PRIZES

The A.Y.P.A. apron and tie social held last night in St. John's school was a great success, a large crowd assembling, thronging the rooms, which had been specially decorated by Mr. A. Kingscote. Mr. R. J. Devey, president, presided, supported by Rev. Canon Davidson, Rev. Chas. Carpenter, Mr. A. E. Coulthard, Mr. J. H. Burnham, Mr. H. Cluxton, Mr. Chas. Coleman, and the occasion was made an informal reception to Rev. and Mrs. Carpenter and family.

The rector, Messrs. Burnham and Cluxton voiced the kindly feelings of the parish to the new assistant, who received a hearty reception on rising to address the gathering.

A good programme was furnished, as follows—

Violin solo—"Reverie," Vieuxtemps, Master W. Wilson.

Song—"Down the Vale," Miss Hinchliffe.

Song—"The Violet Girl," Miss Quartermaine.

Song—"Lamb, Lamb, Lamb," Mr. Halpany.

Song—"Nightingale and the Rose," Mrs. Perks.

Violin solo—"Raffi Cavahna," Master W. Wilson.

Song—"Kilts," Mr. Barrett.

The violin solos were well rendered, and Master Wilson has, no doubt, a brilliant future before him. Mrs. Wilson played his accompaniments, the other numbers being accompanied by Mr. R. J. Devey.

Mr. Halpany brought down the house with his song, and all the performers were well received.

TENNIS PRIZES.

The tennis prizes were presented by the Rev. Canon Davidson, who eulogized the work of the tennis committee on running such a splendid club.

The winners of the prizes were—

Ladies' singles—Miss Lilian Dean.

Mixed doubles—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Richardson.

Gentlemen's singles—Mr. W. L. Richardson.

The prizes were handsome Roy Studio views of St. John's church, except that for the gents' singles, which was an engraved bronze tablet by Clark & Sons. Mr. W. L. Richardson has taken an active part, both in city and club tennis, and plays a hard game, and withal a gentlemanly one.

At the close refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. R. J. Devey, Miss Layfield and Miss Ilda Wesley, who, with other members of the committee, are to be heartily congratulated on the success of the evening. A verse of the National Anthem concluded the proceedings about 10.30 p.m.

BIG CROWD HEARD DR. LUTTRELL AT PARK ST. CHURCH

LAST NIGHT

Dr. Luttrell gave a most interesting address last night at the Park St. Baptist Church. He founded his remarks upon Luke 5, 1-11. He said there were four things he wished to call their attention to, the failure, the meeting of Jesus, the success, the overflow.

We have all made miserable failures at some time, and in a very pathetic way, Dr. Luttrell rehearsed some of his failures, the biggest of which was his non-acceptance of Christ till late in life.

"Oh the years in sin I've wasted, could I but recall them now." But when we meet Jesus and take him on board, we have success. Jesus turns the life that has failed into a life of success. The light that has failed into a beacon light of love upon the shores of time, to guide some lost mariner home. Then comes the overflowing, we call for the other fellow to help us, and the best fish to catch are unsaved men and women. Let us all go fishing.

Meeting to-night at 8 p.m. Everybody invited.

100,000 Received Papal Blessing.

Philadelphia, Oct. 3.—More than 100,000 persons in this city received the papal blessing from Cardinal Cincento Vanutelli, legate of Pope Pius X., when he and other high dignitaries of the Roman Catholic Church attended the dedication of the first Greek Catholic Ruthenian cathedral in the United States, and the laying of the corner-stone of the new edifice for St. Patrick's Church.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION WOULD BENEFIT PETERBOROUGH

THE HON. J. R. STRATTON.

In agricultural pursuits Mr. Stratton stated that there was no doubt but that the people were going ahead. A little closer attention to educational farming would assist materially, and while Peterborough was progressing, there was room for still further improvement. The city was not bonused to any great extent to manufacturing concerns. There was excellent water power, developed and undeveloped. The railway facilities were good, and as a shipping centre he did not know of any better in the country. In a few years, it would be reasonable to expect Peterborough to become an important industrial centre. He was satisfied that the establishment of technical schools, to be used both day and night, would be of great benefit. It had been difficult to get men with technical education, and sometimes it was necessary to reach out in order to get experts. In every direction there were men without the proper qualifications. In past years there had been a school in electrical drawing, taught by the late Mr. McCallum, and it had been well attended. Correspondence schools in his belief were not as good as those on the spot. In regard to the more economical use of public buildings with a view of making room for instruction Mr. Stratton thought that these might be put to better use. The chairman mentioned the Armories for example.

DAVID FORSYTH Esq., M. A.

Mr. Andrew McFarlane superintendent of the Wm. Hamilton Co. thought that the great trouble with the young was that they were not taught to think. They should be taught the reason. Why they do their work in such a way. Night schools had been started in the fall, but just as soon as the hockey season opened, the attendance at the classes waned. He had served an apprenticeship of five years and had received valuable instruction in the old Mechanics' Institute. Mr. McFarlane's evidence concluded the afternoon session at 5.30.

JAMES SIMPSON

EVENING SESSION.

Mr. H. D. Burnett, superintendent of the lamp department, at the C.G.E., said there were about 425 in his department, mostly girls. Several men divided the responsibility regarding the apparatus. If the girls had some lessons in industrial training they would be more valuable. He would like to see manual training started in the lower grades of the schools. Instruction in mathematics and physics would be of benefit to the young men of his department.

PUBLICITY COMMISSIONER.

Publicity Commissioner Dugan, who has only been a resident in the city for four months, was not examined to any length. He promised, at the request of the chairman to submit a report to the commission at a later date.

The remainder of the evidence will appear in to-morrow's issue of the Review.

CRITICS CONFOUNDED

Interested critics said a year ago: "Do not buy a Knight motor, it is an experiment—in a year or two it may be all right."

Partly this is true—the Knight engine will be improved. Quite frankly we venture to hope that each Knight engine and each Russell car we make will be better than the one before. We believe that our 1914 cars will be better than those of to-day.

But this is the fact that must be borne in mind :—

The Knight engine built in its first year, by the first firm building it in a commercial way, under official observation, put up a performance which no valve motor made by any firm after years of experience has been able to equal.

Is not this conclusive proof of Knight superiority?

Then consider that since that time the engineering skill of five of the leading engineering firms of the world have worked for the improvement of the motor, and have been aided by the experience of over 2,000 users.

To-day the Knight motor stands on its record in all quarters of the globe as a tested, tried-out product of superlative excellence.

In the 1911 Russell "38" you get the culmination of this work in engine design.

Public Meeting at City Council Chamber on Monday 17th When all in Attendance Will Form a Big Council to Discuss Street Paving

The City Council last night took the question up again, and looked at it from every angle. Motions and amendments, suggestions and opinions were piled up with the confusion of conflicting lawyers' arguments.

The mayor thought the street that petitioned first for a pavement should be served first, and on the original 60-40 per cent. basis.

Ald. Morgan and Ald. Graham favored straight frontage. However, the 60-40 basis had been passed at a previous meeting.

Ald. Butler liked the idea of a public meeting. This idea was finally triumphant, and a public meeting will be held two weeks from last night, when a general discussion will be invited.

The mayor thought that the council should look after the matter without so much ado as they were appointed by the people to look after the city's business.

But the public meeting was decided upon. Don't forget the date—two weeks from last night, in the City Council chambers. Everybody will have a chance to speak, so come early and bring your bed.

STILL A TRUE BLUE SOCIALIST

Jimmy Simpson still believes in Socialism. He told the Review so yesterday.

But as will be remembered, Jimmy was outlawed by the Socialists for not submitting to them the nature of the report and findings of the Royal Commission, which is dealing with technical education and industrial conditions.

"I still believe in the principles of Socialism," said Mr. Simpson to the press, "but will not be forced by any body to do anything I think is wrong or indiscret."

And there's where the matter stands. Jimmy is out and so are the Socialists, for the banned ex-member was an ardent supporter of the cause.

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID

BOARD OF WORKS REPORT

The following report of the Board of Works was submitted and adopted—

Council of the City of Peterborough.

1. We received a report from the city engineer regarding the proposed sidewalk on the south side of Smith street, from Bethune street to Stewart street, suggesting that a wooden sidewalk be placed there. We recommend that the matter be left with the city engineer with power to act.

2. We recommend that petitions for granolithic sidewalks as local improvements on the following streets be granted as they are sufficiently signed; Victoria avenue, north side, from Reid street to the west side of lot 19, plan 29; Dale avenue, south side, from Burnham street to Engleburn avenue; Engleburn avenue, north and west side, from Dale avenue to the south side of lot No. 18, plan 124.

3. We recommend that the recommendation of the city engineer that the sidewalks on Douro and Concession streets be built inside the trees be adopted.

4. We recommend that a complaint of E. Oliver regarding the sidewalk in front of No. 464 Sherbrooke street, be referred to the city engineer with power to act.

5. We received recommendations from the Board of Health that a sewer be constructed on Inverlea street from Water street east to the manhole opposite the laneway, and on Smith street from a point 160 feet west of George street to Benson street, and we recommend that these recommendations of the Board of Health be adopted.

6. In connection with the contract for the sewer work awarded to E. Conroy the time for completion was fixed at December 15th, 1910, and the clause regarding the engineer's power to extend the time for the completion of the work was amended by inserting a provision that the engineer may do so if unexpected difficulties are met with in the prosecution of the work.

7. We recommend that a request for an approach at No. 587 Dowrie street be referred to the city engineer with power to act.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Of Property Owned by Dr. Morrow Before Ackerman Siding Will be Built—Colonial Weaving Debentures

In connection with the second clause of the report of the Manufacturers' Committee, it was explained by Ald. Turner, whose property would be affected by the siding, that he and Mr. Ackerman had not come to terms on the purchase of the property. The clause was, therefore withheld on motion of Ald. Duncan and Ald. Turner until such time as the matter is adjusted.

The report follows:—

To the Council of the City of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Your Manufacturers' beg leave to report and recommend as follows:—

That the chairman of this committee and the City Solicitor obtain evidence that all the conditions of By-laws Nos. 1334 and 1482 have been complied with by the Colonial Weaving Co., and that if they have been complied with a cheque for $3,500 be issued to the company upon guarantees satisfactory to the City Solicitor, that the company will continue to comply with the terms of the by-laws being given, and that the debentures for this sum be issued, and that the Finance Committee be authorized to sell them.

That the City Solicitor be authorized to consent to an order from the Board of Railway Commissioners permitting a siding to be constructed by the Canadian Pacific Railway across Dalhousie street to the factory of B. F. Ackerman, Son & Co., on the usual terms.

That the assessment of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Co. be fixed at $25,000 for ten years for municipal purposes, including business assessment.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

G. A. GILLESPIE, Chairman.

COUNCIL COMMUNICATIONS

While the list of communications on file was not a heavy one discussions branched out in several directions last night at the meeting of the City Council and eleventh hour suggestions were the order. The result was it was almost 11 o'clock before the session adjourned.

TRAINS COLLIDE THIRTY-SEVEN WERE KILLED

Staunton, Ill., Oct. 5.—Thirty-seven ersons were killed and from 16 to 25 ajured in a collision on the Illinois raction System, two miles north of taunton l[illegible] yesterday. Three of he injured and possibly more will die. Reports from the wreck have been ifficult to obtain, and although some make the number of injured as high a 50, it is not believed it will run ver 25.

Only three of the dead have been dentified as yet. These are all promient officials of the traction system. They are: J. E. Berry, Springfield, Ill., land commissioner for the Illinois Traction System; W. N. Street, Staunton, Ill., assistant trainmaster; D. V. Black, Springfield, assistant superintendent of motive power and quipment.

The collision occurred between a local train northbound, and an excursion train, headed toward St. Louis, and loaded with passengers on their way to view the parade of the Veiled Prophets at St. Louis.

The accident, according to present nformation, was due entirely to the disregard of orders by the crew of he local, M. A. Leonard, conductor, and John Lierman of Staunton, motorman. The southbound train was running in two sections at Staunton. When the first section had passed, the crew of the local pulled out on the main track, heedless of the second section, and started north. At a sharp turn, called Dickerson's Curve, two miles north of Staunton, the two trains came together in a splintering crash.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION

Toronto, Oct. 5.—The Royal Commission on Industrial Training and Technical Education opened its meetings in Toronto yesterday in the council chamber at the City Hall. Serious business was not begun, however, until the evening, as the morning was devoted to a visit to Sir James Whitney and the Cabinet, while the afternoon was taken up with preliminaries and arrangements with the various bodies who are to present witnesses before the commission.

The commission has been touring the province and examining witnesses since the 30th of August, and they leave the city to-morrow to continue the tour. They will be back in the city to complete their examination about the 25th of October, when they will probably spend a week in Toronto, after which they have an itinerary which includes the chief western points from Port Arthur to Vancouver and Victoria. The commission will then proceed to western points in the United States, and will perhaps visit Toronto for a third time on their return journey.

PROFESSOR WILL FIGHT DISMISSAL

New York, Oct. 5.—Dr. Harry Thurston Peck, one of the foremost Latin scholars in the world, named as a defendant in a $100,000 breach of promise suit brought by Esther Quinn of Boston, was dismissed as "Anthon" professor of Latin languages and literature by the trustees of Columbia University yesterday. The dismissal grew directly out of Miss Quinn's suit and subsequent developments, which involved Dr. Peck in a controversy with Prof. Butler of the university.

Although the resolution of the trustees terminates Dr. Peck's connection with the university "forthwith," he announced last night that he would not relinquish his position without a legal fight.

AWARDED $2,700 FOR A HUSBAND

St. Catharines, Oct. 5.—Harold Hogan was yesterday afternoon found not guilty of indecently assaulting Mrs. Wright of Beamsville.

Mrs. Agnes Dawson, who sued the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway Co. for damages for the death of her husband, said to have been electrocuted while acting as lineman, was awarded $2,700, but the jury deducted $1,000, the proceeds of the accident policy which had been paid to the plaintiff.

Alex. Mackenzie of Port Dalhousie, who sued Edward Rooney of the same place for the seduction of his daughter, was given a verdict of $1,500.

CONSECRATION OF ST. PATRICK'S

New York, Oct. 5.—Cardinal Vannutelli, legate of Pope Pius X., who is to officiate at the consecration of St. Patrick's Cathedral here to-day, arrived in New York yesterday.

The dedication of the cathedral, which will occupy Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, will witness one of the most important Catholic gatherings, and one of the most elaborate Catholic ceremonies ever held in this city. In addition to Cardinal Vannutelli, there will be present Cardinals Logue and Gibbons, Archbishops Ryan, Ireland, Christie, Clennon, Quigley, Moeller, Farley, Blenk and O'Connell, together with two score bishops and other prominent dignitaries of the Catholic Church from every part of the United States.

REVOLT IN PORTUGAL IS BECOMING SERIOUS

Palace is Captured, According to the Reuter Agency, and Another Despatch Has it That Young King Manuel is a Prisoner in Hands of Republicans.

Paris, Oct. 5.—The Echo de Paris prints a wireless despatch from its correspondent, dated St. Marie de Lamar, Cape Blanco, 10.20 p.m., saying: "A revolution has broken out in Portugal. A great part of the army and all the navy have gone on the side of the republicans. At 2 o'clock this afternoon a bombardment of the royal palace began. All ingress to the city has been forbidden. It is impossible, therefore, to procure and forward details."

No confirmation of this has been received by the Foreign Office. Telegraphic communication with Portugal has been interrupted since 3 p.m.

The Portuguese legation has no knowledge of a revolution.

Palace Captured.

London, Oct. 5.—The Santander correspondent of The Reuter Telegram Co. confirms the report of a revolution in Portugal, and adds that the rebels have captured the palace.

The News in London.

London, Oct. 5.—According to The Daily Mail, a revolution broke out in Lisbon yesterday. The despatch adds that King Manuel is a prisoner, that street fighting has occurred, that warships are bombarding the palace, that all communication with the capital is cut off.

KING MANUEL OF PORTUGAL.

No Lisbon despatches have been received in London since yesterday afternoon, when the Eastern Telegraph Co. announced the receipt of one from its station at Carcavellos, 11 miles from Lisbon, stating that all communication with the capital was broken.

The Daily Mail prints its report of the revolution without a date line, and it may be based upon a wireless despatch, said to have been received by The Paris Matin, reading: "A revolution has broken out in Lisbon and warships are now bombarding the capital. The army and navy are supporting the revolutionaries."

None of the other London morning papers print Lisbon despatches or have any mention of a revolution.

A Portuguese merchant in London says that he received news of a plot in Lisbon on Monday. The price of Portuguese bonds dropped heavily on the Stock Exchange here yesterday.

Murder May Have Caused It.

London, Oct. 5.—The announcement of the death of Prof. Bombarda, the republican deputy and anti-clerical, who was shot by the army lieutenant, Rabelle, at Lisbon, Monday, may possibly have started a revolution. Bombarda was a distinguished educator. He recently was elected to the Portuguese Parliament in the republican interest. His assailant, according to some reports, was a madman.

Two prominent republicans, Senhors Lima and Relvas, were sent to London last August to assure the British authorities that the approaching establishment of a republic would make no difference in the friendly relations between Portugal and Great Britain, as the alliance was one of peoples, not dynasties.

Royal Standard Lowered.

Santander, Spain, Oct. 5.—A German steamer here has received a wireless from the steamer Cap Blanco of the same line, lying off Lisbon, stating that warships began bombarding the palace just as soon as the rising within the city began. Shortly after the revolutionists hauled down the royal standard over the palace and replaced it with the republican green and blue flag.

NEIGHBORS TESTIFY AGAINST PARKER IN MURDER CASE

Footprints Near the Spot Where Body of William Masters Was Found Corresponds Exactly With the Boots Parker Was Wearing.

Belleville, Oct. 5.—With calm demeanor, Robert Parker, 71 years old, faced Chief Justice Sir William Mulock all afternoon and evening, charged with slaying in cold blood a neighbor six years his senior. He listened to ten witnesses who gave strong evidence connecting him with the shooting of old William Masters on the morning of Friday, April 28, on a cross-road off the concession line between Belleville and Tweed. Neighbors and relatives of deceased testified that Parker had threatened to blow Masters' brains out, and it was stated by Provincial Detective Miller that the shoes Parker was wearing on the fatal morning fitted precisely into footprints near the spot where the dead man lay, and in the direction whence the shot seems to have been fired.

The crown has still 40 witnesses to be examined before the defence be- [illegible] White, K.C., is crown prosecutor and E. Gus Porter, K.C., M.P., is defending the accused.

Both Masters and Parker were trappers and also occupied part of their time gathering driftwood. This rivalry in business is suggested as a pretext for bad feeling. The story is that on Friday, April 8, Masters, who lived near Chapman's Corners, in Hungerford Township, left his house to proceed to a swamp for the purpose of hauling wood. Some time later his team returned home with part of a load and no driver. The family suspected something was wrong and made a search, which resulted in the old man's body being found on the roadway. A bullet had gone clear through his body.

Sarah Masters, widow, testified that there had been trouble between her husband and Parker, the latter on one occasion having threatened to blow her husband's brains out. William and John Masters, sons, detailed the finding of the body.

George Marsh, a neighbor, told of having seen tracks near where the body was found and a boot taken from the body did not fit the track. Witness traced the tracks for some distance.

Alex Wright, a neighbor, swore he had heard Parker make threats against the Masters' family, that he was always quarreling against one person or another, particularly the Masters.

The trial will likely take up two more days.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

It is stated that King George of Greece may abdicate shortly in favor of the Crown Prince.

The Standard Oil Co. has engaged in a war with the Shell Oil Co. of England and its allies.

James H. Maher of Montreal offers a strip of land four miles long as a gift to the city for boulevard purposes.

The death took place in Montreal of W. W. L. Chipman, first secretary and manager of the Montreal clearing house, from which he retired several years ago. He was at one time general manager of the Ontario Bank.

Mr. Bulyea has been reappointed Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta for another term, and Mr. T. D. Brown of Regina has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Saskatchewan, in succession to Lieutenant-Governor Forget.

The steamer Phoenix, owned by the George Hall Coal Co., Ogdensburg, N.Y., is in danger of breaking up, owing to the raging sea which sweeps over her as she lies exposed to gales on the rocks about six miles west of South Bay Point.

HIGH SCHOOLS SCHOOLS OF VICE

Rochester, Oct. 5.—"The fads and fancies being introduced into our public high schools under the guise of physical culture are turning them into schools of vice," declared E. C. Millspaugh, reading from a report of the educational committee at the closing session of the Genessee Methodist Conference here yesterday.

"Under the guise of physical exercises they are introducing dancing and other things, which, to the Methodist, are immoral. I know of several instances in Buffalo, where parents have taken their children from the public high schools and placed them in private schools, because of these so-called physical exercises," he continued.

Rev. Bejnamin Copeland of Buffalo, defended the public schools of that city, and, in the end, succeeded in having the objectionable phrase "school of vice," stricken from the report.

PROTECTION FOR CORRESPONDENTS

Berlin, Oct. 5.—The Imperial Chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, has sent a letter to the foreign correspondents' association, expressing regret at the Moabit incident, in which several correspondents were assaulted by the police, while watching the riots in the district, and informing the association that the matter is under investigation by the Minister of the Interior.

The police president, Herr Von Jagow, has also written to the association, reasserting his position that the laws make no provision to protect reporters in mobs.

ALBERT HOLMES ON TRIAL AT BROCKVILLE FOR MURDER

Slayer of Nathan Bolton in Edwardsburg Township Last April Will Not Deny Crime, But His Counsel is Setting up Plea of Insanity.

Brockville, Oct. 5.—The trial of Albert Holmes, accused of murdering Nathan Bolton, his cousin, on April 21 last, in the Township of Edwardsburg, opened yesterday afternoon before Chancelor Boyd. The grand jury after a short deliberation found a "true bill," and the hearing immediately proceeded.

There is no dispute as to the crime having been committed by Holmes. This is admitted by the defence, which will attempt to set up that the prisoner was not mentally responsible.

The murder was perpetrated, it will be remembered, while the two men were engaged carving the carcass of a hog on the premises of Holmes. Seizing an axe Holmes struck Bolton on the head, death ensuing shortly afterwards.

Only two witnesses were called by the prosecution, when an adjournment was made until this morning, the jury being left in charge of the sheriff.

Miss Ethel Holmes, daughter of the accused, was on the stand nearly two hours. She first discovered Bolton in a dying condition and told of her father's flight to the woods. The crown elicited the fact that the two men were alone in the shed, adjoining the house. There was no apparent dispute and her attention was directed to the tragedy by the groans of Bolton.

The defence attorney, J. A. Hutcheson, K.C., spent much time getting from the witness a mass of details of the strange actions of her father for many months preceding the crime. He was greatly worried over a wayward son, to whom Mrs. Holmes induced the accused to make over the homestead on the fourth concession, in the Township of Edwardsburg, much against his will. He brooded over the transaction, and, after removing to a new home, purchased from Bolton, he was more dissatisfied than ever, and on many occasions threatened to take his life.

Once he drank poison, and the night before the murder searched the house for a revolver, which Mrs. Holmes had hidden in a trunk. Miss Holmes testified that the prisoner and Bolton were on the best of terms.

Holmes when brought into court presented a sorry appearance. He wept bitterly throughout the session often sobbing aloud, burying his head in his hands. It is feared that he will completely collapse under the strain.

BOURASSA CRITICIZED

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—A strong protest against the proposal of Le Devoir, Henri Bourassa's paper, that the French-Canadians should do business only with French-Canadian banks was made here yesterday by Cvila S. Perrault, president of the Chambre de Commerce of Montreal, who stated that "these appeals to prejudice are the curse of this country, and should be stopped." He went on to say:

"I know my compatriots well enough to be able to state that the great majority of them will not take these Bourassa opinions seriously; and I am also convinced that my wide experience of the whole business community of Canada, that our English-speaking friends will pay no attention to these dreams.

"We, in Quebec Province, we business men of Montreal, realise that our prosperity is bound up with the prosperity of Canada as a whole."

RUSSIAN CRUELTIES ARE VIVIDLY TOLD

Winnipeg, Oct. 5.—Vivid accounts of cruelties practiced upon prisoners and political offenders by soldiers and police in Russia were given by witnesses for the defence in extradition case of Saava Federenko, before Chief Justice Mathers yesterday. Longinus Theador Gerus, formerly a member of the second Douma, who came from Chicago, and Isaac Hourwick, professor, linguist and lawyer, from New York, furnished the testimony.

The object of the defence is to show that Russia was in a state of revolution and under martial law at the time of the offences charged against Federenko, and that they would thus come under the head of political offences.

IMMIGRATION TO CANADA

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—For April, May and June, the first three months of the present fiscal year, the total immigration to Canada has been 130,331 persons, or an increase of 76 per cent. over the corresponding months of last year. Those arriving at ocean ports numbered 84,831, as compared with 41,212 in the corresponding months of 1909, or an increase of 106 per cent., while the immigration from the United States was 45,500, as against 32,924 for the same period last year, or an increase of 38 per cent.

For the month of June 1910, the total immigration was 34,560, as against 20,869 in June, 1909, or an increase of 66 per cent.

PROVOST HARRISON RETIRING

Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—Charles C Harrison, provost of the University of Pennsylvania, yesterday tendered his resignation to the board of trustees, to take effect at the end of the present year. Advancing age is given as the principal reason for his retirement. No one has been selected to succeed Mr. Harrison as the head of the great educational institution.

HE'S NO LONGER CHIEF OF POLICE

Prince Albert, Sask., Oct. 5.—B. J. McDermott, late of Renfrew, is no longer chief of police here. At Monday night's council meeting, the report of the police committee was read, stating that at their final meeting considerable evidence had been heard at the investigation. The resignation of the chief was accepted and he will be given a month's salary.

A MILLION DOLLAR FIRE

Montevideo, Uruguay, Oct. 5.—Fire swept the waterfront of this city yesterday, destroying the new grand docks, the customs house and vast quantities of European and American imports. Within a few hours the loss had reached $500,000, and it was estimated that the damage would total a figure between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000.

The flames spread towards the Maciel wharves and the fire-fighters practically gave up the attempt to save the customs houses, docks and imports, and turned their attention to saving the Maciel wharves.

Ships lying at the piers were menaced by the flames and it was feared that some of these would be consumed.

ARM DRAWN IN MACHINE

Belleville, Oct. 5.—Albert Sanson, while engaged at the Superior Portland Cement Co.'s plant, with a number of men in cementing a large new kiln in preparation to having it placed, was holding the rope by which they were revolving the kiln, when his sleeve accidentaly caught on the shaft, as the rope wrapped around it.

Owing to the speed of the shaft, Sanson's arm was drawn in, broken and severed at the shoulder, he being thrown completely over the shaft, and in the fall had his right ankle broken besides being very badly bruised and scratched. Very little hope is held out for his recovery.

Sanson's arm was left in the shaft, and was recovered after he had been removed to his home.

HE WANTS THE NAME CHANGED

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 5.—Delegates to the 43rd convention of Protestant Episcopal Church in America began to arrive here yesterday. The gathering, which is triennial, will open today.

Rev. Henry Anstice of New York, who has been assistant secretary of the church's house of deputies since 1877, indicated that there may be a discussion over changing the name of the church. A movement has been pushed in the organization for years to make the title "American Catholic Church."

The "open pulpit" question will also come up.

GIRL ACQUITTED OF MURDER

Pittsburg, Oct. 5.—Thirteen-year-old Katherine Botti, who admitted the killing of her godfather, Pasquale Volpe, by an axe and red hot poker, was cleared of a murder charge late yesterday by the verdict of a jury after an hour's deliberation. The defence had been based wholly upon the unwritten law. The girl is about to become a mother.

Teachers For Canada.

London, Oct. 5.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The League of Empire is endeavoring to find situations for London's unemployed teachers. Already many have gone to Canada, and it is expected more will go during the winter and spring. It suggested that a loan should be raised to promote the emigration of teachers generally.

Dead From Gasoline Explosion.

Woodstock, Oct. 5.—Mrs. Filmore is dead at her home in Embro, as the result of injuries received last Friday in an explosion of gasoline. Mrs. Filmore was cleaning clothes, when the gasoline exploded, terribly burning her hands, face and breast.

THE MISSIONARY

Probably the most widely representative church gathering ever held was the great Protestant Missionary Conference in Edinburgh during the past summer.—Kingston Standard.

We take our hats off to the missionary. They are men. No man can be a missionary and be a stiff. A man can be a minister and grind out his sermons as an editor grinds out his editorials, a few brilliant, a few logical, but many nothing—better a blank had been left. But when Protestant Christianity can bring together such a host of able, God-fearing men for such a purpose, it has a great and wonderful mission to perform, and that success in no mean degree will crown its efforts. We believe in the missionary. That is a work of the Divine, Catholic or Protestant, Jew or gentile, the effort of the missioner is to make men better.

PEEPING THROUGH THE KEYHOLE

B. J. McCormick, Welland's Industrial Commissioner, and Herschell L. Hatt, secretary of the Niagara District Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, are leaving next week to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Commercial Executives, which is to be held in Grand Rapids, Mich. This is an organization which fills a niche in the scheme of things that is all its own.

It is made up wholly of men occupying executive positions in such business undertakings as Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce, Booster Clubs, Municipal Advertisers, Manufacturers' Associations, and its general line of talk is boom. The big boosters from all over the United States will be foregathered, and if these two enterprising Wellanders do not come back with a vivid conception of brand new workable ideas.—Welland Telegraph.

Welland, gentlemen, never misses an opportunity. Opportunities cost money, but Welland spends money, and if the door of opportunity doesn't open she knocks loudly. If opportunity doesn't hear she puts her foot at the door, and if it doesn't wake up she puts her foot to the spot where she knocked and breaks it in.

Are we, in Peterborough, just peeping through the key hole?

THE REASON

San Francisco, Oct. 4.—That important progress in the search for the perpetrators of the Los Angeles Times disaster may be made to-day is indicated by a statement given out here by Earl Rogers, the Los Angeles attorney, who is in charge of the investigation of the explosion. Mr. Rogers said—

"We have important information in our possession."

The information that this gentleman has is this—the Los Angeles Times had something to say. It did not say "Mr Ebenezer is a man who dallied with the truth, etc." It said "Ebenezer is a liar and a thief."

Newspapers and MEN have got a mission in this age, as never before, and newspapers and MEN evade the mission with well turned sentences as never before. A man who stands four square to the wind, admitting his own faults but yet fighting for his principles, is sure to be hated. So is a newspaper, and so it ever will be. Have we a mission? We hope so.

THE TOWER OF PISA AND SIR WILFRID AND HIS PARTY

The entire civilized world is interested in the leaning tower of Pisa. According to reports in recent years the structure has been increasing its inclination and many who have been giving the matter study believe that unless modern engineering is brought to its rescue the famous tower will fall, as did the Campanile at Venice.—St. Thomas Times.

Why is Sir Wilfrid like the tower of Pisa? This is a question asked by our junior reporter. We cannot tell. But we will try. Sir Wilfrid once was straight. No one says he is crooked now. It's the Grit party. Will it fall. It looks like it. Modern machinery is going to rescue the tower from collapse. Will it be successful? Modern machinery, graft, contract, canals, buildings, PROMISES, PROMISES, PROMISES. Will that keep Sir Wilfred and his party from ruin? It's doubtful.

MR. PUGSLEY'S LATEST

Mr. Pugsley's suit for an accounting between himself and the New Brunswick Coal and Railway Company has been thrown out of court by Chief Justice Barker, of the Chancery Division. When Mr. Crocket and Mr. Crothers drew the attention of Parliament to the terrible condemnation meted out to Mr. Pugsley by the New Brunswick Royal Commission, which investigated the affairs of the scandalous company, Mr. Pugsley replied that he had entered this suit, and the Liberals were fain to accept this as a reply to Mr. Crocket's damning array of facts from the evidence elicited by the Royal Commission; though then the majority sank to twenty-seven. The suit of which Mr. Pugsley boasted on this occasion dragged slowly along, Mr. Pugsley himself interposing a number of obstacles; then one of his fellow directors and political friends, Mr. Charles R. C. Bruce, fyled a demurrer and the court has held that this is sustained. Thus the suit collapses. Thus Mr. Pugsley still faces the country with no explanation for the utter disappearance of $135,000 of the public money.

Here is the situation in brief—

1. The New Brunswick Coal and Railway Company was a creature of Mr. Pugsley's. He was the principal person connected with it. It was he who dictated every move which it made.

2. At the same time Mr. Pugsley was a member of the New Brunswick Government which supplied the money which the company spent. Mr. Pugsley, as a member of the Government, gave to Mr. Pugsley, as the moving spirit of the company, about $900,000 of the public money.

3. The company's affairs were shockingly mismanaged. No coal mining plant was erected, the railway which the company had to show for its expenditures was a very poor affair, and the Royal Commission which the New Brunswick Government appointed was utterly unable to discover what had been done with no less sum than $135,035.35. Mr. Pugsley is in the position of having used his position as Minister of the Crown to pay that money to a company in which he was active, and of being unable to show that it was properly expended. The reader knows what happens in ordinary commercial life to men who find themselves in this position.

4. On being taxed with this, Mr. Pugsley instituted a suit for an accounting. This suit was entered against his personal friends and political associates and followers, such as Mr. George McAvity.

5. One of these personal friends entered a demurrer and the court upheld it. Thus Mr. Pugsley tried to clear himself by a legal method which collapsed the moment it came before a court. And the person who took the action to prove that Mr. Pugsley had no right to clear himself in the manner he selected was his own codirector and political follower.

That is where Mr. Pugsley stands before the public.

THE BARN RAISING

An item in to-day's issue on a barn raising at Virgil draws to mind one of the most interesting events of farm life. As certainly as the autumn draws on, the harvesting having been completed, with the exception of perhaps corn, potatoes and late fruits, there is sure to be a barn raising in almost every community. The old structure that has withstood the wind and cruelty of the elements is too small or too feeble to hold the increased crop. Trees are felled, hauled to the clearing, hued and mortised, squared and drilled ready to fit into a specified position when the brawny sons of the neighborhood gather in, choose sides, and with a "go" begin to throw the posts, plates and girders together with true racing instinct. The crowning scene is the raising of the rafters. It is the speed employed in the work that determines which side will win, and be pronounced the victors.

This item is from the editorial page of the St. Catharines Journal. The Journal changed hands not long ago and has improved, brightened, freshened, sweetened under the magic of the new owner. But when he says the crowning scene is the raising of the rafters, our old Toronto newspaper friend is "abaft the furnel." The crowning scene is at the table afterwards, and the "downlet" scene is in the "balance all, swing your partners" in the afterglow of later evening. The rafters go up and the supper goes down, the fiddle comes out and the whole world's glad. Who knows the feeling? Yes, the whole world's glad, but what of the feeling of the man who owns the barn. He has saved. He has fattened his hogs and cattle. He has harvested. His collie dog is true. His wife and family are affectionate. His work-shop, the acres; his market, the world. In the hour his barn goes up—in that moment old Nebuchadnezzar was not more proud than he.

Who would not be a farmer.

IS THIS A FACT?

"We find drunken men in our church-yard and lying around the church. The law must be violated by someone, for these men are intoxicated." Rev. Geo. S. Clendinnen in yesterday's Journal.

The law governing the sale of intoxicants, forbids under heavy penalties, the sale of further drink to any person who is under the influence of alcohol.—Ottawa Journal.

When John Brown goes into an hotel and buys a drink, Bill, the bartender, hands it to him. He takes it and drinks it and in that transaction is as legal a proceeding as if he had gone into Soden's and bought a hymn book. Rats! Not at all. The church said "SELL," and they are selling. If the church was not playing in that awful and intense drama OF MEN'S SOULS in that continuous performance called "Churchanity," the saloons would be closed to-morrow. Meanwhile the church merely says;

"Remember man, as you pass by,
As you are now, so once was I;
As I am now, so you must be,
Prepare, therefore, to follow me.

This is a graveyard epitaph, but the question is a live one.

SIDE LIGHTS

A FRIEND WENT THERE.

Hush! A friend went then;
Went with a tear of sorrow in his eye;
A friend too old to lose, too young to die
Went at a hasty word of mine and hot;
Grieved in his inner heart and then—was not;
He lives and speaks with me, but naught beside,
My friend has died.

Hush! A friend passed on;
Passed on in silence, uncomplainingly;
Nor stopped to parry angry words with me;
Passed on, sore hurt, but keeping back his tears,
Passed on upon the stony way of years;
Well knowing me, but though he bows his head—
My friend is dead.

Hush! A friend is lost!
A sneer of mine, that cost be but a breath,
And fell my friend, sore wounded, to death;
Nor made he any cry to tell the pain
He felt—just went and came not back again;
And though to-day again our pathways crossed,
My friend is lost.

Hush! A friend was slain;
Just then—struck down in the broad light of day;
As fell a crime, I know, as ever lay
At murderer's door—it cost me but a jeer
At him who craved but sympathy—a tear
I shed and bid him come to me in vain—
My friend was slain.

J. W. FOLEY.

In Little Things As Well As Big

For example, let us take the OVEN.

The oven bottom of all sizes is 20 inches deep. This is the actual depth of the oven floor, the part of the oven that is of the most value to you. We do not include an inch or two in the bottom of the oven door.

Measure the oven bottom of other ranges—especially those with swing doors—and see if the ovens come up to this specification

"Peerless Peninsular" is a big, honestly built range—full size—with all the new conveniences of the most expensive steel ranges—and with the durability of cast-iron which is superior to steel in lasting qualities.

"HARMONY", "CONSTANT" and "ADANAC" have the same quality, workmanship and construction as the "Peerless", the difference is only in the outer appearance.

Let us show you all four styles—or write for illustrated booklet. 111

The Round-Up

A Romance of Arizona

Novelized From Edmund Day's Melodrama

By JOHN MURRAY and MILLS MILLER

Copyright, 1908, by C. W. Dillingham Co.

an' they sure has to run. I've had an itchin' in my heart fer you ever since I first knowed you. You come from Kentucky. Well, I was kinder borned up that way myself, in Boone county; an' that sorter makes—well, if it did, what I want to know is"—

"Will you be my"—

"Can I be your"— he began again.

Angry at himself, he said under his breath, "I'll never get this thing out of my system." In his earnestness he doubled up his fist and shook it behind the girl's back. Suddenly she turned and found his clinched hand directly under her nose. She started back in dismay.

"Excuse me," humbly apologized Slim. "I didn't mean fer to do that, ma'am—'deedy, I didn't. I was only—that's—well, I reckon I'm a little bit"—

Slim looked directly at the girl for the first time. She was trying to restrain her hearty laughter. Slim's face broadened in a grin. "You're a mighty fine piece of work, you are, an' I've got an awful yearnin' to butt into your family."

Polly was greatly moved by Slim's sincerity. "Don't, please don't!" she pleaded. "Why, I've known all along that you love me, but"—

"Let him alone!" shouted Slim excitedly.

"But what?" he asked when she hesitated.

"I've always liked you real well, an' I've been glad that you liked me. I don't want to lose your friendship, though—an', oh, please forgive me, please do!" Polly was very repentant, showing it by the tones of her voice and in her eyes.

Slim was puzzled at first. Then it came to him that the girl had refused to marry him. "Oh, I 'low you-all ain't a-goin' to say you love me, then!"

"I don't believe I am." Polly smiled through her tears.

Slim paused, as if steadying himself to meet the full force of the blow.

"Mebbe it's along of my red hair?"

"It is red, isn't it?" Polly smiled kindly.

Slim ran his fingers through his locks and then looked at his fingers, as if expecting the color would come off on his hands. "Tain't blue," he said.

Another thought came to him. "Freckles?" he asked laconically.

Polly only shook her head.

"But it isn't freckles," replied the girl.

Slim looked at his hands and feet. "Maybe it's fat?" he hazarded. "Oh, I know I'm too fat! It beats all how I do keep fat."

Slim looked into his hat and sighed. "Well, I suppose we don't get married this year, do we?"

"No, Slim," said Polly gently.

"Nor any other year to come?" Slim was still hopeful.

"That's the way it looks now."

Slim put on his hat and tried to walk jauntily to the fire, whistling a bit of a tune. The effort was a sad failure. "Here's where I get off. I'm in sure bad luck. Somebody must have put a copper on me when I was born. I 'low I gotter be movin'."

"You won't hate me, will you, Slim?"

The sheriff took the girl's hands in his and kissed them. "Hate you?" he almost shouted. "Why, I couldn't learn to do that—no, siree—not in a thousand years."

Polly slapped Slim on the back. "I'm glad of that," she cried. "Brace up. You'll get a good wife some day. There's lot of good fish in the sea."

Slim glanced at her ruefully. "I don't feel much like goin' fishin' jest now. Would you mind tellin' me if I lose out on this deal along of somebody else a-holdin' all the cards?" Slim waited for Polly's answer.

"Why, don't you know?"

"No," he said simply.

"But he told me"—

"Who is it?" he insisted.

"No; if you don't know his name I won't tell you," decided Polly.

"Mebbe it's jest as well, too," assented Slim. "I don't think I'd feel any too friendly toward him."

Slim moved toward the wagon. The action was purely involuntary, but it frightened Polly so much that she cried aloud.

Slim grasped at once the reason for her fear. "Is the feller in that wagon?" he shouted.

"You wouldn't do him any harm, would you?" cried Polly.

"Is he in that wagon?" Slim repeated angrily.

Polly caught hold of his arm.

"What's he hidin' for?" he demanded.

Slim pulled his gun and covered the opening. "Come out, you coward!" he shouted. Polly caught Slim by the right wrist so he could not fire.

Bud leaped from the wagon, drawing his gun as he did so. "You shan't call me a coward!" he shouted to Slim.

Polly ran behind Bud and, reaching her arms about his waist, held down his hands, depressing the muzzle of his revolver. Slim danced up and down in the excitement with his revolver in his hand. Polly kept calling on both of the men not to shoot.

"Let him alone!" shouted Slim excitedly. "Let him alone, Miss Polly. He's only four flushin', an' I ain't gun shy."

"Now, look here, sonny," he cried to Bud, "if that squirt gun of yours goes off an' hits me an' I find it out—well, I reckon I'll have to spank you."

Bud tried to break away from Polly, begging her to "let go."

The girl laid her hands on his shoulder, gazing pleadingly into his flushed face. "Don't, don't!" she cried. "It's all right. Slim knows all about it. He knows I love you, an' he wouldn't hurt any one that I love. Would you, Slim?"

Shoving his gun back into the holster, Slim grinned and said, "I reckon I wouldn't."

"We've been engaged fer ever so long now, waitin' fer Bud to get rich, an' now—an' now it's come." Her face radiated her happiness. Bud showed his alarm, motioning her to be silent, but Polly rattled on, "Bud's been savin' an' savin' till he's got over a thousand dollars, an'"— Slim could not contain his indignation at the deception practiced on the girl by the boy.

"You derned thief!" he shouted. Then he stopped, plainly showing his annoyance at his lack of self repression.

Bud's hand dropped to his gun. "You"— he began, but Polly stopped him with a gesture, looking from one to the other of the men, dazed and frightened.

"A thief? Bud a thief? What does it mean? Tell me!" she gasped. Turning to Bud, she demanded, "Bud, you heard what he said?"

Dropping his head, fearing to look at either of them, he muttered sullenly, "He lied."

Slim checked his first betrayal of his anger and kept himself well in hand.

Simply and sadly Slim answered: "I didn't. I reckon as how I'm some jealous, an'—an'—I lied."

His voice dropped, and he turned aside, stepping away from the young couple.

Polly was still in doubt. Slim's actions were so strange. It was not like this big hearted, brave sheriff to accuse a man of stealing without being sure of his charges. Then Slim's accusing himself of lying was entirely at variance with his character. "I'm sorry," she said. "Please forgive me. It was all my fault. I didn't know that you"—

Slim held up his hand to silence her.

"Wouldn't you mind leavin' us together a bit?" he requested. In answer to Polly's frightened glance he continued: "There ain't goin' to be no trouble, only—me an' him's got a little business to talk over. Ain't we, Bud, eh?"

Slim led Polly toward the corral, glancing at Bud over his shoulder with a reassuring smile. "Just you step out yonder a bit an' wait," he said to Polly.

"Now, you won't"—

"Can't you trust me any more?" he asked sincerely.

Grasping him by the hand, she looked him fairly and fearlessly in the eyes, saying: "I do trust you. I trust you both."

As the girl strode out of earshot Slim absentmindedly kept shaking the hand she had held. Awakening suddenly to the fact that his hand was empty, he looked at it curiously and sighed. Turning quickly, he slapped his hat on his head, hitched up his chaps and stepped up to Bud, who stood with a sneer on his lips.

"So you're the man that Polly loves," he said. "She's a good girl, an' she loves a thief."

Bud turned on him fiercely, drawing his gun. "Take care!" he warned.

"You won't shoot. If you meant to shoot you'd 'a' done it long ago, when you pulled your gun!" exclaimed Slim coolly.

Slim threw up his hands to show he was not afraid of the boy. "Go ahead. Squeeze your hardware. I reckon I'm big enough to kill," he said.

Then he took Bud's hand and gently slid the revolver back into the holster. The action broke down Bud's bravado. All barriers fell before the simple action. "It's all up with me," he said brokenly.

Slim sympathized with the boy in his trouble.

"Buck he told me. Buck he 'lowed you had your share of that money," he explained.

To be continued.

CHILD'S DRESS.

All Seams Allowed.

The little dress illustrated on this page is very simple and practical. The blouse is plain front and back at the upper part and the slight fullness at the waist is gathered into a belt. If the neck is left high, a turnover collar is used as a finish, or it may be cut out in the square Dutch style. The sleeves are in bishop style, finished at the wrist with a band. The skirt is a straight gathered one and closes at the back like the waist. Waist and skirt are joined by a straight belt. This dress may be made of chambray, gingham or other wash goods, or the soft woolens may be used to advantage; any of these may be trimmed with contrasting material. The pattern (5140) is cut in sizes 3 to 11 years. To make the dress in the medium size will require 3⅝ yards of material 27 inches wide, 2⅝ yards 36 inches wide or 2 yards 44 inches wide, with ⅜ yard of contrasting material 27 inches wide.

A TALE OF TWO CITIES.

The manner in which the metropolis of the western hemisphere got its name is a matter that has been dealt with by many able chroniclers. The most trustworthy and at the same time the most plausible story is as follows:

After the Dutch had ceased to be dominant in the city a prominent member of one of the English families that had gained influence in the rapidly growing young community one day traded oxen with a neighbor and on his way home stopped in front of a tavern somewhere on what is now lower Broadway. As he did so several of the men who were in the habit of frequenting the place assembled in the front yard, and one of them cried out:

"Hello! Those ain't the oxen you used to have."

"No," replied the owner of the cattle. "I've got a new yoke."

"New yoke" at once became a common phrase and was soon adopted as the name of the city. It was an easy step from that to "New Yawk," the present name of the place.

The naming of Chicago came about in a curious way. Shortly after the building of the first few huts near the banks of the river one of John Kinzie's boys caught two crows, a male and a female, which he tamed and taught to speak the English language. The Kinzies had at that time a young Indian maiden, who did plain sewing and other household duties, and she became very fond of the pet crows. One day the female crow managed somehow to get out of the cage in which the birds were kept and at once flew away. The Indian girl chanced to see the crow make its escape, and, greatly excited, she rushed into the dining room, where the various members of the family were waiting for the finger bowls. Waving her arms up and down as if they had been wings, the young squaw cried:

"She caw go!"

Shecawgo was at once adopted as the name of the town and remains so to this day, the spelling only having been changed.—Chicago Record-Herald.

EVIDENCE TO COMMISSION

Below will be found the evidence taken by the technical commission, which was unavoidably left out of yesterday's issue of the Review;

A PATTERNMAKER.

Mr. Raymond Tisdale, a patternmaker at the Peterborough Lock Co., said there were two patternmakers. He served an apprenticeship for four years in learning his trade. In order to learn to read drawings he took a mechanical drawing course in the correspondence school, and got a lot of good out of it. If he had been able to take a local course the benefit would have been greater. Night schools, he believed, would make better workmen. He belonged to the Patternmakers' Union. Technical education, he thought, would be a good thing. It would be more or less permanent in value.

A MOULDER.

Hugh Robertson, a moulder, said he worked in Wm. Hamilton's and served a regular apprenticeship of four years. This was 18 years ago. He took a course in mechanical drawing in Mechanics Institute. When he left school he had passed the entrance. The course had been of benefit to him. He was not acquainted with the manner in which manual training was carried out here. There were four apprentices at the shop and they were instructed by the other men. From his own experience he found arithmetic and drawing to be most valuable. He believed members of the trade would take advantage of technical schools if started. As far as he knew the union would be in favor of technical education. There was a rule in unions allowing one apprentice to six journeymen. His attitude towards the Colelgiate Institute was that it was good for those who had the opportunity, but there were some studies unnecessary for the workmen. He did not consider the envoirnment of a moulding shop conducive to the welfare of the man. He believed moulders would have a better chance if their environment was better.

S. J. ANGLESEY

He had not served an apprenticeship in learning the trade of carpenter and millright. He had picked both up by practice and experience. He had never gone to night school or taken a correspondence course. If he had the opportunity to take a systematic course in different studies he would. He felt sure he would be greatly benefited. The unions, he knew to be in favor of technical education. A course which would give instructions in hanging doors, fitting windows, and building roofs he felt would be of benefit to carpenters.

D. W. DUMBLE.

The public school pupils now were 1,950 in number, and there was no lacking for accommodation. Compulsory attendance was enforced. The class who did not go to school were from poor homes, and where children were not well brought up. Manual training was taught with good results. Domestic science was also taught, and it too was satisfactory. The question of night schools had been brought up, but no headway had been made. As to the Collegiate, he thought that if there were fewer subjects and more time spent on a certain number the results would be more satisfactory. As to medical examination, he felt it was not in justice to the pupils to [illegible]. A child was handicapped sometimes in his or her studies by ailments which a medical examination would bring out.

INSPECTOR MOWAT

He did not think pupils were kept back in their other work by taking manual training, and domestic science courses. He thought he was safe in saying that a sufficient number of teachers could be secured in the event of night schools being introduced. many pupils who leave school have not passed the entrance. This, he thought, was a serious problem. Fifteen years should, he believed, be the legal age for children leaving school. The manual training course was compulsory, and no cases of breaches of discipline had come before him. At the present time public school pupils had one year at manual training. He felt two years were preferable.

PRINCIPAL KENNER.

Principal Kenner said he had been teaching in Peterborough for seventeen years. The accommodation at present in the Collegiate was ample. There was very little manual training taught. The general course curriculum was overcrowded. For the young man entering industrial life there was no special course. The $20 fee stopped pupils from the surrounding country. Latin and Greek, he held, were of no importance to those who are to become teachers in elementary schools.

Latin and Greek was good for the general leadership of the country, but for the young people, technical education with manual training and nature study was preferable to Latin and Greek.

PRINCIPAL WALKER.

There were 130 students taking a course at the Normal School at present. Amongst his replies Mr. Walker said that pupils coming from public schools were better prepared in drawing. There was a general weakness in arithmetic but this might be attributed to the fact of there being so many lady students. They as a rule were weak in arithmetic. The writing he believed, was as good as that of twenty years ago and the general equipment was better.

MR. H. B. COWAN.

Mr. H. B. Cowan publisher of Farm and Dairy Canadian Horticulturist and Canadian Florist said that in a recent farm competition 51 farms won prizes. In the competition fancy farming was discouraged. Comparing two of the finalists with two of low grade the former would produce twice as much and the revenue would be doubled. It was largely a matter of individuality in the farmer in order to raise the standard of the farm. After the competition was over the farmers had not slackened up but had continued to maintain the high standard reached. Eastern farming had improved but there was room for still further improvement.

At the conclusion of Mr. Cowan's evidence the session adjourned.

CHOICE FURS

Direct From Trapper to Wearer

This year marks a new epoch in the history of this, the largest and most reliable Fur House in Central Ontario. An ever increasing demand for Furs from all points in Canada has compelled us to open a new store in Regina, the capital city of Saskatchewan.

The increase output of our Factory incident to this expansion of business enaables us to lower the cost of highest class Furs to a figure never before realized.

We wish particularly to emphasize the fact that we manufacture all Fur articles we have on sale, under the direct supervision of practical Furriers, members of our firm. This insures the highest degree of perfection in workmanship and fit and also enables us to guarantee our Furs to be exactly as represented.

Comparison is always a help in forming an opinion of the real value of any Fur garment, therefore we extend an invitation to all interested purchasers to carefully examine our stock before buying.

INTERESTING ADDRESS AT GARRISON SERGEANTS MESS

Sergeant R. Cottrell was in the chair at the Garrison Sergeants' Mess last night. The business of the month was transacted and some money was voted for the Chimes Fund. The feature of the evening was an address by Mr. Walford Hatton, formerly Sergeant in the Regiment, describing his trip to England with the Q. O. R. Mr. Hatton gave many personal incidents of the trip and his impressions of English life and military experiences and routine, as they came before him. He said that perhaps about eighty per cent of the men seemed to have some connection with Peterboro and to be interested in the city.

Sergeant Mayor Brittain was popular with all ranks and had remained behind for two weeks on leave. Mr. Hatton's informal address had a military ring about it, and he is evidently benefited by his remarkable and strenuous experiences.

At the conclusion of his address, a vote of thanks was enthusiastically passed to him, and the hope expressed that he might be able to address our men on some future occasion. During the address, the Chaplain of the regiment came in and at its conclusion the chairman presented to him the sum voted for the chimes. Chaplain Davidson expressed his deep gratitude for the kind gift to the fund and his desire to do all possible to forward the interest of the Mess during the coming winter.

Major Clegg and Major Bennett were visitors during the evening.

MILITARY MEN GIVE MONEY

A generous gift was received for the chimes fund from the non-commissioned officers of the 57th Regiment, amounting to $10, and gives a military flavor to the project. The men of the Peterborough Canoe Co. sent in yesterday $6.20 collected by themselves, stating that financial claims, owing to illness, prevented them making the sum larger, as they would have desired. This brings the total subscription list at noon to-day to $4,613.67.

BETHANY TABERNACLE

The meetings in the Tabernacle are being continued with much blessing. The message last evening was heart searching and powerful, the text being taken from II. Timothy 2;19-21, "The foundation of God standeth sure; let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity. If a man purge himself from these he shall be a vessel unto honor, sanctified and meet for the Master's use, and prepared unto every good work."

The subject this evening will be, "The Will of God, Your Sanctification."

MINOR GOT WHISKEY

Hotel Proprietor Fined $10 and Costs To-day

In a charge against Mr. Montgomery at the police court this morning, Alexander Davis swore that on last Monday he purchased a 40 cent flask from the bartender, James Ward.

He was asked his age by the bartender, and answered that he was 22 years of age. He had purchased liquor at the bar before, and so far as he could remember, had not been asked his age.

Both bartenders were called, and each admitted that from his appearance they would take him to be of age. Both had on various occasions asked him his age, and he had replied to the effect that he was not a minor.

His Worship held that the bartenders had made a mistake in serving the youth, who is only eighteen, with liquor when they believed him to be under age. The charge was, however, against the proprietor, but had it been against the bartenders, the fine would be heavier.

Mr. Montgomery was fined $10 with $3.50 costs.

MARRIED

GRAHAM—McILMOYLE—On Tuesday, Oct. 4th, at the Murray Street Church parsonage, by Rev. J. R. Webb, Mr. Ernest Graham of Peterborough and Miss Hannah McIlmoyle of Lakefield.

ELLIOT'S

Art is akin to poetry and the artistic lines upon which our coats are cut (they are all cut by skilled professionals), show the graceful lines and individualism that marks the careful dresser.

We have coats running all the way from $5.00 to $30.00. But it is the $15.00, $18.00 and $20.00 coats we want to draw your attention to just now. In these qualities we have something particularly nice. We would like to show you styles that will appeal at once to your judgment when you see them.

In these qualities we can show you many styles, and often just one of a style so that you won't see the same patterns again.

Come to-day and look them over. It will be a pleasure to us to show them to you.

BUSINESS PUT THROUGH BY BOARD OF EDUCATION

Mr. A. F. Hagerman of North Bay, Appointed Manual Training Instructor --Mr. W. J. Dunlop Resigns to go to Toronto to Accept Position in University Schools--Three Appointments to Public Library Board.

There were present at the monthly meeting of the Board of Education Messrs. B. F. Ackerman, John Crane, T. H. Adams, D. W. Dumble, Dr. Morrison, Dr. Burnham and Col. Miller. On motion Mr. B. F. Ackerman took the chair in the absence of Mr. L. M. Hayes, K.C.

The business transacted was as follows:

COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS.

To the Chairman and members of the Board of Education;

Gentlemen,—Your Committee on Appointments beg to report and recommend as follows;

1. That Mr. A. F. Hagerman, of North Bay be appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. A. N. Scarrow, Inspector of Manual Training, at the minimum salary of $650, with increase according to schedule, and duties to start October 3rd, 1910. This appointment is made subject to the approval of the Education Department, which has already been obtained. Mr. Hagerman is a comparatively young man, he was formerly instructor in the Normal school at North Bay, and after careful enquiries your committee are of the opinion that he is well fitted to fill the vacancy.

2. That Miss Letitia J. Elliott, of Peterborough, be appointed on the Public school staff to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Sloan at the minimum salary of $450, with increase according to schedule, and duties to start 3rd January, 1911, subject to rules and regulations of the Board. Miss Elliott is the holder of a second-class professional and a first-class non-professional certificate, and is highly recommended as an excellent teacher.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. HILL,
Chairman,
Adopted.

PRINCIPAL DUNLOP RESIGNS.

The resignation of Mr. W. J. Dunlop as principal of the Queen Alexandra School to take effect Nov. 1st, was received.

Mr. Dunlop has received the appointment of Instructor in the University Schools of Toronto.

On motion the resignation was accepted and the matter of appointing another teacher left in the hands of the Committee on Appointments with power to act. The secretary and chairman were authorized to send a letter of appreciation to Mr. Dunlop for his work while on the staff of the Board who deeply regret that he is to leave his position here.

PUBLIC LIBRARY BOARD.

At a committee meeting before the regular meeting Mr. Hazen Ritchie, electric engineer at the Canadian General Electric Co.; Mr. Duncan Walker Principal of the Normal School and Mr. A. Mowat Public School Inspector were appointed to the Board of the new Public Library Mr. Ritchie's appointment to last till February next Mr. Walker's till February, 1912 and Mr. Mowat till February, 1913.

A NEW CLAUSE.

In future teachers sending in resignations must give two months' notice and date their resignations on the last day of March or June or December.

Mr. Dumble pointed out that in some cases teachers had left the Board in an awkward position through resigning. With this new clause which will be inserted in the agreement the Board will have an opportunity of securing another teacher before school commences again and it will do away with new teachers coming in during the term.

MORE TYPEWRITERS.

Mr. John Crane brought up the matter of the commercial equipment at the Collegiate. At present there were four good typewriters and two old ones. This number was not sufficient. He suggested that the two old ones be replaced by four new ones.

The Board felt that there should be three or four different kinds of typewriters. It was not advisable to have all of the same make.

The Supervision Committee will handle the matter.

WHERE ARE THEY AT.

Dr. Morrison wanted to know what position the members of the Board were in in regard to election next year. There was some uncertainty. The Council had passed a by-law which called for the election of aldermen by the ward system. "Were the members of the Board of Education included in this?" he asked.

Mr. Hill said he did not think so. He had understood from the city clerk that the by-law didn't effect the Board.

However the secretary was instructed to find out for sure.

The Car Noted for its Great Power, Flexibility, Quietness and Endurance

Russell-Knight 1911 Models: 22, 26 and 38 H.P.

CRITICS CONFOUNDED

Interested critics said a year ago: "Do not buy a Knight motor, it is an experiment—in a year or two it may be all right."

Partly this is true—the Knight engine will be improved. Quite frankly we venture to hope that each Knight engine and each Russell car we make will be better than the one before. We believe that our 1914 cars will be better than those of to-day.

But this is the fact that must be borne in mind :—

The Knight engine built in its first year, by the first firm building it in a commercial way, under official observation, put up a performance which no valve motor made by any firm after years of experience has been able to equal.

Is not this conclusive proof of Knight superiority?

Then consider that since that time the engineering skill of five of the leading engineering firms of the world have worked for the improvement of the motor, and have been aided by the experience of over 2,000 users.

To-day the Knight motor stands on its record in all quarters of the globe as a tested, tried-out product of superlative excellence.

In the 1911 Russell "38" you get the culmination of this work in engine design.

Send your name to receive new catalogue of Russell 1911 models with prices."

Baeza, Spain, Oct. 5.—A bomb exploded under a window of the mayor's office, badly damaging the Town Hall yesterday. There were no casualties.

Brothers' Strange Meeting.

The long arm of coincidence was never more in evidence than in the case of a Leicester man, who has just returned to England from Australia, after twenty years' residence there. On the same vessel was a man of the same surname, but, as the two traveled in different classes, it was not till confusion in the delivery of letters at a port of call brought them face to face that they found they were brothers. The second brother had been in Australia thirty-one years, and they had not met nor communicated with each other for that period.

Largest Ships Tie Up at New Orleans.

New Orleans is the only city in the United States at which battleships tie up at the wharf. The battleship Mississippi was the first to do so, tying up at the Jackson avenue wharf on her trip up the Mississippi river to Natchez. The battleship Wisconsin followed her example. Many cruisers have done the same thing, including the German cruiser Bremen. This simply illustrates the depth of the harbor. Any ship afloat can come into New Orleans when the southwest pass is thrown open to navigation. Every ship, with a few exceptions, can come in now through south pass, in which is maintained an average depth of thirty-five feet. Southwest pass will have forty-five feet and now nears completion. The harbor averages a hundred feet in depth at low water.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

An Earl In Musical Comedy.

The Earl of Yarmouth, who recently appeared, under his stage name of "Eric Hope," in "The Pigeon House," a musical comedy of which he is the author, has had a good deal of stage experience. Some years ago he created a sensation by not only singing and acting in public, but also by appearing in the role of a skirt-dancer. He is said to have twirled his skirts with a skill and dexterity worthy of Loie Fuller herself. The earl is the eldest son of the Marquess of Hertford, and married, in 1903, a sister of Harry Thaw. It may be remembered that this marriage was dissolved two years ago.

Why Should I Carry Insurance?

BECAUSE

It is better to have it and not need it, than to need it and not have it.

Insurance Co's are paying out over one million dollars every day of the year to those who have met with misfortune, but who have sufficient foresight to have made provision against such mishaps by insurance.

You cannot find stronger, safer, better or more liberal companies in their settlements than those we represent for fire, life, accident, plate glass, live stock, marine or automobile, or other insurance.

"The Beer With a Reputation"

"The Light Beer in the Light Bottle"

ROSE TO THE OCCASION.

It Was the Chance of a Lifetime, and She Made the Most of It.

The burglar hesitated. Back of him was a sheer drop of twenty-five feet to the ground. In front of him was a determined woman, grasping in her hand a huge revolver. She covered him steadily.

"I won't shoot," she said, "if you will remain still."

She advanced upon him and, poking the muzzle of the gun in his face, reached into his pocket and pulled out his revolver.

"Come in."

The burglar obediently stepped inside the room. All his courage was gone.

"Sit down," said the woman.

He sat down.

She got a huge ball of heavy cord from her bureau and spent the next twenty minutes in tying him up.

Then she pointed out of the window. "Is that your wagon out there behind the barn?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"Thought you would carry away my silver in it?"

"Yes, ma'am."

The woman called her husband, who had been hiding behind the baby's crib in the next room.

"Here, John," she said, "take some of this furniture out."

John came in and got to work. The burglar watched with curious eyes. Suddenly his face blanched. He looked out of the window and saw in the light of the moon what John was carrying.

"What are you doing to me?" he asked.

The woman began cutting his cords.

"I'm going to load you up with all of the old eyesores that we have had in the house for these many years," she said merrily—"all the furniture presented to us at Christmas by kind hearted relatives, all the prizes we have taken at card parties, all the family portraits—everything that we have been simply dying to get rid of."—Life.

CURE FOR LOSS OF MEMORY.

Case of an American Woman Married Abroad and an Accent.

"Nothing disgusts me more," said a woman who goes abroad every summer, "than to meet in Europe Americans who seem to be ashamed of their own language. I have often come across them, but a woman I met in Carlsbad last year took the palm.

"She was introduced to me as the Countess Komoffsky or some name that sounded like that. She married a Russian or a Pole about three years before, and so far as I can gather she had hardly been any nearer Europe than a New York table d'hote before that time. She looked American, but her English was all broken into bits. She did not even say 'the,' but pronounced it 'za.' She had great difficulty in recollecting phrases, and the result at times was a lot of French.

"Next morning I was breakfasting in the Kaiserpark with a party of shawl wrapped Americans who had drunk the requisite number of glasses from the Sprudel or the Marktbrunnen and had walked out according to prescription. One of those at the table was a New York physician who is none the less popular because he is frank in speech almost to brutality and will not stand for affectation. The countess came along and was invited to join the party. The doctor, it turned out, had known her since she was a child.

"Somebody asked her a question, and she started to reply with that accent of hers. I saw the doctor fidget. Then she made another remark in half French. The doctor said something that sounded like a swear. Then he blurted out:

"'For heaven's sake, Maria Smith, you don't mean to say that three years in Europe have made you forget your native tongue?'

"There was a hush, and then some of the women in the party smiled, but when the countess next spoke it was in purest United States.—New York Sun.

Rabbits Breed War in Australia.

The rabbit, which overruns Australia, has almost caused a civil war. In the past certain Australians made colossal fortunes by exporting millions of rabbits which they secured for nothing. Eventually, though, it became necessary for the government to find a better means of exterminating this destructive creature, for it threatened to ruin the country. A law was passed authorizing farmers to poison the rabbits. Thus the rabbit exporting companies were put out of business. They are now fighting for the repeal of the poisoning law.

OLD FASHIONED COMEDY

FURNISHED BY TOURISTS WHO "DO" EUROPE EVERY YEAR.

The English Matron Whom Everyone Likes, the German Who Is Sobered by Travel, and the Brusque American Are Everywhere In Evidence on the "Contineng"—The French Do Not Gad About.

No theatregoer should feel lonesome on a trip to Europe, writes a globe trotter. Good old-fashioned comedy characters happen along at every turn. All the old friends are present, and then some.

There is the Englishman with his drawl and his tub; the English woman with her reversible figure, also her implacable feet; the French waiter, seething and frothing with language; the demi-mondaine, whose department is so discreet that you can scarcely believe that it goes down with the sun; the German, who according to circumstances is either a lump or an explosion; the Italian with—you would swear it—40 hands and 40 fingers on each hand.

Of course there are plenty of new types, but these old friends are so familiar that they give you almost as homy a feeling as fellow-countrymen do.

As a contrast to a certain disagreeable, snobbish type of British tourist one welcomes the nice, old perennial type of English woman whose shadow, though generous, will never grow less if the prayers of travelers shall have their way. She is allied with the clergy. She may be the wife of a vicar or even of a bishop. She is always the same.

You will see her in a thousand moderate priced Continental hotels. Her smooth gray hair is topped with a fussy little beribboned cap. Her good, homely face has settled into lines of peace. She has long ago given up that desperate struggle which young English women are always making to be "lively," and having temporarily escaped the parish or the diocese and her husband's patrons and the necessity of pushing her daughter's social prospects she can just relax and be her own simple, commonplace, comfortable self.

Her train of daughters traipse about at "p'pah's" heels, but she sits near the public drawing-room fire in winter or by the best window in summer, her broad feet on a footstool, an embodied spirit of domesticity calming the most feverish traveler. She is frequently occupied with what she calls "wools," for the motto of the English woman of all classes is: "What is home without an antimacassar?"

Occasionally you run across a duchess and her friends with their cigarettes, blandly smoking on terraces and in restaurants. You know it must be a duchess; nobody else would show such sublime indifference to fashion plates and to prejudices.

On his native heath the German takes life gayly and easily. He is a jolly good fellow and a first-rate friend, but he is a different creature when sobered by the responsibilities of travel. He sightsees with the energy and the concentration of one of his own Krupp guns. He booms and blunders around like a burly bumble bee drunk with the hunt for honey. He wears a foolish little green felt hat with a fuzzy bit of feather stuck in the band at the exact middle of the back. Words cannot express how trifling this little contrivance looks atop of his big bulk; especially when that bulk is increased, as it is on all possible occasions, by immense flapping cape overcoats or mackintoshes. These cape affairs, flaring widely through museums, churches, open squares, somehow get to be irresistibly funny.

The familiar French types are plentiful enough at home in France, but you can do a good deal of traveling without catching any kind of a Frenchman outside his own country. Only the exceptional ones have money enough to travel, and not very many of them care to spend their substance that way. For a nation which is not infrequently taunted with having no word for "home" the people of France display an extraordinary fondness for staying pretty close to their own firesides.

The same is true of the Italians. Precious few of them travel, except to come to America. You see more Italians in New York in one day than can be seen in a year in all Europe outside of Italy.

When it comes to comedians of travel Americans furnish their share of the entertainment. Their clothes, manners, way of talking, are just as conspicuously their own as those of any other people are peculiar to them.

That Americans often look and sound ridiculous in other countries no one can doubt who has made protracted stays abroad. The writer remembers one summer when after a year or two in Europe he couldn't suppress a grin of tolerant but very real amusement whenever he ran across a bunch of young American fellows in hats of the coarsest braid, with dinky brims about an inch wide and almost as thick. If the Americans had never worn those thick, knuckly little sailors, but had found a lot of German youths sporting them, it would have been a subject of inextinguishable mirth to the Yankees.

Politician and Novelist.

Blessed with the gift of being able to speak as well as he can write, Mr. Quiller-Couch, the distinguished Cornish author who has been knighted, has done much useful political work. For many years he was connected with The Speaker. Then he took to writing novels, and sought solitude in the delightful Cornish village of Fowey. Here he spends his leisure time fishing and sailing. He can handle a small yacht in a manner which satisfies even the oldest inhabitant.

MILLBROOK MATTERS

The Fair—Mission Work—Lecture —Concert

(Special to The Review.)

Millbrook, Sept. 5.—The Grandy's dry goods business has been purchased by Mr. Rogers of Wiarton. Mr. Rogers was a former resident of Millbrook and will be welcomed back as such by a large circle of friends.

ON A TRIP

Mr. Wm. Thexton left last week on an extended tour throughout the west and will visit friends at the coast before returning home.

RETURNED HOME

Mrs. James Howden has returned home after an extended visit with friends in Brockport, N. Y., accompanied by her children.

Mr. R. M. Fair, who successfully passed his matriculation with honors at the midsummer examinations, has secured a splendid position in the G. T. car shop at Stratford. He left last week to commence his duties.

THE FAIR

Everything is in readiness for the Millbrook Fair, which takes place next Friday. The directors have spared no pains to make this the best ever held in Millbrook. Several new features having been added to it this year which along with the productions of the past years, should prove an incentive to bring the people out, and make this the best ever.

Mrs. Heaslip of Rochester is visiting at the home of her brothers, William and James Francey. We are sorry to say that Mr Wm. Francey is on the sick list at present. We all hope for a speedy recovery.

AN ADDRESS

"Mission Work in Newfoundland" will be the subject of an address accompanied by illustrated lantern views to be given by Rev. Henry Earle of Omemee in Millbrook, on October 18th.

The ladies of the Presbyterian Church have secured the dining hall on the Fair grounds, where they will be in a position to cater to the public who so desire on Oct. 6th and 7th. Everybody welcome.

LECTURE

Mr. W. N. Ferguson, one of the sale agents of the British and Foreign Bible Society in China, will give an address entitled "A Trip Through China," illustrated by beautiful stereopticon views in the Town Hall, Millbrook, on Wednesday, October 5, at 8 o'clock.

SIGN OF THE GOLDEN LION

JEWS OBSERVE THE NEW YEAR

The Jewish New Year or in their own language Rosh Hashoih is now being observed in Peterborough in common with all other Hebrews throughout Canada and the world. According to the Jewish calendar the year they are now in is 6618, dating back to the time of Abraham. The celebration of the New Year has been a Hebrew custom from time immemorial. The celebration commenced this year on the evening of Oct. 3rd at sundown and will last till what is known as the day of atonement ten days later. On this day it is their pious belief that the recording angel's books are opened and observed as a day of fast and penance accordingly.

In Peterborough the religious ceremonies and meetings are held in the Church of Christ on Alymer street and while they are intended only for the Jewish people still outsiders are allowed to drop in and witness the proceedings.

Last evening at sun down they assembled at the church and went through their form of devotion and worship for the occasion, and this morning from seven till twelve o'clock they again assembled.

While the language and service is unintelligible to a stranger still their earnestness and devoutness cannot be doubted. The singing is a monotonous kind of chant and is delivered in a sing-song manner. They are attired in surplices of white with colored trimmings. During the service the rabbi prays for the souls of those who have sinned and grants them forgiveness. They also pray for the souls of those who will die during the coming year.

All the stores and places of business owned by local Jews are closed to-day and to-morrow.

A NOTABLE WEDDING AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH TO-DAY

A fashionable wedding, and one of interest to many friends was celebrated this afternoon at 2.30, at St. John's church, when Miss Edith Christine Aylmer, eldest daughter of Mr. J. A. Aylmer, 362 Simcoe street, was united in marriage to Mr. Lionel Frank Cross, son of Mr. F. O. Cross Toronto.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon Davidson, in the presence of a large circle of friends from out of town. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with asters, chrysanthemums and yellow and gold autumn leaves. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mr R. J. Devey, the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, by whom she was given away, was led to the altar. She looked winsome and charming in a lovely gown of ivory duchess satin, en traine with white lace, over which fell a filmy bridal veil. She carried a bridal bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids were Miss Arabella Porteous, of Quebec, and Miss Dorothy Aylmer, sister of the bride. They were charmingly attired in dresses of pale yellow marquisette with touches of black, wore black velvet hats, and carried shower bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Aylmer, mother of the bride, was dressed in black crepe-de-chene with touches of blue, white, and dull gold. She wore a black velvet hat.

Mr. Harry Grubbe, Douglas Hammond and Gerald Rackham performed the duties of ushers, while Mr. Francis Dean Kerr was groom-man. Miss Helen Davies sang beautifully "Love's Coronation."

Immediately after the ceremony a reception and luncheon was held at the residence of the bride, where Messrs. Coleman Bros. catered in splendid and luxurious style. The house was decorated in a very attractive manner with yellow autumn leaves, asters and chrysanthemums.

Among the numerous distinguished guests present were Mr. Cross and Miss Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Minty, Miss Capreol, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Capreol, Mr. Rex Capreol, Mr. and Mrs. Lonsdale Capreol, Miss Fraser, Miss Lyons, Judge and Mrs. Anglin, all of Toronto; Mrs. Powell, of St. Catharines; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown, of Campbellford, and Mrs. Corbett, of Cornwall, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Cross left for their future home at Pincher Creek, Alta., on the 4.38 C.P.R. train, the bride travelling in a handsome suit of navy blue serge with blouse of navy blue chiffon over paisley, with navy blue velvet toque and marabout stole. They will travel via Chicago and Minneapolis, en route to their future home.

DID RIGHT TO BAR REPORTER?

Says Rev. J. R. Webb in a Letter on Action of Ministeria Association — Writer Gives Precedents for the Course Taken.

To the Editor of the Review.

In your issue of last night you give great prominence to the fact that the Review reporter was requested to leave the meeting of the Ministerial Association and to receive the report from the secretary after the adjournment. In no less than three places in one issue you speak of this matter. You remark that in other cities, such as Montreal etc., this is not the practice.

Will you allow me to say that you are entirely mistaken in this matter. There may have been some rare occasions when in smaller places, a reporter was admitted to the Ministerial Association, but never in the history of the Association in Montreal was this the case. You have evidently been misinformed.

J. R. WEBB.

Editor's Note.—The writer of this note for two years attended a meeting of the Ministerial Association as reporter.

$11\frac{1}{4}$ HIGH PRICE BUT MOST OF FACTORIES SOLD AT $11\frac{3}{16}$

Warminster and Fleetwood factories didn't sell this morning. They thought 11 3-16 was too low, and found no buyer.

The first bid was 11 1-8 by Cook. Watkin raised the price to 11 1-4, the high figure of the meeting. He bought Keene, Shearer, Central Smith and Warsaw. He offered 11 3-16 for further selections and Gillespie made it that figure for the balance of the board. He took Selwyn, Villiers, Westwood, Oakdale, Daisy D, Lakefield, Pine Grove, King Edward, Maple Leaf, Myrtle, Ormond, Young's Point, Lang, Fraserville, Indian River, North Dummer, East Emily, Trewern, Bensfort, Cedardale, Stoney Lake, Cavanville, Norwood and Killarney.

"I WANT TO BE A MORMON WITH THE MORMONS STAND"

(STARTLING STATEMENTS)

The possibilities of Alberta, some of its problems, discouragements and disappointments and the vast field which it offers for the work of the Gospel, were told last evening in Knox church by the Rev. W. D. Reid, B.D., in an interesting and pleasing address. Mr. Reid's story was filled with humorous experiences and he possesses the happy faculty of being able to hold the attention of his audience by the interesting manner with which he relates them.

Before he accepted the position of superintendent of Presbyterian missions in Alberta, Mr Reid was a pastor in Montreal. In the early part of February he went to Alberta. The first thing he did was to get in touch with all the Presbyterian missions.

In Alberta there are six hundred points at which the gospel is preached, or 160 fields with three or four points to each field and to visit all these places was certainly strenuous work. People are pouring into Peace River district, four hundred miles north of Edmonton and raising wheat there which takes prizes at exhibitions.

Alberta is growing. It is getting rich. People who went there a few years ago are now practically independent. One lady owns twenty-five sections of land. The country is also rich minerally, being underlined with coal.

But great wealth is not sufficient to make a country really successful. Often times it debauches it. Although there is good educational facilities in Alberta, that is not sufficient. More than anything else, Alberta needs religion, and we are responsible for their lack of it.

MORMONS A MENACE.

With 100,000 settlers expected in this year how are they to be reached. In Southern Alberta there are the Mormons or Latter Day Saints, living in communal districts. Unless they are claimed by the gospel, they will be a menace to the west. Their ideals are different from ours, and they practice polygamy in violation of the law. They are striving to get a place in the legislation and at present there are three Mormons in the Alberta legislature.

They have even changed one of the old hymns to suit themselves and two lines of it now read as follows:

I want to be a Mormon,
And with the Mormons stand.

They hold dances under religious auspices, which are opened with prayer and closed with the benediction. Many of the Mormons, sad to say, are converts from the Scotch Presbyterians. One Mormon bishop was formerly Bishop Anderson, of Aberdeen, Scotland. They have no sympathy with our ways. Recently they purchased 80,000 acres of land and will not allow the foot of a Gentile on it. Before long they will be a problem which will attract the attention of the whole of Canada.

GALICIAN PROBLEM.

In the north the Galicians present present another problem. They refuse to have the services of a doctor when ill, and the mounted police have to force entrance to their homes. The Roman Catholic church is seeking to convert them, but they refuse to be drawn into Catholicism. They celebrate mass and yet they evince a desire to be Presbyterians.

By far the best settlers in the west is the American, of which fifty per cent of the population is made up. They are initiative and resourceful, but large numbers of them, and in fact most of the settlers have no use for religion. They are taken up with material things, and religion has no thought in their lives. They sacrifice everything for money.

The people who go out west as a rule, are there to make money and it is a lamentable fact that many people, who were formerly godly people, in the east, when they reach the west, drift completely away from God. One man, who was a Sunday school superintendent, in the east, is now one of the worst opponents of religion in Alberta.

Mr. Reid told some very humorous stories of the people with whom he came in daily contact in the west.

In closing he made an urgent plea for the west and for more energetic means of support for the work.

THE LABOR GAZETTE'S REPORT ON THE CONDITION OF LABOR

(AND THE MEN MARKET)

The Labor Gazette makes the following refered to Peterboro' in its current issue when Mr. J. Arthur Sharp, correspondent, reported as follows on the condition of the labour market.

The labour market has been very active throughout August and showed considerable advance over the corresponding month of last year. Outside work especially in the building trade was very brisk. The supply was not equal to the demand for rough carpenters and bricklayers. The Radial Railway Company will build a new power house at the Auburn dam and extend their railway this fall, giving employment to 200 men. Tenders are called for the erection of a new chuch for the Murray St. Baptist congregation; it will be a stone structure. The Peterborough Canoe Company is to extend its factory, doubling their output; the building will cost $10,000. The Wm. Hamilton Company has secured two large contracts for machinery for the development of water power. Mr. Geo. Ball has received the contract for making the new uniforms and overcoats for the employes of the Radial Railway Company. The Collier Electric Company is very busy having received one order form Vancouver for 400 electric irons. This city has been used as a demonstration point for the Machine Telephone, no charge being made; they will now put in some 1,500 new telephones and will charge for the service. The barbers have raised the price of a hair cut to 25 cents.

CONDITION OF LOCAL INDUSTRIES

Agriculture—The rains of the latter part of the month as well as two hail storms created havoc in this locality, some of the farmers have nothing left as a result. Apple buyers are now making tours throughout the country. They report the crop very light.

Lumbering—Conditions are active and lumbermen find it hard to get men to go to the camps. The mills are also busy; the Peterborough Lumber Company has been cutting 1,028 ties daily the last two months.

Manufacturing — The metal and wood trades have been very busy but the woollen trade has been very quiet.

CONDITION OF PARTICULAR TRADES

The building trades were all active metal workers, electric workers, linemen were very active. The woodworking trades were all well employed. The printing trades report business fair and job shops very busy. Bakers were very busy and butchers and meat cutters were active. Leather workers were active. There was a good demand for unskilled labour.

PE-RU-NA CHEERFULLY RECOMMENDED FOR COLDS AND CATARRH.

A Prominent Canadian Gives His Experience With the World-Famous Remedy For Catarrh.

Chronic Catarrh Always Begins With An Ordinary Cold.

So Says Dr. Hartman, the Greatest Living Authority On Catarrhal Diseases.

This gives rise to a discharge, or at least a stuffiness of the nasal passages.

Sometimes fever accompanies the first attack, also a feeling of languor, dullness and aching of the bones.

If no attention is paid to it, the mucous congestion is liable to spread down into the larynx, producing hoarseness and into the bronchial tubes, producing a cough.

Even when this occurs, many people pay no attention to it.

Under such circumstances, the congestion is liable to become chronic, producing a condition of the mucous membranes known as catarrh. Catarrh lasts an indefinite time. Catarrh is essentially a chronic condition and does not leave except something is done to relieve it.

CURE COLDS—PREVENT CATARRH.

What should be done when a person catches cold is to take a few doses of Peruna.

But, even in cases where the cold has been neglected and hoarseness or a cough has developed, Peruna can be relied upon to give prompt and permanent relief.

The frequency of coughs and colds in the winter makes Peruna a popular remedy for these ailments.

A number of the best people of various countries have given testimonials as to the value of Peruna in such cases.

Followed Dr. Hartman's Advice—Restored to Health.

Mrs. Samuelle Vigneau, Avre au Berd, Isle de La Magdaline, Canada, writes:

"I write to tell you that I am perfectly well. I took only three bottles of your Peruna according to your advice and the directions in your book and it restored my health."

C. H. Parker, Ex-Warden of Compton Co., Quebec, has been mayor of Scotstown for a number of years. He is an influential resident in Scotstown and widely known.

He writes concerning Peruna. Read his letter below:

C. H. PARKER.

"I had several attacks of colds from time to time and finally a severe attack developed into catarrh.

"I was advised to use your celebrated catarrh remedy, and after taking three bottles I find myself completely cured, and I no longer suffer from catarrh or colds.

"I can cheerfully recommend Peruna for colds and catarrh."

If Peruna had no other medicinal value than the promptness with which it relieves common colds, it would be well worth while for any family to keep it in the house constantly.

ANDERSON INQUEST BRINGS OUT STARTLING EVIDENCE

Witnesses Contradict Jardine—Says He Was Not Home When He Says He Was—Was Seen at Five Minutes to Ten—Death Was Caused by Gash and Blows.

Goderich, Oct. 6.—Last night's session of the inquest into the murder of 16-year-old Lizzie Anderson, whose nude body, with throat cut, was found in the cellar of a vacant house last Sunday week, after she had been missing since the previous Tuesday, brought out some startling evidence.

A dozen or so witnesses were called to disprove young Edward Jardine's statements that he was at home on the evening of Sept. 20 at two minutes past ninie. At various times, ranging from 8.30 till five minutes to ten that evening, he was seen in company with the murdered girl, according to last night's testimony. Even little girls and small boys came forward to tell Coroner Holmes and the jury that they had seen the two together. Inspector Greer promises a material witness along the same line from out of town.

Edward Jardine, and a younger brother were both put on the stand for a moment so that the witnesses could tell whether or not they were mistaken as to their identity.

The regular court room could not begin to contain the curious crowds and the Town Hall had to be brought into commission, and this was packed to suffocation in a few minutes after the doors were opened. People sat around and atop the jurors, mounted the box stove, and perched in the window ledges. Several of the long benches were crushed flat by the crush.

When the session began, Edward Jardine was at once asked by Crown Attorney Seager what clothes he had on the night of the tragedy.

"The clothes I have on now."

"And what hat?"

"The hat that my brother Thomas is holding for me now."

Turning to a constable, the crown attorney demanded that the hat be produced.

"Put it on," he directed. It was a soft round felt affair. "That's the hat you wore that night?"

"Yes."

"And did you carry your stick?"

"Yes."

"Call Thomas Jardine," called Mr. Seager, and when Thomas stepped into the box, the crown asked, "Is that the suit of clothes you had on that night?"

"Yes."

"And hat?"

"That will do," he said, and witness stepped down, seemingly bewildered at the abruptness of it all.

Mrs. Tideman was called. She did not know Edward Jardine, but she knew Frank Jardine, aged 16, and had seen him at Goderich Fair on the Tuesday night in question, about 8.30, with Lizzie Anderson and another young man who very much resembled Edward Jardine. Witness had never seen him before that night, nor again until now, but she added "he looked the same to me." She fixed the time by having passed the Salvation Army barracks as the clock was striking eight, and the distance she had walked before meeting the three young people.

Mr. Tideman corroborated his wife's statements, and added that Lizzie Anderson wore a white hat with a blue ribbon around it, and a light suit with a stripe in it. He was pretty certain it would be about 8.30.

Positive evidence that Edward Jardine and the Anderson girl were together about eight o'clock was given by 13-year-old Reggie Love, a playmate of Frankie Jardine. He and Frankie had met Edward and the girl in the chicken show building.

"Are you quite sure it was Edward Jardine?"

"Yes."

"And Lizzie Anderson?"

"Yes, sir."

"Anyone with them?"

"No, they were standing together alone until Frankie met them," said the boy.

There was a murmur of surprise as Ray Steele boldly asserted that he had seen Edward and Lizzie together on the fair grounds at 9.30 that night. Steele had been working in a refreshment booth.

"You are quite positive you saw them?"

"Yes."

He fixed the time from the fact that the band stopped playing a few minutes afterwards. They were on the south side of the grand stand, and close to the picket fence.

"Could it possibly have been earlier?" he was asked.

"No, it could not have been any earlier," was the positive reply. "Fifteen or twenty minutes later they were gone," witness said. The crowds were moving away, and he took notice that they were not beside the fence. "They must have gone some place," he added. Just before the crowds started to disperse he saw Albert Jardine, a brother, with two women in a rig.

Mrs. Adam McDonald further startled the court by testifying that Edward Jardine and the Anderson girl were seen beside the fence outside the pavilion at five minutes to ten, as nearly as she could judge. A few minutes after the band stopped playing her little daughter Catharine and little Maggie Leonard came to her to go home. Both girls say they saw the young couple before they came to meet her. Catharine told her that Edward Jardine was resting his elbow on the picket fence, between the pavilion and the peanut stand. He was not looking at the girl, but she was looking up at his face.

Both little girls were called by the crown, and each swore she had seen Edward and Lizzie, as Mrs. McDonald had said.

"You are sure," insisted Mr. Saeger, and each answered a positive "yes."

By way of fixing the hour the band had stopped playing, Capt. Alex. McLeod and his wife were called. Mrs. McLeod had asked her husband, when the music ceased, what time it was, and he had replied, "Ten minutes to ten."

Dr. Sallow read the post-mortem report, which showed that the girl had died as a result of a three-inch gash from right to left of her throat. It looked as though made by a large jackknife, from the nature of the initial stab. There were abrasions on the back and at the back of the arms, apparently caused after death. Also there were clots on the forehead, indicating that a blow or blows had been struck before death. Drs. Macklin and Gunn testified to the correctness of the report.

Evidence that cries were heard in the vicinity of the vacant house where in the body lay, was given by Mrs. Margaret Ross and Mrs. Daniel Buchanan. The latter lives three doors away. She declared that she was awakened from her sleep by hearing a man talking loudly. Then came a cry, followed by a man's laugh. Then there was some more loud talking and a weaker cry. She listened breathlessly, but heard nothing more. The sounds seemed to come from the southwest corner of the fair grounds, right opposite her house. This would be in the direction of the vacant house. Mrs. Buchanan had no way of fixing the time, but fancied it was about one o'clock.

TELEGRAMS MAY BE CHEAPER

Movement to Cut Telegraph Rates is on Foot.

Ottawa, Oct. 6.—It is certain that there will be a material reduction in the cost of telegraph messages in Canada in the near future, and the rates will be made approximate to those prevailing in Great Britain. It is possible that the reduction in domestic rates will be accomplished before a cheaper Atlantic cable service is established.

It is understood that Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, the Postmaster-General, who is on his way to South Africa, will introduce the question in the form of a resolution in the House of Commons next session, and that the matter will be referred to the Railway Commission for enquiry and procedure.

While no definite rate has been mentioned, it is probable that the Minister will recommend that the minimum figure should be not lower then twelve cents, and not higher than fifteen, with comparative rates for distant messages.

It is pointed out that when a couple of decades ago, the rate in Great Britain was reduced from one shilling to sixpence, the increase in business which ensued more than compensated for the reduction in price. It is also remarked that the cheap night letter telegrams instituted in this country have been a success, and convinces students of the question of telegraphic and telephonic communication that the cheapening of rates is an advantage, both to the the public and to the companies.

The question of a uniform rate for all over Canada has been considered but it is not thought that the time for this radical change has yet arrived.

FIGHT ! FIGHT ! KEEP ON FIGHTING

London, Oct. 6.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—One hundred active, wealthy Conservative members of both Houses have decided to endeavor to induce the party leaders not to stand aloof, but to take an active part in the propaganda work, and also to urge them to exchange the present defensive policy for a definite constructive program. Amongst other things it is strongly felt that the conference between Canada and the United States this month renders it imperative that the Unionist position on imperial preference should be made absolutely plain, it being feared that if the Liberal party hold the next colonial conference the question of imperial consolidation will be practically destroyed, because the present Government cannot ask unalterable adherence to free trade. The new body wants a strong leader, and claims as its motto, "Fight, fight, and go on fighting."

FIVE HUNDRED SALOONS CLOSED

New York, Oct. 6.—Five hundred saloons in New York city are out of business to-day because of the failure of the proprietors to comply with the conditions under which the new licenses were granted.

In Brooklyn, the last census increased Brooklyn's population materially, and nearly doubled license fees to liquor dealers. Bonding companies were largely responsible for the closing of the saloons, as these companies had put their rates up to practically prohibitive figures.

HOLMES IS ACQUITTED

Slayer of Nathan Bolton is Adjudged Insane.

Brockvile, Oct. 6.—"We find that the prisoner is held to be acquitted of the charge, on the grounds that he was insane at the time of the commission of the act, and we hereby acquit him on the ground of such insanity."

This was the verdict of the jury in the case of Albert Holmes, the Grenville County farmer, charged with the murder of Nathan Bolton at the farm of the latter on April 21, last.

The hearing concluded about five o'clock yesterday afternoon, following the hearing of much testimony, showing that Holmes had exhibited signs of insanity for a considerable period prior to the commission of the offence, the expert testimony of Dr. R. W. Bruce Smith, provincial inspector of jails; Dr. Moher and Dr. Mitchell of the Eastern Hospital, Brockville; Dr. Ryan of Rockwood Asylum, Kingston; and Dr. Morton, surgeon of the Brockville jail, practically agreeing that Holmes was irresponsible for his act. George T. Blackstock, the crown prosecutor, waived his address to the jury, and on his lordship's suggestion, the jury unanimously came to the above verdict.

Holmes will be committed to the insane ward of the asylum at Hamilton, there to be kept during the pleasure of the Lieutenant-Governor.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

The Dominion Cabinet has decided, it is understood, to call Parliament for November 17.

Several arrests have been ordered in connection with the Los Angeles dynamiting outrage.

Dr. Doty, health office of the port of New York, says there is no danger of a cholera epidemic in America.

A new railway from Ottawa to Brockville will be built immediately, to be operated by the Grand Trunk.

The collision near Staunton, Ill., in which over thirty persoons lost their lives, was due to the absent-mindedness of a motorman.

John Prodger, found guilty at London, Ont., of attempting to murder Miss Franks, was sentenced to three years in penitentiary.

Twenty-nine thousand dollars was bid for a seat on the Montreal Stock Exchange yesterday. This is the record, the previous highest having been $28,000.

Office rents along the route of the coronation procession in June next in London, have jumped amazingly, and several new buildings are being rushed to completion.

At Disraeli, Que., Napoleon Dupuis, aged 14, was going out hunting and when climbing a fence near his home, the gun went off, the bullet going through his face. He died immediately.

The vacancy on the Quebec Bridge Engineering Commission, caused by the resignation of Maurice Fitzmaurice, the English member, has been filled by the appointment of Charles Macdonald, C. E., of Gananoque.

PROPHESIES END OF U.S.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 6.—Asserting that the Republican rule in this country is tending rapidly toward the disruption of the Union, Prof. D. Cady Eaton of Yale, in a letter addressed to the Democratic party, declares that "a new secession, not handicapped this time by slavery, may be the only way for the people to regain their liberties and terminate the rule of graft." He further asserts that "the people of the several sovereign states are tired of centralization, imperialism, world power, colonization, and everything that is opposed to the principles declared by the people at the beginning of the republic."

The letter concludes: "Though the establishment of an Empire in this country may not be conceivable, the disruption of the Union to independent republics is conceivable, possible and to be feared, if there be not great changes at Washington."

BOULEVARD FOR MONTREAL

Montreal, Oct. 6.—A proposition was made to the Board of Control by J. H. Maher, the well-known local contractor, who offers the city the land for a boulevard extending four miles from the St. Catherine road to the Back River, near Bordeau. The boulevard is to be 125 feet wide, with double track space and double driveway, and is to be given to the city free of charge, provided they undertake to make the boulevard.

Newspaper Artist Suicided.

Montreal, Oct. 6.—Ralph Howard, artist, of The Montreal Star, who disappeared Tuesday, a week ago, committed suicide by drowning, but the reason is not known. The body was found yesterday, with two letters, one for the coroner and the other for his father.

PORTUGAL A REPUBLIC? PRESIDENT BEEN ELECTED

Provisional Government is Formed and Theophile Braga Has Been Put at the Head of It—King Manuel is in Town 23 Miles From Lisbon—Revolutionist Force is Said to Have Had a Check.

Lisbon, Oct. 6.—A provisional Government has been formed, with Theophile Braga as President. The new national flag is flying over all public buildings.

A report was circulated late last night that the revolutionists had been checked and were retiring in the direction of Mosanto.

President-elect of Brasil, Marshal Hermes Fonseca, has delayed his departure and remains in Lisbon.

British Minister's Report.

London, Oct. 6.—The telegram of British Minister Sir F. H. Villiers to the Foreign Office follows:

"A serious disturbance broke out here (Lisbon) Monday night, when some troops of the garrison declared themselves Republicans. Fighting occurred throughout yesterday afternoon. Troops heretofore loyal went over to the revolutionists and a republic was proclaimed.

"Great excitement prevails. The proclamation of a republic was received enthusiastically by the people.

"I believe that a provisional Government is being formed. King Manuel is said to be at Mafra (18 miles northwest of Lisbon), at the royal palace with the Queen Mother and the Prince Royal, but I have no precise news."

The News Via Madrid.

Madrid, Oct. 6.—Advices received here last night from Lisbon are to the effect that King Manuel and Queen Mother Amelie have left Portugal on a warship for England; that the revolutionists have triumphed and that a republic has been proclaimed amid the wildest enthusiasm.

Rumors have reached this city that 8,000 armed peasants have entered the Portuguese capital. It is reported that the Republican flags are not floating over the royal palace at Lisbon, but only on the Portuguese warships in the Tagus River.

How Manuel Departed.

Berlin, Oct. 6.—A thrilling story of the night flight of King Manuel through the streets of a riot-riven city and across a fog-shrouded bay, to safety on board the Brazilian warship Sao Paulo, is published by The Lokal Anzeiger.

When the rebellion burst forth in its fury, and the Portuguese warships in the harbor trained their heavy guns and began bombarding the palace, King Manuel, his mother, Queen Amelie, and other members of the royal household took refuge in a cellar, where they were safe from the shells of the Republicans.

Toward nightfall the commander of the Brazilian cruiser got in touch with the palace with the tacit consent and full knowledge of the republican leaders. Brazilian officers warned the King that his life was in danger, and offered him refuge on board the Sao Paulo, which was then anchored out of the line of fire in the harbor.

The Brazalian officers found the boy ruler endeavoring to comfort his mother, but Amelie, who had seen husband and eldest son shot to death and now faced the fear that her other son would be slain, refused to be comforted. At first Manuel steadfastly declined to seek safety in flight, but the tears of his mother and the statement of the Brazilian officers that he could not hope to win, caused him to agree to the proposal.

Wearing the full uniform and with head erect, the youth walked through a line of those troops who had remained loyal. He proceeded to a quay in a secluded portion of the city, where a ship's pinnace from the Sao Paulo was in waiting. The sailors saluted with their oars as Manuel, with great dignity, took his seat in the stern. A few moments later, the oars dipped in the bay, and the little boat made its dangerous way toward the Sao Paulo. As Manuel came up over the side of the vessel the marines manned the rail and saluted the dethroned monarch.

NO MELON THIS YEAR

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy Presides at Annual Meeting of C.P.R.

Montreal, Oct. 6.—For the first time in the history of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, the president, presided at the annual meeting of the shareholders held at headquarters yesterday. Sir William Van Horne, who recently resigned from the chairmanship of the board of directors, was among those present, as were also E. B. Osler, R. B. Angus, Senator Forget, Senator MacKay, Robert Meighen, C. R. Hosmer, D. McNicoll, I. G. Ogden, W. R. Baker, A. R. Creelman and W. D. Matthews. About 40 shareholders in all were present. The directors were re-elected.

The most important announcement made was that the company's plans for the placing of larger and faster boats on the Atlantic and Pacific services were practically completed.

Then Sir Thomas announced that the dividends would be paid quarterly instead of half-yearly, and he also hinted that shareholders would have their profits increased during the coming year, though there would be nothing in the nature of "melon cutting."

WEDDED WHEN PRISONER

To-day in Kingston a strange ceremony was performed when a convict was wedded — The wire received at 3.30 this afternoon reads:—

Convict sentenced to five years wedded while handcuffed then taken to penitentiary.

ALIVE AFTER FIVE DAYS

Monterey, Mexico, Oct. 6.—Six Japanese miners, entombed in mine No. 2 of the Coahuila Coal Co. at Palau, Mexico, as the result of Friday night's explosion, in which more than 150 miners lost their lives, have been found alive. Although they had been without food or water since the explosion, it is said all of them will recover.

Police Spy Assassinated.

ADVERTISED HIS ENMITY IN A THOROUGH MANNER

Evidence at Masters' Murder Trial at Belleville Consists Chiefly of Accounts of Parker's Promises to Fix Masters--Base of Bullet Fits Parker's Gun.

Belleville, Oct. 6.—Murderer or innocent man, Robert Parker, accused of killing William Masters April 8 last, certainly advertised his enmity for the deceased in a thorough manner. Most of the crown witnesses appearing for the prosecution at the continuation of the trial here yesterday in the court house had been told by Parker that if he ever caught any of Masters' family meddling with his traps, there would be trouble. In a number of cases he declared, according to witnesses, that he would shoot if he found one of the "tribe," as he described them, stealing his traps.

Fred. Hinds, a clerk in a feed store, swore that Parker had told him that he would shoot Masters. When asked which one, Parker had said, "Bill, that old man. I'd shoot him like a dog." The conversation had taken place in the store witness worked in, about two months before the murder. Witness recollected that Parker had described the Masters' family as "dirty trash" and a "pack of thieves." After being told of the killing of Masters, Parker had advanced the conjecture that long range rifles were responsible for it.

Parker himself does not impress one as being a man who would cold-bloodedly shoot down a neighbor. During the proceedings he has taken a quiet interest in what was going on. His physiognomy does not show weakness or cowardice, but a certain grimness. But there is humor in his expression which offsets the grimness. There is a wrinkle on either side of his firm mouth running down his face, which seems to indicate that he could tell a good story or enjoy a joke with anybody. At times during the trial he exhibited nervousness, but only in a slight degree. When anybody went out or came in he would turn his head and watch them, but usually he was motionless, except for his eyes, which would rove from counsel to witness or judge.

Constable Benjamin Sedore brought to light what may prove to be an important point. On the second visit to the residence of the accused, shortly after the crime, he found three cartridge shells. One was not discolored, but the other two were. Witness said that he had noticed in his experience that it took some time for cartridges to become discolored after being discharged.

The bullet that had passed through the body of the deceased, and the rifle found in the home of the prisoner were produced. The base of the bullet fitted the mouth of the rifle snugly. The top of the bullet had become mushroomed in passage. Rifle experts from Toronto will give evidence, probably to-day, and may throw more light on the matter.

Mrs. W. Woodcock said that Parker had declared that he would shoot one of the Masters' family "like a black snake."

George Lane swore that accused told him that if he met Masters in the woods he would shoot him. "You had not better do that," said Lane. "I would if I had the chance," was the reply.

Parker had drawn his savings, $100, out of the bank on the day of the murder. Andrew Wilson, constable, said that Parker had said that he had drawn it in order to buy out Masters, but that "the old —— would not sell."

Mrs. Maggie Caull testified that in driving to Tweed on the morning Masters was killed, at Chapman's Corners bridge, she met Mr. Parker. He was carrying a shotgun over his right shoulder. Parker then crossed over the road and climbed over a fence, which was the last she saw of him.

BALFOUR HAS MISGIVINGS

London, Oct. 6.—Arthur Balfour, leader of the opposition, concluding a speech at Edinburgh, referred to the subject of colonial preference. He looked forward, he said, with real misgivings to the meeting together of another colonial conference with the Government, which would meet it with the same disregard and obstinacy as before. He looked forward, however, with increasing hope to the prospect of great reform in our fiscal system.

SMASHED HIS SKULL

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Oct. 6.—Capt. John Weston of the three-masted schooner Unity, one of the best-known shipping men of the Maritime Provinces, met with almost instant death at Georgetown Tuesday. The schooner was discharging a cargo of creosoted piles for the Dominion Government, and Weston, while in the act of adjusting the chains on one of the piles, lost his footing and fell headforemost into the hold, striking his head against the timbers, smashing his skull, death resulting a few moments later.

B. C.'s new university is to be located at Point Grey.

A new R. C. Church will be built at Hosmer, B. C. [illegible]

LITTLE FEAR OF EPIDEMIC

New York, Oct. 6.—Little fear of a cholera epidemic in this country is entertained by the quarantine officials, who are maintaining a strict watch on all vessels from the cholera infected ports of Europe.

The steamship Virginia from Naples was released from quarantine yesterday afternoon. The cabin passengers of the Moltke, from Naples and Genoa, were also released, and the cabin passengers of the Santa Anna were transferred to another steamer and proceeded to the city.

Mistaken For a Deer.

Bangor, Maine, Oct. 6.—Alfred Laue of Haynesville, Aroostook County, was mistaken for a deer and killed yesterday by his hunting companion, Charles O'Brien. It was the first fatality of the hunting season in the Maine woods.

Clergyman Expelled.

Rochester, Oct. 6.—Rev. Herbert Howard of East Bloomfield has been found guilty of immorality and expelled from the ministry by a select committee of the Genesee Methodist Conference, now holding its hundredth session here.

Premier Up In the Air.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 6.—P. A. Stolypin, the Russian Prime Minister, yesterday made a ten-minute flight in an aeroplane as a passenger with Capt. Macievich.

WAR!

WAR. Writing this terrible word a city editor on the New York American put it in the tube marked "FULL PAGE." The word went full page, the paper rolled off a few hundred when Manson saw it. No matter who Manson is, he saw it. The paper was stopped, a new matrix was cast. This was in the time of the Spanish-American war when four city editors went mad. King Manuel may be deposed. He may not. War may break out WAR. That's the word — "War is Hell. No it's not hell. Where is hell? War is an awful grim and ghastly reality. An arm amputated, a widow, mourning children, monuments, an open trench, the sullen drum, the burial, poets sing the praises of war, its victory. Artists depict the fields fertilised with blood. But bring me back my child, give me my husband. Ah! war, the rulers sit quietly. The men who smell the powder die quickly and are as quickly forgotten. If Portugal is to become a republic, she will not be born anew without blood. She may involve the nations, war may result. Grim, ghastly, hellish war

A GREAT SILENCE

A week ago the Globe was conducting a spirited campaign in South Wellington. The Provincial Liberal party was to come down like "a wolf on the fold," and Mr. Downey was to be overwhelmed. To-day there is no Opposition candidate nor any noise of battle in all the land. There are no captains nor any tumult, nor any avenging hosts in the field. The organ calls, but no one answers. Even the voice of General MacKay is drowned by the hoarse booming of the waters of Georgian Bay.—Toronto News.

GIGGLING

A New York man refused to marry his girl because she persisted in giggling while the license was being made out. Evidently he knew that a woman who would giggle at that time would also giggle when his shirt stud rolled under the bureau, or when he struck his thumb nail with the hammer, or when he cut himself while shaving, or when his coffee went down the wrong way or when he was cranking his automobile without success. And a woman who is going to giggle at a man every time he's in trouble is no fit life partner. We don't blame him.—Detroit Free Press.

This is a paragraph from an half-column editorial on giggling. "The loud laugh that speaks the vacant mind." That's what a poet wrote, a poet whose body is articulated by the hands of time, but who yet lives, moves and has his being among us in his verse.

However he said not a word about the giggle. "Smile and be a villian still." Another line from an immortal poet. But not a word about the giggle. We enjoy a "giggling gurl" She relieves us. Is the journey long and the way tiresome, she giggles and laughs at something, and we are at home before we know it. At something, yes something, anything, a toad or a cloud a drunken man or a parson, a genius or a fool, a man or a monkey, there is nothing sacred to her, she giggles—she cannot be a grouch. She giggles and is fat, she giggles and is happy. She giggles and one day becomes married and the next a mother and she ceases giggling, as her child looks up and coo's in her face.

But a grouch cannot giggle, give us the giggling girl on Sunday and all the week and especially on Blue Monday.

A TREMULOUS NOTE

For making a popular magazine, the following recipe is very popular among the editorial cooks in the United States:

Take one soft shelled muck-raking articles, chop it into small paragraphs, season with italics, exclamation points and editorial notes and stir with one strong human interest article garnished with photographs. Mix in, stirring thoroughly, five or six love stories, until they come to a light foam. Pour in next the yolk of one outdoor article, beating until stiff. Put in then three or four chapters of a serial with a little relish of high life. Add one western story and thicken with vignettes. All a double handful of buttered announcements of what's coming next month, mix in a pinch or two of verse, season with a cupful of anecdotes, smother with advertisements and serve in a cover casserole of four colors, hot.—Calgary News

Isn't that true. Arthur Brisbane, who makes one thousand dollars a week for the Hearst people, says: 'Human interest stories count." We like to read the Montreal Gazette, but old and rugged we cannot find a human interest note in its editorial page. "The Policy of Peru," who cares. We like to read the Toronto Star. "No home to go to" Everyone reads. Does the heart beat faster when you read your thoughts reflected in type. Do you sorrow? and does the writer tell you how you feel? Do you laugh? Does he laugh in type with you? Do you yearn to become great, to become noted, to be some one? Does he also yearn? Did you love, did that master passion stir your soul? Were you disappointed? Did he tell you all about it? Your soul responded as you read, yes, responded. There is a responsive chord in every heart and the newspaper that reaches that chord is the one that sells. She was playing the piano the other night, and as she played as she struck a certain note there came a response from a chandelier, just a tremulous note, but a response. It is this response that the world is willing to give, it is this response that papers seek and that magazines are tumbling over themselves to secure.

A MONUMENT

That a man's sterling worth is better recognized after he is dead is again exemplified by the fact that a movement has been started in Nelson, B.C., to build a monument to John Houston.

John Houston was a constant shock to the goody goods with whom he came in contact, his irascible temperament brooking no compromise, but he was so essentially a public man in spirit and habits of thought that he could allow no question of public import to go by without taking a side, and having taken a side he was almost always fighting on the side of public right and justice.

Well John, how do you like the next world? No answer. That's strange. You used to say something, you had an opinion and you couldn't be silenced. They hated you Houston, and they loved you. They hated you because you were John Houston, a man who stood for something. The Watterson of the west, you made good. Making good,—aye there's the rub, many a man would fain make good save for the other fellow. What will he think? What will they say? That has prevented many a man from achieving. But you, Houston, didn't care a rap whether they liked you or not. "WHAT IS TRUTH?" That was the question your soul sought. Houston died. He sought truth. He knows it now.

A TRUCKLING GOVERNMENT

The desire of the Laurier Government to truckle with the United States on the question of reciprocity has aroused the indignation of Hon. G. W. Ross, the former Premier of Ontario. Senator Ross, now that he has a "pensioner's" seat in the Home for Incurables and broken down politicians, otherwise known as the Senate of Canada, is able to speak his mind freely, without thought of any constituency. Senator Ross freely states, and without any hesitation, that he can see nothing for Canada in a reciprocal trade arrangement between the two countries. In a letter to the Toronto Globe he adds that he voices this opinion, even supposing an arrangement could be effected which would be fair to both parties. Every Canadian will remember how Mr. Fielding went running to Albany and Washington last spring in order to avoid the blow that the club of the Taft tariff threatened. Mr. Fielding and the other heaven-born geniuses who occupy the treasury benches, seemed to have had the idea that if the maximum clauses of the tariff were imposed by the United States against Canada we would have been hurt more than Uncle Sam. They seemed to have forgotten that so far as trade is concerned Canada is willing and able to fend for herself, and that the imposition of the maximum tariff against this country would have raised such a storm of opposition across the border against the Taft administration that would have been hard to withstand. Senator Ross is quite well advised in his opinion that it is hard to get a square deal with our neighbors to the south in trade matters. He argues that even an exchange of natural products would be of no general advantage to Canada in the long run, apart from the incidental trade Canadian farmers living in the vicinity of large centres of population might pick up, for the reason that if Canadian produce was thrown in large volume on the United States markets a reduction in prices would follow which would bring them to a level of those obtainable in Britain.

That Sir Wilfrid after his tour in the west has the reciprocity bee buzzing in his bonnet cannot be denied. What he will do and how he will do it, cannot be foretold. His mind is above the ordinary, that is to say it soars in realms of phantasy far above the level of ordinary common business sense.

AÇOMIA

Many Men Have it and Most of Them Worry About

ACOMIA—It's a magic word—what does it mean? Simply absence of hair.

A baldheaded man has ACOMIA—absence of hair.

A million more men will have ACOMIA a year from now if they do not get rid of disgusting dandruff.

Dandruff is caused by a germ. This germ is a persistent sort of germ. He works while you sleep and when you awake. He breakfasts, dines and sups on the vitality stored in the hair roots, and the longer you tolerate his presence the surer you are of displaying a shiney headpiece later on.

Kill the dandruff germ; that's the only way to keep from growing bald. Any capable doctor will tell you so.

How can you be sure that you are killing the dandruff germs? Simply by using daily for two weeks Parisian Sage, the most pleasant tonic for the hair the world has ever known.

Parisian Sage is the most pleasant and invigorating hair dressing in the world. It is not sticky or greasy. It will make women's hair soft, silky and luxuriant in a few days. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle. Fifty cents a large bottle at druggists everywhere, and at Wm. Madill's, who guarantees it. Mail orders filled, all charges prepaid, by the Canadian makers, Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont.

INDIAN RIVER NEWS

(Special to The Review.)

Indian River, Oct. 5th.—We are all feeling quite fresh and gay after the delightful rain. Mr. David Kidd looked especially so as he drove through Indian River this morning. I wonder what's up? Oh! I forget—Norwood show is coming off next week. Hurrah boys!

Messrs. Frank and Charlie Elmhirst took a great fancy to the little "Hoot Foot" up at the Peterboro exhibition and they are seriously thinking of running one at Indian River, for their own special amusement.

Mr. Jeffries of Toronto preached at the Baptist last Sunday. Services will not be held next Sunday on account of the anniversary over at Bethel.

Hugh! Jermyn folk! we want to know if you have caught the greasy dog yet? Pray, let us know, we are anxious to hear all about it.

Mr James Powis passed through the village this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Elmhirst and Mr. and Mrs. William Borland, with sons, Harvey, and Arthur, spent a few days back at Harvey last week visiting relatives.

Mrs. S. Steedman with daughter and sons are visiting at Indian River.

We hear the Baptists talking of a concert for the near future. I tell you if its anything like the last it will certainly be worth going to.

Indian River, Oct. 5.—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kidd, of Indian River, spent Sunday visiting friends in Peterborough.

Miss McMartin, Peterborough, was the guest of Miss Vera O'Brien, Sunday and Monday of last week.

Miss Shannon has resumed her duties as teacher at S.S. No. 1, Douro, and all are exceedingly well pleased as Miss Shannon has been giving entire satisfaction along that flowery path of knowledge.

Mr. Maurice O'Leary, of town, also Mr. A. Devlin and sister, Hanna, attended the wedding of Miss Josey Logan, Norwood, on Wednesday evening and report an excellent time. The bride was the recipient of a great many costly and useful presents, testifying to the high esteem in which she is held by her many friends. The newly wedded couple left on the 9 a.m. train for Toronto and Buffalo. The bride's travelling suit was of navy blue ladies' cloth with hat to match. Among the guests from a distance were Mrs. O'Connell, Campbellford; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hogan, Peterborough; Miss Annie and Minnie Hogan, Peterborough; Miss Shannon, Indian River; Mr. and Mrs. McGarity, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs Jas. Collins, Douro. The numerous friends of the contracting parties join in wishing them much prosperity

A Romance of Arizona

Novelized From Edmund Day's Melodrama

By JOHN MURRAY and MILLS MILLER

Copyright, 1908, by G. W. Dillingham Co.

The boy drew the money from his pocket and handed it to Slim, remarking: "Here it is—all of it. I never touched it. I was going"— Bud was about to lie again, but he realized the futility of more falsehoods. "Take it," he added.

"Bud," he said to that young man, "me an' you have been pretty good friends, we have. I learned you how to ride, to throw a rope, an' Bud—Bud—what did you take it fer? I know you didn't murder Terrill fer it, but what did you keep the money fer?" He asked the question with anger and annoyance.

Slim had seated himself by the fire. He spoke to the boy as he would to a comrade.

"Can't you see?" the boy asked. "Polly. I wanted to make a home for her, and now she'll know me for what I am, a thief—a thief."

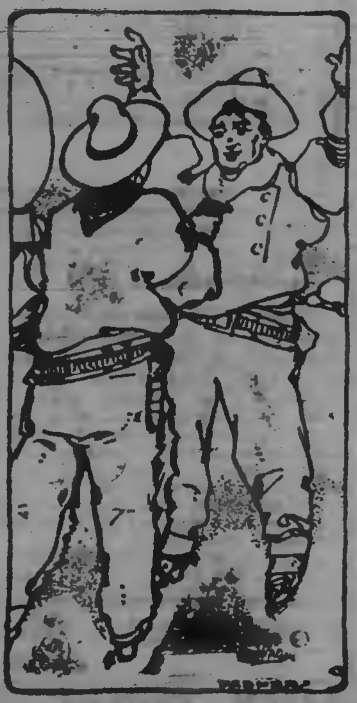
Slim rose and stepped to his side, laying his hand on the boy's shoulder. "Mebbe she won't have to know. Buck he's dead, an' only you an' me know."

Bud looked at the speaker in amazement. A lovable smile crept over Slim's face. "I'm goin'," he said, "to slip you a new deck an' give you a fresh deal. That was part my money that was stole. I never come back at the county for it. Buck he's paid back his half. I'll let 'em all think it was the whole. I'll put in a thousan' I have at home that I was savin' to buy in with the Triangle B in case I don't git elected nex' time. So, Bud, I'm goin' to lend a thousan' of this to you just to give a chance at that little home."



"Go ahead. Squeeze your hardware."

"You're the whitest man I ever knew!" cried Bud.

"I reckon I ain't colored, 'cept a little red mite on top," laughed Slim. He disliked any show of feeling by the boy over the offer he had made.

"But I can't take your money," Bud protested.

"Yes, you can," assured Slim. "You pay it back when you get on your feet agin. I'm goin' to take your word."

Slim's generosity overwhelmed the boy. "Take my word!" he cried.

Slim laid his hands on the boy's shoulders. "Yes," he declared. "You've made your first bad break, but you've had your first lesson. An' you ain't goin' to forget it," he added emphatically.

"And Polly?" he faltered.

"There ain't nobody goin' to tell her." Speaking sternly to Bud, he added, "You make her a good husband."

Bud seized the sheriff's hand, wringing it warmly. "I will, Slim; I will," he promised.

The wait had been too long for Polly. She returned before Slim called her, saying: "I'm tired waitin' on you all. Haven't you finished up that business yet?"

"Yes, ma'am; it's finished," replied Slim.

"Did Bud tell you about it?" inquired Polly.

"He told me. Seems like you two are goin' to get married."

"Uh-huh," laughed Polly happily. "An', oh, say, will you stand up for Bud?"

"I reckon Bud can stand up for himself now with you to help him," answered Slim emphatically.

"We'll run over and tell the boys you're back!" shouted Bud.

Slim took the hands of the young people in his own big ones. "I'm right glad you two are goin' to hitch up," he said. "I am dead sure you'll make a even runnin' team."

Polly glanced shyly at Slim. "Bud won't mind if you kiss me," she hinted. Slim grinned sheepishly. In his embarrassment he rubbed one foot on his other leg. "Well, I ain't—never—that is"— he stammered. "Bud, if you all don't mind," he boldly asserted after his bashfulness had waned, "I reckon I will play one little bet on the red."

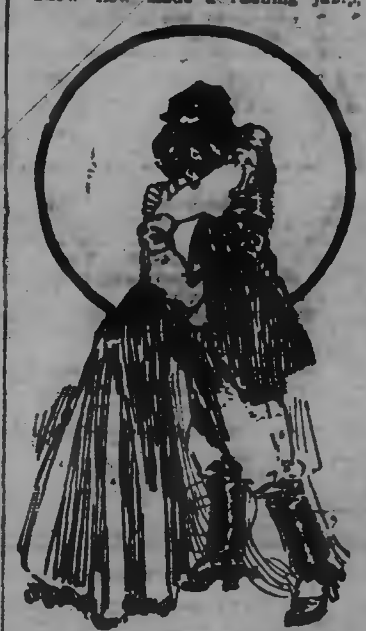
The sheriff never did anything in a small way. The kiss he gave her full on the lips was a resounding one.

Bud took Polly by the hand and silently led her to the house. Slim sat down on a keg behind the fire. Taking some loose tobacco and a film of rice paper from his pocket, he deftly rolled a cigarette and lighted it with a brand from the blaze. With a sigh he removed his hat. He was the picture of dejection. For several moments he sat in deep thought. Then, with a deep indrawing of his breath and a shrug of the shoulders, he cried: "Shucks! Nobody loves a fat man!"

* * * * * * *

When Polly told the boys in the corral that Slim had returned and was waiting for them at the mess wagon they dropped their work and made for him with wild whoops and yells. Slim smiled as he heard them coming.

Show Low made a running jump, throwing his arms about the sheriff's neck. Parenthesis and Sagebrush each grabbed a hand, pumping up and down emphatically. The others slapped him on the back. All talked at once, asking him the news and whether Jack had returned.



"Jack!" was her only cry.

"Did you nip it up with the 'Paches," asked Parenthesis.

For each he had his own particular form of greeting. "No, boys," he said when the group became more orderly, "I ain't a-goin' to say a word till I see Mrs. Payson first."

Polly had ridden at once to the house to tell the joyful news of Slim's return to Echo, who hurried at once to the boys about the wagon.

Parenthesis spied her riding down the trail. "She's comin' now," he cried.

"Boys," requested Slim, "would you mind herdin' off yonder a bit?"

The cowpunchers strolled over to the cottonwood, leaving Echo to meet Slim alone.

"Where is he?" was Echo's tearful greeting.

"Well, ma'am, there's a man out yonder that's been through fire an' brimstone fer you!"

Echo stared over the prairies. Then Jack was still searching for Dick. Slim had failed to find him. "Out yonder," she moaned, wringing her hands.

"Wait a minute," said Slim. "He says to me, says he, 'Break it to her, Slim; tell her gentle—an' if she wants me call, an' I'll come.' Ma'am, Dick Lane is dead."

Echo shuddered. "Dead," she repeated, "by his"—

"No, no," interrupted Slim; "not that way. Indians. Jack found Dick, an' the Indians found 'em both. When I come up with the soldiers from Fort Grant they was havin' the derndest mixup with the Indians you ever did see. Both men were bad hurted, an' Dick—well, ma'am, I leaned over him jest in time to hear him say, 'Tell her I know she was true an' not to mind.' Then he gave a little ketch of his breath an' dropped back into my arms."

Echo sighed. The tragedy of the desert was very real to her. In the many months that the two men had been away she had lived through it with them in poignant imagination.

"Great hearted Dick!" she said. "I was not worthy of his love. And Jack—where is he?"

"Wait a minute. He wants to know if you can forgive him—if you will take him back."

"Slim!" was the only word Echo uttered, but the volume of love it contained told him everything.

"You needn't say nothin' more. I see it shinin' in your eyes," cried Slim.

"Jack! Jack!" he shouted. "You derned idiot, come a-runnin'!"

Payson hurried up from the arroyo within which he had been waiting.

"Echo, I have not altogether failed in my mission. I have not brought Dick Lane back, but I hope I come from him bearing something of his loyalty and simple faith. If you ever can learn to trust me again—if you ever can learn to love me"— he said to Echo humbly.

"Don't be a derned fool, Jack," blurted Slim. "Can't you see she ain't never loved no one else?"

"Echo, is it so?" asked Jack eagerly.

Slim grinned. Going over to Echo's side, he gave her a slight push, saying, "Go tell him."

"Jack!" was her only cry as her husband infolded her in his arms.

BABIES SORES

Every mother should realise that the skin of her baby is so tender that the secretions of the body often lead to rashes, eruptions, etc., all of which may be removed by Zam-Buk. Scores of restless, crying babies, upon examination, are found to be suffering from some form of skin irritation or "heat." Don't let the little one suffer when Zam-Buk will cure!

Mrs. L. Hood, of 675 Alexander Avenue, Winnipeg, says: "I have proved the value of Zam-Buk when applied to children's sores. Some nasty sores broke out around my baby's mouth, and despite all the preparations used, they refused to heal. I took him to St. Boniface hospital and he remained there for two weeks. At the end of that time he was no better, and we again took him home. I was then advised to try Zam-Buk and obtained a supply. The effect of the first few applications was very gratifying, and I continued with the use of the balm. A little perseverance resulted in a complete cure."

Mrs. E. Cocker, of Yorkton, Sask., says: "My little baby girl had a bad running sore all over her little chin. A few applications of Zam-Buk healed the sore in such a perfect manner that no scar was left behind."

Scores of similar cases could be quoted. Zam-Buk is absolutely pure—contains no rancid animal fats, no mineral coloring matter, no astringent poisons. It is the ideal balm for baby.

Zam-Buk cures eczema, rashes, ringworm, chapped hands, scurvy, heat rashes, cuts, burns, ulcers, discharging sores, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c. box, all druggists and stores, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Don't take the risk of using harmful imitations!

GIRLS' DRESS.

All Seams Allowed.

This little frock offers an excellent design for a school dress. It has a yoke in V-shape at the neck and below this the dress is arranged in three box-plaits. The sleeves are finished with a band at the wrist and the skirt is box-plaited all around. The back has a box-plait at each side of the closing. The neck is finished with a band and bias strips of the material are used to trim. There are few materials which cannot be used for this dress—serge, cashmere, cheviot and basket weave will look well. To make a more dressy garment, velveteen with a lace yoke would be lovely. The pattern (5165) is cut in sizes 6 to 12 years. To make the dress in medium size will require 3⅝ yards of material 36 inches wide, or 1⅞ yards 44 inches wide, with ⅜ yard of allover 18 inches wide for yoke.

The above pattern can be obtained by sending 10 cents to the office of this paper.

C. C. JAMES ON TENNYSON.

Ontario's Deputy Minister of Agriculture Is an Author.

Mr. C. C. James, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, who is credited with having added millions to the agricultural wealth of this province by wheedling farmers into the gradual adoption of progressive and enlightened measures in agriculture, is also well-known as a bibliophile. He has perhaps the finest collection of Canadian volumes of verse extant and his collection of Tennysoniana is also most complete. Mr. James has lately added to the volume of literature relating to the great Laureate a little publication of his own in pamphlet form containing two papers, "A Tennyson Pilgrimage," and "Tennyson, the Imperialist." The first named paper was the result of a little journey of homage to the poet's English haunts, that Mr. James made in 1909, the centenary of Tennyson's birth. The second paper deals with a phase of the poet's career not generally familiar. Tennyson, Mr. James points out, was one of the earliest Imperialists of the type with which we are familiar to-day. Not the least interesting part of the little brochure are the extracts from Lady Tennyson's diary showing that as early as 1870 the laureate was an advocate of colonial conferences in England and declared "How strange England cannot see her true policy lies in a closer union with the colonies." His indignation over an editorial in The London Times, published in 1872, suggesting the probability of the separation of Canada from Great Britain, as a not undesirable contingency, was intense. He stopped the press to include a reference to it in the dedication of "Idyls of the King," which was addressed to Queen Victoria. The allusion ran:

"And that true North, whereof we lately heard
A strain to shame us—'keep you to yourselves
So loyal is too costly! friends, your love
Is but a burden; break the bonds and go!'
Is this the tone of Empire—Here the faith
That made us rulers? This indeed her voice
And meaning, whom the roar of Hougoumont
Left mightiest of all nations under Heaven?
What shock has fooled her since that she should speak
So feebly? Wealthier—wealthier—hour by hour!
The voice of Britain, or a sinking land,
Some third-rate isle half lost among the seas?
There rang her voice, when the full city peal'd
Thee and Thy Prince; The loyal to their crown
Are loyal to their own far sons, who love
Our Ocean Empire with her boundless homes."

VAG. GETS SIX MONTHS A BAD POLICE RECORD

Wm. Flood is Well Known to Cobourg Police — Edward Jobe to be Sentenced Saturday — Blacklister Fined $10.00

Six months in the Central, at Toronto, was the sentence meted out to William Flood by Magistrate Dumble at the police court this morning.

He was arrested last week on a charge of vagrancy, complaints having been made that he was begging on the streets.

The evidence in police court was not sufficient, in the Magistrate's mind, to warrant a conviction being made, and the prisoner was remanded to appear to-day. He gave his name as Michael Ryan.

He stated this morning that his right name was Wm. Flood, but he used the other, that of Ryan, as it was his mother's name.

However, there is a long police record attached to the name of Wm. Flood, in Cobourg, and that may have something to do with the change.

Two witnesses were called. The first, Wallace Kennedy, said that the prisoner had called at his blacksmith shop. Another man was with him, but he had not heard either ask for assistance.

Alfred Beal, a city fireman, said that while standing at the corner of Hunter and George streets the prisoner's companion approached him, while the prisoner went to another man. He was first asked for money and later paper and tobacco, but refused. Both men then went south on George street, and stopped about a dozen men between them.

Chief Thompson produced a long police court record against the prisoner in Cobourg, dating back to 1897, when he appeared on a drunk charge. Since then he appeared on charges of assault, theft, drunkenness, vagrancy, assisting a prisoner to escape, and escaping himself.

Flood claimed he had been working for a Coal Company in the city, and also with a farmer near Lindsay.

JUDGMENT SATURDAY.

In the case of Edward Jobe His Worship ordered a remand till Saturday morning.

The prisoner appeared a week ago and pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking into the store of P. J. Hickey, Hunter street, and stealing three pair of boots. This morning the six other charges were read, and to each he pleaded guilty.

The list of charges was given in the Review on the date of the prisoner's first appearance.

COUNT THE COST.

A drunk, who was fined $2.00, was advised to count the cost the next time he felt like having a drunk.

BLACKLISTER FINED.

A listter pleaded guilty to a violation of the Act, and was fined $10.00. He was given ten days in which to pay the amount.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION AT THE Y. M. C. A.

One thing that was emphasized at the meetings of the Royal Commission was the need of mechanical drawing and shop arithmetic on the part of the young men employed in shops. The Y.M.C.A. is doing its part to meet this need and the young men of Peterborough would do well to look at the educational prospectus of the association. The fee is so small that any young man can afford it and no machinist is equipped without a knowledge of these subjects. The classes are filling up nicely and promise to be most successful.

Let the secretary know if you think of taking up any of these classes.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To my friends and the general public of Peterborough:—

I beg to notify all my friends and the public generally that I have disposed of my drug business to Mr. W. J. Kent a gentleman whom I can recommend to the people of Peterborough as one fully capable to run a drug business in an up-to-date manner in every respect.

In making this announcement I beg to thank my many patrons for their kindnesses shown to me in the past 30 years and trust they will give the same confidence to my successor as they did to myself.

It affords me very great pleasure to feel that in retiring from the drug business I am placing that business in the hands of a gentleman who is in every respect worthy of the confidence and esteem of the citizens of Peterborough.

Signed,

H. S. MACDONALD

INTIMATION

With reference to the above I beg to announce to the people of Peterborough, that having purchased the business of Mr. H. S. Macdonald, I feel that my long and varied experience in every line of the business justifies me in saying to the people of Peterborough that my constant aim and desire will be to give them a service in the drug and sundry line second to none in the Province. Having ample capital I do not intend to be undersold and at all times will guarantee the quality and standard of my goods to be equal to the best procurable.

The stock being badly depleted I am purchasing new lines in every department and hope to have them ready for your inspection in the course of a week or two. Eighteen years experience as a prescription specialist will be a sufficient guarantee that this particular branch of the business which I intend to personally supervise will lead to the best results for both the medical man and his patient. "Uniformity of quality and drugs true to name will always prevail.

Y.W.C.A. NOTES

That the city girls mean to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the Y. W. C. A. Gymnasium for physical development was demonstrated last evening, when in spite of the downpour of rain, over fifty girls, with an ardor which could not be dampened, met for their first class lesson.

All entered most heartily into the work, under the able leadership of Miss Coventry assisted by Miss Rannie, piano accompanist.

As many, on account of the inclemency of the weather, were unable to attend the open class session last night, the invitation is repeated to all the city girls to attend the class next Tuesday evening.

All school girls are invited to join their gymnasium class on Monday afternoon at 4.30.

A large junior class was formed last Saturday morning, but there is room on the floor for many more and all little girls will be welcome to come in on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

WHO WILL HELP DEMIDOFF?

Mr. James Edgar Says He Won't --- Prisoner in Spain Asks That His Fortune in America be Recovered for Him---The Trifling Reward of $160,000 Awaits Some Kind Sympathizer.

A man imprisoned in far away Spain, a fortune of $480,000 in America, to which he cannot have access by reason of his imprisonment, and all that is needed to enable the poor, unfortunate to get his thousands on this side of the big expanse of blue water is an honest assistant in the process of recovery.

And this assistant will be well paid. Well paid! well we should think so, for $160,000 is a sum that a few of us outside the Standard Oil Trust would reckon as "some" money.

Mr. James Edgar, the local paper paper and paper supplies dealer, has the chance to get that $160,000, so the imprisoned Demidoff says. But Mr. Edgar says Spain is a long way off, and so is Demidoff and so, perhaps is the fortune, and likely there are conditions attached.

He will not assist the pent-up, languishing sufferer. Poor Demidoff.

A TOUCHING APPEAL.

Mr. Edgar received the following letter written in English and enclosed in an envelope postmarked Madrid, Spain, September 20th.

Dear Sir,—Although I know you only from good references of your honesty, my intuition compels me to reveal you an important affair, in which you can procure a modest fortune, saving at the same time that of my darling daughter.

Before being imprisoned here I was established as a banker in Russia, as you will see by the enclosed article about me. Many English newspapers have published my arrest. I beseech you to help me to obtain a sum of 480,000 dollars I have in America, and to come here to raise the seizure of my baggage by paying to the registrar of the court, the expenses of my trial, and recover my portmanteurs containing a secret pocket, where I have hidden the document.

As a reward I will give up to you the third part, viz., 160,000 dollars.

I cannot receive your answer in the prison, but you must send a cablegram to a person of my confidence, who will deliver it to me.

Awaiting your cable to instruct you you in all my secret, I am, sir, (Yours truly,

DEMIDOFF.

First of all answer by cable, not letter, as follows—

M. Emdero,
Luna F. Cuarto,
Madrid, (Spain).
Understood, James.

THE ARREST.

The history of the charge against Demidoff and the story of his arrest is told in the following clipping, which was enclosed in the letter—

Arrest of St. Petersburg Banker Charged with Fraud in Russia and Manslaughter in Spain Interview of Two Ambassadors.

Some months ago, as our readers may remember, we referred in these columns to the great scandal caused in St. Petersbourg and in Russia generally, by a noted banker who absconded, leaving a deficit of over five millions of rubies.

The Russian police sought for him for a long time in vain, for it seems he had not left the least trace of his flight and the continued search over Europe and America proved unavailing.

Yesterday, however, a Spanish Inspector, accompanied by two officers from Scotland Yard, and acting under instructions of the Spanish Ambassador, who had previously interviewed the Home Secretary, arrested him on his way from the hotel, where he was staying, to the steamship office. It seems that it was his evident intent on to take passage for New York. From information received by the Ambassador, he had been in hiding in Spain, where he lived with a woman and with his daughter. A few days before arriving in London he had quarrelled with another Russian, who was mortally wounded by a revolver shot during the scuffle, and who only lived long enough to denounce his assailant.

In an interview with the Russian Ambassador, it seems that the name he had been using in Spain, and which he gave on being arrested was not his real one, Manasseima being simply an alibi, but after comparing the prisoner with photographs in his possession, the Russian Ambassador recognized him as Alexander Demidoff, the criminal banker, who eloped with five millions of rubies; he is a native of St. Petersburg, a widower, 48 years old, with an only daughter that he left in Spain on escaping from that country.

On being arrested, two of Manasseima's or Alexander Demidoff portmanteaus were seized, but although strictly searched, nothing but personal effects were found in them, in spite of which, the Russian Ambassador declares that prisoner ought to have several million rubies somewhere.

The Russian and Spanish Ambassadors conferred yesterday evening as to whether the prisoner should be conveyed to Spain or to Russia, and after an interview with the Home Secretary, and in accordance with the extradition treaty of England, Russia and Spain, it was agreed that the prisoner should be conveyed to Spain, to stand his trial for manslaughter, and that only after his trial can the Russian Government ask Spain, through diplomatic channels for his extradition.

PETERBORO PROTESTANT HOME

ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1909-10

—During the year 1909-10 there have been few changes in the Home. We have had twenty-three inmates in the that year with an average residence of 292 1-2 days each.

Three deaths have occurred and two have been discharged. Seven new inmates have been received.

So far nothing has been done to provide more suitable quarters, but your Board is still hoping that some arrangement may be effected at no very distant date by means of which your Board may be relieved of some of the burden which they have borne for so long, the most trying feature being the care of the old men.

SPECIAL MEETING.

On May 2nd, 1910, a special meeting of the Board and the Trustees was held to discuss what proposition should be made to the City Council regarding the building of a new home.

It was decided that your Board would undertake to raise ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00) for the work if the Council would give another ten thousand and a suitable site for the building.

TO FORM ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

At the meeting on Sept. 20th, 1910, it was decided that your Board should call a meeting of representative women from all the churches, with a view to finding out what could be done to form an Associated Charities organization in this city. The object of the association would be the federation of all charitable work, and to prevent the overlapping and duplicating which so often occurs; also to enquire into the causes of poverty and to see what measures should be taken to give permanent relief. This meeting, which was held on Friday, Sept. 23rd, in the Y.W.C.A., was well attended and proved most enthusiastic. We trust that before long the Association may be definitely formed.

Your Board has been obliged to accept the resignation of their secretary, Mrs. R. F. McWilliams, whose removal to Winnipeg made it necessary that she should give up her post. Their warmest thanks are due to Mrs. McWilliams for her most efficient services during her term of office and for the keen interest she has always shown in the affairs of the Home. Their best wishes go with her in her future life. Miss Helen Denison was appointed in her place.

Miss Webster, as matron, has proved herself to be untiring in her efforts for the welfare of the Home. Her kind care of all under her charge has been unceasing.

THANK YOU.

Your Board desire to express their warmest thanks to all who have aided in brightening the lives of the inmates. In this connection we would mention the doctors of the city, who have so kindly cared for any who have required their attention. Also those members of the various churches who have held services on Sunday during the year, and to Miss Miss McCalla and her Bible class, and the members of the Salvation Army, who have conducted the week-day meetings.

We are further indebted to the kind friends of the Home who have sent donations of various sorts, and in many ways have shown their interest in our work.

Our hearty thanks are due to the local press for their kindness in publishing all items of interest in connection with the Home, and also in donating a copy of their papers each day.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HELEN DENISON,
Secretary.

The lines of the fashionable corset have greatly changed.

Formerly the corset was just a band around the waist. But now the new long corsets add grace and lissomness to the figure of the modern young lady. We have all the latest new Fall corsets in stock now.

We know our prices are right, for we noticed a corset that we sell every day and at any time for a dollar, being advertised on a special day as a special bargain for a dollar.

Perhaps you noticed it yourself. A dollar for this corset is our regular price every day.

We have a large stock of every wantable corset. Every quality, every price, from 50c to $7.00.

We know we can suit you.

See our childs' waists, they are well made and have buttons just where they should be, at 25c.

See our maid's corsets, they have not the rigidity of the ladies' but they give the needed support, at 50c, 75c, etc,

We make a specialty of desirable corsets for plump figures.

BRIGHT AND BRIEF

The meeting in Park Street Baptist Church was a most impressive one. Dr. Sam. Luttrell took for his text, Mark VIII 36. "What Shall it Profit a Man if He Gain the Whole World and Lose His Own Soul." The doctor deals with facts, and very forcibly did he bring it home to his attentive hearers, the great need of looking after the soul's eternal interests in preference to the things of time.

Taking his illustrations from actual every day life. He appealed to those present to prepare for eternity.

That his message was effective was quite evident from the goodly number who, in response to the invitation walked voluntary out from the audience to the front, as an evidence of their acceptance of Jesus as their personal Saviour.

Meeting to-night at 8 p.m.

Next Sunday at 3 p.m., Dr. Sam. Luttrell will conduct a special service for men only. The doctor has met and conquered men's problems, and he will tell others how to do it. Come and hear the doctor at Park Street Baptist Church next Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m.

Bright, Brief, Brotherly Service. Good singing and a helping hand extended to all who come.

DAY FROWNED BUT DIRECTORS SMILED

There Was Much Rain But Many People at The Keene Fair—More Exhibits Than Last Year —Horse Races Proved Interesting and Were Run Off Smoothly

We won't say the weatherman wasn't in sympathy with the Keene Fair—that's too old an expression—but just imagine something that means the same thing, for it rained pretty nearly all the first day and for a generous part of yesterday afternoon, the second day.

But it takes more than a shower of rain to spoil such a well organized and long-looked-for event as the annual Otonabee Exhibition.

The Keene Fair is always a smart and prosperous one, and in spite of the opposition of the elements this year was a big success in every particular.

Of course it could hardly have been expected that the attendance would have been as large as it would had yesterday been the ideal radiant fair day. The crowd was not up to last year's mark, but it was a large one nevertheless, and the Fair Board can congratulate itself upon the all-round success of the exhibition.

In spite of the mud, all roads led to Keene, and when the roads were too roundabout steamboats provided the means of transport. The various points on Rice Lake were well represented, the 'Monarch' and 'Rainbow' bringing big boatloads of visitors to the village. As the result of it all, Keene was crowded, in fact congested, to that degree that it is only once a year, and that is on the occasion of the yearly fall show.

INDIAN BAND.

The Alderville Indian band occupied the music platform. It was under the direction of Samuel Comego, and made a good impression. The spirited rendition of "Turkey in the Straw" set half the crowd dancing, and in spite of the fact that Keene is local option the band played, "Coming Through the Rye." with unreserved vigor and musicianly abandon.

INCREASE IN EXHIBITS.

The growth and importance of the exhibition is shown by the fact that the exhibits were larger this year than last year in almost every department. Yesterday afternoon Secretary Shearer said he thought there would be over a hundred more entries than last fall, and the quality of the different exhibits was of a high standard.

A particularly creditable showing of horses was made, and the competition in this class was very keen.

The ladies evidently appreciate the distinction of having their work meet the approval of the judges of the fair, for a record was made in needlework, fine arts and other classes in this division, and the main building looked particularly attractive, adorned as it was with the dainty work of skilful feminine hands.

The judging of the inside work was done on the first day of the fair, and the exhibitors knew when they visited the grounds on the second day whether or not they had succeeded in winning the favor of the judges.

The dairy products were not so heavy as last year, but it is believed that this is about the only class that was not up to, or exceeded the numerical mark of the 1909 exhibition.

On account of the early judging the main building exhibits were in place on the first day, but the stock judging took place yesterday, and there was a great rush of cattle, horses, swine and sheep through the gates in the morning from 9 to 11 o'clock.

WINNERS OF THE SPECIALS.

Probably the most coveted prizes at any exhibition are the specials, and the exhibitors took a lively interest in the showing and results in connection with these much-sought-after awards.

Mr. James Thompson, M.P.P., gave a special of $10, in $6 and $4 for the best herds of grade cattle. Mr. Wm. Kemp, of Otonabee, took the first with a herd of Durham grades, and Mr. Edgar Wood, of Otonabee, second with his herd of grade Holsteins.

Mr. J. A. Sexsmith's special of $5 for the best pen of sheep was won by Mr. W. J. Westington, of Plainville.

Mr. T. F. Matthews gave a $6 special, split in $4 and $2, for the best pen of hogs, and Messrs. Thos. Beattie and Edgar Wood, both of Otonabee, succeeded in obtaining first and second respectively.

Other special prizes, the results of the competition for which were not returned at the time the reporters had access to the books yesterday afternoon, were a $5 prize for two-year-old gelding or filly and a special of $5 and $3 for the best lady driver, single and a similar special for the same class double.

EDWARDS WON FOOT RACE.

The open footrace for one mile proved interesting. The first prize was $2.50, that given by Wm Tech and Sons, and the second a hat, valued at $2.00, awarded by Thos Barrie & Co. William Edwards won the race, with Smoke, an Indian runner (not the Chemong celebrity), second. Harris and Phillips were the other starters.

EXCELLENT RACES.

The races were a big feature of the fair and the horses stepped briskly over the fast third of a mile track. Both the green and open event saw entertaining races.

The green race was straight money for Miller Boy, who annexed the three heats in splendid fashion. In the open race, however, things were shaken up a little more, and it took four heats to return the winner. Harry Direct looked likely for first money at the start, winning the first heat. Bourbon Brook finished second in this heat, and headed the field in the other three, taking the big division of the purse.

The summary:

GLAD TIDINGS FROM NOVA SCOTIA

Sure Relief for Suffering Women is Found in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Miss Kathleen Murphy, tells how She suffered and how easy and complete was her cure by the great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Tangier Mines Halifax Co., N. S.—(Special).—There is no longer any doubt that of the thousands of suffering women of Canada, nine out of every ten owe their troubles to Kidney Disease. For that reason it glad tidings that Miss Kathleen Murphy of this place is sending out to her suffering sisters.

"My troubles started from a cold," says Miss Murphy in an interview "I had pains in my head and back, and Rheumatism and Diabetes finally developed.

"Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills and they cleared out my Rheumatism, cured my Kidney Disease and brought back my health.

"I would not be without Dodd's Kidney Pills for I have given them a thorough test and found them to be all that is claimed for them."

The secret of health for women is to keep the kidneys strong and healthy. Healthy kidneys mean pure blood, abundant energy and a clear healthy complexion. The one sure way to keep the kidneys healthy is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

FINED!

Reeve of Tweed Fined Because he Was too Busy to Appear At Court.

Belleville, Oct. 6.—When the court opened this morning consternation to some extent prevailed owing to the fact that Wm. J. Robinson, one of the jurymen in the Parker murder trial was, during the night, taken suddenly ill and is now under a physician's care. A new jury may have to be empanelled and the trial, which has been in progress two days, commenced again. Dr. Bowlby, reeve of Tweed, was this morning, by his Lordship, Sir Wm. Mulock fined $20 or one month in jail, for contempt of court for not appearing yesterday when called upon to give evidence. The doctor paid the fine. Court was then adjourned until one o'clock this afternoon.

RESIGNATION AND APPOINTMENTS

Mr. Frank Forsythe, mechanical superintendent at the Lundy Shovel & Tool Company, has resigned the position and the resignation has been accepted. The position has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Peter H. F. Spies, late mechanical engineer of Messrs. Liemens, London, Eng., and who will be assisted by Mr. W. Jones, foreman shovel maker, late of Birmingham, England.

PORT HOPERS TO BE HERE

For Rugby Game With Collegiate Team—An Interesting Contest is Assured

The first rugby Team of Trinity College school, Port Hope, will be here on Saturday for the game with the Collegiates at Riverside Park at 3 o'clock.

Word has been received by the secretary of the local fourteen that the College boys are practicing hard in an endeavor to be in the best shape and if possible redeem themselves for the defeat last season here.

As has been said before, both teams are well known and in their past performances have always put up an exceedingly interesting game of rugby.

The home team is deserving of a large attendance at Riverside Park for the contest. Admission is 15 and 10 cents.

BASEBALL

Catcher Billy Sullivan, who won fame by catching a ball thrown from the top of the Washington monument, refuses to take the chance of handling a ball dropped from an aeroplane at a distance of 1,000 ft. He will coach the Philadelphia Athletics in the world's series.

RUGBY

In the new rugby rule book appears a cut of Mr. Seymour Collings, who is attending the training school at Springfield, Mass.

Mr. Colling is booked for a place on the back division of the first team this season.

NEW RECORD MADE FOR JUNIOR BROAD JUMP

In the jumps for the Collegiate Institute annual athletic competition, Vivian Fessenden won the senior standing broad jump with 8 ft. 9 in.

In the junior event Meredith Huycke took first with a jump of 7 ft. 6 in. and later put up a new record of 7 ft. 8 in.

The results were;

SR. JUMPS.

1 Vivian Fessenden, 8 ft. 9 in.
2 Albert Gilbert, 8 ft. 4 1-4 in.
3 Claude Bartlett, 8 ft. 2 1-2 in.

Other contestants were Hatrick, Phelan and Hill.

JR. JUMP.

1 Meredith Huycke, 7 ft. 6 in.
2 Murray Carlisle, 7 ft. 2 in.
3 Cecil McIntyre, 6 ft. 3 in.

The judges were Messrs. Petit and Ferguson and the announcer W. Armstrong. To-morrow afternoon the collegiate will hold the annual Field Day and the programme, which is a long one, promises to be an interesting and well contested one.

"DUMMY" CROUGH HAD SHOULDER BLADE BROKEN

The Winnipeg Free Press.—The many friends of "Dummy" Crough, the fullback of the St John's rugby team, were somewhat disappointed in Saturday's game at River Park because "Dummy" did not scintillate in his usual manner. But there is an explanation which is a very plausable one. Nobody on the field was aware of the fact that shortly after the game had started Crough had his shoulder blade broken and finished out time in this manner. Early in the play quarter-back Richardson threw a ball very low to the "Dummy" to boot, but but he failed to pick it up and an Oarsman bumped into him so hard that he felt a very nasty pain shoot through his shoulder. However, he showed his pluck by not whimpering and continued to play despite the injured shoulder. He was not aware that it was broken until he consulted Dr. Young after the game, who set the bone and made him carry his left arm in a sling. Crough did not want to submit to this handicap as he loves the game, and though ordered to keep out of it for a while "Dummy" has signified his intention to be in the thick of it on Saturday if he has to break another arm to do so. Crough showed what kind of stuff he is made of by sticking to the game when many a player would have been on the way to the hospital.

PETERBORO BOY IS CAPTAIN

Gordon (Rubbie) Fitzgerald, who is in Port Arthur, is captain of the rugby team of that place and which is making a creditable showing.

Out in the western town they play the game in the spring, summer and fall, and it is largely owing to the former Peterborough boy's efforts that the game is booming in Port Arthur, there being very little interest shown when he first went there.

The report on the stained garments has not yet been received.

St. Clement's R C., congregation, at Preston, will build a new church next spring.

CRITICS CONFOUNDED

Interested critics said a year ago: "Do not buy a Knight motor, it is an experiment—in a year or two it may be all right."

Partly this is true—the Knight engine will be improved. Quite frankly we venture to hope that each Knight engine and each Russell car we make will be better than the one before. We believe that our 1914 cars will be better than those of to-day.

But this is the fact that must be borne in mind :—

The Knight engine built in its first year, by the first firm building it in a commercial way, under official observation, put up a performance which no valve motor made by any firm after years of experience has been able to equal.

Is not this conclusive proof of Knight superiority?

Then consider that since that time the engineering skill of five of the leading engineering firms of the world have worked for the improvement of the motor, and have been aided by the experience of over 2,000 users.

To day the Knight motor stands on its record in all quarters of the globe as a tested, tried-out product of superlative excellence.

In the 1911 Russell "38" you get the culmination of this work in engine design.

Address: The [illegible] (formerly Windsor)

It was decided to make several repairs in the streets at different parts

THE OLD QUESTION.

The old question in regard to the drainage in the village was brought up before the board again and discussed. Last year's council thought they had solved the matter when they submitted drainage by-law to a vote, but the electors turned it down and they are up against the same old proposition again this year. The only drainage that the village has is by means of a small creek through the centre of the village, which becomes dammed up at certain points causing stagnant water. As this creek runs through private property the council do not know exactly how they can make improvements on it. It was decided to investigate the matter and see if something can be done to safeguard the public's health.

A GOOD YEAR.

The farmers in this district seem to be very well pleased with the result of the crops this year. Hay was good crop in all parts and nearly all kinds of grain have done fairly well. In some parts of the country the hail destroyed a quantity of grain during the summer. Potatoes are a good crop in some places while in other neighborhoods the report is not so encouraging.

CHEESE SHIPPED.

The factories in this vicinity shipped another quantity of cheese on Tuesday. This year a large quantity of cheese has been shipped from this station and the amount is still large considering the lateness of the season.

RECOVERING.

Mr Wallace Kelsh, who was burnt on Wednesday morning last, while firing the engine at the Randolph McDonald Construction Works at Trent Bridge has recovered sufficiently to be able to be around. Mr. Kelsh was endeavoring to clean out the flues on the engine when the unfortunate accident took place.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES.

St. John's Anglican church held their Thanksgiving services on Sunday last October 2nd. The church was beautifully adorned for the occasion with the choicest productions in grains, fruits and vegetables, while the abundant foliage made the church look very pretty. Proft. T. Herbert Cotton, of Wycliffe College, Toronto, gave pointed and instructive sermons at both services while the choir was heard in special music, in the evening rendering the anthem, "Send Out Thine Light." Services were also held at the Bush Point school house in the afternoon.

The Canadian Jubilee Singers, who appeared in the opera house on Friday evening last, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church, had a very large audience.

Mr M. Whibbs moved into Mr. O. Hicks' house on Ottawa street.

Mr. Taylor, locomotive foreman, who has been transferred to London, left for that place on Monday. His place will be taken by Mr. Brown, of Toronto.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunlop are visiting with relatives in Deseronto.

Mr. James Fowler, of Peterborough, was the guest of J. E. Fowler on Sunday and Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Roche spent Sunday at Wilbur, Ont.

Mr. E. Fisher, of Campbellford, was in town on Monday.

Mrs. (Dr.) Hourigan, and son, of Calgary, Alta., are the guests of her sister, Mrs. A. E. McGuire.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos Spilsbury, of Rochester, N.Y., are visiting the former's sister, Mrs. H. Falkner.

Mrs. Sawyer is visiting with relatives in Peterborough.

Mesdames Holcombe and Bryans were in Norwood on Friday last.

Rev. E. W. Holdsworth, B.A., is in Toronto this week, attending the annual meeting of the graduates of Wycliffe College.

Mr. Earl Lancaster is spending the week at Madoc.

Miss Gladys Richards, of Detlor, has been engaged as book-keeper by Cono and Chiles.

Mrs. Beatty, of Central Ontario Junction, is visiting with Havelock friends.

The Girls' Guild, of St. John's church, held a meeting at Mrs. (Dr.) Holdcroft's residence on Tuesday evening.

A BRILLIANT VIOLINIST

A musical number was inavertedly omitted from the report of the Knox Church address on Tuesday evening. Master W. S. Wilson played the violin very effectively. Master Wilson received his musical education in Rugby School, England. He also studied at the Royal Academy of Music, London, Eng. In these institutions he received a certificate of proficiency when only eleven and a half years of age.

A brilliant future undoubtedly awaits this young musician.

FIRST EVENING AMBULANCE CLASS

First Evening Ambulance Class.

The first lecture in the course just starting at the Young Women's Christian Association, in the Ambulance Class will begin this evening, Thursday, at 8 o'clock in the green parlor. Any who have not already registered for this class may do so this evening. There will be probably six to eight lectures in the course, at the close of which those in the class desiring to do so, can take an examination. This examination is sent out by headquarters of the St. John Ambulance Association at London, England. Those successful in passing it receive a diploma from the above Association. A large number have already signified their intention of taking this course, and it is hoped many more will join the class at the first lecture this evening. Text books can be ordered from Miss Morse. Those joining the class are asked to bring a note book and pencil. The class will probably be followed by a class in Home Nursing, which can be taken up independent of the First Aid Course.

GRAND TRUNK ENGINEERS

For the past few weeks a committee representing the engineers of the Grand Trunk Railway System has been in conference with the Superintendent of Motive Power. So quietly did they carry on their negociations that although twenty-six of them were domiciled at a Montreal Hotel for weeks, there has been no publicity about the matter. The negotiations were carried out with the best of good feelings on both sides and now, it is pleasant to record an agreement has been reached satisfactory to all concerned.

The engineers asked for a substantial increase of pay, amounting it is understood to something like 12 p. c. The Grand Trunk was willing from the first to grant them an increase the result of friendly negotiations is the agreement concluded Thursday. The representatives of the engineers left for their homes Friday last, entirely satisfied with the result of their mission to Montreal.

W.C.T.U. Meeting

A special meeting of the W.C.T.U. will be held on Friday afternoon, Oct. 7th, at 3 o'clock in the parlors of the Young Women's Christian Association. This meeting is called for the election of officers and to appoint delegates to the convention to be held at Owen Sound. All members are urged to be present and any ladies interested in the work are invited to come and join the .C.T.U.

They Desire Curios

The exhibition in connection with the Missionary Institute would be grateful for the loan of any curios or work from foreign lands. Friends who desire to assist in this way will leave articles at Y.W.C.A. or 'phone 504 and the exhibits will be called for.

Temporary Heat Quickly

Did you ever stop to think of the many ways in which a perfect oil heater is of value? If you want to sleep with your window open in winter, you can get sufficient heat from an oil heater while you undress at night, and then turn it off. Apply a match in the morning, when you get out of bed, and you have heat while you dress.

Those who have to eat an early breakfast before the stove is radiating heat can get immediate warmth from an oil heater, and then turn it off.

The girl who practices on the piano in a cold room in the morning can have warmth from an oil heater while she plays, and then turn it off.

The member of the family who has to walk the floor on a cold winter's night with a restless baby can get temporary heat with an oil heater, and then turn it off. The

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

Absolutely smokeless and odorless

is invaluable in its capacity of quickly giving heat. Apply a match and it is immediately at work. It will burn for nine hours without refilling. It is safe, smokeless and odorless. It has a damper top and a cool handle. An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font.

It has an automatic-locking flame spreader which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be cleaned in an instant.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, and can be quickly unscrewed for rewicking. Finished in japan or nickel, strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

REPORT ON THE COLLEGIATE MIDSUMMER EXAMINATIONS

In The Scholarship Examinations, the Highest Held in Province Outside Universites, Four Candidates Competed and Each Won One or More Scholarships--An Uusurpassed Record in Province

The following is a report in which parents and citizens in general, will find figures and facts regarding the results of the Collegiate Institute midsummer examinations, that will both interest and please. The report which was read before the Board of Education on Tuesday, is the result of a request of the Board for a conference between Principal Kenner and a special committee, the motive being to ascertain just how efficient is the institute, and how it compares with others.

The report is of such an important nature that it should be read thoroughly—

The Chairman and Members of the Board of Education.

Gentlemen,—Your special committee appointed to report on the results of the Collegiate Institute midsummer examinations, beg to report as follows—

The latest report of the Minister of Education gives figures which clearly show two things—first, that the percentage of successful students at the Faculty Entrance and the Normal Entrance examinations is very low, and secondly, that the percentage of successful students at the High School Entrance examinations is 50 per cent. higher than the percentage of successful students at the Faculty Entrance and Normal Entrance examinations.

In 1909 at the Faculty Entrance, Part I., 742 candidates wrote and only 186 passed, or 25 per cent.

At the Faculty Entrance Part II., 487 wrote and only 149 passed, or 30 per cent.

At the Normal Entrance 3401 wrote and 1325 passed, or 38 per cent.

At the High School Entrance 23875 wrote and 14790 passed, or 62 per cent.

The figures for the Pass and Honor Matriculation examinations are not given.

At the last Departmental examinations seven students of the P.C.I. tried the Faculty Entrance, Part I., examination, and five were successful, or 71 per cent. Six tried the Faculty Entrance, Part II., and three were successful, or 50 per cent.

The average on the two in Peterborough was 61 per cent. for 1910.

The average for the two in the Province was 28 per cent. for 1909. Results for 1910 not available.

HONOR MATRICULATION

Seven candidates wrote on the Honor Matriculation examination, and all were successful.

Five first-class honors were won, 75 per cent, 1st Class.

Four second-class honors were won, 66 per cent, 2nd Class.

Twelve third-class honors were won, 50 per cent, 3rd Class.

SCHOLARSHIP EXAMINATIONS

This is the highest examination held in the Province, outside of the Universities.

Four candidates competed for scholarships, and each of the four won one or more scholarships, a record unsurpassed in the Province.

Scholarship winners—

1—K. Burnett.
2—A. Rosboro.
3—W. Anderson.
4—G. Yenney.

This is 100 per cent.

A. Rosboro won the First Edward Blake scholarship in Mathematics and Science at Toronto University, $204.

A. Rosboro ranked second for the Second Edward Blake scholarship in Mathematics at Toronto University, $138.

A. Rosboro ranked second for the Second Edward Blake scholarship in Science at Toronto University, $138.

W. Adamson won the Prince of Wales scholarship at Queen's University for proficiency in Mathematics, Chemistry and Physics, $160.

G. Yenney won the Eighth Edward Blake scholarship for general proficiency.

NORMAL ENTRANCE.

Fifteen were sent up for this examination, and six passed, or 40 per cent. In considering the results of the Normal Entrance examination the following facts should be taken into consideration: Most of the schools in the Province have a four years' course for this examination, one year in Form I., one year in Form II., and two years in Form III. In our Collegiate Institute it is a three years' course, one year each in Forms I., II., and III. This means that Peterborough students try to do in three years what the majority of students take four years to accomplish. Of the nine who failed, six had spent only one year in Form III. City schools send up comparatively few students for this examination. The $25.00 non-resident fee, which is almost prohibitive, keeps out a very desirable class, namely, the students from the country districts.

There are eight compulsory subjects for this examination. The local students did not confine their attention to these eight subjects, as most of them took, in addition, two foreign languages, which will be required for Form IV., and what is more, during the fall term they also took the Art, Biology, Grammar and Arithmetic of the Lower School course, and in consequence, did not have to write on the nine lower school subjects at the Normal School in September, at which examination a large number of those who tried were plucked.

The cases of at least two others who failed on the Normal Entrance examination would appear to merit reconsideration by the Education Department.

One of these secured 62 marks over the 60 per cent. aggregate required, but failed by five marks in one subject; the other obtained 32 marks over the required aggregate and failed by only four marks in one subject.

Both of these were recommended by their teachers in their confidential report.

We would recommend that the attention of the Education Department be drawn to these two cases, and would urge that their certificates be granted them, since they each obtained a high aggregate and failed by only a few marks on one subject. We understand that the regulations of the Education Department cover such special cases.

Taking everything into consideration the Normal Entrance results were much better than would at first view appear.

JUNIOR MATRICULATION

Twenty-one passed this examination.

There are eleven papers to be passed on this examination.

Pupils who pass in at least eight of these are credited with Partial Matriculation standing. The one, two or three papers, as the case may be, in which they fail, may be written off at any one subsequent examination. These pupils are allowed their year; they may enter Form IV., and should not be considered as failures.

Sixteen passed the Partial Matriculation examination.

Thus of the 39 who wrote for Junior Matriculation, 37 were allowed their year, or 95 per cent.

Summary—

Form IV.—23 tried, 19 were successful.

Form 3 A—15 tried, 6 were successful.

Form 3 B—39 tried, 37 were successful.

Total number of candidates, 77; total number of successful candidates, 62; being 81 per cent.

Only fifteen out of 77 will have to take their year's work over again, a very creditable record, indeed.

It is only fair to state that seven candidates who wrote at Peterborough have not been taken into account in the above report. Three of these attended the Collegiate only during a part of the spring term, and were not in attendance at all from September to December. The other four were so hopelessly behind in their work that they were refused application forms, but secured them elsewhere, and wrote and made total failures.

Your committee congratulate the Board on the splendid standing of our schools, both Public and Collegiate, in the recent examinations. The results show faithful and able labors of the staff and assiduous efforts of the pupils, and we recommend that this report be published, that the people may realize their good fortune in having such splendid schools.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

D. W. DUMBLE,
DR. M. A. MORRISON,
W. H. HILL.

In seconding the adoption of the report Dr. Morrison said that it was a matter of gratification to the Board the principal and staff of the Collegiate and the pupils who had done so remarkably well. The report showed that even the majority who failed had done well. The pupils were competing on a three-year course, while in other places the course was four years.

Mr. W. H. Hill thought that the city was to be congratulated on having such an institution.

CHARMING WEDDING AT NORWOOD

A very pretty wedding took place at Norwood, Wednesday, Sept. 28th, when Mr. Patrick Collins, of Galway, claimed as his bride Miss Josey Logan, of Norwood, and a former school teacher of Galway. Rev. Father Kelly, parish priest, performed the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by her father, Mr. Patrick Logan, looked charming, wearing a princess gown of cream crepe over taffeta with yoke and sleeves chiffon draped and wearing a picture hat. She was attended by Miss Collins, of Galway who was very becomingly attired in cream colienne with yoke and sleeves of lace. Mr. John Logan, of Norwood, did the duties of groomsman.

After the ceremony the wedding party drove to the home of the bride's parents, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was awaiting them. The table was loaded with all the delicacies of the season and presented a pretty, as well as a tempting sight. About seventy guests assembled for the reception in the evening and tripped the light fantastic in a spacious room, which was profusely decorated with evergreens, flowers and national colors. The groom presented the bride and bridesmaid with handsome gold crescent pins with pearl settings.

KING MANUEL HAS TAKEN REFUGE UNDER UNION JACK

Provisional Government at Lisbon, Although Going on as if Revolution Was a Success, Has no Assurance That Movement Has Swept Country.

Gibraltar, Oct. 7.—King Manuel of Portugal is now under British protection. The Portuguese royal yacht Amelie, having on board the King, the Queen Mother, the Dowager Queen, and the Duke of Oporto, entered this harbor at eleven o'clock last evening. Shortly afterwards the King and the Queen Mother came ashore and drove to the summer residence of the governor, Sir Frederick Forestier-Walker, at Europe Point.

Success Not Assured.

Lisbon, Oct. 7.—While the City of Lisbon is in the hands of the revolutionist, and a republic has been proclaimed, with Theophile Braga as provisional President, and other prominent Republicans constituting the Ministry, there are still many thousands in and around the capital who are loyal to the monarchy.

The monarchists include a portion of the Lisbon troops massed in entrenched camps about the city. These have refused so far to ally themselves with the revolutionists, and the provisional government is taking steps to enforce allegiance.

The people of Lisbon are ignorant of events in the provinces, and it is therefore not known whether the movement is broad enough to sweep the country. Nevertheless, the Republicans are proceeding as though transformation of the monarchy into a republic was an accomplished fact, to stand for all time.

President's Manifesto.

London, Oct. 7.—Theophile Braga, the provisional President of Portugal, is a poet and economist. He has been an avowed Republican for forty years, but only recently made his entry into politics. He is essentially a man of the people.

Bernadino Machado, who is the most profound politician of the Republican party, is a candidate for the Presidency of the new republic. Costa is a professor of law and a brilliant orator.

The other members of the Government are lawyers or professors of ability.

A Times' correspondent, who has just returned to London from Lisbon, remarks that a strong loyalist spirit was shown by the populace and army during the festivities in connection with the celebration of the centenary of the battle of Busaco, and says that if the king escaped, and his entourage shows resolution, it is almost certain that they will be able to make a fight against the Republicans, who really only dominate Lisbon. All depends on the officers in charge of the forces outside of Lisbon. Civil war, the correspondent adds, between the capital and the country is a very probable outcome of the present situation, and if it should occur, there is sound reason why the Republicans, backed by a Lisbon mob, should be able to dominate the rest of the country.

On Wednesday afternoon the following proclamation was issued by the Provisional Government to the Portuguese people: "The people, army and navy, have succeeded in proclaiming a republic. The Braganza dynasty, mischievous and disturbing to social peace, has been forever exiled from Portugal.

"This rare event, representing the pride of an untamable race and the salvation of a country whose bravery is proverbial, fills with enthusiastic joy the hearts of patriots, and finally ends our country's bondage.

"Our aspiration for a regime of liberty stands revealed bright in its virgin innocence.

"Citizens, the present moment redeems and recompenses for all struggles and the sorrowful apprehensions we endured. This moment must be the beginning of a period of austere morality and immaculate justice, in order that the glorious communion of principles shall make of our sacrifices for our country, the base of our political program and our generosity towards the vanquished, and the base of our moral program.

"Citizens, let interest for our beloved country animate you and a single desire — that to be great — unite. The republic has confidence in the people for the maintenance of social order, respect for justice and devotion to the common cause of liberty. Consolidate with your love and sacrifice the works which springs from the Portuguese republic."

MARSHALL EXPLAINS

He Says He Left Queen's University Because of Persecution.

Kingston, Oct. 7.—John Marshall, now of Weyburn, Sask., yesterday telegraphed a statement regarding his resignation from the staff of Queen's. He says he did so because he had no desire to have a repetition of last winter's persecution.

He claims that from the time his article on the navy appeared in the press there was a concerted effort to make his position intolerable. He says that Principal Gordon was consulted as to his exclusion from the quarterly, and his conversation with The Kingston Standard was thrown in his teeth. He also claims he was taken to task for giving an address before the Kingston Trades and Labor Council, and was told that professors should not associate with riff-raff. Members of the British group at the college refused to speak to him all winter. He was thrown off the senate committee and dropped from the editorial staff of The Queen's Quarterly.

He found it impossible to work with Prof. Cappon, the head of his department. The latter, he says, told the registrar, G. Y. Chown, that he (Marshall) was "too damned independent."

In addition Prof. Marshall says: "Two professors in their classes denounced my navy article, and it was thought to intimidate me by having it stated that Sir James Whitney was reported to have said that he would make no grant to Queen's while a 'damned Radical' was on the staff. I am not saying Sir James said this, for I hold him in high regard; but that is how they thought to frighten me."

FEDERAL VS. PROVINCIAL

Victoria, B.C., Oct. 7.—A dispute over the Federal patronage brought the Minister of Inland Revenue, Hon. Wm. Templeman and John Jardine of Esquimalt, one of two Liberal members in the Provincial Legislature, into a stand-up fight in which fists were freely used. The pummeling has become the sensation of the coast.

Half a Million for Schools.

Calgary, Oct. 7.—The Calgary School Board has voted to expend $500,000 on three new schools, an addition to the high school, and three sites for new schools, being necessitated by the extraordinary increase in school population.

Protest From Council.

Sandwich, Oct. 7.—The Sandwich Town Council passed a strong resolution protesting to the Provincial Government against the suspension of Provincial Detectives Charles Mahoney and A. S. Campeau.

Agricultural College for Manitoba.

Winnipeg, Oct. 7.—Hon. Robert Rogers yesterday confirmed the report of the purchase by the Government of six hundred acres in St. Vital for a site for a new agricultural college and technical college.

WILL ABOLISH TOLL GATES

Montreal, Oct. 7.—It is semi-officially announced that the toll gates will soon be a thing of the past in the Province of Quebec. Hon. Mr. Taschereau, Minister of Public Works, stated at the Tessier banquet at Three Rivers that this question would be settled at once, and, as the Government has just bought a bridge in the district of Quebec for $100,000, it is more than probable that the private interests in the Montreal and other sections will also be purchased by the Quebec authorities.

L. E. Rivet, M.P., also states that he does not believe that the Province of Quebec and the English provinces are further apart than they were forty years ago. On the contrary, the member for Hochelaga, who, by the way, will address the Canadian Club in St. Thomas on the race question Oct. 23, declared that there is a national feeling knitting the whole country together.

ASK NOTHING IN RETURN

London, Oct. 7.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Postmaster-General Lemieux, in addressing the Sphinx Club, announced that Mr. Fielding's surplus this year will be $30,000,000. The main cause for the astounding prosperity was due to the British preference against all comers, and, he added, we ask nothing in return; we do it with loyalty and friendship because it has been the cause of prosperity in the Dominion. Whatever may be the result of reciprocity negotiations at Ottawa, British preference will remain as the cardinal principle of our success. Mr. Lemieux also expressed the hope that universal penny postage would be established.

NEW GRAIN ROUTE IS NOW OPEN

Winnipeg, Oct. 7.—The Grand Trunk Pacific has arranged with the Canadian Northern to use five miles of the latter's tracks, through this city, for the purpose of connecting up with the National Transcontinental line to Superior Junction. The first train load of wheat over the new line between Winnipeg and Fort William went through last night, and four others will leave during the day. The new arrangements mean that the Grand Trunk Pacific may operate through trains from Edmonton to Fort William, a distance of about 1,400 miles.

Governor Hughes Retires.

Albany, N.Y., Oct. 7.—Governor Hughes retired at 3.45 o'clock yesterday and turned over his office to Lieutenant-Governor Horace White.

Succumbed to Paralysis.

Exeter, Oct. 7.—Reeve Wm. Bawden of Exeter is dead. He succumbed to a stroke of paralysis, sustained while driving on Main street.

An Expensive Stamp.

London, Oct. 7.—A shilling black 1851 Canadian stamp was sold yesterday for $280.

THE DEATH SENTENCE OF BOTH MAY BE COMMUTTED

Toronto, Oct. 7.—It is understood that it is not the intention of the crown to press for the carrying out of the death penalty in the cases of Mary Dolan and Thomas McNulty, sentenced at Barrie to be hanged on Dec. 14 for the murder of their illegitimate child.

Mr. George Tate Blackstock, K.C., crown counsel at the trial, was at the Parliament buildings yesterday afternoon in conference with Sir James Whitney and Hon. J. J. Foy, the Attorney-General. While Mr. Blackstock, when interviewed, declined to discuss the character or object of his mission, he intimated, in response to a query, that the death penalty on the two prisoners would probably be commuted.

"The matter," said he, "is now solely in the hands of the Minister of Justice, who recommends executive clemency or otherwise. The unfortunate pair have been convicted following fair trial.

"It is not likely, however, that the crown will urge the carrying out of the death penalty in either case. In that of the unfortunate girl, his lordship, in passing sentence, expressed his intention of joining in the jury's recommendation to mercy. In the case of the man, while conviction was to be desired in the interests of justice, and however much we may believe the evidence which convicted, it is, perhaps, a dangerous precedent to impose capital punishment in a case where conviction was obtained on the unsupported evidence of an accomplice. The man was convicted on the girl's absolute statement that he had written her a letter, unfortunately destroyed, urging her to do the murder."

THE LOCKOUT IS SETTLED

Manchester, Eng., Oct. 7.—The trouble between the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners, which resulted in the lockout of 130,000 operatives, was settled yesterday, and the mills will be re-opened on Monday.

The operatives agreed to arbitrate the case of George Howe, whose discharge from the Fern Mill at Oldham precipitated a local strike, and resulted in a general lockout.

Memorial to Champlain.

Burlington, Vt., Oct. 7.—At a meeting of the members of the memorial committees of the Lake Champlain tercentenary commission of the states of New York and Vermont, it has been decided to make the $75,000 permanent memorial to Samuel de Champlain a lighthouse, instead of a colossal statue of the discoverer, as had been proposed.

G. H. MUNROE ARRESTED FOR ALLEGED FRAUD

New York, Oct. 7.—The alleged misappropriation of millions of dollars, secured by an illegal use of the mails for five years, in offering for sale stock of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co., was brought to light yesterday by the arrest and arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Shields of George H. Munroe of Monroe & Monroe, 27 Williams street.

It is charged that Monroe, without any authorization from the Marconi Company, took money from prospective purchasers, gave them certificates of purchase, and failed later to deliver the stock. The sales are all alleged to have been illegal in that Monroe could not deliver the stocks he thus "sold."

Monroe surrendered himself to U. S. Marshall Henkel yesterday afternoon and was later released in $2,000 bail.

It is estimated about the Federal Building that one of the biggest financial scandals of years will follow the arrest.

George H. Monroe is well-known in Toronto, where for several months he did business as a prospector. He left town after he was "written up" by a local newspaper.

FAVORS CLOSER TRADE RELATIONS

Boston, Mass., Oct. 7.—At the Republican State Convention here yesterday, Governor Eben Draper was elected by acclamation for a third term. Louis A. Frothingham of Boston was nominated for Lieutenant-Governor.

The platform adopted, besides favoring a permanent tariff board and revision by schedule when conditions warrant, strongly approves the administration of President Taft, and favor the conservation of natural resources and closer trade relations with Canada.

Town Threatened by Bush Fires.

Winnipeg, Oct. 7.—Word was received here yesterday that the town of Williams, Minn., is threatened by bush fires, the inhabitants, numbering between three and four hundred, having left on flat cars and taken refuge in Beaudette and Roosevelt, Minn. The mayor and all able-bodied men are remaining in an effort to save the town. Twelve houses were burned in Graceton.

Died From Shock.

Kenora, Oct. 7.—Thomas Francis, an Englishman, fell between two cars of an eastbound Canadian Pacific passenger train at Vermilion Bay. His right leg was crushed under the wheels. He was brought to the hospital here and died.

ROYAL EDWARD HAD ROUGH TRIP

Quebec, Oct. 7.—The steamer Royal Edward, carrying 107 first, 313 second and 444 third-class passengers, had a very rough passage, the worst in the history of the ship. The equinoctial gales blew for five days steady and the seas were from fifty to sixty feet deep. The boat behaved well and the officers were pleased with the manner it took the waves. The average speed was 17 1-2 knots. W. J. Reddick, stoker, has his right leg broken, and two others were injured. There were minor casualties among the passengers.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

The Technical Education Commission is meeting in Hamilton.

A young German coal trimmer from the steamer Moltke is ill with cholera at New York.

R. L. Borden laid the cornerstone of the new $130,000 Y.M.C.A. building at Halifax in the presence of a large gathering. Mr. Borden said the Y.M.C.A. had a claim on all right thinking men.

Fire last night destroyed the fine shed on the wharf belonging to the Elder-Dempster Line at Montreal. It was the most serious fire on the water front this season, and a large quantity of farming machinery at Montreal.

Residents of the Counties of Addington and Frontenac, where land was flooded by the drainage of the Napanee River, will hold a conference with Premier Whitney and Hon. Dr. Reaume in an effort to secure damages.

A concrete move towards the union of Port Arthur and Fort William is the arrangement of a banquet to be held in Fort William about Oct. 19, to which one hundred leading citizens of both cities will be invited and the union discussed.

NOT MUCH EVIDENCE IS ADDED

Goderich, Oct. 7.—On the statement of two little girls, that a young man living in the neighborhood of the house in which Lizzie Anderson was murdered, had given them 15 cents each to wash some stains from his clothing in the early morning after the girl was missed, Inspector Greer and Detective Boyd made an investigation yesterday, and they learned that the said young man had been deporting himself rather queerly since the murder, but where it at first looked as though he had been out all night on the date of the crime, it is stated that it can be proved that he was at home early, and not much weight is attached to that clue, although it is to be further investigated.

It was on this account, and partly, too, because the authorities are waiting for a material witness from out of town, that the inquest was adjourned until 7 o'clock sharp to-night, after a session of only fifteen minutes yesterday.

HIT OVER HEAD BY EMPLOYES

Brantford, Oct. 7.—Frank Simons, an employe on the Holmedale sewer construction, is lying here in a critical condition as a result of being struck in a row with two Armenian employes Tuesday afternoon.

Simons was struck across the face and head with dinner pails and has not since regained consciousness. Two local Armenians are under arrest.

Crew Were Saved.

Kingston, Oct. 7.—Members of the crew of the steamer Phoenix, which sank on Saturday above South Bay Point, have reached Kingston. They say the tow line holding the barge Sherman was cut as the steamer sprang a leak and was filling fast. The boat sank after a race for shore, and the crew was saved.

FORMER CASHIER GETS TEN YEARS

Auburn, N.Y., Oct. 7.—John Howard Lowery, former assistant cashier of the Utica City National Bank, who embezzled $124,000 of the funds of the institution, was yesterday afternoon sentenced to the federal prison for ten years by Judge Ray. He was sentenced on four counts of the indictment.

Maple Syrup Adulterated.

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—An inspection of 138 samples of maple syrup by the chief analyst of the inland revenue department shows 12 per cent. adulteration; 117 samples were found to be genuine, although in many cases there were indications of manipulation.

PARKER, JR., APPEARS AS EXPERT ON SMALL ARMS

Imperfection in Mould Which Robert Parker Used When Making Bullets Shows on Lead Found in Masters at Postmortem.

Belleville, Oct. 7.—Apparently trivial clues have often hanged men. Yesterday an imperfection in the mould used by old Robert Parker, on trial for the murder of Wm. Masters, was pointed out that may convict him. It was shown by the crown that the cutoff, used for trimming the bases of bullets after the lead had cooled, was loose. That looseness was the cause of the bullets being trimmed imperfectly. The hole in the cutoff through which the metal is poured is smaller than the base of the bullet. When the metal has set, the cutoff is hammered sideways and the surplus metal is taken with it. Instead of cutting off the lead level with the rest of the base, a little bit of the part that protruded stayed. That circular raised portion was on the bullet that killed Masters, and also on other bullets admitted to have been made by Parker.

Further, the bullet that killed Masters was found to bear marks from the reloading tool similar to the ones unfired found in Parker's house.

Parker's son gave testimony in which he posed as a rifle expert. His evidence attempted to show that his father could not possibly have killed Masters, and that the bullet that caused the death was fired with no intent to harm Masters by a man nearly a mile away.

Parker, jr., is 40 years of age. He thought the bullet that had killed Masters was made of softer metal than his father's bullets. He thought a bullet would lose from 15 to 30 grains in going through a man's body. Going through a man should not begin to stop it, he said. The bullet had stopped in the lining of the coat and he thought it had gone a long distance. The bullet would not have taken a downward but an upward course through the body of deceased had it been fired from the place pointed out by the crown.

Alfred Tomlin, gunsmith, of Toronto, examined the bullet for the crown. "It has marks of rifling on it, but I could not determine from what weapon it had been fired," he said.

Appearances tended to show that the bullet was a home-made one, not having been perfectly cast. The edges at the base were rounded and imperfect, instead of being sharp. The bullets had shrunken, owing to the chilling of the metal during moulding. Tomlin said the bullet would be lighter than one cast perfectly.

"Was it possible for that bullet to have been fired from that rifle?" asked Mr. White, counsel for the crown, pointing to the prisoner's weapon.

"Yes," said witness, "the calibre was a common one."

AMENDMENT WANTED TO MARKS ACT

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—W. K. McNaught, M.P.P., and E. M. Trowern, of Toronto, met Sir Wilfrid and Hon. Sydney Fisher yesterday morning and asked for certain amendments to the Gold and Silver Marks Act, so as to more effectually prevent the importation of wrongly marked goods.

Charged With Burglary.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 7.—Simon Itolitho, arrested yesterday afternoon, is believed by the city police to have burglarized B. H. Cole's liquor store Wednesday night, and secured two dozen bottles of liquor and 1,000 cigars, by breaking the plate glass window of the store.

SMUGGLERS GO TO JAIL

New York, Oct. 7.—Jail sentences are to be imposed hereafter on travelers who seek to evade Uncle Sam's customs laws. Judge Hand in the U. S. Court yesterday, made this announcement on imposing a fine of $5,000 upon Mango Morganthau, a wealthy candy manufacturer, who pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with a failure to declare jewelry and wearing apparel worth $17,000.

Town Property Levied On.

Halifax, Oct. 7.—The mining town of Glace Bay, which has been the scene of many recent troubles, was again disturbed Wednesday night when it became known that the property of the town had been levied on by the high sheriff of the county at the instance of the municipality of Cape Breton. The warrant claims an amount of $16,000 due the county for the town's share of joint expenditure.

Pilot Was Drunk.

Quebec, Oct. 7.—Pilot Trefle Delisle, who, it is alleged, on Aug. 15 last was incapacitated through liquor from assuming charge of the vessel Maud, has been condemned to a fine of $100 and costs.

Disapproves Sunday Funerals.

St. Catharines, Oct. 6.—The St. Catharines Ministerial Association has passed a resolution strongly disapproving of Sunday funerals, except where absolutely necessary.

No Subsidy for West Indies Service.

London, Oct. 7.—It is reported that the Government has informed the West Indies that they are unable to recommend a subsidy for a transatlantic mail service.

Tried to Blow Up Banker.

New York, Oct. 7.—A bomb was exploded in the home of Paul Vitale, an Italian banker, at Bath Beach yesterday, which set fire to the building and destroyed it. The banker, with his wife and six children had a narrow escape. Vitale conducted a private bank, which recently suspended, and he has received numbers of threatening letters.

Moir Planing Escape?

London, Oct. 7.—Chief Williams states that Moir is planning another escape, and says the authorities will do well to watch him very closely. The chief will not state what information he has, but says Moir will get away again unless guarded closely.

Australians at Coronation.

Melbourne, Oct. 7.—Premier Fisher and one or more Ministers will attend the Imperial Conference. The delegation will comprise eleven Ministerialists and seven Opposition. It is hoped Premier Deakin will lead the latter.

$3,084 For Irish Cause.

Montreal, Oct. 7.—T. P. O'Connor spoke here last evening to a crowded house under the presidency of C. J. Doherty, M.P. The contribution to the Irish cause being $3,084, [illegible]

BOARDERS FOR THE "CHATEAU HANNA"

Guelph, Oct. 7.—There is talk among the members of the County Council of doing away with Wellington County jail at Guelph, and making arrangements with the Ontario Government to accommodate the prisoners at the new provincial reformatory.

Suing the Mayor.

Montreal, Oct. 7.—Germain Beaulieu is suing Mayor Guerin for $500, claiming that his worship asked him certain questions during the "Emancipation" enquiry that injured him in the eyes of the public.

A Centenarian.

Whitby, Oct. 7.—Thomas Wray, a resident of the county town for many years, yesterday celebrated the attainment of 100 years. He still enjoys wonderful health and vigor.

Mine on Fire.

Danville, Ill., Oct. 7.—Hartshorn's coal mine, near this city, is on fire. All of the miners were taken out safely shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

OBJECT TO DIVORCEES

St. John, N.B., Oct. 7.—The Anglican Synod adopted a resolution which expressed the judgment of the synod that it was highly undesirable that any man or woman who is a party to a marriage after a divorce for any cause, save the innocent party in a divorce for adultery, during the life of the other party to the divorce, should hold any office in the church.

Died From His Injuries.

Chatham, Oct. 7.—Suspicious circumstances are alleged in connection with the death of Lucius Turner of Dresden, who on Tuesday succumbed to injuries received, it is stated, while being ejected from a restaurant. Coroner J. I. Wiley empaneled a jury which, after viewing the body, adjourned till Saturday morning.

SUCCEEDS LATE MR. T. BLOIS

Mr. Robert Chambers, formerly night gate-man at the Grand Trunk Charlotte Street crossing, has taken the place formerly occupied by Thos. Blois at the diamond. Mr. Smith of the G. T. R. freight sheds is now gateman at night at the Charlotte Street crossing.

NOT THEATRICAL

This Most Recently Found Star is in the Abode of all True Stars —The Heavens

Dr. Marsh has received information from Harvard University College Observatory at Cambridge, Mass., notifying him that a new star had been discovered in the constellation of Sagittarious. Its approximate position is right ascension seventeen hours, sixty-two minutes and fifteen seconds. Declination is minus twenty-seven degrees thirty-two minutes and nine seconds. This new star was discovered by Mrs. Fleming, on Oct. 1st, 1910. Out of fifteen new stars discovered at Harvard College Observatory she has found eleven. The star in magnitude is about eight, and can be seen with the telescope at the local branch of the Royal Astronomical Society. The star is of too recent discovery to permit of much information.

The Daily Review

FRIDAY, OCT. 7, 1910.

AN EPOCH

An event of more than passing interest took place in Peterborough last night—an event that eclipses spots on the sun, or even King Manuel's deporting. It beats the cheese board market. The grain crop in the West pales into insignificance. Even the devil was surprised. The event was the passing of the office towel. Many days it had dried the hands of the weary, many days it had taken a stain and said nothing. The office towel last night it crushed and cruelly broke in two. Then, of course, we had to get another.

CONGRATULATIONS

Gentlemen of the Board of Health, congratulations—there are several cases of typhoid fever in Peterborough. There have been a great many deaths in the city in the ranks of the young. Flies bring disease. Garbage breeds flies. A board of health has absolute power. However, congratulations. What for! Oh nothing. The dead are buried. You, however, are not buried, but——

THE MAN WHO WINS

The Man who Wins—Sam Luttrell—was in the office to-day. Sam has won. Not money, no, not fame, not honor, nor practice (he is a medical man), but Peace. Luttrell has won Peace. Boys, girls, you are young. You do not know the world. You worry because you can't go to the moving picture show, because you can't "do" your lessons, but as the world unfolds you will find that life is real, a problem that cannot be easily solved. Then will come worry, envy, jealousy, drink may creep in. Drink, Luttrell was a drunkard, but to-day he has peace. He speaks at the Park street Baptist church, a rummy, an extank, a man with peace.

THE LID LIFTED

The scandals of the Printing Bureau will have to be aired during the rapidly approaching session. If Hon. Chas. Murphy cannot keep the lid screwed down tight on the unwholesome news, which has persisted in bubbling forth to the extreme annoyance of the Government, one naturally wonders what would have happened if the Government had accepted the resolution moved by Hon. C. J. Doherty last session and held an impartial enquiry into the great spending department? It will be remembered that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, when he spoke refusing the refusing the request of Mr. Doherty, that an investigation should be made, chided the opposition for always scenting scandal, and he wound up with the unctious remark, "To the pure all things are pure." Fancy that coming from the lips of the man who by tacit consent has permitted the pilfering and plundering of the past fourteen years, and has winked at all sorts of iniquities done in the name and under the protection of Laurierism. "To the pure all things are pure." That pious remark is calculated to make the very angels weep.

The Government is fully aware what a royal commission is apt to find when it probes into departmental transactions. One little commission took up the dirty skirts of the Marine and Fisheries Department and tried to dust them, but the cloud of witnesses to incapacity and double dealing almost swamped the Liberal ship. Oh no, it will be a long time before Sir Wilfrid Laurier again entrusts the reputation of his government to a little body of investigators. They are apt to find out too much. And it is doubtful if men who value their reputations would consent to act the part of scavengers in the Augean stables. If they did their duty as did the original Civil Service Commission which touched the fringe of the Marine and Fisheries Department and promptly put their hands to their nostrils, they are sure to be branded as meddlers and unprincipled trouble makers. And unless they do their whole duty the thing degenerates into a laughable farce. The Printing Bureau scandals must be looked into and it is hard to see how other departments can get off scot free. Just imagine the joyous time a commission would have delving among the doings of the Militia and Defence Department or probing into the Interior of Frank Oliver.

INEBRIATES

Short terms of imprisonment are worse than useless in such cases; they have no reformatory effect and serve to strengthen the criminal tendency in inebriates. The only effective treatment is detention for a year or more in a reformatory, where the inebriate can be employed in agricultural or other outdoor work, and be subject to medical care. By such treatment many a drunkard could be cured, and their criminal tendencies checked.

This is common sense. It is to be hoped that before long there will be established in Ontario a reformatory for the treatment of inebriates along the lines suggested by Dr. Phelan. The Herald has more than once advocated this method of dealing with confirmed drunkards. It is a plan which has been adopted in England with highly satisfactory results.

There is abundant evidence of the want of such an institution. Most of our readers probably know of one or more inebriates who might be saved by a long term of detention and treatment. We might mention an example. Quite recently a newspaper man who had formerly worked in Hamilton and was a bright, effective writer, drifted back to the city from the west, a physical and mental wreck. He found shelter at the city jail, and shelter and treatment at the city hospital. Finally, he called on the police magistrate and offered to plead guilty to some crime in order that he might be sentenced to imprisonment for a long term and thus obtain a chance to break the chains of alcoholism. It is for such cases that an inebriate reformatory is needed.—J. L. Lewis in the Hamilton Herald.

Yes, that's true Jo. Lewis, a drink of beer is a refreshing beverage in an hour when a man is thirsty, a nice cool, long drink of beer, without too much collar on it. Yes, and it satisfies. But the second, third, fourth and fifth—they intoxicate—they rob a man of his reason, his pride, his soul. And the morning, "mix me up a collins." The bartender mixes it. He talks of the weather of yesterday, of to-day, but in his heart he is sorry for the fellow who is to take it. He knows too well what the morning means. He knows that man outside the bar is a prisoner. No sentence, no lashes, no earthly judge, but a prisoner.

It is for men like this that an asylum is needed an home where the body can be rebuilded, where a man can walk and talk and act in the little theatre, as a man again.

SIDE LIGHTS

HUMANITY.

H. A. Ashmean in Woman's Kingdom.

They were out for a drive ('twas a youth and a maid,)
And they laughed as they chattered quite gaily;
She dressed up to kill, he quite in the style,
'Tis a sight you may see almost daily.
The sun poured out its rays on a blistering ground,
Though a canopy covered the twain;
Which served equally well to shield from the sun,
As it would to have kept off the rain.

But the horse in the shafts, did they give it a thought!
Save to flick once or twice with the whip,
With its head held erect with a painful check strap,
Drawn tight like the sails of a ship.
And to make matters worse, the closely-docked tail
Was useless to brush off the flies;
While the ears laid well back showed the torture endured,
Also seen in the wild, rolling eyes.

There are none quite so blind as those who won't see,
And the preachers are somewhat to blame;
When they speak of our duty to God and to man,
And say nought of Humanity's claim.
"He searcheth for them," so the Bible declares,
"Not a sparrow shall fall to the ground,"
Unknown to the Master, who watches above,
In whom goodness and mercy are found.

Is there mercy in Heaven for long suffering beasts,
That are cut off from sympathy here?
And there punishments meted to those who oppress
The creatures God placed in our care?
If our duty to God and our neighbor were taught,
Will none for dumb animals speak?
'Tis seldom we hear a kind plea made for them
The patient, the helpless and weak.

New York Dairy Market

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Butter, steady on fancy grades only; receipts 4351; creamery, thirds to firsts, 24c to 29c.

Cheese—Firm on top grades; receipts, 4495; prices unchanged.

Eggs—Steady to firm; state Pennsylvania and nearby hennery, gathered, brown, 29c to 0c; fresh gathered, extra firsts, 26c to 27½c, seconds, 23c to 24c.

CATTLE MARKETS

United States Exchanges Quiet, But Prices Hold Generally Firm.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—London and Liverpool cables quote American cattle steady at 13½c to 14½c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef, unchanged, at 10½c to 11c per pound.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Oct. 6.—The railways reported 137 carloads for Wednesday and Thursday, consisting of 1300 cattle, 3792 hogs, 3460 sheep and lambs, and 121 calves.

Fat Cattle.

Geo. Rowntree bought 480 cattle for the Harris Abattoir Co.: Butchers, $5 to $5.75; steers, 950 to 1200 lbs., $5.10 to $5.80; cows, $3.25 to $4.75; canners, $2.25 to $2.50 and $3; bulls, $3.25 to $4.50.

Stockers and Feeders.

The bulk of the stockers and feeders on sale during the week came from Manitoba and the northwest; had it not been so there certainly would have been a scarcity. The bulk of the offerings in these classes were of common to medium quality, and sold at 25c per cwt. lower than last week. Good quality feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs each, sold readily at steady to firm prices. For prices see the many sales of both stockers and feeders given below. Prospects are for lower prices, especially for the light stockers and medium to common feeders. There are several loads left unsold at the close of the market.

Milkers and Springers.

There was a moderate supply of milkers and springers, which sold at strong prices, ranging from $43 to $80 each. We call attention to the sales of 26 milkers and springers by the firm of Dunn & Levack, [illegible] general trend of the market.

Veal Calves.

Receipts of veal calves were light, only 121 for the two days. Prices ranged from $3.50 to $8 per cwt., and two or three extra choice reached $8.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Deliveries of lambs were large, which caused prices to decline. Sheep, ewes, sold at $4.50 to $4.85; rams, at $3 to $3.50; lambs for the two days sold at $5.73 to $6 per cwt., or an average of $5.85.

Hogs.

Hog prices are lower. Mr. Harris quotes selects fed and watered, at $8.50, and $8.15 to drovers, for hogs f.o.b. cars at country points.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

Veals—Receipts, 300 head; active and 25c higher, $6.50 to $10.75; heavy calves, not wanted.

Hogs—Receipts, 3000 head; active and 5c to 10c higher; heavy, $9.10 to $9.25; mixed, $9.25 to $9.40; yorkers, $9.30 to $9.40; pigs, $9.20; roughs, $7.75 to $8, stags, $6 to $7.25; dairies, $8.75 to $9.25.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 1400 head; active; sheep, steady; lambs, 25c higher; lambs, $5.50 to $7.15, a few $7.25.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Beeves—Receipts, 1774; no trading; feeling, nominally steady; dressed beef, slow, at 8c to 11¼c for native sides, Texas beef, 7c to 8¾c.

Calves—Receipts, 230; veals, steady; grassers and westerns, dull and weak; veals, $8 to $11; culls, $7.50 to $8; city dressed veals, 13c to 17½c; country dressed, 9½c to 15c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 920; sheep, dull and weak; lambs, firm to 10c higher; sheep, $3 to $4.25; lambs, $5.50 to $7.12½.

Good Form

Procrastination in expressing sympathy to a bereaved family is the height of bad form. Therefore the instant a death is known the bereavement should be acknowledged. To send flowers is always desirable and may be done even in the case of a formal acquaintance, but it is an expense that is not necessary. If flowers are sent they may accompany the note of sympathy, but no reference must be made to them in the note. If the box is sent without a letter a visiting card accompanies it. When the recipient is a formal acquaintance a note may be omitted, "Sincere sympathy" being written on the card.

When the person bereaved is known only slightly and flowers are omitted a visiting card may be either mailed or left at the door. In either case "Sympathy" or something similar should be written on the card. When it is left in person the individual for whom it is intended is not asked for, it being understood that those in deep mourning are not able to receive any but the immediate family.

To intimate friends flowers may be sent as soon as news of death in the family is known, and more may go on the day of the funeral unless the family expresses a wish that they shall be omitted for the casket. When the latter is the case it is the height of bad form to send flowers. A note alone is sufficient.

Marking Bridal Silver.

There is a fancy just now in certain families to have wedding silver marked with the initials of the bridegroom rather than the bride. This is an English custom which has never found favor over here, and the innovation arouses much discussion.

As the silver is given to the bride often by her own family, the American form of marking is more appropriate and is much more used.

A rather new marking that is a revival from colonial days is a compromise. Plain block letters are used. A single one at the top is the initial of the bridegroom's family name, while directly under it is the initial of the first name of the bridegroom to the left and that of the bride to the right.

Where there is a crest in the family of the bride it is often used in marking the silver above the monogram or initials. Though sometimes done, it is not good taste to mark the wedding silver with the crest of the bridegroom's family, especially when the silver is given by the bride's people and friends.

It is equally bad taste when a girl has been given old family silver that has come down through generations in her fiance's family to mark it with her own initials. Should there be no children such heirlooms naturally should go back to the man's family, though the bride may have a life interest in them.

When to Shake Hands.

When to shake hands is a subject which depends on circumstances, but a few general rules may be given.

When a man is introduced to a woman she does not shake hands with him unless he is distinguished or a great deal older than herself. If he is the husband or brother of the woman making the introduction it is natural to receive him cordially by shaking hands, but it is not usual to do so if he is a mere acquaintance.

A hostess should shake hands with all the guests who come to her house, both on their arrival and departure. Women do not shake hands when introduced to each other, but merely bow. When, however, a young girl is presented by a friend to a married woman the latter generally shakes hands with her, but the girl should not make the first advance.

Men shake hands when introduced to each other as an expression of good will.

When leaving an entertainment a man shakes hands with the hostess, and he may do so with any friends who are near, but he should not, of course, go about shaking hands generally.

Developing Good Taste.

The woman who has only a limited sum to spend on her clothes may think that visiting shops to look at lovely things she must not even think of buying is a foolish waste of time, but it can really be made an exceedingly profitable occupation. Good taste in dress can be developed in the same way as correct judgment in other matters of art—namely, by studying the best models.

If the impecunious one will make up her mind to use the creations of those who hold the first place in the dressmaking world as a means of education and to relinquish all thought of possession they will become a source of endless pleasure to her.

Publisher Cuts His Throat.

New York, Oct. 7.—Frank M. Lupton, president of the F. M. Lupton, Incorporated, publishers of The People's Home Journal, and a millionaire committed suicide yesterday by cutting his throat in the bathroom of his home on St. Mark's avenue in Brooklyn. The publisher had been suffering from melancholia, following a series of operations.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

Woman's World

Little Princess Mary Her Father's Chum.

PRINCESS MARY.

England will now have three queens, the queen dowager, the new queen and Princess Mary. The latter is the only girl among the six children in the royal household and has long been a pet of the English nation. She celebrated her twelfth birthday on the 25th of last October and is said to be as pretty and lovable a little princess as ever lived outside a book of fairy tales.

"Mary is as much a boy as the rest of them," her father said once. "She enters into the sports and recreations of her brothers with enthusiasm and can hold her own with them in most games."

Plays Cricket Like Boy.

She can play cricket and boasts of having once "clean bowled" Prince Arthur of Connaught with the first ball she pitched to him. She practically lives in the open air, fishing and boating continually throughout the summer.

Once last summer she and her brothers, Prince Edward and Prince Albert, were boating on the Thames when a skiff containing two Eton boys collided with their boat.

"Why didn't your mother teach you to steer before she let you come out on the river?" said one of the boys.

"Why didn't yours teach you manners?" replied the princess.

In common with her brothers she has been trained to be thrifty and to save the money allowed her. Each of the children receives a stated sum every week, never under any circumstances to be exceeded. In the case of Princess Mary, however, she need never ask for an exceptionally large allowance, for she has a savings account of no small proportions, accumulated by weekly visits to the post-office savings bank. She understands the system, does her own depositing and frequently verifies her account.

Plays Jokes Upon Brother.

While her brother, Prince Edward, now heir apparent, was at the naval college at Osborne she sent him a large, attractive looking parcel. As she had been delving into the mysteries of cooking and sending the products of her skill to her brother, he expected a feast and invited two friends to assist him in disposing of it. When the three of them opened the package, however, all they found was a wax faced doll dressed in the uniform of the Naval academy, bearing a tag in his sister's handwriting, "Isn't He Pretty?"

That the little princess is well educated may be gathered from the fact that her schooling began at the age of four years under a governess. At the age of eight Princess Mary was able to talk fluently with the French ambassador in his own language.

Lessons in the royal schoolroom begin at 7:30 a. m. in the summer and at 8 a. m. in the winter. There is an hour's instruction before breakfast, three hours before noon and two hours in the afternoon. Especial attention is paid to English history, in connection with which study frequent visits are made to the British museum for the inspection of original documents.

A Fashionable Cure.

If one could get well by going off to a fashionable sanitarium and making garden, why couldn't the same pursuit in one's own back yard prove as beneficial to the health and more so to the purse? Doubtless it would, but as with all remedies that cost little it is hard to convince some people of their value.

"Gardening as a curative pastime," says an exchange, "is the newest idea, introduced by the head of a fashionable sanitarium for nervous women, and each patient has her own particular plot to look after. She is even given the task of spading up the ground and is expected to spend a certain part of each day cultivating it regardless of the weather. On clear days, after the garden hour, the entire force of fair women is supposed to turn out and rake and burn leaves and fagots as another way of playing amateur farmers."

Baby's Irish Lace Cap.

Bonnets for tiny babies are made of baby Irish crochet and cut like Dutch caps.

They are mounted on an undercap of padded crepe de chine.

The Irish lace is threaded with tiny satin ribbons of blue or rose color, and a big cabbage-like rosette is fastened at each side where the cap strings run.

Governor Hughes, of New York, has appointed a commission to wrestle with the problem of rural depletion.

CHOICE FURS

Direct From Trapper to Wearer

This year marks a new epoch in the history of this, the largest and most reliable Fur House in Central Ontario. An ever increasing demand for Furs from all points in Canada has compelled us to open a new store in Regina, the capital city of Saskatchewan.

The increase output of our Factory incident to this expansion of business enables us to lower the cost of highest class Furs to a figure never before realized.

We wish particularly to emphasize the fact that we manufacture all Fur articles we have on sale, under the direct supervision of practical Furriers, members of our firm. This insures the highest degree of perfection in workmanship and fit and also enables us to guarantee our Furs to be exactly as represented.

Comparison is always a help in forming an opinion of the real value of any Fur garment, therefore we extend an invitation to all interested purchasers to carefully examine our stock before buying.

WE HAVE SPECIAL FACILITIES FOR RE-DYEING, REPAIRING, REMODELLING AND CLEANING OLD FUR GARMENTS.

Aviator Badly Injured.

Paris, Oct. 6.—Leon Morane, the best known of the French aviators, had both legs broken yesterday, and his brother Robert had his skull fractured, when a monoplane in which the ywere flying from Issy dropped at Boissy St. Leger. Robert is thought to be fatally injured, while Leon's condition is critical.

Drowned at Depot Harbor.

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—News has been received at headquarters that H. Pender of the G.T.R. was drowned on Tuesday at Depot Harbor while in the employ of that company. It is stated in the telegram received that the company was entirely blameless for the fatality.

Want Subsidized Service.

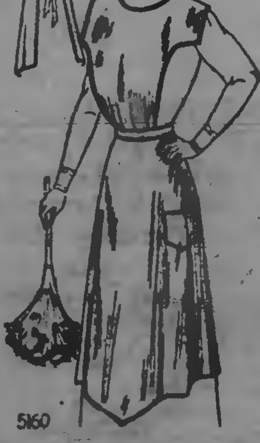
Georgetown, B.W.I., Oct. 6.—The Chamber of Commerce has resolved, in view of the report of the Trade Commission, to ask the British Government to subsidize a direct trans-Atlantic mail service by any company whatsoever.

THE DAILY REVIEW PATTERN SERVICE

Every day we will print and illustrate a new pattern. These are the very latest and thoroughly up to date.

On receipt of order, giving the number of pattern desired and 10 cents, along with name and address, the pattern will be mailed.

Be careful as to the right number.



LADIES' APRON.

All Seams Allowed.

Aprons are an absolute necessity and one can hardly have too many of them. Of course variety of design is essential, because of the various occasions on which they are worn. The one shown at this time is very convenient when just a little work is to be done. The apron and bib portion are joined together by a belt. A pocket at each side is useful as well as a finish. This apron may be made of calico, gingham or white lawn, and the edges may be bound with braid which comes in all colors. The pattern (5160) is cut in one size. To make the garment will require 3¾ yards of material 27 inches wide, or 2 yards 36 inches wide.

The above pattern can be obtained by sending 10 cents to the office of this paper.

NO. 8 SMOKES AND IS MERRY

Last evening the members of No. 8 Co., of the 57th Regiment, held a smoking concert in the armories. In spite of the inclement weather a good number turned out. Capt. McPherson was in the chair, and opened the proceedings with a song, an old favorite of Major Denistoun's, to wit, "Drill, Ye Terriers, Drill." Color Sergt. Smith followed with an old South African ditty "Old DeWet," which was joined in with fervor by the members present.

The following also contributed to the programme—Sergt. Joyes, Sergt. Playford, Sergt. Hamwell, Private Hutchinson, Mr. Mackin and others.

An enjoyable evening was spent and plans were laid for a series of meetings during the winter months, with the idea of building up the company and regiment. Taking the enthusiasm of the members of the company present as a criterion, No. 8 Company promises to be one of the best, if not the best, in the regiment, for the season of 1911.

The members of the company made a collection towards the chimes fund.

COUPLE DIDN'T GET ALONG WELL AT HOME

Wife Claimed Husband Assaulted Her—Husband Said Wife Neglected Children—Young Man Fined.

At the police court this morning the wife of William Faeirs charged him with assaulting her.

The Magistrate heard both sides of the affair and advised the couple to return to their home and endeavor to make their home life happier.

CAUGHT HER BY THROAAT.

Mrs. Faeirs said that her husband had on one occasion caught her by the throat The trouble was he charged her with having paid visits to a "bad" house on Patterson street. Yesterday morning he took her oldest boy over to the house and made him swear that his mother had been there.

NEGLECTED THE CHILDREN.

Faeirs claimed that his wife neglected the children, three in number. She went out on the streets against his wish. He did not want her going to the house in question.

Yesterday morning she went out about nine and did not return till about eleven.

He caught hold of her to try and make her explain where she had been, but she refused to answer.

Mrs. Faeirs made an emphatic denial to the charge that she visited the house on Patterson street.

"I don't want anything more to do with him, he is telling lies about me," said Mrs. Faeirs.

However, when the Magistrate advised them to try and do better The husband lead the way down the stairs and his wife followed.

COMING!

Weedon Grossmith Will be Here Direct From London—A Widely Known Actor in Popular Play

The coming of Mr. Weedon Grossmith almost direct from his successful engagement at the Criterion Theatre, London, England, with all the paraphernalia and cast in the presentation of Mr. R. C. Carton's famous farse "Mr. Preedy and the Countess," brings with it the assurance of absolute delight to the patrons of the Grand Theatre next Thursday evening.

The English critics are unanimous in praise of the work, and claim the role of Mr. Preedy is the best in which this distinguished artist has yet been seen.

The Globe says: "Mr. Weedon Grossmith is Mr. Preedy, and he has a part after his own heart. He is a master of comic perplexity. Whenever on the stage the fun is irresistible."

The Standard says: "The Criterion audience last night rocked with laughter. There is more naturalness and conviction in their whole performance than is associated with farce. Preedy is a creation."

While the Observer says: "The new farce began with a titter, which speedily developed into a loud guffaw and ended in a series of the heartiest shouts of irrepressible laughter."

The play is in three acts, and the cast beside Mr. Weedon Grossmith as Mr. Preedy, will include Miss Granville as Joanna, Countess of Rushmore, together with Edward Bonfield, W. J. Brascomb, John Clulow, Herbert Manle, Miss Lydia Rashal, Miss Lynn Fontaume, and many others.

The Gordian Knot

JOHNSON-CAMPBELL.

A charming wedding occurred at Chandos this week, when Miss Sarah Viola Johnson, daughter of Mr. Willis Johnson, of Chandos, became the bride of Mr. Wm. James Campbell. Both bride and groom are residents of Chandos. The ceremony was performed in the parlor of the residence of the groom's mother by the Rev. Christopher Lord. The bride was prettily attired in white mull, with exquisite lace trimming. Miss Martha Campbell as bridesmaid looked charming in a blue mull dress daintily trimmed.

Mr. Wm. Johnson was groomsman. Miss Olga Littledale played the wedding march. After the ceremony, the guests, about forty in number, adjourned to the dining room and partook of a dainty wedding luncheon. A reception was held afterwards in the evening, when about eighty guests were present, and at which games and music were prominent, was a happy conclusion to the pleasant ceremony. A large number of beautiful presents were received by the young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will reside in Chandos, and their many friends will wish them a future of unlimited happiness.

HALL—SCOTT

Toronto News—A pretty wedding took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs Thomas Scott in Cottingham street, when their youngest daughter, Alice Mary, became the wife of Mr. Jacob Ferrand Pringle Hall, son of the late Mr. Francis Hall, of Peterborough. Rev. D. A. McKerroll, a former pastor of the bride, officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father wore a handsome gown of white satin embroidered with seed pearls, trimmed with lace, and her tulle veil was arranged with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a dainty shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Blanche Pearson was the attendant bridesmaid, and wore a gown of pink silk mull, with insertions of lace and a wreath of pink roses in her hair, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Miss Marion Scott, a niece of the bride, was flower girl, in a dainty white silk frock with pink sash and bows, and carried a basket of pink sweet peas. The bride's brother, Mr. A. Lyall Scott, was best man, and Mr. Howard McMurtry, a cousin of the bride, acted as usher. Miss Maidie Morley played the wedding march. The house was artistically decorated with autumn leaves and white flowers. Mrs. Scott wore an amethyst silk gown with embroidered trimming. Miss Helen Scott wore green silk, and Miss Lucy Scott wore hand painted chiffon. An interesting event was the arrival of another bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Cross, who were married in Peterborough earlier in the day. Mrs. Cross was Miss Edith Aylmer, a cousin of Mr. Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Hall left later for a trip, the bride wearing a tailored suit of dark green tweed and black hat with amethyst and green trimmings. On their return they will live at 151 Cottingham street for a short time.

SPORTING NEWS

T.C.S. A FORMIDABLE TEAM

In spite of the fact that T. C. S., Port Hope, has an exceptionally able output on the gridiron this year, the P. C. I. team are not going to mill with the idea that they are going to be defeated when the teams meet at Riverside Park on Saturday.

The local back division is just rounding into excellent condition and will be in shape to put up a spirited argument.

HOW THE BIG LEAGUERS LOOK AT WORLD'S SERIES

Chicago or Philadelphia? Here are a few opinions of experts as regards the world's series, which commences at Philadelphia a week from Monday next:

Christy Matthewson—"The Athletics will win. The 1910 series will be a give-and-take struggle, in which I pick the Athletics because of strength in the box."

Tyrus Cobb—"The Athletics will win because of their offensive strength. When it comes to breaking up games, there is not a weak hitter on the team. That will win nine times out of ten."

Eddie Collins—"I don't see how we can lose. We have the pitchers, we can outhit them, and they will find that when it comes to 'inside baseball' we also know something about that."

Johnny Evers—"The Cubs are going to win. There is no particular reason. It is simply a case of confidence. The team getting the lucky breaks will win. We always got them in the past. We will do so again."

James McAleer, Washington manager—"The Athletics will win the world's series. They will outhit Chicago."

Hal Chase—"I am no prophet and therefore will not attempt to pick the winner in the series between the Cubs and Athletics. But I am pulling for the American league naturally and hope the Athletics will win the world's series; They are a fine lot of fellows, and Connie Mack will have them going at top speed."

Nap. Lajoie—"Athletics for mine. Their pitchers will demoralize the Chicago batsmen."

James McGuire, Cleveland manager—"I pick the Athletics. I think in Coombs, Bender, Morgan and Plank, the Athletics have the best pitching staff that ever went into a world's series. Also, the team as a whole in the base running and team work is capable of meeting the best in the National League. I don't see how they can lose."

Bill Sweeney, Boston captain—Chicago will win; they're the greatest ever."

Ed. Konetchy, St. Louis 1st baseman—Chicago will win in a walk. 'Inside' baseball will beat the Athletics."

Charlie Dooin, Philadelphia National manager—"It's an even break. The series is too short."

Hughies Jennings—"I pick the Cubs and I ought to know."

Bill Donovan—"Cubs will win because of their catchers. Philadelphia is weak behind the bat."

Hans Wagner—"It's going to be close, but I believe experience will turn the trick for Chicago."

Joe McGinnity—"Philadelphia looks good to me."

Rube Waddell—"You can't down Connie Mack. I speak from experience."

Bert Daniels—"Chicago will run wild on the bases. I would like to see Philadelphia win, but don't think them capable."

Fred Clarke—"Chicago should not lose a single game."

Babe Adams—"Chicago with ease."

Chief Meyers—"The Cubs have gone back; Philadelphia will win."

George Taylor—"I fail to see any hope for the Athletics."

John McGraw—Philadelphia's pitchers will win for Connie Mack."

Russell Ford — "Put your loose change on Philadelphia."

ENCOURAGING LETTER FROM McCAFFERY

Mr. Connie Murphy received a letter this morning from President McCaffery, of the Toronto ball team, McCaffery assuring Murphy that he would endeavor to place him in fast company next season.

THE RING

Buffalo, Oct. 6.—Mike (Twin) Sullivan, claimant to the welterweight championship, had the better of Paddy Lavin in their ten round bout here tonight. Sullivan was much cleverer than his younger opponent and had a large margin in the early rounds. In the fifth round Lavin opened an old cut in Sullivan's eye, and the latter bled profusely. Sullivan tried hard for a knockout in the last rounds, but was unable to land it, though Lavin could not have lasted much longer.

GOLF

The draw for the first round for the club championship is as follows, the games to be played off on or before Saturday afternoon, the 8th inst:—

A. Neill vs. A. Mowat.
Rev. G. W. Henderson vs. T. D. Mullholland.
A. H. Stratton vs. T. E. Matthews.
W. H. Denham vs. Dr. Gowan.
H. D. Burnett vs. R. Cameron.
S. Ray vs. G. Ferguson.
H. Ritchie vs. Cyril Hill.
S. T. Medd vs. E. C. Wainwright.

CRITICS CONFOUNDED

Interested critics said a year ago: "Do not buy a Knight motor, it is an experiment—in a year or two it may be all right."

Partly this is true—the Knight engine will be improved. Quite frankly we venture to hope that each Knight engine and each Russell car we make will be better than the one before. We believe that our 1914 cars will be better than those of to-day.

But this is the fact that must be borne in mind :—

The Knight engine built in its first year, by the first firm building it in a commercial way, under official observation, put up a performance which no valve motor made by any firm after years of experience has been able to equal.

Is not this conclusive proof of Knight superiority?

Then consider that since that time the engineering skill of five of the leading engineering firms of the world have worked for the improvement of the motor, and have been aided by the experience of over 2,000 users.

To-day the Knight motor stands on its record in all quarters of the globe as a tested, tried-out product of superlative excellence.

In the 1911 Russell "38" you get the culmination of this work in engine design.

Send your name to receive new catalogue of Russell 1911 models with prices.

CAVAN AND AROUND ABOUT

Cavan's Coming and Going—Bought a Farm—Potato Rot—Anniversary—Barn Raising

Special to the Review.

Cavan, Oct. 5.—Mr. R. J. Ashton, while out motoring last Sunday morning, had the misfortune to crash into a railing along the roadside, seriously crippling his machine, besides inflicting minor injuries to himself. He was able, however, to run the auto back to the home of Mr. John Seney, where it awaits repairs. The auto struck the railing with such force as to break off three cedar posts. "Such vandalism," "Such reckless destruction of public property," "Wish they were all in hades." These are a fair sample of some of the sympathetic gems handed out to the victims of motor car accidents such as recorded above. But we are glad to say that the farmers who hand out the above ephithets exist in the minority, and are rapidly becoming alive to the fact that the public roads in the country were not created for their special benefit. The fact is the above epithets only serve to demonstrate the arrogance and enviousness which exists in the originators.

BOUGHT A FARM

Mr. Matt Hutchinson has purchased the farm formerly owned by Mr. Lou Hutchinson, commonly known as "The Ranch." Mr. Hutchinson intends to devote his time principally to cattle raising. He also intends building a new house in the near future.

ARM BROKEN.

Friends and acquaintances of Mr. Foster Eggleson will be pleased to learn that he is recovering from this recent accident, that of a broken arm, and is able to resume some of his duties.

POTATO ROT.

A rather misleading report appeared in one of the Peterborough papers last week, saying that the potatoes were not affected by the blight in this district, as they are in some other parts. The above statement is entirely untrue and could not have been based on actual facts, as the potato blight is very prevalent in this section, in fact the worst it has been in a number of years. Mr. Sam Blakely, Ida, dug ten bags the other day and only had three pails of good ones out of the ten bags. This is a fair sample of actual conditions. Some are a little better, some are a little worse. One gentleman in Springville was heard to say that you could smell the rotten potatoes in the field as you were driving along the road. Some good crops have been reported, but the potato crop in general in this section is poor.

ANNIVERSARY.

The anniversary of the Fallis line Methodist church will be held on Oct. 9th. The Rev. C. E. Craig, of Foxboro, will occupy the pulpit both morning and evening. Special music will be provided.

BETHANNY ANNIVERSARY

The anniversary of the Methodist church in Bethany will be held on the first Sunday in November, followed by a tea on Monday evening. High-class talent will be provided.

Miss Jennie Vance, who has been visiting friends in Peterborough, has returned home.

CHURCH NOTES

The congregation of Cavan Methodist church were treated to an able address by the Rev. A. C. Farrell, B. A., of Toronto. The newly appointed secretary of missions, Rev. Mr. Farrell, proved himself to be a very able speaker. It was evident he understood the subject in hand. This closes the three weeks' campaign of the Peterborough district in the interests of missions. Sunday was also rally day for the Sunday school, there being a large turnout of scholars.

BARN RAISING.

Mr. John McNeil has resumed the construction of his barn, which he intended to postpone until next summer. The carpenters who hail from Janetville, expect to have the barn raised in the course of a week.

CAVAN ANNIVERSARY.

The anniversary of the Cavan Methodist church will be held next Sunday. Mr. H. V. Mounteer, a former pastor, will occupy the pulpit. Special music will be provided.

FATAL FIGHT IN NEW YORK CAFE

(Special to The Review.)

Two men were killed, two others seriously if not fatally wounded, and more than one hundred shots fired in a revolver battle in the heart of New York city early to-day. The fight took place between "Tenderloin" gangs, in a cafe in west 28th Street and short distance off Broadway, and it was not until the gangsters had shot themselves out that the police reserves put in an appearance. The dead men have been identified as Frank MacCloik, 28 years old, and Phil Casey, Alias Marshall, 24 years old, race track followers. The two wounded men are in Bellevue Hospital, under arrest and the police are seeking the twenty-five or more participants in the fight who escaped after the shooting.

LOVE LAUGHS AT HANDCUFFS

(Ottawa Free Press.)

"Love will find a way," and although Osias Millaire leaves Ottawa in a few days for Kingston, where he will spend five years in the penitentiary, the little winged god had him, and yesterday afternoon, in the presence of a few police and gaol officials, he led his blushing bride to the altar, and the two hearts were made to beat as one.

When the magistrate pronounced the fateful words that were calculated to remove Millaire from the society of the world at large for five long years, Miss Josephine Sirois, a young Hull woman, was in police court. She was affianced to the prisoner, and although her sweetheart had been convicted of picking a farmer's pocket and marked as a criminal to the rest of the world, she remained true.

WOMAN'S PREROGATIVE

Millaire offered to release her from the promise she made to marry him. Five years was a long time to wait. But no, she would marry him when he was released from gaol, but yesterday she changed her mind, and wanted the ceremony performed right away. First going to Fr. Carriere parish priest at Hull, she told him that she would use every effort to have Millaire brought over to Hull so that the wedding could be solemnized in the church she had always attended. She asked permission to have Millaire brought over to Hull so that they might be married.

"Can't do it," was the reply. "Millaire is a prisoner in gaol, and Hull is in the province of Quebec, out of the sheriff's jurisdiction."

PLEADED IN VAIN

She pleaded with the authorities but all in vain. Ontario's prisoner could not be taken to Hull or anywhere else in Quebec. Her tears and pleadings were of no avail.

It then developed into a case of if the mountains would not come to Mahomet, Mahomet must go to the mountains. She brought the parish priest over to Ottawa, and then going to the gaol authorities again, asked if the prisoner could be brought out of gaol as far as St. Joseph's church and be married there.

HANDCUFFED IN CHURCH

"Yes, that can be done," she was told, "but Millaire is a prisoner, sentenced to five years, and must be carefully guarded. He will have to be handcuffed during the ceremony."

Again came protests from Miss Sirois. She did not want to be married under these conditions. She was again informed that Millaire was a prisoner, sentenced to five years in gaol, and must be properly guarded, or the ceremony could not take place. Finally she consented.

In a cab, accompanied by Detective Ryan and Turnkey George Young, to whom he was handcuffed, a quick run was made from the gaol to St. Joseph's church. In the vestry, the girl and the priest were awaiting. Walking up to where the priest was with his bride on one arm and George Young still handcuffed to him, on the other, the ceremony took place, probably one of the strangest of its kind that ever took place in Ottawa. Inspector Ryan was best man; the bride was unattended.

EMBRACED IN CELL

After the marriage, the bridal party returned to the gaol. Millaire was conducted to his cell, and here relieved of his handcuffs. Then, and then only, the prisoner was able to embrace his wife, and the turnkey retreated a short distance until this affectionate scene was over. He returned and the pair were separated. He will leave for Kingston, and Mrs. Millaire will remain in Hull until after his release.

AN ATTRACTIVE BAZAAR

The Gaily Adorned Rink a Pleasant Relief From the Wet and Uninviting Evening—Booths Were Handsomely Dressed—Salvation Army Band Gave the Music

The initial evening of the bazaar under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of Knox church last night, was, despite unfavorable weather, a splendid success. It was held in the curling rink on Charlotte street, and it is safe to say that the building never before presented a prettier aspect or was a scene of more festivity and attractiveness. 'Tis but a few steps from the street, and the visitor who dropped in for a few moments to have a look, was immediately impressed by the comparison between the wet, gloomy conditions of everything outside, and the cheerful air and gladness which seemed to prevail in the building.

The merry clatter of dishes, the joyous cries of the children at the miniature fish ponds, expressive of their delight at a good catch, and the music of the band, combined to make the scene one of remarkable pleasure and good cheer.

THE DECORATIONS.

A word about the decorations is demanded. From one end of the spacious room to the other flags and streamers were suspended in an artistic manner, while around the sides and ends of the place, large Union Jacks and Canadian flags were hung. Reaching from pillar to pillar were gorgeous festoons of yellow and gold autumn leaves, and other varieties of autumn floral growths.

At regular intervals around the booths were mottoes. The extreme neatness and general appearance of the decorations denoted the extremely good artistic taste of those in charge, and could not be improved upon.

SUPPER WELL PATRONIZED.

At six o'clock supper was served at the far end of the building. Two long tables, waited on by the prettiest ladies of the congregation, provided ample accommodation for the hungry people. The oyster table received the most liberal patronage, while the other table also came in for a good share.

When supper was adjourned those present augmented by a constant influx of visitors, who strolled around the room to admire the numerous displays and to engage in a general social and friendly time.

BOOTHS MUCH ADMIRED.

The booths cannot be praised too highly. There were fourteen, extending along both sides of the building, and in charge of the most obliging saleladies. Articles of every imaginable description were for sale, from children's caps to ice-cream and pancakes.

At eight o'clock the pleasure of the evening was heightened by the appearance of the Salvation Army band, about thirty strong. As these excellent musicians commenced there was increased animation discernible among all present, and the music was greatly appreciated.

THE BOOTHS.

The following are the names of the booths, with those who presided over them:—

Children's wear and caps — Mrs. Meade.

Fine goods and ladies' wear—Mrs. Robert Mulligan.

Fresh home-made cakes, including a load of bread, shaped like a sheaf of wheat, made by Mr. H. W. Stock—Mrs. Coates.

Pickles and fruit—Mrs. Gellis.

Handkerchiefs and towelling—Mrs. Lake and Mrs. Menzies.

Fancy aprons—Mrs. Pollard.

Colored aprons—Mrs. Louderville.

Soft drink booth—Mrs. Shurter.

Ice cream booth—Miss Penrose and Mrs. Darke.

Pancake booth—Mrs. Sherwood and Miss Preston.

Candy booth—Miss Dunlop.

Fancywork booth—Mrs. McKenzie.

While all the booths realized well and were attractive, special mention is due to the fancy work counter, candy booth, grocery booth and ice-cream parlors, each of which proved to be great drawing factors.

The ever popular fish pond also was in evidence and was always surrounded by an amused and delighted crowd of little tots, who were more than tickled when they felt a bite, and up would come a bag of peanuts, candy or some other toothsome morsel dear to the heart of the child.

The bazaar will continue to-day and end Saturday. It is to be hoped that the weather will be more encouraging than last night, as undoubtedly had it been, a far larger number would have visited the bazaar.

The bazaar closed about 10 o'clock. The bazaar will be continued to-day and to-morrow.

RETIRING OFFICIAL HONORED

Frank J. Bell, retiring Division Court Clerk, came in for words of praise to-day. His faithful work has been appreciated. Judge Huyke at the meeting of Division Court this morning, stated that he had heard that he was one of the best Division Court Clerks in the province. He hoped that he would be spared to perform many years of service yet. Mr. Bell has, in his official capacity served the county faithfully for many years. The words of the Judge assured him that it had been noticed and appreciated. He also welcomed Mr. Bell's successor in office, Colonel Miller, to whom he extended the best wishes for success in office. He was glad to have Colonel Miller as a friend, and was sure that the kindest relation between them would always exist.

A LETTER OF THANKS FROM S. A.

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—Permit me, through the columns of your valuable journal, to thank all the friends of the Salvation Army who have so cheerfully responded to my appeal in connection with our Harvest Festival Fund.

Although the total amount was nearly $200.00 short of the amount aimed at—$500.00—I nevertheless thank all who have assisted in this effort. In no other city have I seen manifested a more kindly spirit towards our work than shown by the citizens of Peterborough.

I also thank the daily papers for their many favors in furtherance of our work. Their example is worthy of emulation in other cities and towns.

It may possibly be that there are still some of our friends who have either been overlooked by us or who have allowed our appeal to be overlooked without responding thereto, and who may still be willing to assist us in bringing up the receipts to the desired amount of $500.00. Any further donations will be gratefully receivewd and duly acknowledged.

Respectfully yours,
J. H. MERRETT,
Ensign

A PEEP INTO THE PAST

Local Items Twelve Years Ago

Mr. Walter H. Collins, of the Bank of Commerce, has been promoted to the Paris, Ont., branch. He will be succeeded by Mr Harry Kelso, of Woodstock.

Mayor Davis is in Toronto to-day interviewing the directors of a manufacturing concern who are on the lookout for a place to locate.

This morning the Review had a large section of a raspberry bush left in the office the bush being loaded with fine, ripe red raspberries. They were gathered in the garden of Mr. Stephen Shaughnessy, Otonabee.

Probabilities—Easterly winds, fair, Saturday easterly winds, generally fair with little higher temperature.

Chas. Mathias won the cross country run of the Collegiate Institute yesterday afternoon. Chester Kemp was second. Others who ran were;—Alf. Cox, G. Fitzgerald, D. O'Brien, H. Walkey and A. Allison.

A meeting of the Board of Health was held last night. There were present, Messrs. B. Shortly, chairman; Henry Denne, Adam Hall, Dr. Burnham and Dr. Clarke, Medical Health Officer.

Mrs. Jas. Stubbs, Dublin street, a few days ago, received word of the drowning of her cousin, Mr. J. Marsh, of Kaslo, B.C., in Kootenay Lake.

Unlucky thirteen

P. C. Newhall took the last samples of milk from the city vendors for the regular inspection.

Each bottle is numbered, and for some reason none of the milkmen, while the supply of bottles was sufficient, would take No. 13.

Yesterday morning the officer had several bottles still to be filled and it was up to someone to get that No. 13.

But a strange thing happened. In some mysterious manner the bottle was cracked at the neck and a hole about the size of a quarter made in it.

MARKED MEN

That Dr. Luttrell is gaining the ears and interest of the people of Peterborough was demonstrated last night, when a large number turned out, in spite of the very inclement weather to hear him. He took for his subject last night "Marked Men" and based his remarks upon Gal. 6:17 "I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus."

Everything in nature has its mark. We are all marked men. Either marked by sin or by Christ.

What awful marks sin leaves upon us upon our characters, upon our homes, upon our country. Every man and woman have their mark.

The poor drunkard has his mark, a red blossom, a blighted life, a broken-hearted wife, a hovel to live in. Not all have meat, but the man who drinks has his mark. The woman of fashion has her mark. Yes, sin leaves its mark upon us all. We are all marked by sin.

But we can have the marks of the Lord Jesus in our souls; yes, in our faces.

The indwelling Christ reveals Himself, even in the face of the one indwelt.

The marks of Jesus, how evident they are all around us. But we are too ungrateful to acknowledge it.

The Christ marks are more profitable than the marks of sin, and do not bring sorrow in their wake.

Meeting to-night at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Luttrell will deliver a special address to men in the Park St. Baptist church next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. His subject will be "The Man Who Wins." All men will find a welcome.

BEEF DROPS

James O'Keefe Loses a Cow—It Fell Down a Well

James O'Keefe, who resides on Lansdowne street, lost a cow valued at $50, this week, in a peculiar manner.

The cow, in company with several others was in the yard of Patrick O'Keefe, at Downer's Corners.

It broke through the platform of a well and went down a considerable distance.

With the aid of a stout rope and the windlass, which was used in connection with the well, the animal was brought to the top again, but it was dead, the injuries received in the fall and in the ascent being too much for even a cow.

BOY SCOUTS ATTENTION

The Peterborough Boy Scouts are urged to turn out to-night at the Armouries at seven o'clock. Every member is asked to be present.

REPRESENTATIVES WERE APPOINTED

The regular meeting of the Separate School Board was held last evening, there being present Mr. J. J. Lynch, chairman, presiding; Rev. Dr. O'Brien, Messrs. Clancy, Burns, Murty, Goselin, Lane, Primeau and Carveth, Rev. Father McColl, superintendent, being also in attendance.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication from the city clerk, enclosing copy of a by-law respecting the Peterborough Public Library was received.

The following accounts were received and referred to the Finance Committee—The Queen City Oil Co., $16.20; R. Hicks & Co., 89c.; Estate A. McDonald, $2.66; Garden Printery, 70c.; J. J. Lynch, $1.60; P. Johnson, $13.80; Trebilcock Bros., $342.29; Trebilcock Bros., $310.79; A. Vinette, $18.25; J. Murty, $9.23; Peterborough Light & Power Co., 28c.; H. Carveth, $24.90; E. N. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The following from the Globe is worthy of notice;

The President of the Republican Club of New York city has declared in favor of the Democratic candidate for Governor of the State. The parties may be slipping into the melting-pot.

How many men in Peterborough would have the courage or unselfishness to do a thing like that in the public interest.

Yours etc.,
EH! WHAT!

(To The Editor of The Review)

Let this act be copied in Peterboro:

"The officials of the Bathurst Methodist Church, Toronto, did a very graceful thing when they invited Mr. James Robinson to lay the cornerstone of the new $35 000 Sunday-school hall. Instead of searching the city for a man who is prominent in financial circles, they selected one who has been identified with the church from its beginning.

Mr. Robinson is a mechanic and one who enjoys the respect and esteem of everybody that knows him. He has been a Sunday-school teacher at Bathurst Street for many years, one of the most consistent and faithful members of the congregation. Nothing could be more appropriate than to select a man of this type for such a duty.

That such a course is not followed in other cases is a reflection upon the board of managers. In this period when wealth counts for so much the universal tendency is to pass all the honors to those who can pay for them.

It is a most refreshing thing to see humble merit recognized in the way that it was by the Bathurst Street people."

Yours, etc.
CONSISTENCY.

PARKER FOUND GUILTY; JURY BRINGS IN VERDICT WERE OUT 4 1-2 HOURS

E. Gus Porter For Defence Attacks Crown Evidence in Toto—Mr. White For Prosecution, in Powerful Address, Rehearses Crime Step by Step.

Belleville, Oct. 8.—At 1.35 this morning the jury in the case of Robert Parker, aged 71, charged with having shot and killed his still older neighbor, William Masters, near Tweed last April returned a verdict of guilty.

The jury had been out since nine o'clock, or 4 1-2 hours.

Chief Justice Mulock did not pronounce sentence.

The verdict was accompanied by a strong recommendation for mercy.

The feature of the day was the evidence given in his own behalf by the accused. He denied having threatened the deceased, and declared he had not fired the fatal shot.

The address of the presiding justice emphasized the necessity of being certain that they did not convict an innocent man.

Parker took the verdict unmoved, resting with his hands shading his eyes and looking away from the jury and toward the clerk.

All the evidence was in at four o'clock, and E. Guss Porter addressed the jury. If there was a single circumstance in favor of the prisoner, the law supposed that they had done their duty if they acquitted him. There were a series of alleged facts upon which the case for the crown depended. He attacked all the evidence that the crown produced.

"A reasonable doubt is not what the clever mind of a counsel can conjure up and display before you," said Mr. White for the crown. "Masters' blood might have been carried to Parker's door, but even then a doubt might have been conjured up. Some one else might have put it there. A reasonable doubt is one that a reasonable man may reasonably entertain and find a reason for." He explained that circumstantial evidence was not the absolute proving of every link. It was only necessary that there be a set of facts sufficiently to satisfy them that Parker was guilty.

Mr. White said he did not think Parker had gone out with the intention of killing Masters. He had noticed the activity of the old man, and had gone to investigate, taking his rifle, as was his habit. Then the opportunity to murder Masters had come and he was possessed by a rage on account of the wrongs he had imagined he suffered, was powerless to resist the temptation, and fired.

Mr. White reconstructed the crime and went over every step as he thought it had occurred. His tale was vivid and dramatic. During the narrative, not a sound but his voice was heard in the room. The prisoner clung on every word, watching Mr. White's gestures intently. Now and again he would swallow with difficulty.

Robert Parkers gave his age as 71, and said he was rather broken down in health.

"Did you shoot Masters?" he was asked.

"I did not."

"Do you know anything of the shooting?"

"Only what I have heard of."

He had spent the morning in going to the postoffice, reading, and going to Tweed. He went no other place, he asserted. Though several people had sworn that they had seen Parker on the morning of the murder, he declared that he had not seen them.

The evidence of several witnesses, who swore he had made threats regarding the old man, was read by the stenographer, and Parker showed signs of distress. His voice trembled, and once he mopped the perspiration from his face with his handkerchief.

"A man may say things that he never thinks of after," he quavered, after declaring he remembered none of the statements sworn to by witnesses.

REPUBLIC IN PORTUGAL IS AN ACCOMPLISHED FACT

Republican Flag Flies Everywhere and Pictures of King Manuel Have Disappeared From the City—Citizens Are Glad the Crisis is Over so Easily—Is the First Step to be Against the Clerical Institutions?

Lisbon, Oct. 8.—The establishment of republic in Portugal is an accomplished fact.

For a city that has just passed through the throes of a bloody revolution, and sustained a bombardment, Lisbon to-day is in cloudless sunshine and wears a remarkable smiling aspect. The Republican flag floats on nearly every building, and from every vehicle, the streets are thronged with persons, with tourists who have their guides accompany them; business generally has resumed its former aspect.

The noticeable outward signs of the new Government are the presence everywhere of the green and red flags of the republic and the complete disappearance of King Manuel's portrait from public exhibitions. In fact, not a vestige is now seen of the postcard portraits of the King or of any member of the royal family.

The damage done to the city by the bombardment was surprisingly light. The total number of killed has not yet been definitely ascertained, but it has not exceeded 300. A couple of hotels near the scene bears marks of shells. There is no excitement.

The recent events are discussed by all classes with phlegmatic calm. The general feeling evidently is one of relief that a crisis, so long anticipated as inevitable, was surmounted so speedily with comparatively little violence and such a brief dislocation of the national life.

The most interesting man in Portugal at the present moment is the new President, Braga. A sidelight on the man is seen in that, Thursday night, after having been elected first President of Portugal, he returned, as usual, in a second class compartment of the train to his hotel in the suburbs.

This revolution was aimed to complete the realization of civil rights, he says. One of the means by which the late dynasty had endeavored to maintain its position, was to continually menace the people with British intervention, in order to crush popular sentiment.

President Braga added that he had every confidence in the national resources and was convinced that an honest administration would suffice, without adventious means, to put the finances of the country on a satisfactory footing.

As striking proof of the earnestness of the man, his declaration that the provinces were calmly awaiting the publication of the manifesto of the republic and that it was forthcoming seemed to satisfy the people.

The Government is about to order a revision of the voting lists, preliminary to holding elections for a constitution. The provisional Government will not remain in office beyond three months.

Religious Orders Expelled?

Frankfort-on-Main, Oct. 8.—The correspondent of The Frankfurter Zeitung at Lisbon says the new Government has decreed the dissolution of religious orders; the members of which, monks and nuns, must quit Portugal within 42 hours. Another decree, he says, calls on the clergy to abstain from writing clerical writings and wearing clerical raiment on the streets.

Message to the World.

New York, Oct. 8.—The Associated Press yesterday received direct from Lisbon a despatch from Senor Bernardo Machado, the Minister of Foreign Affairs in the newly-constituted provisional Government of Portugal, in which the Republican leader sets forth the purpose and aims of the present Government.

Senor Machado, who speaks of the request of and for Theophile Braga, the provisional President of the new republic, cabled as follows:

"The Republic of Portugal has been proclaimed by the army, the navy and the people.

"The maintenance of order is completely assured. There is general adhesion to the Government in the provinces. The enthusiasm of the public is unparalleled.

"The provisional Government has before it a great duty involving much work. It has in effect a country to make over. Concerning our program, I can say that we will endeavor to put in operation the programs of the Republican party. This includes a policy of decentralization, both in the local administration and in the government of the colonies.

"The financial budget is to be equalized in the general interests of the country, and it will be made up with honesty and fairness. The national wealth will be developed.

"All national alliances now existing will be respected and friendly relations with all other states are desired."

Manuel Honored.

Gibraltar, Oct. 8.—The royal family remained yesterday upon the imperial yacht Amelie, from the main mast of which flies a white burgee with a green cross.

Lieut.-Gen. Sir Archibald Hunter, British Governor-General of Gibraltar, accompanied by his official staff, boarded the yacht Amelie yesterday morning and formally welcomed King Manuel to British shores.

Admiral Frederick S. Phelan, superintendent of the British naval establishments here, with his staff, paid a visit to King Manuel yesterday afternoon.

Strict precautions have been taken to safeguard the Portuguese monarch His Majesty's yacht is surrounded by patrol boats, and no other craft is permitted to approach it.

The American cruiser Des Moines and the fleet with ships dressed and flying the Portuguese flag at the mainmast, fired a royal salute at 8 o'clock yesterday morning in honor of the members of the Portuguese royal family who have found refuge here. A royal salute was also fired by the Rock Battery.

WILL HANG

(Special To The Review.)

Belleville, Oct. 8th.—Robert Parker, who was found guilty of murdering William Masters on April 8, was sentenced to be hanged on Saturday, Dec. 3. The jury were deliberating on the case for five hours. Sentence was pronounced by Chief Justice Sir William Mulock at 4 o'clock this morning.

MANITOBANS ARE JEALOUS

They Want Government Power Like That of Ontario.

Winnipeg, Oct. 8.—Representatives of various municipalities throughout the province interviewed the Provincial Government yesterday afternoon with a request that the Government should secure a power site, instal a plant, operate it and sell power to municipalities at cost. If the Government should be unwilling to do this, then the representatives of municipalities asked that the Government should investigate the question and guarantee the bonds of a strong company and secure from it a guarantee that it would supply power at a reasonable price.

The deputation went as a result of a meeting held in the City Hall at St. Boniface yesterday, called by the City Council of St. Boniface. The municipalities responding to the call were: Brandon, Portage, Carman, Morris, Stonewall, Emerson, Beausejour, and Selkirk.

It was stated that many propositions had been considered by the various municipalities of the province from the various companies. These propositions carried in merit, but none of the municipalities alone was able to take hold of the offers. It was now suggested that these municipalities should get together and consider the question, and if it seemed agreeable, that the Government should be approached. It was intimated that members of the Government had already been advised of steps which had been taken.

$400,000 TO PHILANTHROPIC PURPOSES

Albany, N.Y., Oct. 8.—The will of Horace B. Silliman of Cohoes, N.Y., a former textile manufacturer, which was admitted to probate yesterday, bequeaths the entire estate of over $400,000 to philanthropic purposes. One half of the estate goes to William. R. Moody, son of the late Dwight Moody, the noted evangelist, to aid in conducting his institutions at Northfield, Mass. The other half is divided among a number of institutions; various Presbyterian funds receiving about $110,000, including $56,000 for foreign missions, and the international Y.M.C.A. $13,000.

Mr. Silliman contributed liberally to philanthropic undertakings, previous to his death. He opened a school for boys in Manila, and gave $200,000 to the Presbyterian board of home and foreign missions in New York.

RUSSIAN AVIATOR KILLED

St. Petersburg, Oct. 8.—Macievich, the Russian aviator, was killed yesterday in a fall from a bi-plane while at a height of 3,930 feet. He held the Russian altitude record of 3,937 feet, which he made in a Bleriot monoplane Oct. 3, and was trying yesterday to exceed this. Last Wednesday M. Stolypin, the Premier, made a ten minutes' flight with him.

Macievich had risen 3,930 feet, but decided to ascend. When at a height of 1,040 feet his machine suddenly upset and the aviator was thrown out and came hurling down like a plummet, reaching the ground before the biplane. All the principal bones of the body were broken except one arm. Loss of control of a lever is supposed to have been responsible for the accident.

Women shrieked and fainted and the wife of Macievitch became delirious, and it is feared she will be permanently insane.

HIS INJURIES PROVE FATAL

Brantford, Oct. 8.—After a period of unconsciousness, from Tuesday evening last, Simons, employed by Contractor Reid on the Holmedale sewer construction gang, expired last night as a result of injuries received in a row with Armenian laborers employed on the same work. Coroner Fissett will open an inquest to-day.

Two Armenians are under arrest and will be charged with inflicting the injuries on Simons. They are Koran Copaian and Koran Magarian, and were arrested immediately after the fight. Simons was struck over the head with dinner pails, and was taken home in a state of paralysis from which he never awoke.

The Armenians state the dead man was the instigator of the fight. Simons, who leaves a wife and family, is well known locally.

Released From Quarantine.

New York, Oct. 8.—The steamer Alice, from Italian ports, which has been detained at quarantine for several days because of the possibility that she might be a cholera carrier, was released yesterday. The steamers Sant Ana and Meltke are still detained in quarantine.

International Republicanism.

Rouen, France, Oct. 8.—At the annual meeting yesterday of the Radicals and Socialists, the executive committee was directed to open pour parlers with groups of other countries for the purpose of finding the basis for an international Republican union.

EARL GREY'S IMPORTANT MISSION

Montreal, Oct. 8.—Three more letters were added yesterday to the long list which already trails after Earl Grey's name. Besides being Governor-General of Canada, His Excellency is now a Doctor of Civil Law. The degree was conferred on him at noon yesterday by the chancellor of the University of Bishop's College School, the English Church institution at Lennoxville near Sherbrooke.

In regard to his coming trip to the West Indies, it is understood Earl Grey is traveling, not under orders, but under the request of the British Government, and that he has been asked to report upon the advisability of opening negotiations with Denmark with a view to purchasing the Danish West India Islands of St. Thomas, St. Croix and St. John.

THERE MAY BE AN ENQUIRY

Kingston, Oct. 8.—The Trades and Labor Council by resolution has expressed regret at its unwittingly being the cause, to a certain extent, of Prof. John Marshall being compelled to resign from Queen's. It also heartily endorsed the stand taken by Mr. Marshall as the only one open to a man of his calibre.

It is understood that an investigation will be demanded by friends into the causes alleged to have necessitated the resignation.

New Lord of Appeal.

London, Oct. 8.—Attorney-General Sir W. S. Robson was yesterday appointed Lord of Appeal-in-Ordinary to succeed Lord Collins, resigned. Rufus Daniels becomes Attorney-General, and John A. Simon, Liberal member of the House of Commons for Walthamstow division of Essex, Solicitor-General.

CANAIEJAS IS DETERMINED

Madrid, Oct. 8.—At a meeting of the Senate yesterday Premier Canalejas reiterated his intention to adhere to his anti-clerical program, including the "padlock bill." He criticized the Episcopate and the Reactionary elements for their attacks against him and declared that his defamers would be held responsible.

The Premier denied that discord existed in the Spanish Cabinet, adding: "We will win or die together."

New B. C. Railway.

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—The British Columbia and Alaska Railway Co. will apply to Parliament next session for incorporation. The proposed railway will run from Lytton, along the Fraser River, to Fort George, and follow the Stewart River to Port Conley, then following the valley of the Skeena River, the Stickeen and Teslin to Dawson.

The Quebec Railway, Light, Heat & Power Co. will ask Parliament for an extension of its charter to enable it to construct and run railways.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Two men were injured in a store at Ponoka, Alberta, when one of them accidentally fired a rifle into a powder keg.

Immigration into Canada this year is expected to aggregate 300,000. Half of this number came from the United States.

Jean Baptiste Frazeult and E. Auger, prisoners serving six months' sentences at Sweetsburg, Que., jail, made good their escape early yesterday.

Rev. Dr. Sparling of St. James' Methodist Church, Montreal, has gone to Pembroke to attend the funeral of his mother, who died of paralysis at the age of 75.

New Zealand Government created surprise last night by introducing a licensing bill, including a proposal for national prohibition, if 55 per cent. of the voters favor it.

Montreal controllers have decided that, as a matter of public safety, all the electric signs on public buildings must be done away with, and a bylaw, providing for this will be submitted to the council.

Dr. S. W. Dyde, professor of mental philosophy, will leave the staff of Queen's University to become principal of the new Presbyterian Theological College at Strathcona, Alberta. Dr. Dyde has been at Queen's for 20 years.

HAD TO RECALL APPOINTMENT

Montreal, Oct. 8.—There is no end of comment here over the case of the French-Canadian nomination to a seat on the I.C.R. Railway Commission. Some weeks ago the Government, upon the recommendation of Mr. Turcotte, M.P. for the County of Quebec, appointed Apollinaire Corriveau, a Quebec lawyer. No sooner was it announced, than a howl went up from all the other members from the district, and the Government has had to announce that the commission will not be issued.

Judge Lebeauf of the circuit was offered the position some weeks ago, and declined the honor.

A LAUDABLE OBJECT SAYS MR. BELCOURT

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—Henri Bourassa, the Quebec Nationalist leader, having hinted that certain prominent French-Canadian directors of La Sauvegarde, a new French-Canadian insurance company, had taken practically the same grounds as Le Devoir, his paper, which advised French-Canadians to deposit their money in French-Canadian banks, Senator N. A. Belcourt makes the statement that La Sauvegarde was founded principally for the purpose of endeavoring to keep within Canada money which for years had been going to American insurance concerns.

ON TRAIL OF GALT BURGLARS

Galt, Oct. 8.—A daring robbery was committed two weeks ago at Galt Rope Works, when $600 worth of goods was stolen. Yesterday Chief of Police Gorman recovered all the property, together with a lot of other stuff stolen from private residences in the past summer.

The identity of the thieves is known and the police are after them. They are two Americans, who have worked in local factories for months. They got away very cleverly after finding out the police were on their track.

Templeman Corrects.

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—Hon. Wm. Templeman denies the truth of the press reports of a fistic encounter between himself and Jardine, a member of the British Columbia Legislature. There was an altercation, but nothing of the kind suggested by the despatches, he says.

Died In Calgary.

Belleville, Oct. 8.—James H. Mills, aged 68, for many years a popular business man of this city, died suddenly Thursday evening at his home in Calgary, whither he moved in June last. Apoplexy was the cause of death.

Botha Will Get Seat.

Johannesburg, Oct. 8.—Gen. Botha will not be opposed in Leasberg.

FATAL BOILER EXPLOSION

Cochrane, Ont., Oct. 8.—One man was killed and two injured by an explosion of a saw mill boiler Thursday at Frederich House, seven miles west of here.

The dead man was Otto Breise, and the injured were William Breise and Fred Breise, all members of the same family.

Otto Breise was about 46 years of age, and came to this country with the rest of the family from near Bracebridge, Muskoka district.

HUNDREDS DROWNED IN INDIA

London, Oct. 8.—Hundreds of religious celebrants were drowned by a sudden overflow of the Gangas River near Agra, India, according to a despatch to Reuter's yesterday.

Thousands were encamped along the river for a religous festival, when the river rose suddenly, almost as though by a tidal wave.

Some Near Tragedies.

Kingston, Oct. 8—Edward McLaughlin, mate of the steamer Prince Rupert, fell into the hold of the vessel and was seriously injured.

Russell Storms, aged 10, of Verona, was almost blinded by the explosion of a bottle of lime.

The little son of L. D. Goodberry, Verona, fell head first into a barrel of milk and was nearly drowned. A doctor worked over him for an hour.

ADJOURNED FOR A WEEK

Authorities Investigating Anderson Murder Want Advice From Deputy Attorney-Gen.

Goderich, Oct. 8.—The community was again surprised last night when a further adjournment of a week was made in the inquest into the murder of Lizzie Anderson. The Town Hall was again filled at 7.30, but Coroner Holmes announced that a further adjournment was desired by the detectives.

This is in order that the evidence taken up to date may be forwarded to the Deputy Attorney-General for examination, and for further advice as to the future conduct of the enquiry, and whether or not to proceed along the line taken on Wednesday night, when the whole effort was directed to the movements of Edward ("Punk") Jardine, or whether to follow up the alternative clue reported Thursday as to the queer conduct of a young man who paid two little girls to wash bloodstains from his clothing. The coroner also intimated that the department might consider it necessary to commission a special counsel to close the enquiry.

Inspector Greer was a clam so far as making an explanation of this surprising turn of affairs was concerned.

"We adjourned, simply because we were not ready to go on," he said. and nothing more could be got out of him. Later he added: "If I were to tell you just what is in the wind, and it appeared in the papers, it might thwart the end we are trying to attain."

STREET CAR STRIKES DRAY

London, Ont., Oct. 8.—Patrick Hyland, expressman, 586 Hill street, is in a dying condition as a result of being thrown heavily to the pavement on Dundas street, early yesterday evening when an Ottawa avenue car struck his dray. S. Kelso Davidson, artist, 878 Richmond street, was riding with him and was terribly bruised. He may be injured internally.

Motorman Lang says something appeared to go wrong with the horse's harness when the rig was crossing the track.

To Build New Steamer.

Collingwood, Oct. 8.—The Collingwood Shipbuilding Co. has closed a contract for a steel passenger and freight steamer for Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence River to Quebec, with the Ontario and Quebec Navigation Co. of Pictou. The steamer will cost $175,000.

Victim of Infant Paralysis.

Oshawa, Oct. 8.—Fred. Gibson, aged 21, night operator on the Grand Trunk, is dead after only twenty-four hours' illness from infant paralysis. His body will be taken to Napanee, his old home, for interment.

Farmer Drops Dead.

Thamesville, Oct. 8—Edward Moody, farmer of Howard Township, fell dead yesterday afternoon in the office of Dr. Stewart while waiting to be examined by the doctor. He was 56 years of age, and leaves a family.

PROMOTION FOR NEWSPAPER MAN

Quebec, Oct. 8.—It is stated that Ulric Barthe, for many years an editorial writer on the staff of La Vigie, and the author of a number of articles on the Liberal party, including a book entitled "Sir Wilfrid Laurier on the Platform," will be appointed to the Legislative Council. Mr. Barthe is well known throughout the province as a conservative and well-meaning writer, and his appointment to the Legislative Council will give unqualified satisfaction.

Missionary a Suicide.

New York, Oct. 8.—Officials of the Methodist Episcopal Church received a cable from Foo Chow, China, yesterday, announcing the death by suicide of Ernest Linton Paige of Hamilton, N.Y., a missionary in China. The despatch stated that the act was due to serious mental trouble, brought on by overwork, and the heart. He had been in the missionary service but a year.

Chatham Man's Death.

Port Arthur, Oct. 8.—Section men yesterday found the body of Henry McFadyen, formerly of Chatham, Ont., lying on the track at Channel, three miles east of here. The head was cut off.

McFadyen, who was on his way to Souris, Man., was missed Thursday night. He was about 52 years of age.

Sentenced to Hang.

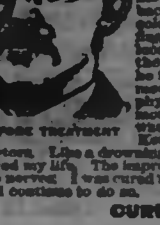
Victoria, B.C., Oct. 8.—Found guilty of the murder of Capt. Peter Elliston on Aug. 1, Gunner Thomas Allen Thursday was sentenced to hang on Dec. 2. He shot down the captain, when drunk, for reprimanding him.

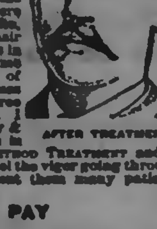
Suicides In Synagogue.

New York, Oct. 8.—Going to the Temple Emanuel of Fifth avenue yesterday afternoon Benjamin J. Bachman, one of the oldest agents of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., committed suicide by shooting himself.

Distinguished Soldier Elected.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Sir Evelyn J. Ruggles-Brise, K.C.B., of London, was elected yesterday as president of the International Prison Congress, and London was chosen as the place of meeting in 1915.





NERVOUS DEBILITY

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT will cure you and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers heal up; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear; the eye becomes bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and mental systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. You feel yourself a man and know marriage cannot be a failure. Don't let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard earned dollars.

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS

Peter E. Summers relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the NEW METHOD TREATMENT and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so."

THE EYE-OPENER

Edwards, the editor of the Calgary Eye Opener, was prosecuted for publishing indecent literature in his paper. The trial fell through. The matter published, so Rev. J. L. Gordon said, was interesting, but not obscene. Referring to this the Montreal Witness says—

> There is no moral harm in plainness of speech; there has been too little of it. The mischief lies in less tangible things, which, as we have seen, the law cannot lay hold of. Even the eminent clergyman who was called in as a witness, had, it seems, to declare that the articles submitted as the worst specimens of modern journalism were not obscene, but rather interesting descriptions of things that had happened.

We all err. There is no man who lives who has not made mistakes, but Edwards lives on men's mistakes. When he got after Sir Frederick Borden he featured it, and the reading world feasted on it with him. Then Clifford Sifton, Hyman and Emmerson got their bumps, and the Eye Opener got famous. Then it was suppressed. Edwards and the Eye Opener seem to be a necessary evil.

A CASE IN POINT

You gave this man liquor after you knew he was drunk. It is just such men as you that bring the hotel business into disrespect. You were partly responsible for this crime.

In the above language Judge Teetzel, trying a prisoner in a shooting case, spoke to one of the witnesses, a hotel keeper, who testified to giving the prisoner whiskey after he was obviously drunk. And Judge Teetzel intimated that he would recommend the cancellation of the license of the hotel keeper in question.

A very few indeed of actions such as this would lessen the number of criminal cases. Perhaps almost half the crimes brought for trial before Canadian courts are directly or indirectly the result of drink. If, in each case, the judge took pains to fine the hotelman who sold drink after it was seen that the prisoner was under the influence, and to recommend the cancellation of the hotel keeper's license, both crime and drunkenness would be considerably rarer than it is at present in Canada.

And, in this present case, it only remains for the Ontario authorities to take action along the lines indicated by Judge Teetzel.—Ottawa Journal.

A drunken man is a nuisance. He is not welcome anywhere, at home, on the street, in the theatre or hotel. We speak from a hard and bitter experience. However, those days are past, King Manuel has gone on the rock—Gibraltar. We have also gone on the rock. As for what the Journal says the hotel man that gives a drunken man a drink should not only lose his license, but should be put in jail. Some hotel men let a man stand by the bar and squander his money and when he has spent his last cent they kick him out. That man is a brute.

THE COMING SESSION

The coming session

The coming session of parliament, which opens the first week in November, promises to be not only interesting with tariff changes in the air, revision of the Banking Act, and reciprocity with the United States, but a bitterly fought out one as well. The recent tour of Sir Wilfrid Laurier has demonstrated that the Premier is able, as of old, to run with the hare of free trade and hunt with the hounds of protection, and for his many sided promises to the west he will be brought to book when the House meets. The Opposition, never more thoroughly united, under the leadership of Mr. R. L. Borden, will come to Parliament this time with their quivers filled with the arrows of criticism, for never did any Government since Confederation, provide such a target. The gross extravagance, the wholesale bribing of constituencies with unnecessary public works, the colossal waste of the money of the people on the National Transcontinental Railway, the deliberate sale of senatorships and public offices, the bungling of incompetent Ministers, and the glorification of Laurierism, which permits the hand of the boodler to pilfer the public chest, all these things are the earmarks which brand the Laurier Administration as one utterly unworthy of the confidence of the people of Canada. With the Opposition keenly on the alert, and determined to carefully scrutinize every piece of legislation and every expenditure, the result should be that this session, at all events, the statute book, shall not be loaded up with unworkable laws, fathered by such dreamers as Mackenzie King and the one and only Minister of Agriculture. Canada is overburdened with foolish legislation, which in many cases is incapable of enforcement. That the Opposition will put the check rein on these amateur legislators, these dabblers in law-making, is assured, and as a consequence they will fulfil a work which will be for the general advantage of Canada.

Laurier's work, which he pleaded to be permitted to finish in 1908, is made up of a comedy of errors. He has about him, without a shadow of doubt, the weakest aggregation of Ministers which ever sat at a council table. It is not to to be supposed that out of such small political acorns great oaks of statesmanship can grow. The Fieldings, Fishers, Lemieuxs, Kings, Patersons and Bordens. The great danger is that these "little Canadians" may, as they have so frequently done in the past, sacrifice the interests of Canada. Like the small boy, they delight in playing with fire. Running to Washington and taking week end trips to Albany seem to have become part and parcel of this government propaganda. And, like the small boy, they must feel the whip, and burn their fingers before they are taught wisdom and common political sense.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is to have a big reception in Montreal shortly, and the Liberal organs are inviting all citizens to be present at the Monument National "to show their appreciation of the Premier's tour of the West," whatever that may mean. It is also hinted by these organs that the Premier may make an utterance on his trade policy. It will be interesting to watch whether Sir Wilfrid Laurier will on this occasion drop hypocrisy, and state what his intentions really are. In the discussion on the Naval Bill in Parliament he made use of the extraordinary statement, "When England is at war Canada is at war, but it does not follow that because England is at war we are at war." There is a Chinese puzzle for you. The lapse of years had not added to the Premier's ability to nail his colors to the mast. No man prefers circumlocution more than he. If he does really pronounce a definite trade policy he will have have created a precedent so far as his past record is concerned. He told the free trade farmers of the West that he was a free trader at heart, that his soul soared with Cobden and Bright. To the people of British Columbia who have a strong protection strain in their make-up, he was the moderate tariff champion and promised consideration of their views when the tariff was being revised. Now he will come to the manufacturing city of Montreal, where the spirit of 1878 is rampant. What will he tell them there? Will Cobden and Bright, or Macdonald and the old "N.P." be his guiding angels. It is very hard to prophesy, because no man living has yet found in Sir Wilfrid Laurier the trait of saying what he really means, independently and bravely. His eye is ever glued to the voters' list. His is the policy of glittering generalities.

CHAINED TO WHEELBARROW

In writing of the Schluesselburg prison in McClure's Magazine David Soskice tells of a prisoner who was chained to a wheelbarrow.

"Schedrin had been condemned to hard labor in the convict mines of Siberia, and for an attempt to escape from there had been sentenced to be chained to a heavy wheelbarrow. When the order came for his transfer from Siberia to St. Petersburg no conveyance could be found large enough to contain him, the wheelbarrow and the convoy of gendarmes. Yet, as the wheelbarrow had become a part of the prisoner, the gendarmes were afraid to leave it behind. It was therefore decided to place Schedrin with his convoy in one cart, and the wheelbarrow behind in another. For several months, day and night, Schedrin and the gendarmes galloped through Siberia upon a troika (a three horsed cart or sledge), while another sped behind them upon which the wheelbarrow reposed, causing the deepest amazement among the peasants in the villages through which they passed. Upon the arrival of the prisoner in SS. Peter and Paul he was once again chained to the barrow, and only after he had been six weeks in the Schluesselburg was he finally detached from it and given freedom of movement within the narrow confines of his cell.

"'When they unchained me,' said Schedrin subsequently, 'I could not get enough movement. I wanted to run and run, and it seemed to me that I never could stop. How strange it is that men who can enjoy perfect freedom of movement never realize the wonderful happiness that is theirs.'"

WAS UP AGAINST A HARD COMBINATION

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Vanquished Them All

Sundridge, Ont., Oct. 7.—(Special).—Gravel, Diabetes and Dropsy are a terrible combination for one man to have. It means that his life is in the gravest danger, unless like George Vanhooser, a well known resident of this place, he finds the simple and natural cure. Here is the story Mr. Vanhooser tells, and all his neighbors know every word of it is true—

"I had pains in my back and across the loins. My stomach would swell, I was constipated and I had sharp cutting pains in my bladder, which made me sure that I was suffering from the terrible Gravel. The doctor attended me, but I kept getting worse every day.

"Others had told me of the great good Dodd's Kidney Pills had done them, and I determined to try them. Six boxes made a new man of me."

Gravel, Dropsy and Diabetes are all either Kidney Diseases or are caused by diseased Kidneys. The easy and natural way to cure them is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. They never fail to cure any form of Kidney Disease.

Touching Typhoid

A bulletin from the Conservation Commission says—The quality of water for human consumption depends upon the polluting and purifying influences to which it has been subjected before reaching the consumer.

It is well known that the general health of a community using a sewage polluted water gradually falls lower and lower, and the death rate increases proportionately. Of the diseases most frequently following the use of an impure water, typhoid fever holds, at the present day, the most prominent position in the public eye.

It is a curious fact, as yet unexplained, that the change from an impure water to a pure supply diminishes the sickness and death rate, not only from typhoid fever, but also from tuberculosis, pneumonia and other serious diseases.

The New York Tribune says Every life lost by typhoid is a wasted life. It is absolutely preventable. Typhoid originating in any community disgraces it.

GUARANTEED POTATOES A NEW MARKET SLOGAN

Another brisk and busy scene was presented on the market square today. The market appeared to be at its best. Prices remained about stationary. Butter still is aviating and eggs are also high. Farmers report a satisfactory condition of affairs and state that they make good sales on all their products. The potatoe crop is about the only one that is not a complete success. Mr. Ferguson, market gardener stated that he threw some potatoes behind his barn and before long they turned soft and created an undesirable stench. The defect in the potatoes is not discernible until they have remained in the bin or cellar for some time. Mr. Ferguson advises people not to buy more than two bags of potatoes at a time.

The following were the prices this morning.

Potatoes—$1.00
Guaranteed Potatoes—$1.10
Apples—60 and 75 cents.
Citrons—5 to 20 cents.
Cabbages—5 cents.
Onions—25 cents., pk.
Carrots—5 cents, a bunch.
Beets—5 cents. a bunch.
Turnips—5 cents. a bunch
Pumpkins—10 and 15 cents
Squash—5 to 20 cents
Live Ducks—$2.50 a pair.
Eggs—30 cents. a dozen
Butter—27 cents.
Hay—$14 and $15.
Geese—$1.10 to $1.25.
Chickens—75 cents.
Turkey—18 cents, per lb.
Baled Hay—$10.

"DOC" GIBSON IS HERE BUT THE HORSE'S HEAD IS MISSING; 9 MONTHS IN FRIGID ZONE

"Doc" Gibson blew into the Review Office this morning minus the big horse's head he used to wear as a watch charm when he was a habitat of the alley which is listed in the directory under the dignified title of Chambers street. The big pearl charm, which was quite as large as the head of a real live pony—but of that later on.

"Doc" used to be a student with Dr. Johnston and left Peterborough over a year and a half ago and took up the practice of veterinary surgery in Seattle. He sailed from there last August as veterinary surgeon for M. J. Heney, the contractor for the Copper River and Northwestern Railway, who carried a lot of horses for construction work and cattle for beef.

The route of the road is from Cordova, Alaska, to the Kennicott copper mines, 198 miles inland from Cordova. These mines are valued at $50,000,000.

After nine months endurance of the rigors of the land of everlasting cold the doctor returned south in May and and after practicing in Vancouver, came east recently to pursue bacteriological work at the Ontario Veterinary College. He came here from Toronto for a brief visit.

What about the horse's head? Well, that with "Doc's" clothes, diplomas, surgical plant, hat and everything but the suit he wore, when the shock about one o'clock in the morning, told that the "Ohio" had hit a reef, are lost beyond recall in the Pacific.

The purser, wireless operator, quartermaster and a passenger were all drowned in the wreck while trying to save the passengers and thirty head of stock were also lost.

Those on board were returned to Seattle after being landed on the beach and the trip of the construction party was started afresh and this time the destination was reached without mishap.

GIRL BURIED CHILD IN YARD AT LINDSAY

Lindsay Post.—Thursday morning, Inspector Gunton, of the Department of Neglected Children of Ontario, accompanied by Chief of Police Vincent, left town to investigate a revolting crime, which it is alleged had been committed on the boundary between Simcoe and Victoria counties.

They started from Brechin and drove to Dalrymple and Sebright, finally landing at Sadowa, a village on the boundary between Victoria and Simcoe counties, and about 45 miles from Lindsay. Rumour had it that a member of a family in the neighborhood had given birth to a child, under suspicious circumstances. On arriving at the village, the officials at once proceeded to investigate. They found a log hut 12x14. The interior presented the most revolting and disgusting scene the officers had ever witnessed. In one corner a home-made bedstead occupied about one-quarter of the space. The bed was filled with rags and sacks, and about it was a conglomeration of putrid food and everything else of an undesirable nature. The ceilings and walls were literally covered with filth and the stench was unbearable. This was the home of a father, daughter, son and illegitimate child of the daughter.

The officers were not long in unearthing revelations of a horrible nature. They found that the girl had recently given birth to a child and the body was found in the garden, buried a foot and a half below the soil. A fruit basket was utilised for a coffin.

As a result of the investigation the unfortunate girl, together with her brother, Noah Miller, were placed under arrest, charged with incest. They were taken to Brechin, where they were supplied with food and comfortable clothing. The officials arrived in Lindsay with the prisoners this morning.

The girl, who is twenty-three years of age, is not vicious looking, but seems to be a simpleton. Noah Millar her brother, is twenty-one years of age.

The illegitimate child of three years was taken in charge by the local Children's Aid Society.

It is also possible that a charge will be laid against the father for non-registration of the birth.

Mrs. Millar, mother of the girl, was taken from the same shack about a years ago by authorities and placed in the House of Refuge, where she died a short time ago. Her condition was such that when she was removed from the bed she was literally covered with maggots.

The sporting editor of the Review has secured a number of entry forms and these may be secured at this office.

READ THE REVIEW'S NEW STORY

"A Gentleman from Mississippi." by Thos. A. Wise. Novelized from the play by Frederick R. Toombs. Begins Monday.

THE DAILY REVIEW PATTERN SERVICE

Every day we will print and illustrate a new pattern. These are the very latest and thoroughly up to date.

On receipt of order, giving the number of pattern desired and 10 cents, along with name and address, the pattern will be mailed.

Be careful as to the right number.

CHILD'S DRESS.

All seams Allowed.

To make dresses for the small members of the family is a pleasure to all mothers, and to make the simple design we show would not be a trial to any one, even if she did not like to sew. The dress we illustrate is one of the models which have the full skirt sections falling from a yoke, and in this case the yoke is a very ornamental one, with two points in front and back. It is no harder to make than a straight one, and adds to the beauty of the dress. The bishop sleeves are finished with a cuff. The dress, as illustrated, is made up in lawn, with a yoke of all-over embroidery, but it may also be made of gingham, which is more serviceable for every day wear. The pattern (5167) is cut in sizes ½ to 5 years. To make the dress in medium size will require 2 yards of material 36 inches wide, ¼ yard of all-over 18 inches wide, 1½ yards of insertion and 1½ yards of edging.

The above pattern can be obtained by sending 10 cents to the office of this paper.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

To the Editor of the Review:

South Monaghan, Oct. 5, 1910.

Dear Sir,—Will you give me a small space in your valuable paper for these few lines. When a man looks for municipal honors he ought to transact the public business in honor to themselves and justice to the ratepayers of South Monaghan and not to forget their principles and honor as public men, by taking the public money from the ratepayers and making a present of it to other ratepayers to build a frontage to their lots to enhance the value of their property at the expense of the ratepayers of the township of South Monaghan. According to my mind it's illegal for the municipal council of South Monaghan to do so without first submitting it to a vote of the ratepayers of the township for their approval for it or against these grants. These men that want concrete sidewalks should petition to have the council issue debentures and construct the sidewalk, the whole cost thereof to be charged as a frontage tax against the property owners along the street.

It is also illegal for the council of South Monaghan to allow these men to do their statute labor on the sidewalk in place of doing it on the public highway, the same as others have to do.

I hope the ratepayers of South Monaghan will stop their illegal grants without first having advice how their money is to be spent.

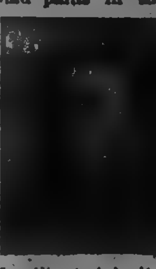
AFTER SUFFERING YEARS
Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Fox Creek, N.B.—"I have always had pains in the loins and a weakness there, and often after my meals my food would distress me and cause soreness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me much good. I am stronger, digestion is better, and I can walk with ambition. I have encouraged many mothers of families to take it, as it is the best remedy in the world. You can publish this in the papers."—Mrs. WILLIAM BOURQUE, Fox Creek, N.B., Canada.


The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.
Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

SENTENCED TO SEVEN YEARS IN THE "PEN"

Edward Jobe was sentenced at the police court this morning by His Worship Magistrate Dumble, to the Penitentiary at Kingston for a term of seven years.

Although Jobe pleaded guilty to seven charges, the judgment of His Worship only takes in five charges, the other two being dropped.

The prisoner before judgment was given, when asked if he had anything to say, replied in the negative, and remained unaffected when he learned his punishment.

AN EVANGELIST WHO IS AWAKENING REAL INTEREST

That Dr. Sam. Luttrell of Denver, Colorado, is a man worth hearing, and whose messages are worthy of attention, was evidenced last night at the Park Street Baptist Church, when after a most practical and convincing sermon upon "In Christ" many responded to the doctor's invitation to accept Christ, and came out boldly on the Lord's side.

There is no fanatical excitement, no playing upon the emotional, no special facts, but the straight unadulterated Gospel of Jesus Christ, and his blood to save.

The meetings are growing in interest and power.

The meetings will be continued tomorrow and all next week. Mr. Mulligan has kindly consented to assist in the singing next week.

Special mass meeting for men tomorrow afternoon at 3 p.m. Address by Dr. Luttrell "The man who wins" All men made welcome.

LOCAL OPTION AND THE MILLBROOK FAIR

The feeling in some quarters in Millbrook, regarding Local Option, in that town, is that the measure which is now in its third year, has been a failure.

A representative of the Review, who was in Millbrook yesterday reporting the fall fair, had a talk with a prominent official of the fair, in regard to the attendance and exhibits and he stated that while not aware of the correct count, he was sure that there was a falling off in attendance.

Two reasons were given by the official. He said that the bad state of the roads kept many people away, and that there was no doubt but that Local Option hurt the fair. The accommodation, a strong point from the view of the farmer, was not sufficient.

However, the reporter, in his work of the day, did not come across one drunken man, but what he did see were several empty whiskey flasks and these were lying about the cattle sheds, after the majority of the people had left the grounds.

Suspicious looking movements were seen on the main street, but these were those of young fellows who were "trying to put it on."

POPULAR YOUNG MAN LEAVING FOR TORONTO

Mr. George Martin will be much missed here. He goes to Toronto on Monday. Last week at the Brock street roller rink he was the guest of honor at a skating party, composed of a number of his intimate friends. George has has always a cheery word and a bright smile for everyone, and his place will be hard to fill both in social and church circles. He was a regular attendant and active worker in Murray street Baptist church and choir.

A jolly time was spent last night. Skating was continued until 11.30. Afterwards justice was done to a bountiful spread, provided at Coleman's lunch parlors. Mr. Martin was the recipient of the sincerest wishes for his success in Toronto.

Those who were in the party were: Miss Helen Pringle, Miss Edna Yelland, Miss Olive Yelland, the Misses Walsh, Miss Teresa Togus, Miss Tobin, Miss Ethel McIlmoyle, Lessie Stillman, George Martin, Mr. Devine, Mr. Albert Whittaker, Ernest Mewsley, Martin Lamb, Jas. Anglesey, Vincent Elliott, Ernest Mein, and Holly McIlmoyle.

GROSSMITH TICKLED MONTREAL

The Montreal Gazette of Oct. 4th says: "Not for a very long time has a Montreal audience joined in such unbounded mirth over the bubbling cleverness of a farce as the big crowd at the Princess experienced last night when Weedon Grossmith and his company presented "Mr. Preedy and the Countess." From the opening of the play to the very last line the company held the careful attention of the audience, and the continuity was only broken by the frequent laughter, which so interrupted the progress of the thing that much good matter was lost. But sufficient was caught to make it an evening of real enjoyment, and a presentation to be as much remembered for the skill of the company as for the brilliancy of libretto.

As to the success of the performance, there could be no doubt, from the moment Grossmith appeared. It was simply a succession of laughs, with the somewhat unusual concomitant that in each instance there was something worthy of laughter. Throughout it followed the best English traditions, depending entirely upon clear verbiage, scintillating with and a melange of humorous situations to create amusement. Whenever the movement threatened to descend to the buffo stage it stopped, and there were no times when the audience laughed and later had to stop and wonder why.

To those who remembered Grossmith a quarter of a century or more ago, it was a wonder where he kept his secret of perennial youth. His work as Hamilton Preedy was a marvellously clever presentation of the young and love-strung man placed in difficult situations by the more complicated programmes of the men—of course, profligates—around him, and the performance of the Countess of Rushmere, whose eccentricities assisted in bringing out his oddities. But it was late in the day when those who knew Grossmith of old awoke, when he lost his collar button, and gave a brief dance to find it. Then the famous Grossmith legs came into play, and gave an exhibition of quaint contortions which caused deep-seated amusement. The real delight of the farce lay in its pyrotechnic display of of wit and repartee, and throughout this was the main pleasure of the affair. This all centred about Grossmith, who never lost an opportunity of driving home an epigram or reinforcing the humor of an inept reply. His humor was at all times clean and forcible, and had a delightful freshness that won everybody, somewhat along the same lines that gave George Arliss his success in "Septimus."

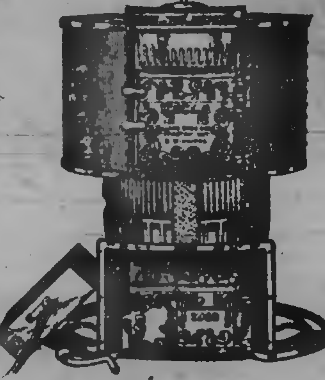
HECLA FURNACE

Is Guaranteed Gas-Tight and Smoke-Tight

20 years use has proved the strength of this guarantee.

In the "Hecla" Furnace, the castiron top and bottom of the radiating chamber, and the steel sides, are fused. That is, they are heated at white heat until they become practically one piece of metal.



These Fused Joints are absolutely and permanently tight. There is no opening, nor any possibility of there being an opening, between the fire and the warm air chamber.

20 years use, proves this.

No other furnace has Fused Joints—they are exclusive "Hecla" patents. Insist therefore on a Hecla.

If you are going to put in a new furnace this year, let us plan the heating arraingements, and tell you just what it will cost to install the right furnace to heat right. Write for free copy of our book "Hecla Heated Homes." 106

LADIE'S LITERARY SOCIETY

Father Casey New Director—Excellent Prospects for Season 1910-11—Opening Meeting Last Night

The officers will be elected at the next meeting of the Society, to be held at the Lyceum on Monday evening at eight o'clock. The voting will be by ballot, and a full attendance of members and their friends is requested. Although it is probable the elections will follow the nominations of last night's meeting, yet it is well to remember that the choice of the Society is not necessarily confined to the above mentioned. The efficiency of the Society depends almost entirely on the officers selected, and thus it is well that members should be absolutely free in the choice they make. Hence as every member, or intending member will have a vote, so will he have a perfect right to his opinion as to who is best. Members' tickets will be distributed at the meeting on Monday night.

Rev. Father McColl briefly reminded them of the objects of the Society and the practical results accruing therefrom. He also paid a tribute to Father Casey, their new director, as one of the most capable men any society could have at its head.

Father Casey thanked Father McColl and the Society for the honor done him and assured them they could count on his little help to make the Society a success. He urged the members to work together for this end because with them it rested to make or unmake it, and he hoped that busy man, as Father McColl was, he would find time to be present at their meetings. One thing he knew he would do for them, and that was to aid them by his counsel and advice. They may have had successful years in the history of the society, but this year they would endeavor to do one better. It was an age of progress, and they of the Literary Society should progress and make this their banner year.

Rev. Father Casey comes to the society with a very respectable literary reputation, being a contributor to at least a decade of the leading magazines and journals on both sides of the Atlantic. Everything points to a very successful year for the society.

THE CONDUCTOR WAS ROUGH WITH A PASSENGER IT IS STATED BY WITNESSES TO TROUBLE ON THE TRAIN

Passengers on the G.T.R. train yesterday, which reaches Peterborough at 5.30 in the afternoon, allege that William McMullen, of Dunsford, in Emily County, was brutally used by Conductor Clarence Long, an Englishman, who was placed in charge of the train at the time of the strike.

McMullen boarded the train at Millbrook, and from all appearances had a glass or two in him. Dr. King of this city, who was on the train at the time, says that when the train was about Fraserville the conductor shook McMullen, who was seemingly stupid and drowsy. Whether it was because he was not responsive when asked for his ticket, the doctor could not say, but, so the doctor states, the first thing the passengers in the coach knew the conductor was pummelling McMullen, and knocked his head against the wall. He then dragged him up the aisle, and, calling the brakeman to his assistance, shut the man in the lavatory.

Dr. King, B. L. McLean and Mr. Weese, of Lindsay, and other gentlemen on the train remonstrated with the conductor, and asked him not to use McMullen so roughly, but the conductor paid no attention to them. When Peterborough was reached the gentlemen mentioned above telephoned for the police to arrest the conductor on the charge of assault. They said the case was a county one, however, as it was committed outside the city.

Trainmaster Dan McMillan is in the city to-day investigating the trouble.

If the G.T.R. declines to take action against Conductor Long an information will be laid against him before County Magistrate Edmison by the witnesses of the affair referred to.

WHERE THEY ARE WHAT THEY DO

There will appear from now on in the Saturday issues of the Review, a list of the names of former Peterborough boys, with a short account of their business or professional success in the various vocations in which they are engaged. It is felt that this column will enable the residents of the city who are interested in the welfare of the boys to follow their career in the various towns and cities throughout Canada and the States, and to give them cause to feel proud of the product of Peterborough.

HORACE AYRES.

Mr. Horace Ayres was for one year the popular physical director of the local Y.M.C.A. In 1903 he resigned his position here and took up the study of medicine. He graduated with high honors and is now engaged in the practice of medicine in New York city

CHESTER KEMP.

Mr. Chester Kemp served his apprenticeship as druggist under Mr. James Lynch, the Hunter street druggist. About eight years ago the family moved to Edmonton, Alta. Here Mr. Kemp was connected with a leading drug company for several years, and this year was married to the daughter of the sheriff of Edmonton. He moved to Edson, Alta., started in business for himself, and is now making good in that booming western town. When here he was an active Y.M.C.A. worker, and a star forward on the Harrier basketball team when that organization was one of the main forces at the Y.M.C.A., some years ago

WALTER MAGUIRE.

Mr. Walter Maguire, son of Mr. A. S. Maguire, 59 McDonnel street, is another Y.M.C.A. worker, Walter was physical director and swimming instructor here for some time. He went to Montreal as assistant instructor in physical work, and is now engaged in the same occupation in the Sherbrooke, Que., Y.M.C.A.

HOWARD JEFFRIES.

Mr. Howard Jeffries, son of Mr. J. J. Jeffries, formerly English master at the local Collegiate Institute, is now occupying a lucrative position with the Amos Holden Shoe Company, Toronto.

STANLEY PRINGLE.

Mr. Stanley Pringle is on the staff of the Bank of Montreal at Enderby. Stanley was another ardent Y.M.C.A. worker, and played on one of their crack basketball teams.

EDWARD MANN.

Mr. Edward Mann, who was a clerk in McDermid & Jury's drug store in 1907 is now engaged in the real estate business in Prince Rupert, B.C. "Eddie" was editor-in-chief of the 'Collegiate Echoes' during his last year at the High School here.

SEYMOUR COLLINGS

Mr. Seymour Collings, who was physical director of the Y.M.C.A. two years ago, is now attending the Springfield Training School at Springfield, Ohio. He is slated to play on the half line for the college's first team against Yale, Harvard and the other big American schools this season.

GORDON FITZGERALD

Mr. Gordon Fitzgerald is another druggist who served his apprenticeship here and made good in the west. He learned the business with Mr. Jas. Lynch. Mr. Fitzgerald was very prominent in social circles in the city. He is now connected with a large drug company in Port Arthur.

LOCAL YOUTH OF SIXTEEN IN COURT AT INGERSOLL

Stole Watch and Rings Here and Left the City—Likely to Get a Chance to do Better

Herbert Taylor, whose name appears in the despatch given below, is known to the local police, who hold a warrant for his apprehension. In July he stole a watch and several rings from a Mrs. Cowan here, and left the city, going to Ingersoll, where he committed another theft. He then went to Windsor.

The articles stolen in Ingersoll and in Peterborough were recovered in Port Burwell, through the efforts of Chief of Police Thompson, and he stated this morning that if the authorities in Ingersoll decided to give their prisoner another chance to make good he would not take any further action against the young lad.

The despatch says—

Ingersoll, Oct. 7.—Although he admitted having stolen on four different occasions, and in four places—Peterborough, Ingersoll, Windsor and Port Huron—there was much of a pathetic nature about the trial of Herbert Taylor, before Magistrate Paterson, Wednesday afternoon.

Only released the day previous from the Sandwich jail, after serving two months for the theft committed in Windsor, Taylor felt his position keenly, and it was not to be wondered at for he was but a boy of sixteen years. His round, almost girlish, face, did not indicate an evil disposition, and the timid manner in which he glanced about the court room excited pity. His eyes were swollen from weeping, and shortly after he entered the court room he sobbed violently.

County Crown Attorney Ball was touched, and it was through his sympathetic remarks that the first ray of hope brightened the countenance of the prisoner. He spoke in favor of "another chance"—the course which probably would put the boy on the straight and narrow path. There was no attempt at pressing for a conviction.

While the weather has not been very pleasant yet a good number of people have been out almost every night to hear the messages given by Rev. R. J. Zimmerman, and those who have were greatly blessed and helped by his ministry in the Word. Last night he spoke on the "Baptism of the Holy Spirit" with special reference to the indwelling of the Spirit for a life of victory over sin, and communion and fellowship with God, and the anointing of the Spirit for service.

The special meetings will close to-morrow, and all who can should hear these closing messages.

"Y" MEETINGS ARE POPULAR

If the popularity of a thing can be judged by the number who participate in it, then certainly the Y. M. C. A. mens' meeting is popular. The attendance is good and the interest is keen.

There ought to be a very large attendance at 4.15 to-morrow, for the meeting will be addressed by Rev. J. Couch and a male quartette will sing. All men are welcome. There will be no collection.

SPORTING NEWS

GOOD SHOWING OF THE COLLEGIATE ATHLETES

Annual Field Day Brought Out Some Lively Contestants—New Record for 220 yards Senior by Fusee—Finals in Jumps Postponed.

The annual field day sports of the Collegiate Institute drew a large number of lovers of athletics to Riverside Park yesterday afternoon. Ideal weather prevailed for the events, and although only one record was smashed, still the keenly contested and neck-and-neck finish of some of the races kept the spectators constantly excited and interested. While the onlookers were mainly confined to students of the school, a sprinkling of outsiders were included, also many of the parents of the contestants. The girls of the Collegiate, by their presence, did considerable towards stimulating and encouraging the meet.

Owing to the length of time which was consumed in running off yesterday's events, the jumps have yet to be contested, and these will be finished Monday evening. The trophy for competition is known as the McDonald Cup, donated Mr. H. S. McDonald. Mayor Morrow and M. A. Gibson are donating medals, and the Board of Education gave a donation of thirty dollars.

GREAT RUNNING.

The greatest surprise of all manifested at the meet was the splendid running of Fusee, a comparative stranger in athletics. He has remarkable speed, going a steady, fast clip and running a well-judged race.

Harold Hill and Claude Bartlett, although not equalling last year's record for the pole vault, yet performed nicely, and are pretty evenly matched. Hill was declared the winner in the event.

For the juniors some strenuous and exciting events were pulled off. Carlisle, Meredith Huycke and Clare Stewart were always close up at the finish of the different events, and the youngsters ran excellently, when their years are considered.

In the junior pole vault the entries were seemingly inexperienced, and this event, as a result, was not included in the championship count.

The obstacle race for boys was provocative of mirth. Squeezing through barrels, through the rounds of a ladder, and under a tennis net stretched out upon the ground, the small boys, with their proverbial wriggling attributes, went through them all, and Ross Laing romped home home a winner in the final event.

In the mile event Fusee performed well. Only at one time was he in danger, but after the second lap he took the lead and set a fast, regular gait. Hill stuck to him at second and the race finished in that manner. Phelan and Ross Laing, the other entries, dropped out about the middle. The time of 5 min. 15 2-5 sec. is excellent although not breaking last year's record.

Fessenden also won his events in an easy and pretty manner. He runs well carrying himself with the least possible exhaustive action, and at the finish was always able to let loose.

The events for girls interspersed through the meet, brought forth much applause and cheers. The egg race and the potato race both went to Miss Mowat, while Miss Grady threw the baseball with the speed and accuracy that shattered the reputation of girls in this art.

According to the standing by points from yesterday's events, Hill was 17 to his credit, Fessenden 16, and Fusee 15, Phelan 4.

In the junior events Morris leads with 15 points, Murray Carlisle is second with 13, and Stewart third with 9.

THE CAR TO BUY

Russell-Knight

The Car Noted for its Great Power, Flexibility, Quietness and Endurance

Russell-Knight 1911 Models: 22, 26 and 38 H.P.

CRITICS CONFOUNDED

Interested critics said a year ago: "Do not buy a Knight motor, it is an experiment—in a year or two it may be all right."

Partly this is true—the Knight engine will be improved. Quite frankly we venture to hope that each Knight engine and each Russell car we make will be better than the one before. We believe that our 1914 cars will be better than those of to-day.

But this is the fact that must be borne in mind :—

The Knight engine built in its first year, by the first firm building it in a commercial way, under official observation, put up a performance which no valve motor made by any firm after years of experience has been able to equal.

Is not this conclusive proof of Knight superiority?

Then consider that since that time the engineering skill of five of the leading engineering firms of the world have worked for the improvement of the motor, and have been aided by the experience of over 2,000 users.

To-day the Knight motor stands on its record in all quarters of the globe as a tested, tried-out product of superlative excellence.

In the 1911 Russell "38" you get the culmination of this work in engine design.

Send your name to receive new catalogue of Russell 1911 models with prices.

100% DIVIDENDS

Comments on the Sunday School Session by Evangelist for Oct. 9th—Matt. 25th : 14-30.

Briefly summarized, the parable of the talents is as follows—In the Kingdom of heaven, or the Christian age, would be found two classes, those who would put out at highest interest the talents committed to them by a certain man who was on the point of leaving for a distant country and to whom on His return they would refund the invested capital with dividends yielding 100 per cent, and those who, through lack of enterprise, would make an assignment.

The "certain man" referred to was undoubtedly our Lord, who was even then taking leave of His servants, and was about to bestow upon them the talents or gifts of the Spirit, and Who, after "a long time" would come back to straighten out accounts.

Like the preceding parable, there were the true and the false, readiness and unreadiness for the coming of the Lord, but in the parable of the virgins the failure was in the inner life (lack of the Spirit) in this the failure lies in neglecting to use the gifts bestowed.

The capital was paid over to "His own servants" not for their own private benefit (had they used trust funds they would have been guilty of embezzlement), but for the extension of His business. So that the parable has no bearing whatever upon any but twice born men and women. To them He has entrusted the responsibility of His own interests. To them "He divideth to every man severally as He will" the gifts of the

When a mere lad He said "Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business." Let us look first at the Spirit.

Master, then at the two successful business men of the parable, then at ourselves, and compare methods.

Prompt decision and whole-souled activity were at the base of His success in His Father's business.

Looking over a lost and ruined manhood and womanhood, He saw that sin was the cause of human misery and unhappiness. He saw that the world's greatest need was not education, not social reform of one kind or another, but salvation from sin, new life. "I am come that ye might have life and that ye might have it more abundantly." Redemption to Him was

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

As He contemplated the world's great field with its hidden treasure He determined to sell all that He had and buy it. Looking at the pearl of great price, or the church, as it lay in the depths, He resolved to sell all that He had in order to possess it.

He was not long in coming to a decision as to what His Father's business was, and the decision once made, He lost no time in getting to work. This also seems to have been the method of the men to whom had been committed the talents. They saw their opportunity and made the most of it, like John D. Rockefeller, who saw his in petroleum. There was lots of petroleum, but the refining process was crude. Here was his chance. He started with a single barrel still in 1870, and made a superior grade of oil. In twenty years the business of the little refinery not worth $1,000 for building and plant, had grown into the Standard Oil Trust.

CAPITALIZED AT 90 MILLION.

and with stock quoted at 170.

Vanderbilt saw his opportunity in transportation by steam and gave up a good business in order to take command of one of the first steamers launched. He soon became owner of the boat and built up an enormous freight and passenger traffic. Foreseeing the great future of railways he then plunged into railway enterprises and laid the foundation of the vast Vanderbilt system of to-day.

Philip Armour saw his in port. During the rebellion he offered port in large quantities at $40 per barrel. Wall Street speculators told him that it would rise to $60 for the war was not nearly over. Young Armour kept on selling "short" and by the time the war was over

HE HAD CLEARED TWO MOLLIONS

They lost no time in deciding what course they would pursue and pursued it. They didn't wait like the one-talent man, for opportunities to turn up, but they turned them up. Weak men wait for opportunities, strong men make them.

Take two one hundred per cent divid

Our Lord thus teaches us by example and by parable that having entrusted to us the responsibility of His interests that we should use common sense business methods if we would be true to the trust.

We have seen first, that prompt decision and whole souled activity are essential to the success of any business enterprise. Is this characteristic of "His own servants?" Is there the get-up-and-go about them that should be expected in those to whom so valuable a trust has been committed? What are we doing with the infinite power committed to us in the gift of the Holy Spirit?

When Moody started into business for God he did not wait for magnificent opportunities to come knocking at His door, but he seized the common occasions and made them great. He started in a small way and worked up, banking all the time on that Name which is above every name for backing. He was one of the five talent men who will hand over to the certain Man when He comes.

SPIRITUAL STOCK YIELDING 100 PER CENT. DIVIDENDS.

God never started Moody into business for Him without equipping him with the necessary power to stir two continents. The same power is at the disposal of each one of "His own servants" if we would but seize the common opportunities that come to us day by day.

One other point we see in our Lord's business methods which is inferentially taught in the parable, viz; concentration.

In a previous lesson we saw how He refused to be side tracked on to political, theological or legal lines. His business was to get men saved from sin. When He saw a man with a devil of a temper He cast it out. When He saw him full of evil spirits he sobered him up and clothed him and put him in his right mind. When He saw a young man who was so far gone in sin as to be offensive to his sisters and all who came near him He got after him and called him out of his deadness, out of his darkness, out of his coldness, out of his irresponsiveness, into the sunshine of His presence. He concentrated all the energies of mind and soul and body to His business of saving men and women.

Had the five talent and the two talent men lacked concentration they would have been compelled to make

AN ASSIGNMENT AT HIS COMING

Some one remarked to Lord Rothschild—"I hope that your children are not too fond of money and business to the exclusion of more important things. I am sure you would not wish that."

"I am sure that I would wish that" he replied. "I wish them to give mind and soul, and heart, and body, and everything to business, that is the way to succeed."

Beyond question it is the way to succeed in Christian work. The men who have brought largest returns in the way of conversions to God have been men of concentration in prayer and work. Spurgeon, Moody, Torrey, Evan Roberts, Chapman, and Pierson were men of one overmastering idea, one unwavering man, men of intense purpose, the winning of souls for Christ.

Note how the Lord commends these men for their faithfulness, rather than their success, "Well done good and faithful servant."

Note also now the one talent man tried to shift the blame of his failure on the Lord. "I know that thou art a hard man." He did not know anything of the kind. His conceptions of God were all wrong. The real trouble with him comes out in the Lord's judgment of him, "Thou wicked and slothful servant," his life was all wrong. Like the foolish virgins he too had been burning the dry wick of an empty profession and was filled with consternation at the coming of the Lord.

The church is largely made up of one talent people, of might-have beens. Are you one?

Wake up! Wake up! The door of opportunity is still open. Emerson says: "We live in a new and exceptional age. America is another name for opportunity. Our whole history appears like a last effort of the Divine Providence on behalf of the human race," so is China, and India, and Africa, and South America.

Wake up! for "a certain Man" has been away along time, and may return sooner than we think.

DELICATE BABIES NEED BABIES' OWN TABLETS

For the baby who is delicate, who suffers from constipation, stomach and bowel troubles, worms or difficult, teething, nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. They are a positive cure for all the little ills of childhood and can be given to the newborn baby with perfect safety. They are sold under an absolute guarantee of a Government analyst to contain no harmful drug. They cannot possibly do harm—they always do good. Mrs. Geo. A. Windiver, Rockcroft, Ont., writes: "I would not be without Baby's Own Tablets. My baby was small and delicate and never grew till I began giving her the Tablets. She is nine months old now and thanks to the Tablets is well, fat and rosy. I will certainly recommend them whenever I get the opportunity." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

IDEAL DAY—LARGE CROWDS; MILLBROOK'S BIG ANNUAL

Fall Exhibition Was Another Success—Heavy List of Exhibits and Keen Competition—The Baby Show—Some of the Prize Winners—The Horse Race.

The population of Millbrook took a jump yesterday, and a big change in the general life of the town was noticeable everywhere, for it was the second and big day of the Millbrook Central Exhibition.

The weather man had to come down to it at last. The preceding days were, to say the least, rather damp, but the kind handed out yesterday to the president and directors was just what they ordered. It was ideal fall fair weather, and everybody made the most of it.

The receipts this season will not be up to those of last year, and Secretary-Treasurer Winslow was inclined to lay the blame to the muddy and bad state of the roads.

The attendance would possibly be in the neighborhood of three thousand, against four thousand last year. There was, too, a falling off in some of the exhibits, but it must not be supposed that the fair was not a success. In many respects, it was better than on previous occasions.

The horse exhibits was the feature. There was keen competition in every class, and the judges had a big day's work. All kinds of horses were entered. There was the young colt and his older brother; the carriage horse, single and doubles; agricultural and heavy draught, and a noticeable feature of the judging was that the people crowded around the rings, displaying great interest in the proceedings, while the heats of exciting horse races were being run.

THREE FIRSTS.

Mr. Fred Stenson, city, took first in the gentleman's driver, lady driver and gentleman's turnout. For the first in lady driver he won the special prize of $5.00, donated by Mr. Isaac Eastwood, of the Palace Hotel. Mr. Michael Neary handled the horse in the other two classes.

GRAFTON PRIZE.

Grafton's special for farmers' general purpose horses, was won by Mr. J. Elger, Bailieboro; John Roberts, Peterborough, and George Ward, North Monaghan, in the order named, there being three prizes.

T. H. Aikin, of Millbrook, took a first in agricultural horses and second in transports.

The exhibits in poultry showed an increase in number, and some splendid specimens of fancy birds were shown. Mr. David Baptie, of Peterborough, was the heaviest winner.

PRIZES GALORE.

Mr. David Jordon, of Jordon Bros., city, was the judge of the floral exhibits, the occasion being his sixth year in that capacity at the fair. This department was well up to other years, and the prominent winners were Mrs. R. T. Hounsell, city, and Mrs. George Thorne, Millbrook. Mrs. Hounsell exhibited in flowers, penmanship, crayon water colors, lead pencil, sepia and oils, and took twenty-one prizes in all, and making a total of forty-six prizes for three exhibitions, Peterborough, Lakefield and Millbrook.

In floral exhibits Mrs. Thorne took thirty-nine prizes out of forty-one entries, and altogether fifty-one prizes out of fifty-four exhibits. The special prize of $5.00 offered by China Hall for the best display of plants went to Mrs. Thorne.

VEGETABLES.

Mr. J. A. Carl, of Fraserville, won the special prize, a No. 3 root pulper, donated by the Peter Hamilton Co. for the best collection of roots and vegetables, and the premier honors for two field squashes went to Mrs. George Thorne, of Millbrook. These were about the size of a barrel and were grown by Miss Jessie, the daughter of Mrs. Thorne. The larger one weighed 122 lbs., and the other 99.

THE BABY SHOW.

The infant sons and daughters of Millbrook were out in full force for this event. The competition took place in front of the grand stand, and it proved to be a winner. The first prize went to Mrs. Sayles, the second to Mrs. Bell, and the third to Mrs. Robert McKnight. The show was open to all babies under one year.

BUTTER IN CROCK.

Mrs. Joseph Hamilton, of Millbrook won the special of $5 given by Richard Hall & Son for the best ten lbs. of butter in crock.

HORSE RACE.

Only one of the two events was pulled off. There were only four horses on the grounds, and the owners intended to enter both events. The directors would not stand for this, claiming that the spectators would not be treated fairly, as the events would not be contested for as they should, because fresh horses would be entered against those having raced. To get over the difficulty the directors offered $100 for one race, with all four to enter, but this wasn't agreeable on account of there being only three bikes. Then, finally, W. Leith was given $10.00 to remain out, and the balance, $90.00 was hung up for the 2.15 trot or pace. The original purse was $75.00. The three horses entered were: Paterson, Lulu Chimes and Harry Mack, driven by their owners.

Mr. W. Clancy, Peterborough, acted as starter, and Lulu Chimes got the pole. There were three laps to the mile, and Paterson won the race in three straight heats.

In the first Harry Mack got off to a bad start, breaking at the first turn. Lulu Chimes led on the first round with Paterson second, but in the second lap Paterson breezed past McIvor's horse, and in the third Harry Mack forced Lulu Chimes into third place, and took the wire, a close second to Paterson.

Harry Mack broke again in the middle heat, and Lulu Chimes showed her heels to Jones' horse until the stretch, when she was beaten out by a head.

Paterson found the wire by a shoulder in the third and last heat. Harry Mack was trailing all the time, and the race was between the other two horses. Lulu Chimes, apparently wasn't strong on the finish, for, as in the other two heats, Paterson won out with just a little to spare.

The standing:

Paterson (Jones)	1	1	1
Lulu Chimes (McKiver)	3	2	2
Harry Mack (McMahon)	2	3	3

The Millbrook brass band furnished the music during the afternoon, and acquitted themselves creditably. A patrol of Boy Scouts, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Arthur Winslow, gave an exhibition. The patrol was twenty in number.

In the evening a grand concert, featured by Toronto talent, was given in the town hall.

Several hundred people from Peterborough attended the fair, and a special train left Millbrook for the return trip at 7.30 o'clock.

AT THE DOMINION EXHIBITION ST. JOHN

Quite a number of firms who are well known to readers of the "Maritime Merchant" had very attractive exhibits at the Dominion Exhibition which closed recently in St. John.

One of the first to attract attention on entering the main building was that of T. H. Eastabrooks, who had a very artistic booth with polite attendants, to serve Red Rose tea and coffee to all comers. Needless to say it was always filled.—"Maritime Merchant," Sept. 29.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To my friends and the general public of Peterborough:—

I beg to notify all my friends and the public generally that I have disposed of my drug business to Mr. W. J. Kent, a gentleman whom I can recommend to the people of Peterborough as one fully capable to run a drug business in an up-to-date manner in every respect.

In making this announcement I beg to thank my many patrons for their kindnesses shown to me in the past 30 years and trust they will give the same confidence to my successor as they did to myself.

It affords me very great pleasure to feel that in retiring from the drug business I am placing that business in the hands of a gentleman who is in every respect worthy of the confidence and esteem of the citizens of Peterborough.

Signed,

H. S. MACDONALD

INTIMATION

With reference to the above I beg to announce to the people of Peterborough, that having purchased the business of Mr. H. S. Macdonald, I feel that my long and varied experience in every line of the business justifies me in saying to the people of Peterborough that my constant aim and desire will be to give them a service in the drug and sundry line second to none in the Province. Having ample capital I do not intend to be undersold and at all times will guarantee the quality and standard of my goods to be equal to the best procurable.

The stock being badly depleted I am purchasing new lines in every department and hope to have them ready for your inspection in the course of a week or two. Eighteen years experience as a prescription specialist will be a sufficient guarantee that this particular branch of the business which I intend to personally supervise will lead to the best results for both the medical man and his patient. "Uniformity of quality and drugs true to name will always prevail.

SAVED FROM THE KNIFE

Appendicitis Cured By "Fruit-a-tives"

NEWBURGH ONT., Feb. 12th, 1910.

"Just about a year ago, our daughter Ella (fourteen years), was taken with terrible pains in the right side. The pain was so severe that we had to carry her to bed. We at once put her under the care of a first-class doctor, who pronounced it a case of Appendicitis and advised an operation.

We took her to a hospital in Kingston where she was again examined by an eminent specialist. He said she had Appendicitis and must be operated on at once if we wanted to save her life. As we had taken her to Kingston to have this done, we were ready but our daughter was afraid and cried and begged so pitifully, that we postponed it for that day. Luckily for us and for her an uncle came in with some 'Fruit-a-tives' and insisted on Ella taking them. Good results were apparent, almost from the first dose, and the continuous treatment cured her.

'Fruit-a-tives' saved our daughter from the surgeon's knife and to-day she is enjoying the best of health."

J. W. FOX, (Father).
LILLIAN FOX, (Mother).

Words cannot express the gratitude of Mr. and Mrs. Fox. And Miss Ella will always remember "Fruit-a-tives"—the discovery of an eminent physician, and the only medicine in the world made of fruit. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At dealers, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

TO-DAY—MISSIONARY INSTITUTE— TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH MORNING AND EVENING; GEORGE ST. CHURCH AFTERNOONS

What is a Missionary Institute? This question has been asked frequently during the last few weeks. Is it a convention? Not exactly. It is rather a school of methods for studying in a practical manner how to organize and conduct the missionary work of a congregation and for training of young people to be teachers in the missionary work of the church.

REV. J. A. RANKIN D. D.
St. Paul's Church, Toronto Who deliver8 the Opening Address at the Institute To-night, St. Paul's Presbyterian Church

This is the missionary age, characterized by great forward movements in this aggressive work of the church. Witness the Student Volunteer Movement in Christian schools and colleges the world over, and the more recent Laymen's Missionary Movement. It has long been recognised that the Young People's Forward Movement for Missions is an important factor in what is now regarded as the plan of action of the Church of Christ, viz.: The evangelization of the world in this generation.

The Young People's Societies of Peterborough have recognized their obligation and privilege in this mattewr. They have united together in an international organization, and it is under the auspices of the Union that this present Institute is being held.

What is the program? Mission study classes, of which there will be four. 'South America,' under the leadership of Rev. C. N. Mitchell, M. A., for ten years a missionary in Bolivia; 'Corea in Transition,' led by Rev. H. J. Keith, M.A., B.D.; 'Strangers Within Our Gates,' by Mrs. (Dr.) T. C. Stephenson, and 'India,' by Rev. Dr. Davidson.

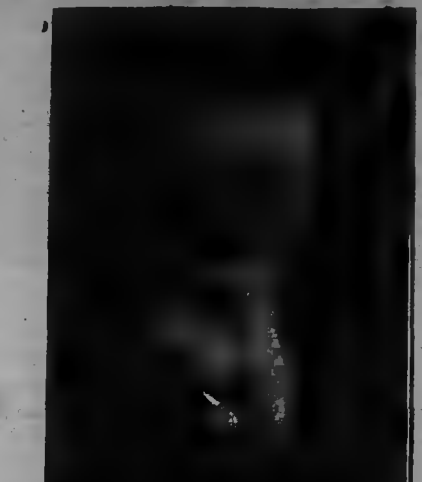
'Bible Study from a Missionary Point of View,' led by Rev. J. R. Fee.

'Missionary Exhibit.' This will be found in St. Paul's church and will repay investigation.

'Conferences on Practical Problems and Denominational Rallies.'

'Inspirational Addresses' by prominent missionary leaders.

The opening addresses will be given this evening in St. Paul's church by Rev. J. A. Rankin, D.D., pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church, Toronto. For many years Dr. Rankin has been a member of the Board of Missions and is a clear and convincing speaker.



REV. A. E. ARMSTRONG M. A.
Who Will give his impressions of the world's Missionary Congress Wednesday Afternoon George St. Church

Two well-known Canadian secretaries are on the program, Rev. J. G. Brown, D.D., of the Baptist Board of Missions, and Rev. A. E. Armstrong, M.A., of the Presbyterian Board of Missions. Mr. Armstrong will report his "Impressions of the World's Conference," held this past summer in Edinburgh.

Rev. Canon Tucker, M.A., D.C.L., Secretary of the Church Missionary Society, whose eloquent and inspiring addresses thrilled the Canadian Laymen's Congress a few years ago, will deliver the message of Tuesday evening.

Prominent among the speakers is Mr. J. Lovell Murray, M.A., of New York, Educational Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement. Mr Murray is a Canadian by birth and a man with a world-wide vision of missions. He will conduct a conference on ways and means, and will also be the speaker on Wednesday night.

Peterborough was honored with a similar Institute two years ago. The plan originated with the Rev. H. J. Keith, B.D., the present pastor of Knox church, and under his able leadership proved most successful. That this city is a natural centre for such an activity is evidenced by the fact that delegates from churches within a radius of fifty miles will be in attendance.

All the sessions and study classes are open to everyone wishing to attend.

PROGRAM.

Monday, Oct. 10th.

2 p.m. to 5 p.m.—Registration of delegates and visitors in George street Methodist church.

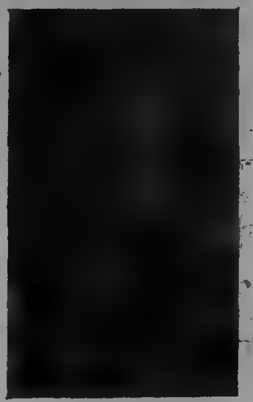
5.30 p.m. to 7.30 p.m.—Tea will be served to delegates in George street Methodist church.

EVENING SESSION.

In St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

8 p.m. to 8.15 p.m.—Devotional exercises, Rev. R. Pogue.

8.15 p.m. to 8.30 p.m.—Address of welcome, Rev. J. R. Webb.



REV. J. G. BROWN D. D.
Secretary Baptist Mission Board, Who speaks Tuesday Afternoon at George St. Church

8.30 p.m. to 9.30 p.m.—Missionary address, Rev. J. A. Rankin, D.D.

HOLOCAUST IN MINNESOTA CLAIMS THREE HUNDRED LIVES

Most Terrible Fire in History of the Western States Carries off Beaudette, Spooner, Pitt and Graceton—Flames Are Travelling Eastward and Other Places Are in Danger—Train Goes Through Bridge.

Warroad, Minn., Oct. 10—Beaudette, Spooner, Pitt, and Graceton, Minnesota, were wiped off the map of Minnesota by the most terrible forest fire ever witnessed by Minnesota settlers. The bodies of 73 settlers have been found and it is thought that the death roll among the settlers will be upwards of 300. Wagonloads of dead bodies are being brought into the railway station at Beaudette constantly.

It is reported that many settlers, crazed with grief at the loss of their families and property, are roaming the woods, and searching parties are constantly going out after the injured, the dead and the demented. One family of nine, one of seven, and one of five were wiped out on Friday night.

The whole country east of here is on fire. Roosevelt, Swift, Williams and Cedar Spur are in great danger.

The people of the Beaudette and Spooner, and the settlers through the northern part of the state have lost everything. A great many are homeless and the greater part of them destitute. Help must reach them in the next day or two in some substantial way, as the greater part of them are but half clad, and cold weather is likely to set in at any time.

Yesterday morning this town was on fire from the International Bridge to Sixth street, a distance of half a mile. Included in the burned area are the Rat Portage Lumber Co.'s mills and lumber yards, containing ten million feet of lumber; the Western Canada Flour Mills Co., and surrounding buildings. Fifty houses are burned, and scores of people are homeless.

Fire is raging in the woods as far as can be seen along the south bank of Rainy River. If the wind remains in the north it is possible the rest of Rainy River will be saved. Most of old Beaudette and International Bridge have so far escaped the fire.

All available hose is in use, but the fire, driven by a strong northwest wind, is beyond control and must burn itself out.

Canadian Northern Railway trains have been stalled here since Friday night, when a freight train went through a bridge near Pitt. The crew was saved, and Conductor Monahan walked into Beaudette. He reports that town destroyed, only the water tank, the school house walls and the depot standing. Monahan says he walked over bodies on the way, but could not say how many. Many settlers took to the woods and have not been heard from since. A mother and five children are known to have been burned.

Calls are coming in to help settlers 12 miles south. Wires are down, and news is obtainable only as refugees come in.

Fever Patients Carried Away.

International Falls, Minn., Oct. 10—More than 250 dead, millions upon millions of dollars' worth of property destroyed, 3,000 refugees fleeing from the flames, is an epitome of the happenings of the day's session in the Baltrami County fires. Thirty-five typhoid fever patients were carried on improvised litters from Spooner, just before it was wiped off the map. Forty-five were carried from Beaudette.

The Mecca of all the refugees, carried or loitering from exhaustion, was Rainy River, Canada, across the water from the fire-ridden districts of Minnesota. Then the flames hit Rainy River, destroyed the lumber mills, and 200 panic-stricken persons piled into freight cars and all but mobbed the engineer of a switch engine, who thinking there was no danger, started to pull them out of the town. Later the flames subsided, and Saturday night 500 refugees landed in International Falls, strong men shaking like leaves in a gale, women and their children, fever patients on shutters, armed men and women swathed in bandages.

There was no escape to the west, the east was the only chance, and it was a slim one. Bridges and culverts had burned out, wires were down, and trains were run at their full speed. All the way from Beaudette and Rainy River, west to Warroads, a distance of fifty miles, was a solid mass of flames. Beaudette is only a charred remnant of a town. Spooner is wiped off the map. Cedar Spur, Graceton, Pitt, Swift and Roosevelt, mere hamlets, are burned to the ground.

AFTER NINETY-SIX YEARS

Unknown American Soldiers' Remains Are Interred at Falls.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 10.—The remains of nine unknown American soldiers, who fell at the battle of Lundy's Lane, July 25, 1814, were reinterred in Drummond Hill Cemetery yesterday afternoon. The remains were discovered three months ago, when excavations were being made near the grave of Laura Secord.

The ceremonies yesterday were under the joint auspices of the Lundy Lane Historical Society of this town and the Niagara Frontier Landmarks Association of Buffalo. The single casket was draped with the Stars and Stripes and banked with flowers, sent from many parts of both Canada and the States.

Short addresses were delivered by R. G. Geary, president of the Lundy's Lane Historical Society; George D. Emerson, secretary of the Niagara Frontier Landmarks Association, and Rev. William Bevan, rector of All Saints' Anglican Church. Chaplain Wood of Fort Niagara read the United States army burial service. Rev. Dr. Wallace, pastor of the Drummond Hill Presbyterian Church, and Very Rev. Dean Bevan, rector of Christ's Church, assisted. After the service Bugler O'Connor of Fort Niagara sounded taps over the casket.

Major Pendleton of Fort Porter represented Secretary of War Dickinson of the United States.

GIBRALTAR DOES EVERYTHING TO MAKE EXILES FEEL AT HOME

Portuguese Fugitive Royal Family Send Back Yacht Amelie to Authorities at Lisbon—Every Effort Made to Calm Anti Religious Element.

Gibraltar, Oct. 10.—The fugitive royal family of Portugal left the yacht Amelie yesterday, and are now the guests of the governor at Government House. The yacht sailed for Lisbon last night. She will enter the harbor without displaying any flag, and will be turned over to the Government.

The people of Gibraltar gave the exiles a warm welcome. When they attended mass at St. Mary's Church yesterday morning, the edifice was crowded, and thousands had congregated outside. King Manuel and the Queen Mother drove from the yacht in Government carriages, with the members of their suite, the governor's aide, the admiral of the port and his flag lieutenant attending them. The people along the route cheered enthusiastically, and the King and Queen bowed their acknowledgments smilingly.

At the entrance of the church Monsignor Chincota received them and conducted them to seats near the high altar, not far from the beautiful stained windows, which were recently placed as memorials to the murdered King Carlos and the crown prince.

On their departure from the church the members of the party were cheered again. When he left the yacht King Manuel said farewell to all the crew, who kissed his hand, while the others were attending church the Dowager Maria Pia landed and drove to the Government House? The whole party had lunch with the governor, Sir Archibald Hunter. Sentries were doubled, while strong police patrols were stationed outside the house.

Quantities of baggage and furniture have been unloaded from the yacht. Apparently they had been placed on board some time ago, in preparation for a possible flight.

Pope Will Inquire.

Rome, Oct. 10.—The Vatican has received despatches from Monsignor Tonti, papal nuncio at Lisbon, dated Cintra, which took more than twenty-four hours to reach Rome. These despatches briefly report the facts concerning the revolutionary movement, as already known to the public.

With reference to the Jesuits and other ecclesiastics throwing bombs and other explosives without provocation, the Vatican appeals to the commonsense of the people of any country as to the improbability of such occurrences. The Vatican points out that it very likely was repetition of what happened in Barcelona in 1909, that the mob must have attacked the religious houses, the inmates defending themselves.

Regarding the various statements made by Premier Canalejas at Madrid, it is openly stated by Vatican officials that if he intends to continue that kind of policy, it will be impossible for the Holy See to reach an agreement on the religious question with Spain, as the principles of the Premier are distinctly anti-religious, notwithstanding his affirmations to the contrary.

Calming Anti-Clericals.

Lisbon, Oct. 10.—The Government is making strong efforts to calm the anti-clerical agitation. The Minister of the Interior has been touring the streets in an automobile dispersing manifestants. Priests are set upon wherever seen. A few of the churches, having priests recognized by the Government, have opened their doors.

An armed band yesterday entered Trinas' Convent, which was occupied by 150 Portuguese Sisters of Charity, some of whom resisted. A dozen of the sisters were wounded. Later the troops occupied the convent. The wounded sisters were transferred to a hospital. The others were taken away in closed vans, their destination being unknown.

Family Go to Spain?

Alegciras, Oct. 10.—The Marquis of Fayal, who took refuge here when the revolution broke out in Lisbon, left yesterday, saying that he was returning to Portugal. It is thought, however, that he is going to Seville to prepare a residence for the royal family.

BILL POSTER WAS SHOT

New York, Oct. 10.—A Chinaman dressed in his flowing native robes of yellow and red, stood on a small wooden bench pasting up a flaring red proclamation in Chinese characters against the wall of 21 Doyers street early Saturday night. To him, breathless after a long run, rushed Policemen Waterbury and Anderson, who had been called from the Elizabeth street station by a rumor of trouble at 14 Motts street, and later at 21 Doyers street.

While they were questioning the Chinaman as to where the trouble was, one policeman standing at either side of him, they heard a shot from across the street, and the Chinese billposter tumbled from the bench. The proclamation, torn and bloodstained, fluttered to the pavement beside him.

Dynamite Was Used.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 10.—Dynamite or some other high-power nitroglycerine product undoubtedly caused The Los Angeles Times' explosion, which resulted in the destruction of more than $500,000 worth of property and great loss of life, according to the committee appointed by Mayor Alexander on the day of the explosion.

A Short Lease of Liberty.

North Bay, Oct. 10.—Kid Brody, under sentence of nine months for conducting a gambling resort in Cobalt, who escaped from Guard Parker while the Cobalt express was pulling into North Bay Wednesday, was arrested at Thessalon, while making his way towards Michigan.

CUT HIS THROAT FROM EAR TO EAR

Ingersoll, Oct. 10.—Ezra Storey of this town committed suicide yesterday morning by slashing his throat from ear to ear several times. A few minutes before 11 o'clock he went into his room to shave. Shortly after his wife and son heard a trickling noise in the room, and on going into it were horrified to see the unfortunate man lying on the floor with his throat terribly gashed. One of the neighbors were immediately called in, and even then the dying man made desperate attempts to continue cutting at his throat. Medical assistance was immediately sent for, but by the time Coroner Dr. Neff arrived, Mr. Storey was breathing his last.

Mr. Storey had been in a mentally unsound condition for some little time, and during the last few days has been particularly melancholy. His wife a few nights ago wrested a knife from his hands, which he had taken to bed with him, determined to carry out the deed, which yesterday resulted in his death. She also has been carrying his razor for some days, in fear of his carrying out a threat that he would some day end his life.

Rector Half a Century.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 10.—Rev. Dean Houston retires as rector of Christ Anglican Church here Nov. 1, after half a century in that charge. He will be succeeded by Rev. Guy Gordon, rector of St. John's, Port Dalhousie.

Lonesborough Returns to England.

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—The Earl of Lonesborough, military secretary to Earl Grey, returns to England at the end of the present month. His successor will be Mr. Malcolm of the Foreign Office.

INNOVATIONS IS THE CHURCH

Montreal, Oct. 10.—La Verite, the advanced clerical organ of this province, is out with the statement that the Catholic Church in this country is rapidly being sapped by the influences of Protestantism and American modernism. The Verite believes also that Pius X. will one day strike to death all those innovations, copied after Protestant and Masonic observances, which are fast becoming a part of Catholic life on this continent.

The writer says that formerly the priest learned the language of the people, but the new discipline makes the people learn the language of the priest, which La Verite says is contrary to the spirit of the church and the tradition left by the apostles. Charity balls and secret societies are copied from Masonry and Protestantism. How many old Catholic customs have been replaced by customs which are the inventions of the devil?

QUARTER MILLION WAS CONTRIBUTED

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 10.—What was said to be the largest collection ever taken up on plates by any church in American, an interpretation by the house of bishops on the "open pulpit" subject and refusal to change the name of the church, were among the most important features of the triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in session here on Saturday. While the convention was in session, a communion service was being held in Christ Church, where the donations were being received from the women's auxiliary for the general missionary fund. At the conclusion it was announced that the collection was [illegible].

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Dr. H. P. Reynolds of Lepreaux, N.B., was burned to death by his clothing taking fire.

Eight hundred Druses who opposed the advance of the Turkish forces in northwestern Syria were slain.

Dr. Gastonguay, a well-known physician of Quebec, was drowned while canoeing on the Jacques Cartier River.

Hoxsey, the aviator, flew 104 miles from Springfield, Ill., to St. Louis, Mo., on Saturday, breaking the American record.

Cleveland Gorrill, aged 11, 1,265 West Queen street, Toronto, was killed by a car on lower Dufferin street while selling race programs.

The Bennett vaudeville theatres have been incorporated as Canadian Theatres, Ltd., capital $1,000,000, with A. E. Dyment, J. C. Duffield and John Pringle as leading shareholders.

His Excellency Earl Grey, who has not been in Ottawa since early in August, when he left on his Hudson Bay trip, is back in the capital. With His Excellency comes Earl Percy, his new A.D.C.

Right Hon. Richard Haldane, in addressing a meeting at Haddington, Eng., said that nobody knew when the next election would come. He had a suspicion it would come like a thief in the night.

Prof. Gosio, the celebrated Italian bacteriologist, is convinced that cholera germs are transmitted by fish. He has undertaken experiments to ascertain whether the recent cholera outbreak was due to this.

The Paris Figaro says that the real reason for the failure of the projected marriage of King Manuel and the English princess, Patricia of Connaught, was Great Britain's fear that the Portuguese monarchy would fall.

CHIEF OF GANG OF BURGLARS CAUGHT

Galt, Oct. 10.—The chief of a gang of burglars, who have been operating in Galt all summer, was run in by Chief Gorman yesterday. He is a German, aged forty, gives his name as Johann Banningen, and says he comes from Buffalo. He had pals, but refuses to tell who they are. The prisoner worked at Getty & Scott's shoe factory.

The amount of stuff stolen by the gang reaches over $1,000, and their victims are scattered all over the town. All credit is due the police chief for working up the case with practically no clue. These mysterious robberies had fairly set residents in a panic.

The Toronto police are also interested in the capture, because it is believed this gang was concerned in depredations in that city. The prisoner will be put in the sweat box, and may give important information.

Revolver Accidentally Discharges.

Fort William, Oct. 10.—While Alfred Gilby and an unknown friend were unloading a revolver Sunday morning at Mobelle, fifty-nine miles west of the C.N.R., it was accidentally discharged, and the bullet entered Gilby's abdomen. A special train rushed him to the General Hospital at Port Arthur, where he lies critically ill, the bowels having been perforated eight times.

BOURASSA SEVERE ON PREMIER

Montreal, Oct. 10.—Henri Bourassa is quite severe on Sir Wilfrid on the eve of the great demonstration at the Monument Nationale. The Ottawa Free Press having insinuated that the Nationalist leader was an annexationist. Mr. Bourassa repudiates any such sentiment. He admits that his uncle, L. J. A. Papineau, who became a Presbyterian late in life, was an ardent disciple of annexation, and was even mixed up in the conspiracy, set on foot in New York by Marcier, Tarte, Goldwin and others, to bring about the independence of Canada.

The writer in Le Devoir says, however, that, in spite of his uncle's annexation sentiments, neither Mr. Laurier or Mr. Mercier ever refused his checks for their election funds. He ignores to what extent Sir Wilfrid Laurier was aware as to those meetings in New York, but he presumes that had the deal been ratified, the Liberal leader would not have closed the party's electoral coffers against the money, any more than he did when Ernst Pacaud deposited $100,000 from the Baie des Chaleurs, or when he allowed Mercier to be crushed, after profiting by his election fund.

A VOTE OF THANKS

"The Garbage is too hard to eat." Thus sang a fly.

"Too hard to eat," broke out the dismal chorus of maggots.

"A vote of thanks to the Board of Health for their fatherly protection," said Prof. Bluebottle.

"Don't forget the Council," murmered a fly from the sheltered nook of a mess of filth.

"Don't forget the Council."

"Cursing the weather but blessing the authorities, the flies grew strangely silent till Indian Summer comes

BARGAINS IN WIVES

During the first week of the exhibition the Rev. James W. Wilkinson, of Grace street, married a couple from Union City, Pa., Sth. After the ceremony the groom handed the minister a nice wedding fee.

Yesterday a registered letter was received from the bride. After stating how much they had enjoyed a visit to our fair city and the exhibition, she concluded by saying that her husband, Mr. R., had had the manliness to admit that he had got a better wife than he had bargained for, and so enclosed a second fee. Moral—Oh, ye husbands, many of you, at least—go and do likewise.—Toronto Telegram.

Most of us have better wives than we bargained for. We couldn't do enough for them when we were courting—a box of candies every visit, a drive, a show, ice cream, presents. We landed and its all different now. She washes and scrubs, irons, bakes and sews, makes the beds. The same on Sunday and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and Saturday just like the rest of them. No candies, no visits, no drives, or shows, ice cream or presents, just work, the woman who works at home. Yes, he got a good bargain. She is the one who was fooled. She mothers the flock. He comes home for his meals and goes out, and arriving home from his evening after supper parade, asks for quiet, reads the paper and goes to bed.

SHOP EARLY

Good evening, "A Merry Christmas, shop early and avoid the rush" Yes, "Tempus Fugit." Time flies. It doesn't seem very long since, we heard the blue birds coming, now we hear them going. It wasn't so long ago since we took off our overcoats, now we have them on. It won't be long till they are back again, meanwhile it's only a few days till Christmas. "Shop early and avoid the rush." Christmas the great occasion of exchange of presents, the true spirit lost, but what odds, we repeat, "Shop early and avoid the rush."

GOOD FELLOWSHIP

The St John's Guild of Good Fellowship is about the newest thing in Peterborough towards sane thought. The efforts is directed at the young men, although bald heads are not barred. Many young fellows seem to think that the man who carries a Bible under his arm has an awful time of it. Sonney, you're badly mistaken. Ask the man who's been a rounder, who knows both sides of the story, and he'll tell you that the right way is the best way, the happiest way. The young fellow who does right may get the merry ha! ha! from the bunch, but right down in their heart the bunch respect him, and deeper down they envy him, The fellow who lives right has no morning after, no regrets, no remorse.

"Who to forbidden paths would rove,
Who knows the sweets of hymens love,
Their pleasures last and are sincere,
From present grief or future fear.'

WORK

One of the suggestions put in the forefront of the programme of the Trades and Labor Council at the recent convention held in this city was the proposal for an eight hour day. In Germany they are agitating for a ten hour day, as against 11 to 14, the present hours of labor. Belgium is agitating for a six day week. Employers are everywhere opposed to the demands of labor, although it is clearly shown that the shortening of the hours of labor is distinctly beneficial to the health and physique of the worker. If a man has a two hundred dollar horse, and works him long hours, seven days a week all the year round, he will soon have to buy another horse. If he employs a laborer, and works him in a similar manner—he will soon have to hire another laborer. The employer is nothing out of pocket. The loss falls on the worker, and on those depending on him, and eventually on the nation. The Daily Times Journal, Fort William.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Yes, and all play and no work makes Jack a Jackass.

There are always the two sides to this question, the side of the boss, who says, "I have the care, I have the responsibility and the financing; the side of the man who works, who says, "I must feed the family, clothe the child, educate him, pay the rent and lay by for the rainy day."

But if a man loves his work, boss, or workingman the hours are not long if we are paid a fair wage. However, very few of us love our work. We work as a means to keep us from starving, we are glad when the whistle blows, when the clock strikes, and we can get our hat and go home. Few of us wear out, most of us rust out, some of us dissipate out—out of a job, out of friends into the saloon, out of hope into despair. For every man who works too hard is one who does not work hard enough. He only thinks he does.

THE CHILD

"That no girl under sixteen, or boy under twelve, be allowed on the streets after 9 o'clock p.m., except in the company of their parents or some responsible person." This is a resolution passed by an association for the prevention of crime in Ontario. The association met at Guelph recently, and this is one of the resolutions passed. Many people will probably regard restrictions of this character as being grandmotherly, but everyday occurrences in Ontario are demonstrating the absolute necessity of the children being looked after more closely than is being done at present.—Brantford Expositor.

Why boy under twelve? Why not boy under sixteen, also? When a girl goes wrong there's usually a man in the case, and if the boy is kept in tow, well tied to his mother's apron strings till sixteen is reached, he is not nearly so likely to be the one who got the girl into trouble. But if mother is flighty and rolls her eye, the daughter needs special care. If dad is an acrobat with his right hand and bends his elbow across the bar too often, it's dead sure son will need a muzzle till he reaches the year of discretion. Keeping kids at home is all right, but we know that the right home example beats whipping and advice to a frazzle.

GREATNESS

Some men are born great, some achieve greatness, others have greatness thrust upon them. This is an old saying, and in another section of this paper will be found Peterborough's position in relation to power greatness. Peterborough has within her realm the possibility of achieving greatness in this matter. Will she? Or will she sit down and let opportunity pass? That's all there is to say in the question. Will Welland, Guelph, Berlin and distant Windsor beat us out, or will we, who have the chance of achieving, sit still and watch the procession towards greatness. From the Halifax Herald in the east to the Woodstock and Welland in the west, all the papers round the note of expansion, a doing or dying spirit. It's up to Peterborough. What will it do? The rhymster in the St. Thomas Times says—

BOOM ST. THOMAS.

Tell me not in mournful numbers that the town is full of gloom,
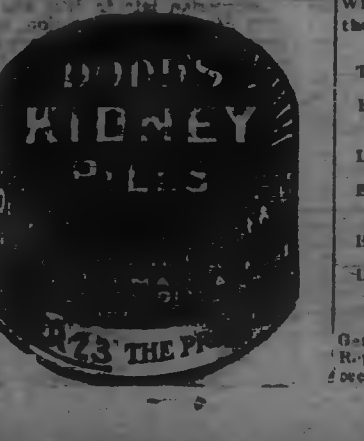
For the man's a crank that slumbers in there hustling days of boom.
Life is real, life is earnest, and the grave is not its goal;
Every dollar that thou turnest helps to make the old town roll.
But enjoyment and not sorrow is our destined end or way,
Do your part to boom the city, boost a little every day.

General, was elected chairman of the Republican State Committee, to succeed Timothy L. Woodruff.



SIDE LIGHTS

THE FAITH CURE

Forty grains of laughter on a sunbeam on your tongue,
Forty grains of gladness in a cap of Mizer Young,
Forty whiffs of springtime on the golden brim of day,
Where love of life goes dancing in the bloomy arms of May.
Forty winks of slumber on the hills of velvet dew,
And overhead the little stars that gems the deeps of blue;
Forty drops of crystal from the tumbling mountain stream,
With love to pluck your blossoms in the lanes of lovely dream.
Forty happy moments where the birds of summer sing,
And beauty takes her phantom way upon an airy wing;
Forty fiddling fairies in the busky woodland dell.
With lips of childhood laughter bidding all your cares farewell.
Oh, leave the little cankers and by faith we'll make you whole,
Who keep our good green country for the comfort of the soul,
And give you wine of morning and the brew of joy to drink.
Where love beside the ripples leans with lips upon the brink.
Forty grains of sunshine and an hour or two of glee,
Across the cool green meadows and beneath the greenwood tree;
You'll need no other physic and you'll go to bed at night
With dreams of dawns of magic in the dells of fairy light.
Forty drops of bramble path adown a vale of bloom,
And bid the little aches good-by that tied you to your room!
Forty drops of youth again beside the stream and hill,
Where all the childhood phantoms dwell and life is sweet and still

Will Deepen St. Lawrence.

Montreal, Oct. 10.—Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Marine, has returned from his annual tour of inspection of the St. Lawrence channel, from the harbor of Montreal to the sea. It is now of a uniform depth of thirty feet, but the Minister says that two dredges below Quebec and seven above and more to be built will go ahead with the work of a 35-foot channel. It took ten years to deepen the channel from 25 to 30 feet, and five years more will be spent in giving the additional five feet.

On the way up the party passed ships of a total of 75,000 tonnage making for the sea, all of which convinced the Minister that no time was to be lost in preparing for the mighty traffic of the St. Lawrence route.

Hon. Mr. Brodeur also announced that an agitation would at once be started to lower insurance rates.

The United States leads all others in the total number of patents issued.

A GENTLEMAN FROM MISSISSIPPI

CHAPTER I.

PRACTICAL POLITICS.

That bids him flout the law he makes;
That bids him make the law he flouts.
—Kipling.

IN buoyant spirit the Hon. Charles Norton rode up the bridle path leading through the Langdon plantation to the old antebellum homestead which, on a shaded knoll, overlooked the winding waters of the Pearl river. No finer prospect was to be had in all Mississippi than greeted the eye from the wide southwest porch, where on warm evenings the Langdons and their frequent guests gathered to dine or to watch the golden splendor of the dying sun.

The Langdon family had long been a power in the south. Its sons fought under Andrew Jackson at New Orleans, under Zachary Taylor in the war with Mexico, and in the civil war men of that name left their blood on the fields of Antietam, Shiloh, the Wilderness and Gettysburg. But this family of fighting men, of unselfish patriots, had also marked influence in the ways of peace, as real patriots should. Generations of Langdons had taken deepest pride in developing the hundreds of acres of cotton land, whose thousands of four foot rows planted each April spread open the silvery lined bolls in July and August, and the ripened cotton fiber, pure white beneath the sun, gave from a distance the picture of an expanse of driven snow.

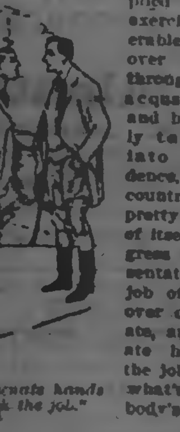
The Hon. Charles Norton had reason for feeling well pleased with the world as he fastened his bay Virginia hunter to a convenient post and strode up the steps of the mansion, which was a characteristic survivor of the "old south," the south of gilded romance and of gripping tragedy. Now in this second year of his first term as congressman and a promising member of the younger set of southern lawyers, he had just taken active part in securing the election of Colonel William H. Langdon, present head of the family, to the United States senate, though the ultimate action of the legislature had been really brought about by a lifelong friend of Colonel Langdon, the senior senator from the state, James Stevens, who had not hesitated to flatter Norton and use him as a cat's paw. This use the Hon. Charles Norton seemed to consider an honor of large propositions. Not every first term congressman can hope for intimacy with a senator. Norton believed that his work for Langdon would win him the family's gratitude and thus further his ambition to marry Carolina, the planter's oldest daughter, whose beauty made her the recipient of many attentions.

A complacent gleam shone in Norton's eyes as they swept over the fertile acres of the plantation. He thought of the material interest he might one day have in them if his suit for the hand of Carolina progressed favorably. Suddenly his reverie was interrupted by the voice of young Randolph Langdon, a spirited lad in his early twenties, who had just been made plantation manager by his father.

"Well, how is the honorable today?" said Randolph, approaching from the doorway. "I didn't think a congressman could be spared from Washington but rarely, especially when the papers say the country needs such a lot of saving."

"Oh, this 'saving your country' talk goes all right in the story books," replied Norton, who exercised considerable influence over the youth through a long acquaintanceship and by frequently taking him into his confidence, "but this country can take pretty good care of itself. In congress we representatives put the job of saving it over on the senate, and the senate hands back the job to us. So what's everybody's business isn't anybody's, a fine scheme so long as we have a president who keeps his hands off and doesn't"—



"The senate hands back the job."

"But how about the speeches and the bills?" broke in Randolph. "I thought"—

"Yes, yes; to be sure," the congressman quickly added. "Nearly all of us introduce these so called reform bills. When they're printed at government expense we send copies, carried free by the postoffice department, to our constituents, and when we allow the bills to die in some committee we can always blame the committee. But if there's a big fight by our constituents over the bill we let it pass the house, but arrange to kill it in the senate. Then we do the same thing for the senators. Like in every other business, my boy," continued Norton as he led the way into the house, "it's a case of 'you tickle me and I'll tickle you' in politics. And don't let any one fool you about the speeches either. They are pretty things to mail to the voters, but all the wise boys in Washington know they aren't meant seriously. It's all play acting, and there are better actors in the senate than Henry Irving or Edwin Booth ever were."

"I don't think my father looks at things the way you do, Charlie."

"No? Well, maybe he doesn't now, but he will later on when he takes his seat in the senate. If he isn't wise enough to play around with the rest of the senators he won't get any bills passed, especially any bill carrying an appropriation or of any other particular importance."

"What?" ejaculated the planter's son. "Do you mean to say that if father won't do what the other senators want him to do they will combine against him and destroy his usefulness, make him powerless—a failure?"

The congressman smiled patronizingly on the youth. "Why, of course they will. That's politics, practical politics, the only kind that's known in Washington. You see"—

"But the leaders of the great parties!" cried the young plantation manager in amazement. "Why don't they prevent this?"

"Because they invented the system and because political party differences don't amount to a whole lot much of the time in Washington. The politicians do most of their criticising of the other party away from Washington, where the voters can hear them. But when circumstances sometimes force a man to rise to assail the other side in congress he afterward apologizes in secret for his words. Or sometimes he apologizes beforehand, saying: 'I've got to hand out some hot shot to you fellows just to please a crowd of sovereign voters from my district who have come up to Washington to see me perform. So, of course, I've got to make a showing. Don't mind what I say. You know I don't mean it, but the old fogies will go back home and tell their neighbors what a rip snortin' reformer I be.'"

"Is that the way you represent your district, Norton?" asked Planter Langdon, who at this juncture entered the room.

"No, no, Mr. Langdon—I should say senator now, I suppose. I was merely telling Randolph how some legislators conduct themselves."

The senator elect paused momentarily, gazing at the congressman, who, dark visaged, tall, black haired, broad shouldered and athletic, was visibly uneasy at having his conversation with Randolph overheard by the father.

"No doubt it won't be all plain sailing in Washington for an old fashioned man like me, but I believe in the American people and the men they send to congress," slowly spoke the planter. "There's Senator Stevens, for instance. He has always stood for the rights of the people. I've read all his speeches. Just why he brought about my election it is hard to tell, for I've been a planter all my life except when I fought under Beauregard. I feel that he did it out of friendship, and I simply can't say how much I appreciate the honor. I am indebted to you, too, congressman."

Tactfully disclaiming any credit for his work, only Norton's congressional training in repression enabled him to refrain from smiling at Langdon's innocence, his belief in Stevens' sincerity and his wonder over his election. Stevens, the keen, cold and resourceful, who forced his officeholders to yield him parts of their government salaries; Stevens, who marketed to railway companies his influence with the department of justice; Stevens, who was a Republican in the committee room in Washington and a Democrat on the platform in Mississippi; Stevens, who had consummated the deal with Martin Sanders, boss of seven counties, to elect Langdon because of the planter's trustfulness and simplicity of character, which should make him easy to influence and to handle in the all important matter of the gulf naval base project!

The entry of Carolina Langdon and her younger sister, Hope Georgia, gave Norton a welcome opportunity to shift the trend of conversation.

"You ladies will have a gay time in Washington," he began, after directing a particularly enthusiastic greeting to Carolina. "You will be in great demand at all the big affairs, and I don't think you will ever want to come back to old Mississippi, forty miles from a railroad, with few chances to wear your New York gowns."

Carolina spoke quickly, her face flushing at the thought of the new vista of life now opening. "Yes, I have always longed to be a part of the real life of this world, the life of constant action—meeting new people every day, and prominent people. Balls, receptions, teas, theater parties, afternoon drives, plenty of money and plenty of gayety are what I want. I'm not a bit like Hope Georgia, who thinks these ideas are extravagant because she has not seen real life yet"—

"I'm not a bit like Hope Georgia."

"Carolina, you must not think me 'only your little sister' now. I have seen life. Haven't I spent a week in Jackson?"

"That's enough proof. You know all about life, I'm sure, Miss Hope Georgia," smilingly remarked Norton.

Later, rising to join Planter Langdon on the veranda, where he had gone to smoke, the congressman gazed intently at Carolina. "You will probably forget your old friends when you enter the dizzy social race in Washington."

"No, Charlie, I couldn't forget you anyhow. You will be there too. I shall depend on you a great deal to take me about, unless you are too busy making speeches and fighting your opponents."

Again it was Norton's turn to be inwardly amused at the political ignorance of the Langdon family. Speeches? The first term congressman doesn't make speeches in Washington because no one cares what he thinks—except the lobbyists, whose business it is to provide new members with a complete set of thoughts. Neither does he have opponents—he is not considered important enough by the veterans to be opposed.

Skillfully approaching the subject which next to Carolina Langdon had been uppermost in his mind during his visit, Norton asked the senator elect on joining him if he did not believe that the entire south would benefit if the plan to establish a naval base on the gulf was successfully carried through.

"Most certainly I do, and, as I said during the senatorial fight, the whole country as well will be the gainer," responded Langdon.

"Don't you think the people who want Altacoola chosen as the site have the best arguments?" was the visitor's next question, the reply to which he anxiously awaited.

"Yes, I do, from what I've already heard, but I haven't heard very much of what the folks who advocate other sites have to say. So until I've heard all sides and made my own examination I couldn't give any one my final answer, but Altacoola seems to have the necessary qualifications."

"Senator Stevens is in favor of Altacoola," eagerly suggested Norton.

"Yes, and that's a pretty good argument in its favor," responded Langdon.

Norton now excused himself, pleading an appointment with a client at a neighboring village. Waving farewell to Carolina and Hope Georgia, who stood at a window, he rode away. "The old man is sure to be all right," he muttered. "He leans toward Altacoola and believes in Stevens. He'll lean some more until he falls over—into the trap. There's a fortune in sight within reach. Langdon has faith in his friends. He won't suspect a thing."

Still another thought occurred to the Hon. Charles Norton. "Stevens elected Langdon out of friendship," he chuckled gleefully. "That will be well worth telling in Washington."

CHAPTER II.

THE WARS OF PEACE.

"BIG BILL" LANGDON was the term by which the new senator from Mississippi had been affectionately known to his intimates for years. He carried his 230 pounds with ease, bespeaking great muscular power in spite of his gray hairs. His rugged courage, unswerving honesty and ready belief in his friends won him a loyal following, some of whom frequently repeated what was known as "Bill Langdon's Golden Rule:"

"There never was a man yet who didn't have some good in him, but most folks don't know this because their own virtues pop up and blind 'em when they look at somebody else."

At the reunions of his old war comrades Langdon was always depended on to describe once again how the Third Mississippi charged at Crawfordsville and defeated the Eighth Illinois. But the stirring events of the past had served to increase the planter's fondness for his home life and his children, whose mother had died years before. At times he regretted that his unexpected political duties would take him away from the old plantation even though the enthusiastic approval of Carolina and Hope Georgia proved considerable compensation.

Although not sworn in as senator, Colonel Langdon's political duties were already pressing. A few days after Congressman Norton's visit he sat in his library conferring with several prominent citizens of his county regarding a plan to ask congress to appropriate money to dredge a portion of the channel of the Pearl river, which would greatly aid a large section of the state.

During the deliberations the name of Martin Sanders was announced by Jackson, the colonel's gravely decorous negro bodyguard, who boasted that he "wus brung up by Cunel Marse Langdon, suh, a fightin' Mississippi cunel, suh, sence long befo' de wah tud way befo' dat, suh."

"Show Mr. Sanders right in," commanded Colonel Langdon.

"Good day, senator," spoke Sanders, the boss of seven counties, as he entered. Glancing around the room, he continued, bending toward the colonel and muffling his now whispering voice with his hand: "I want to speak to you alone. I'm here on politics."

"That's all right, but these gentlemen here are my friends and constituents," was the reply in no uncertain voice. "When I talk politics they have a perfect right to hear what I, as their senator, say. Out with it, Mr. Sanders."

As Sanders was introduced to the members of the conference he grew red in the face and stared at Langdon amazed. At last he had discovered something new in politics. "Say," he finally blurted, "when I talk business I"—

THE DAILY REVIEW PATTERN SERVICE

Every day we will print and illustrate a new pattern. These are the very latest and thoroughly up to date.

On receipt of order, giving the number of pattern desired and 10 cents, along with name and address, the pattern will be mailed.

Be careful as to the right number.

LADIES' YOKE WAIST.

All Seams Allowed.

This simple waist may be made quite effective if care is used in selecting the materials. The round yoke has the body gathered to it, and at each side of the yoke at the shoulder a Gibson tuck is made. The fullness thus obtained is brought down into a peplum which takes away all the fullness over the hips. The waist may be made on a lining if desired, a pattern being provided. The sleeves are puffs gathered into a band just below the elbow; below this an under sleeve of contrasting goods may be worn. Silk, satin, lawn or batiste may be used for this waist, with all-over lace or tucking for the lower sleeve and the yoke and sleeve bands may be hand-embroidered, or trimmed with soutache braid. The pattern (5137) is cut in sizes 32 to 42 inches bust. To make the waist in medium size will require 4 yards of material 27 inches wide, 2¾ yards 36 inches wide, or 2⅜ yards 44 inches wide, with ⅝ yard of tucking 18 inches wide.

The above pattern can be obtained by sending 10 cents to the office of this paper.

Labor and Argument

I toil with my hoe in the garden, and talkers come to me and say: "Wie gehts, my dear sir! Beg your pardon, but hark while we talk half a day. The evils confronting this nation will swamp us unless we reform and stand up for true conservation——" then I get impatient and warm. I turn to my hoein' and rakin' and soon have the cockleburrs thinned; for labor will bring a man bacon, but argument's nothing but wind. I toil at the sawbuck all morning, and spellbinders come to my door, with many a message of warning, and bygums and pibrochs galore. They talk of the bulwarks in danger, they say the escutcheons are canned; "your vote," they declare to me, "stranger, may rescue this perishing land." They talk and they boom and they beller, they yawp till each larynx is skinned; but labor means coal in the cellar, and argument's nothing but wind. I go to the village with butter, and eggs that my fat hens have laid; and statesmen come to me and mutter: "The outlook sure makes me afraid! I fear that the eagle is moulting! The star-spangled banner's in hock! This country is in for a jolting, unless people list to my talk!" I shake off the long-distance clacker, who long with his jawbone hath sinned; for labor means grub and tobacker, and argument's nothing but wind.

SPECTACLES SHOULD BE CHANGED

Frequently people will get spectacles which suit them, and go on wearing them for years without having their sight tested to discover whether any change has taken place. This is wrong. All who wear glasses should have their eyes tested at intervals, even if the necessity of such is not apparent to them. As a general rule spectacles for old sight require changing about every 3 years, but it is desirable that the sight should be carefully tested every two years.

Have Eyes Tested at Intervals

Whenever you feel uneasy in your spectacles, don't hesitate to call and see us. We are always glad to help you.

ROY McDOUGAL GOES TO SARNIA

Has Been Transferred from Keene Branch of Bank of Toronto—Will be Missed in the Hockey Game

Mr. Roy McDougal of the Toronto Bank Branch at Keene, received notice Friday of his transference to a branch at Sarnia and left Saturday for that place.

"Mac's departure from Keene will make a big gap in the city hockey league team, of which he was a hard and effective worker last season. He will also be missed here as it was expected that the Intermediate O. H. A. team would, as was the case last year, have his services as a defensive player.

SHALL PETERBOROUGH PUSH OUT FOR POWER

While the Opportunity to Acquire a Power Site is Available and Before Desirable Locations Are Disposed of or Placed Beyond Reach?

Within a few days many municipalities in the western part of the province are to celebrate the taking on of electric power from the service and lines of the Hydro-Electric System. All these places, without exception, are looking forward to commercial and industrial expansion, to follow the gaining—to them—of an adequate supply of power at a not unreasonable cost. In fact a net cost below what power has been produced at all along the line, for water power as a means of generating, is not plentiful between Toronto to the western boundary. So, while others are rejoicing that a dream—to them—of years is about to become a reality, we may ask where is Peterborough!

It is a curious fact that places favored by Nature in a certain line do not always develop along that line. The gifts of Nature are ignored or suffered to lie idle. The day is put off to the future. The immediate use is not apparent. Some other time will do to take it up. Has not this been characteristic of Peterborough! Have we not trifled too long!

Within the last week or two there has been an amalgamation of power interests, so that now a company or trust, or merger, controls the power sites and productive opportunities at several of the dams on the upper Otonabee, the Auburn and Peterborough dams, Healey's Falls, Campbellford and other points. These mergers are not consummated with the idea of benefiting the district and its people, but to make money, a perfectly legitimate proposition. Power, like any other merchantable commodity, will cost what it is sold for in the market. Peterborough will probably have to pay a not unreasonable rate for power and light, and that rate means something under what it will cost to produce it from fuel. It is true that the rates for power, if deemed excessive, may be referred to the commission having jurisdiction in such matters, but this does not apply to power sites owned and developed by private parties. Only to those operating under agreement for power use of sites made with the government.

It may be relied on that unless something is done, Peterborough will not have power to use as an inducement to draw manufactories. At present she has none, unless she buys from the owners, and if that were done the gift of power to a projected factory would be another form of bonus. Let us see about some of these powers—that is, power sites to the north.

Certain sites are held in fee simple—that is, the site and its opportunity is owned outright by the possessors. Others that have been created by the government—as in the case at the dams on the river between Nassau and Lakefield—are required to pay to the government a rate of $2.00 per h.p. per year. This is payable on development, as is determined by the flow of water and head, and must be paid for the whole bulk of power accruing, whether it is used, or sold, or not. It is true that the developer of the power do not have to build or take care of the dam, which is an important item, and they avoid a capital outlay for a site and repairs. It is also known that parties have parted with their rights to the use of only one side of the river, at power points between Hastings and Trenton, for a sum running up to over $100,000.

Of power sites within a reasonable radius of Peterborough there are three. One dam on the river with a probable output of 1,800 h.p., and a consequent rental to the government of $3,600 per year, and cost of development and transmission. The dam at Lakefield, with a probable output of not more than 3,000 h.p., and no rental fees. Then, further up Burleigh Falls and Buckhorn, both owned or controlled by the same parties. These three latter are held in fee simple, and do not pay any rental fees.

The Burleigh Falls and Buckhorn sites are in the market and out of it. They can be sold to-morrow, if the owners consent. It is only a matter of price. But that price is offered, contingent on holding them undeveloped for the future, if they pass out of the hands of the present owners, which means a serious interest charge with nothing coming in. The owners have had plans made for development by Mr. McAllister, hydraulic engineer, of Toronto, and are conversant with the cost. So far these plans have not been acted on, as there no immediate market for power in Peterborough, but there is a very urgent call for power along the front shore of Lake Ontario. Herein is Peterborough's opportunity. If the city owned and controlled such a productive centre, it would settle for the next twenty years what power will cost in this district. It would be a balance wheel that would regulate.

We grow and make progress by doing larger things. Ten years ago the town would have been shocked at the idea of putting $70,000 into a public library—but it is done. The place would have had a fit at the proposition to spend $35,000 on a bridge—the bridge is there. The Institute, the schools, are evidences of progress and outlay. They enhance the tax rate, certainly. The thing to do now is to bring in more people to help pay the taxes and bring down the rate. Manufactures will do it. Power will bring the factories—if it will pay the power seekers to use power at Peterborough.

Look at a power proposition for the city. If it goes in at all it should enter on a project that will give ample power. Trifling will not accomplish very much. There should be plenty—to turn into money. That can be had at Burleigh Falls, beyond any other site. A minimum of expense for development, a not unreasonably long transmission line, and above all, a permanent head and maximum flow of water.

Taking Burleigh Falls and Buckhorn together, there is at least 6,000 horse power available. If these sites were subject to government rental there would be fees of $12,000 to pay yearly. That represents a capitalization of $300,000 at four per cent. Peterborough was offered, in fact held, an option on Burleigh Falls at $125,000. That option expired. It will cost more now. Taking the whole cost of site and development at $275,000, the annual cost to the municipality would not exceed what the city would have to pay to the government in rental, if the sites were subject to rental fees.

A most material point to be considered, and a large factor in the value of the Burleigh site, is the erection by the government of a magnificent new dam, now about half completed. When finished, the head will be raised by five feet, doing away with the lock at Lovesick, and impound a tremendous amount of water in the reservoirs of Lovesick Lake, Deer Bay and the river up to Buckhorn. This dam will be kept up by the government for all time, as essential to navigation.

The city need not drift along on the assumption that some day a gift will be made to it of a power site. That day is past. When it is considered that the power and light charges in this city run up nearly $100,000 yearly, some fair idea may be had of the opportunity for municipal power in its relation to the future progress of the place. The cost of the municipal lighting alone would balance off handsomely against the greater part of the interest charges on site and construction. The auditors' report of the city shows that in 1909 the cost of light for municipal purposes was over $9,000.00.

*If the city is to make progress it will have to offer inducements, both to the industries it now has, to extend, and to others to come in. It may name and offer sites. That is only a trifling matter, and once settled, is done for. But power is a constant expense, and the manufacturer considers most carefully where he can go, that that expense be put at a minimum amount. It is no use to listen to assurances that in some mysterious way Peterborough is to be handed a bouquet and gifts. What the city acquires it will have to pay for. The longer it delays in acquiring the more it will cost.

Not a Bird of Quality

"The Vulture" is good in some respects, but generally speaking, the bird is a little below par. It didn't fly high enough on Saturday night to be classed with the general run of good attractions at the Grand, and many took several shots at it on the wing. But Guy Bros. will be here to-night, so what's the difference?

WIFE DIDN'T RELISH CONDUCT OF HUSBAND

He Made the Home Life Unpleasant and Used Threats—Magistrate Advised Couple to Make an Attempt to Live Peaceably.

A tale of family discord was unfolded at the police court this morning before His Worship Magistrate Dumble. The complainant was Mrs. Fred. Davis, who charged that her husband abused her.

Judgment was reserved. Mrs. Davis said she had married twice, and Fred. Davis is her second husband. A boy of nine, by her first husband, names Miles, is all the family. They keep a boarding house, and have three boarders, two of whom appeared as witnesses this morning. They are Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McGee and Alfred Meekin.

It appears that the husband came home Saturday night, partly intoxicated, and commenced to raise a disturbance. He wanted to thrash the boy for peddling bills on the street, but was prevented by his wife. Hot words were exchanged. Davis went upstairs, packed his clothes and said he was going back to his job at the fire hall. He came back to the house at nine o'clock for his razor, and wanted his wife to come out in the hall, where it was dark. She refused.

His wife told him to go away, and bother her no more. He came back to the house at 1.30, and after acting in a noisy manner was allowed in the house again.

In the course of her evidence, Mrs. Davis said that the defendant was no good, that he did not give her any money of his weekly wages, that he threatened often to kill her and acted objectionable and unhusbandlike in many other ways.

The evidence of Mrs. McGee and Alfred bore out Mrs. Davis' testimony in all the main points.

Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the defendant.

In summing up the case the Magistrate said that he was willing to give them a chance to live together peaceably, if possible, and he would reserve judgment for two weeks, in order to allow them to come to terms. If this was impossible, he would have articles of separation signed.

MESSAGE FROM DR. LUTTRELL, WHO ONCE WAS A DOWN AND OUT; CHURCH CROWDED TO CAPACITY

The meetings at Park Street Baptist Church were well attended, especially in the evening when the seating capacity was taxed to its utmost.

That the services are increasing in interest and spiritual power was demonstrated by the many who, at all three services, "Stepped over the line to Jesus."

In the morning Dr. Luttrell had for his subject, "Love," and many were melted to tears as he spoke of that motherly love which ever prays and never gives up the wandering boy of her heart.

Referring to his own salvation Dr. Luttrell said that he was the victim of his mother's love and prayers and he was glad to be.

But greater than all the mothers' love put together, is the Love Divine, all love excelling.

It is impossible to understand God's love for man, especially some. Why should God love us at all? Oh! its amazing, mysterious, but real is the love of God.

The afternoon was one of power. The body of the Church Auditorium was filled with men. And all listened with reverent attention to the doctor's address upon "The Man Who Wins." After queer various ways that men use to win out over their various faults and habits, he pointed those present to Jesus Christ as the only sure way of winning out. In simple, sweet, yet sincere wors, that all knew came from the lips of a man who believed what he said "Men there is only one way to win out in life's battle and I know it, that way is the way of the Christ."

At the close of the service, several men resolved to live the better life.

The men present requested another meeting next Sunday, so, there will be another mass meeting next Sunday for men at 3 .m. The subject will be announced latter.

At night the subject was "Sin" and in a very convincing manner, the evangelist shewed the insidious workings of sin upon the heart.

Meetings all this week.

Mr. Mulligan will sing to-night.

Everybody welcome.

THE CHIMES FUND AT NOON TO-DAY WAS $4,774.32

A splendid increase has been made since the announcement on Saturday of the Chimes Fund which has been contributed by many different interests. The military feature was strikingly brought out by a contribution of $50 voted by the officers of the 57th Regiment at a special meeting Saturday evening, with many kind expressions of interest. As all the officers have given individual subscriptions, the contribution indeed is a handsome one.

No. 6 Company sent in $3, the result of a spontaneous collection at their smoker.

A cheque was also received from the employees of the Geo. Matthews Co., for $17, to which most of the men contributed. This was done without any suggestion from outside and was a pleasant surprise to the committee. The kind and enthusiastic efforts of Mr. J. Murphy were largely responsible for a splendid donation of over $30 from the men of the Quaker Oats Co. Another list is being made up and together with the girls, over $50 will be given by the employees of this Company, showing a splendid public siprit.

All these fine donations brought up the list at noon to-day to $4774.32.

ST. JOHN'S GUILD OF GOOD FELLOWSHIP

(To Make Men Better)

The second of these Sunday afternoon meetings for men was held in the Princess Theatre yesterday. The Rev. C. Carpenter expressed his pleasure at the large attendance, but hoped to have eventually an attendance of two hundred Sunday by Sunday. After remarking that on the previous Sunday the subject was "The Making of the Man," he said he wished to follow this up by speaking on "My Troublesome Friend." He then went on to intimate that the troublesome friend was the care of the human soul and the body. How the care of the body was of the utmost importance, not only as to health of the same, but of a necessity in the production of a clean life. He said he intended having a straight talk to the men present, and a straight talk it was. First, as to purity in themselves, and secondly as to their responsibility as fathers in as far as in them lie in encouraging purity in their children. He spoke of the obligation of parents shielding their children from danger by judicious warnings and instruction. He showed how sin left its scars, and that although as in Christ's hands, the point of the nails remained after his resurrection, the scars may still be visible in the glorified body, but not as a reproach for former sins, but as an evidence of God's loving mercy in forgiving and redeeming those so scarred.

He treated the subject from a semi-medical standpoint, which was made all the more interesting by his own personal hospital experience.

The league has been formed to do good to the men of our city, and to form a close bond of fellowship amongst its members, and with this view a few leading members stayed behind to talk over the formation of a social club, where members can meet and take their friends, and it is hoped this will be started in a small way, in about a week's time.

RUN THAT SPEAKS FOR ITSELF

"Mr. Preedy & The Countess" Had London Laughing Two Years and is Booked to Make New York Forget its Troubles

Before his New York engagement a few of the leading cities in Canada, viz., Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Peterborough, London, Hamilton and Toronto will be visited by Mr. Weedon Grossmith, who, figuratively speaking, set all London wild by his masterful characterization of Mr. Preedy, in Mr. R. C. Carton's farce, "Mr. Preedy and the Countess." The play is conceded to be one of the most fascinating humorous conceits that has found place on the stage, and when when we stop to realise the marvellous success and long run at the Criterion Theatre, London, England, it is certainly a guarantee of extraordinary merit. Mr. Grossmith brings with him the accomplished and gifted artiste, Miss Charlotte Granville, together with the entire London company and production, giving to the patrons of the Grand theatre next Thursday evening, the same performance as that which characterized the presentation at his home.

The plan for Weeden Grossmith in "Mr. Preedy and the Countess" opens to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

SPORTING NEWS

HOWDEN-EASTWOOD CONTEST, SATURDAY

The next event on the sport calendar, of interest to the people of Peterboro will be the "Howden and Eastwood" athletic contest at Riverside Park, Saturday, Oct. 15. The contest for the "Howden" trophy which is emblematic of the city all round athletic championship, and is open to every amateur athlete in the city.

The events for the "Howden" trophy will be, 100 yard dash, 120 yard hurdles, 1 mile run, 12 lb. shot put, running high and broad jumps, and half-mile walk. The scoring will be by points, each contestant will get credit for his performance in each event. The man having the greatest number of points will be declared the winner. This way of scoring is new, so far as these contests are concerned but the committee in charge feel that if this system has given satisfaction in some of the largest competitions in the world, it could not do better than adopt the same system for these contests.

The "Eastwood" trophy is emblematic of the all round Junior Athletic City Championship, and is open to every boy in the city who has not yet reached his 18th birthday. The events will be the same as the senior with the exception of the 8 lb. shot in place of the 12 lb. and the half-mile run in place of the mile. In case of any disputes regarding age of junior competitors, competitors will be obliged to furnish certificates of birth from registration office.

There will be an admission fee charged and the public are invited to attend. Everything will be run off in first class style and a good day's sport is assured all those who attend.

Entries will be received and any further information will be given by Mr. Thompson, Physical Director, of the Y. M. C. A.

COLLEGIATES LOST FIRST GAME TO PORT HOPE T.C.S.

Score Was 20-7—P.C.I. Made Their Points in the Dying Stages of First Rugby Game of the Season—Great Work by Visitors Halves.

Rugby football still reminds us,
As through life we rush and race
We can leave as kind mementos,
Foot-prints on each other's face.

Once again the sun was shining, once again the crowd was there, Once again, two teams were fighting, each to get the larger share. P. C. I. were playing Port Hope, T. C. S. were out for fame. Husky, strong and full of ginger, they looked good to land the game. There were many fair young maidens, decked with ribbons, bright and fair, both camps had a goodly number, out to help them do and dare. Out upon the green in armour, twenty-eight young stalwarts stood, 'twas the first game for the home bunch, each one hoped he would make good. Some were rigged in tight-fit garments, others didn't look so neat, some had covers to protect their head-piece, all had weapons on their feet. And each "fem" along the grandstand, picked her choice and shouted loud,—some had trouble twixt the battle, to find him amongst the crowd. Sometimes in a buck or tackle, both teams landed in a heap, these were moments when the lassies, pulled their rags to dry a weep. But no heads or limbs were broken, all the damage that was done, some fair gallants had their locks mussed and their smiles put on the run. And 'twas hard for these young rooters of the local school brigade, for the lakeshore fourteen warriors, put the locals in the shade. First one touch and then another, then a kick between the posts, this went on throughout the struggle, interspersed with cheers and roasts P.C.I. of course are game ones and ne'er once is it recalled, that a team from Central Park way, 'stead of fighting—fled and bawled. So as points were called against them, and the game was being bagged, P.C.I. kept in the struggle, not one player quit or lagged. And as in the last occasion, on a last year Saturday, something turned the tide of battle, for the garnet and the grey. On they pressed, and bucked and wiggled, through the Port Hope scrim and wings, till at last a score was tallied—then the maidens said some things. On and on with minutes fleeting signals came and plays went through Port Hope had to take a back seat, till too soon the whistle blew.

Twenty points for T.C.S. team, someone shouted we've eleven, but the long, slim, local captain murmured, sadly we are SEVEN.

The teams were:

Port Hope T.C.S.		P.C.I.
	Full Back.
Martin		Hayes
	Halves.
Lindsay,		Craig
MacAuley (capt)		Minorgan
Rogers		Ray, (capt)
	Quarter.
Symonds		Matthews
	Scrimmage
Urch		Hartstone
Greer		Hill
Urch		Rartstone
	Inside Wings
Mewburn		Leahy
Heuden		Laing
	Middle Wings
Clark		Hogan
	Outside Wings
Ross		Conroy
Ryrie		Gilbert

The game was played in four quarters, with Fred Denison and Ab. Quinlan in charge. Port Hope scored in the first quarter when Hinckley, who was playing a great game, went over for a touch. The attempt at a convert failed. The locals didn't have much to say in this quarter and the ball was in their territory most of the time. Good runs and tackling were made, however, but to no avail.

Port Hope 5. P.C.I. 0.

In the second quarter T.C.S. took another touch when Lindsay broke loose. He made the convert himself.

Port Hope 11. P.C.I. 0.

The visitors secured another touch in the third quarter. Martin got possession of the ball and after putting up a great run, in which he was almost captured by Captain Ray, he crossed the line. The convert failed.

Port Hope 16. P.C.I. 0.

Then the locals got busy, and using Hogan as a battering ram, began to play havoc with the opposing line. Time and time again gains were made till at last the play was five yards from the touch line and the chances for a buck over looked bright. The whistle sounded and there was nothing doing.

The fourth quarter found P.C.I. making all kinds of headway and Minorgan kicked for the first point. A touch followed and the convert was successful.

Final score, Port Hope 20. P.C.I. 7.

Besides being much heavier in the line the Port Hopers had three effective half-backs. They could kick, run and their combination was at times pretty to watch.

The locals individually pulled off some great stunts during the game, but as a team they did not show much strength. Minorgan kicked well but in the majority of cases his wing men couldn't get on to the ball quick enough and this with the speed and elusiveness of the T.C.S. back division was too big a proposition.

Conroy got away with some fine tackling and Gilbert was also their with the grab-in spasms. Hogan was prominent in the bucks and Matthews caught the grandstand by his all round good work. Captain Ray had an inclination to slip and lose his footing, when on many a well intended play.

GOLF

In the second round of the Golf Club Championship the following games will be played off on or before Wednesday of this week:—

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

The following has been contributed in red ink:—

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Ever and anon you speak of dog poisoning and ask about the perpetrator. Now, I tell you plainly, I am the man. When you call me perpetrator don't abbreviate it and call me perp, for I have no use for perps. I kill them, and the medicine I use is strick-canine. You said in one paper that I am a terror. I don't mind that, but don't call me a terrier. I will prove to you the saying that I am the man, for even this week Chief Thompson's dog will go. See if I am not rite. Dogs are worse than flys, and you are ever and anon denouncing the flys.

The above threat is no bull. Now do not try to hound me and make me fly to Newfoundland. I s'pose you think I have a bit cheek, but 6t is in the cause of rite.

STILL IN CHARGE

And No Charge Has been Laid Against Conducter of Port Hope-Toronto Train

No charge has been laid as yet as a result of the trouble between Conductor Long, of the Port-Hope-Toronto train, and a passenger, Wm. McMullen, which occurred Friday evening, and which was reported in Saturday's Review.

ASSAULT CHARGE WAS WITHDRAWN

A charge of assault at the C.G.E. works was withdrawn by the complainant this morning at the police court. The matter was settled by the accused paying the costs of the damage to complainant's property, and also the costs of the court.

Automatic Housekeeping.

Automatic housekeeping as understood by the Englishwoman implies orders given to the cook and to others who minister to the wants of the household in such a way that the mistress is saved the trouble of thinking of every small thing that needs seeing to and yet each detail receives expert attention. The sweep has orders to come on certain days of the year, the window cleaners on a certain day each fortnight or so; the window boxes and inside flowers receive regular care from the florist, etc. Even the breakfast, luncheon and dinner menus are mapped out by the month, subject, of course, to certain unforeseen changes. Carefully thought out and checked from time to time, the system has many merits if not carried to excess. The ordering of meals wholesale is the detail that may most readily lead to extravagance and waste.

The Flower Harvests of Grasse.

When Catherine de' Medici sent her skilled physician Patis to Grasse with orders that he was to found a laboratory for the distilling of the perfumes of flowers she could not have chosen a better situation. Grasse and the hamlets that surround it are a paradise for growing flowers, so sunny are they and so well protected from the mistral. Tier upon tier of terraced beds are cut out upon the mountain side. Countless patches of gardens lie in the plains below. They are always full of flowers more or less in bloom. Jasmine, tuberose, roses, mimosa, jonquils, hyacinths, carnations, orange flowers and many other things are grown in masses not for ornament or pleasure, but solely for their scent. The first harvest of the year is that of violets. Then follow hyacinths and jonquils, roses and orange blossoms, pinks, carnations and mignonette, jasmine and, lastly, casia and tuberoses.

TO PAY FULL PENALTY

Robert Parker Sentenced to Die on December 3.

Old Man Convicted of Killing William Masters Out of Revenge for Tampering With Traps, Is Adjudged Deserving of Death — Is Dazed as Sentence Is Pronounced—Court Sits Until Nearly Four a.m.

Belleville, Oct. 10.—Not until 3.30 Saturday morning was the sentence of the court, that he be hanged on Saturday, December 3, passed upon Robert Parker, aged 71, convicted of murdering William Masters.

The verdict was returned at 1.45, but E. Guss Porter, counsel for the prisoner, raised objections to the sentence being passed. The objections were heard and replied to by the justice, who did not think them heavy enough to warrant postponing sentence.

Prisoner's counsel stated yesterday that he would appeal the case.

The prisoner acted in a dazed manner from the time the verdict was returned until he was taken from the room. No emotion was exhibited. While the justice was passing sentence Parker stood up in the dock and leaned weakly against the railing.

He was a pitiful, frail figure, leaning motionlessly, and looking at the justice as though he were in a dream. When told to leave the court he groped about in a half-conscious matter for his hat. When it was handed to him he took it clumsily. His gait, when preceding the jailer to the lockup, was steady.

His lordship spoke slowly in an even tone of voice, selecting his words with more than ordinary care. The silence was intense until his lordship stopped, then many in the room sighed and all moved from the tense posture they had assumed into easier positions.

Although the hour was so late there were about 100 people who awaited the sentence.

Will Fill Chatham Pulpit.

Chatham, Oct. 10.—Rev. Roger Howard, rector of Christ Church, London, has been selected by His Lordship Bishop Williams to become rector of Christ Church, Chatham, to succeed Rev. Dr. Boyle, who leaves for Toronto, where he has accepted a professorship in Trinity College. The new rector will take charge in about a month's time. Rev. Mr. Howard has been lecturing in a London college for some years, and is a graduate of Toronto University.

Lemieux Off For Africa.

London, Oct. 10.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Hon. Rodolphe and Mrs. Lemieux left Southampton Saturday for South Africa.

Among the passengers on the Empress of Britain are: Hon. Geoffrey Parsons Rhodes, M.P., Major Powell Cotton and Mr. Justice Irving.

Cheese Box Factory Burned.

Peterboro, Oct. 10.—Fire destroyed E. H. Mann & Co.'s cheese box factory last night. The blaze broke out in the boiler-room. The damage is estimated at $2,000 to the building and $1,000 to contents.

Run Over by Street Car.

Toronto, Oct. 10.—While running across West King street, opposite the Mercer Reformatory, Albert Charles Blake, of 913 West Queen street, nine years of age, and son of Charles J. Blake, was struck by an eastbound King car at 6.20 Sunday night, and had his left leg almost severed below the knee and his left arm fractured in several places. The car was in charge of Motorman George Williams of 18 Carroll street, and Conductor Charles Donnelly of 297 Sumach street, but nobody on the car saw how the accident occurred, and it is supposed that he really made an attempt to board the car and was run over by the trailer. George Dixon and his wife of 5 Manning avenue were on the sidewalk and saw the boy helpless on the road. The screams of the boy were heard by the attendants of the Mercer, one of whom telephoned to Cowan avenue police station and Dr. Harrison of West King street was summoned. The boy was removed in the police ambulance to the Hospital for Sick Children. Latest reports from the hospital was that he was doing as well as could be expected.

Escaped From Sing Sing.

Ossining, N.Y., Oct. 10.—The door to liberty was opened to 195 convicts in Sing Sing State Prison here at half-past one o'clock yesterday morning. Only five men faced death at the hands of the armed guards and escaped by dropping twenty feet to the ground from a window, the bars of which had been sawed. An hour later one other convict, a negro, followed the path of the fugitives and voluntarily gave the alarm to the prison guards. The remaining 189 men, overpowered with a sense of fear, turned their faces away from the temptation to escape. In all the gloomy history of Sing Sing there is no parallel to the scene yesterday morning in the chapel dormitory, a transformed church in which nearly two hundred men pass fourteen hours each day.

The escape was planned by Wm. Green, 250 pounds in weight, and strong as an ox, who was serving 6 1-2 years for highway robbery.

To Fly Across Continent and Back.

New York, Oct. 10.—William R. Hearst offers a prize of $50,000 to any aviator using a heavier-than-air machine, who, within one year from date, flies from the Atlantic seaboard at Boston or New York to the Pacific coast at Los Angeles or San Francisco, reversing the direction from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast, starting and finishing at either of the cities named. The flight must be made inside 30 days from the time the start is made.

TIME FREIGHT CARS.

Traced by Hourly Reports the Whole Length of Their Run.

A freight car is essentially common property. It has to go from one line to another in the course of its business. It has to carry loads from Jacksonville, Fla., to Spokane, Wash.; from Phoenix, Ariz., to Augusta, Me. If all the freight cars in the United States were owned by one big company and if that company charged the railroads for the exact amount of use which they made of each car the situation would theoretically be more reasonable than it is today.

But in any case the wanderings of freight cars will always entail an enormous amount of labor with pen and pencil and telegraph key and typewriter and long distance telephone, writes William Hard in the Technical World Magazine.

The modern hunter of freight cars is not satisfied with knowing where all the cars on his own lines are at the end of each day's run. Modern business life has become so rapid that in the case of certain kinds of freight it is necessary to know just where each car is every few hours. This kind of freight is called time freight.

Ordinary freight is dead freight. Time freight consists only of certain materials. These materials run alphabetically all the way from asbestus, through cranberries, egg case fillers, ink, peanuts and varnish, down to zinc. All cars in time freight trains are reported by telegraph from all division points.

You can stand in front of a big board on the wall—it is like the board in a stockbroker's office except that it has little holes in it—and watch the progress of the cars in a time freight train from point to point. As the telegrams come in the pegs are moved from hole to hole. If you started a carload of varnish from Chicago to Omaha last night you can come in today and see just where that car is. You can watch it all the way to Omaha on the board.

It is a cruel humiliation for the freight car. It used to be a wild stray animal, but now it is tamed and domesticated. Just as we now have municipal lodging houses for tramps, so we have telegraph record boards for freight cars. Pretty soon nobody will be able to escape from the authorities. It is only occasionally under modern methods a freight car tracer has to go out and bring it home by force.

Government statistics furnish ample evidence that local option and reduction of licenses does not curtail drunkenness. Why not advocate the drinking Of Regal Lager and promote true temperance.

Baldheads Will be Scarce When Parisian Sage Is Better Known

It Keeps Women's Hair Soft and Glossy Says Elizabeth House

No man likes to look older than he is. Every woman on earth absolutely abhors such a condition.

You may be 30 in years, but if you are bald-headed or grey, people will surely take you to be many years older, and you will be helpless to prevent.

Dandruff is the root of all hair evils. If it were not for the little destructive germs working with a persistency worthy of a better cause, there would be no baldness.

Parisian Sage, America's greatest hair restorer, will keep you looking young and attractive.

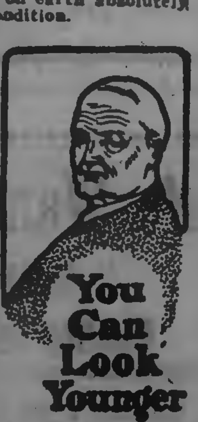
It is guaranteed by Wm. Madill to make hair grow, and stop falling hair; to cure dandruff in two weeks; to stop itching of the scalp almost instantly.

Parisian Sage is the most invigorating, satisfying and pleasant hair dressing made; it makes the hair soft, luxuriant and handsome; it is especially praised by women who have beautiful hair. Parisian Sage is for sale by W. Madill at 50 cents a large bottle, or charges prepaid, from the Canadian makers, Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle.

"I have used only one bottle of Parisian Sage, and, of course, I can not praise it as much as if I had used more, but I find it a good tonic for the hair.

It keeps the hair soft and glossy, the scalp clean, and make the hair grow long, and stops falling hair.

"I recommend it to any one as a good tonic."—Elizabeth House, Manchester, Conn.



LAUDER HAD TO REFUSE A NICE FAT ENGAGEMENT

London, Oct 6.—Mr. Harry Lauder, the ex-miner who is so frequently quoted as earning the salary of a Cabinet Minister by singing at the music halls, has a grievance.

He has openly stated that he is not receiving a salary commensurate with his abilities, and yet, he says, he has just been obliged to decline an "unrivalled offer" made to him by a wealthy American and Australian music hall syndicate to tour the world of the English-speaking world.

To an interviewer in the week the comedian explained the circumstances as follows:

"I tried all I could to cancel my recent contract," he said, "but the London management refuse to let me go unless I pay them all the money I am making. They want to leave me with about enough to buy a pipe of 'bacca, and a small one at that. So I'm afraid my friends on the other side of the Atlantic will have to wait until my present contract expires—will be in 1913.

"Then they will certainly have me if I am spared. The tour will be all round the world, wherever the English tongue is spoken and will last about twelve or eighteen months. It is a record proposition so far as the music hall profession is concerned.

IS NOT SATISFIED.

"I am not at all satisfied with the way my syndicate in London have treated me. When I fixed up my present contract, several years ago, neither the management nor I myself had any idea that I should prove the success that I have. Notwithstanding my "drawing" powers, I am no better off in the way of salary than I was years ago.

"Look at it like this. If a clerk is engaged in a city office and agrees to work for £3 a week, he is satisfied for the time. But, supposing he makes an invention which is likely to benefit the firm, he is not silly enough to give them that benefit unless he gets better terms from them.

"My complaint is that the salary I have been receiving has not increased according to the larger audiences I draw. I gave up Scotch tours to come to London, and for all the money I have earned for my management I have not received as much as a single "Thank you'—not a word of gratitude.

"They are getting all they possibly can out of me—all my young life and best energy—without giving anything in return.

"In the future, after this contract expires, I shall do business in a totally different manner. I shall insist on being treated according to my "drawing" abilities—which were unknown when I signed the contract I am now fulfilling. Mind, I shall be square in doing my best for the syndicate although I am dissatisfied with them.

"During my two tours abroad—both in America—the salary I received was not better than in England. But all this time I have been steadily laying a foundation for what is to come in the future, and I realised at the first that I should have to do so at a sacrifice. The 1913 tour will be much more profitable than all the previous ones, in England and across the water. That will be the start of my new method.

"My friends over the other side give me quite as warm a welcome, possibly a warmer one, than here, and although there's no place like home, and in some respects I would rather stay here, I feel it is my duty to expound my abilities abroad.

"I am sure my fellow-countrymen out there will fully appreciate a visit from Harry Lauder, not the "Scotch"—that savors too much of whiskey—but the Scottish comedian."

Woman Burned to Death.

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—While cooking at the kitchen stove at noon yesterday, Mrs. Dennis Murphy of 138 Clarence street set her apron on fire and rushed into the street. Her clothes caught, and she rushed back into the house. Her screams awoke her husband, who came down to find her fearfully burned. She died at 5 o'clock in the hospital.

Medical Student Fined.

London, Oct. 10.—The three medical students who were implicated in rushing the gate at the Dorchester Fair a few days ago were up before Squire Chittick on Saturday. They pleaded guilty and were fined $47 for the three.

Burglar Gets Year In Central.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 10.—Simon Blitho, who pleaded guilty to burglarizing Cole's liquor store, was, on Saturday, sentenced to one year in the Central Prison. The police say he a a man with a long prison record.

Victor Napoleon to Marry.

Brussels, Oct. 10.—The banns of the marriage of Prince Victor Napoleon and Princess Clementine of Belgium were published yesterday. The marriage will take place about the middle of November.

Insist on Representation.

Quebec, Oct. 10.—In accepting a degree from Bishop's College, Lennoxville, Earl Grey made some remarks that are causing comment here. He said that Canada's population might be eight millions at the next census, and he believed that in the next decade the population would be twelve millions. As soon as Canada reached that population the people of this country should insist on imperial representation, so that the man in Sherbrooke would have the same rights as the man in Sussex or Middlesex in England.

It was proper that the colonies should contribute towards the maintenance of and the safeguarding of the Empire, he said. There were great possibilities before Canada, and he referred to the fact that in Queen Elizabeth's time England had only a population of five million, as compared with her population to-day, and there was no reason why Canada should not also expand.

Surrendered to Save Life.

Winter, Wis., Oct. 10.—Just as the armed posse, which had been raining shot into the cabin of John Dietz for hours, was preparing for another volley late Saturday afternoon, the door of the hunted man's cabin at Cameron Dam opened and a little girl walked out, waving a white apron. Little Helen Dietz walked to the edge of the clearing about the besieged hut.

"If papa comes out," she said to Sheriff Mike Madden, "will you promise not to shoot him? He is shot through the hand and he wants to surrender."

Lieut.-Col. Tidswell Dead.

Hamilton, Oct. 10.—Hamilton lost one of its finest and best-liked military men on Saturday afternoon in the death of Lieut.-Col. W. O. Tidswell, commander of the second bridge of the Canadian Artillery. He died at his home, 156 South James street, after a few minutes' illness, from heart failure. He complained of feeling ill, and laid down on a sofa. A few moments later he expired.

Autoists Guilty of Manslaughter.

Montreal, Oct. 10.—Dionne and Keefer, who, while crossing Victoria bridge in an automobile, ran down and killed a woman named Bessie Smith, were found guilty of manslaughter in the court of King's Bench Saturday afternoon. Sentence will be pronounced at the end of the term.

Attempted New York Flight.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Eugene Ely, in a Curtiss biplane, left Hawthorne race track at 4.11 p.m. yesterday, in an attempt to reach New York. He expected to spend the night at South Bend, Indiana, but had to descend at Beverly Hills, eleven miles from Chicago on account of engine trouble.

TELEPHONE IN RAILROAD WORK

The Grand Trunk Railway System, have recently placed in commission on their Northern Division, two telephone train despatching circuits, as follows—One circuit between North Parkdale Junction and Burlington Junction, via Allandale, a distance of 145 miles, and another circuit between Allandale and Nipissing Junction, a distance of 165 miles. Train despatchers on each of these circuits are located at Allandale.

On the circuit between North Parkdale Junction and Burlington Junction there are twenty-one way stations, and on the circuit between Allandale and Nipissing Junction, twenty way stations. These circuits are constructed of No. 9 guage hard drawn copper wire, transposed at intervals of every half mile through the open country, and as much more frequent as is necessary in the vicinity of high voltage power lines, in order to avoid inductive influences and to render the telephone circuits absolutely quiet. The station equipment is of the latest and most perfect type on the market, and consists of a swinging arm transmitter and head band receiver for each way station, thus giving the operator the free use of his head, hands and body while using the telephone; the apparatus is swung to one side out of the way while not in use. The train despatching office is equipped with a selector system for calling offices, and the duration of the ring in each way station is controlled by the despatcher, who plainly hears the ring through his receiver. Any office on the line can be signalled within eight seconds, and as the signal bell in each office consists of a four-inch gong, there is little doubt but what the operator will hear his call, even though outside of the office, and at a distance from it. The despatcher has absolute control of the circuits, and way stations must obtain his co-operation when desiring to communicate with one another.

The telephone is considered as being superior to the telegraph as a medium for despatching trains, both as a factor of safety and a saving of time. By telephone each station and numeral is first pronounced and then spelled out letter by letter, by the despatcher, for verification when an order is issued, and repeated in like manner by the receiving operator; while by telegraph stations and numerals can only be spelled out in Morse characters.

During the past three years the telephone has made rapid strides on Trunk Line Railways in the United States and Canada for train despatching purposes and to-day over thirty thousand miles of railway is being so despatched. While the expense for constructing and equipping telephone circuits, greatly exceeds that of constructing telegraph lines, the railways have obtained so much better results with the telephone that they feel justified in spending the money.

We understand that it is the intention of the Grand Trunk Railway System to extend the use of the telephone over its more important lines in the near future.

The new system has met with the immediate favor of the despatchers and operators, the transmission being so excellent that the work is transacted in fully fifty per cent. less time and in a more personal and satisfactory manner than is possible with the telegraph.

Salvatore Consolo, a hold-up man, who robbed two Cleveland paymasters of over $1,000 last June, was caught this week in Buffalo.

Why Should I Carry Insurance?

BECAUSE

It is better to have it and not need it, than to need it and not have it.

Insurance Co's are paying out over one million dollars every day of the year to those who have met with misfortune, but who have sufficient foresight to have made provision against such mishaps by insurance.

You cannot find stronger, safer, better or more liberal companies in their settlements than those we represent for fire, life, accident, plate glass, live stock, marine or automobile, or other insurance.

THE CAR TO BUY
Russell-Knight
The Car Noted for its Great Power, Flexibility, Quietness and Endurance
Russell-Knight 1911 Models: 22, 26 and 38 H.P.

CRITICS CONFOUNDED

Interested critics said a year ago: "Do not buy a Knight motor, it is an experiment—in a year or two it may be all right."

Partly this is true—the Knight engine will be improved. Quite frankly we venture to hope that each Knight engine and each Russell car we make will be better than the one before. We believe that our 1914 cars will be better than those of to-day.

But this is the fact that must be borne in mind:—

The Knight engine built in its first year, by the first firm building it in a commercial way, under official observation, put up a performance which no valve motor made by any firm after years of experience has been able to equal.

Is not this conclusive proof of Knight superiority?

Then consider that since that time the engineering skill of five of the leading engineering firms of the world have worked for the improvement of the motor, and have been aided by the experience of over 2,000 users.

To-day the Knight motor stands on its record in all quarters of the globe as a tested, tried-out product of superlative excellence.

In the 1911 Russell "38" you get the culmination of this work in engine design.

CHEESE BOX FACTORY WAS DESTROYED--MILL SAVED

Premises of Mann Lumber and Cheese Box Factory Visited by Destructive Fire—Started in Engine and Boiler Room—Insurance of One-half Carried—Operations to be Resumed at Once.

A destructive fire visited the premises of the Mann Lumber and Cheese Box Factory, on Dublin street, Saturday night about 8.30 o'clock and as a result, the cheese box factory, a frame building which was situated at the rear of the planing mill, was totally destroyed, and its equipment damaged to such an extent, that most of the machinery will have to be replaced or extensively repaired.

BOXES DESTROYED.

An order of four hundred boxes, which represented the days' work, and which was to be delivered to the Buckhorn factory this morning, was destroyed with the exception of about twenty boxes, which Mr. Mann and an employee named Cox, managed to carry out in the initial stage of the fire.

MILL SLIGHTLY DAMAGED.

The planing mill was scorched, but the damage to it is not large. Parts of the roof will have to be repaired, and most of the belting on the numerous machines was affected by the heat and water

INSURANCE ONE-HALF.

The loss, the exact amount of which Mr Mann was unable to state to-day, looks to be over $2,000. It is insured to the extent of one-half. Included in the loss to machinery in the box factory is a nailing machine costing $800, which was installed about one month ago. A similar machine in Buck's factory at Norwood turns out four hundred boxes a day.

WORK AGAIN WEDNESDAY.

In the event of the insurance adjusters completing their work at once, the planing mill in which there are twenty employees, will be in operation by Wednesday.

The situation in which Mr. Mann finds himself in regard to the box factory is different. With everything running smoothly the work of the season would have been finished in three weeks. It was intended to move this part of the business, which has been growing, to other quarters, expected to be found near Little Lake. This step will be taken, but for the present temporary premises will have to be found and it is likely that Arnott's old factory at the C.P.R. station will be used. Offers of assistance are forthcoming, and word was received from Mr. Buck at Norwood that he would furnish several of the machines.

Coming as it does at this month of the season, factories will be handicapped to more or less extent in shipping their September output.

THE BLAZE.

The fire started in the engine and boiler room, which is between the planing mill and the factory. Brick walls petitioned it off and entrances to either building were closed, and each was fire proof. Sawdust is consumed in the furnace and what quantity was left over at the close of Saturday's operations was sprinkled with water

The origin of the fire is therefore unknown

TALE OF FIRE.

The flames shot up through the cupola and Mr. Mann first learned of the fire when Miss Robinson, a nearly neighbor, informed him in his home which is immediately across the road.

He telephoned in the alarm and box 42 was rung by another man. After some delay the two waggons of the fire department arrived and they were joined later by the fire chief.

One line of hose was turned on at the west side of the engine and boiler room, to which the fire was still confined, and a trip was made to the fire hall for more hose.

Mr. Mann says that he suggested that the water be thrown on from the rear to save the factory, but he was told to the effect that the building was doomed and that all attention would be paid to the planing mill.

SCARED HOUSEHOLDERS.

Meanwhile a large number of spectators had gathered and citizens in nearby residences were alarmed less their dwellings should fall a prey to the roaring flames, but fortunately not one blaze started. The Mann premises were surrounded by frame barns and buildings and it is indeed fortunate that such was the case.

NO WIND.

It was lucky that there was no wind. A thick pall of smoke drifted lazily to the north, a pall of smoke lit with sparks. Had there been a breeze of any moment, the building in front would have gone, and perhaps the block adjoining it.

A WALL OF FIRE.

Spectators to the south had the best view. One moment a sheet of flame would lift itself into the air, the next a white wall of steam would follow and loose itself quickly in the night. But the seven streams did their work and the darkness increased as the flames grew smaller, a shower sprung up, the crowd lessened and the big blaze was over.

ORDERS LOST.

The orders on file in the box factory were lost, Mr. Chas. Westlake, an employee of the mill, being prevented by the chief from entering, for the purpose of saving the papers.

What looks like the irony of fate is the loss of the cheese boxes. A brother-in-law to Mr. Mann suggested during the day, that instead of storing them in the factory, they be piled up in the yard to permit of their drying quicker. This however, was not done.

Most of the belting on the machines in the factory was saved, through the efforts of several men, who arrived before the fire department.

The plan for Weedon Grossmith in "Mr. Preedy and the Countess" opens to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

LAURIER CHARGES JINGOISM AGAINST ONTARIO CITIES

Replying to the Accusations of "Treason" He Says He Thinks He Can Make a Treaty With the U.S. That Will be Satisfactory.

Montreal, Oct. 11.—Given a rousing welcome by his compatriots in the Monument Nationale last night, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada, speaking in French, made caustic references to the present organization of the Conservative party, warmly defended the Government's navy bill, and got after Henri Bourassa in lively fashion.

He led up to a reference to the tariff negotiations by denouncing those who accused him at various times of "treason," and continuing:

"In fact, I have been accused of that all my life. In 1896 I was accused of treason towards my race and towards my religion, because I recognized the rights of the Federal Government not to impose on a sister province a system of schools which they did not want.

"And now I am accused of treason again by the jingoes of Toronto, by the imperial jingoes, of the crime of violating the national integrity and of wishing to negotiate a treaty of reciprocity with the United States.

"The first duty of a country is to work for its prosperity, and I admit that in this action we are doing that which is likely to become prosperity to this country. And if it is treason to work for this end, then I am ready to accept that reproach.

"On the other hand, we must not forget that we are behind the United States in the matter of industrial development by at least fifty years. I believe it is possible to make a treaty with the United States which will not only be of great advantage to us, but equally to the United States, and I would not have a treaty which was not at least equally profitable to one as to the other."

The Premier then declared that there was no concession to militarism.

"Is there a single word which gives to Great Britain, as she demanded in 1902, a contribution to the navy? Not a word," he asked, "Is there in this law a single word which takes the control of the navy from the Government, the Parliament and the people of Canada? Not a single word.

"Look for another country which is a colony, which is able to make its own treaties of commerce, you will not find any. Look for another country which is a colony, which has obtained the right to have a responsible government for its own people, you will not find one. There is only the British Empire where such a state of things can be found, and it is Canada which has been the pioneer of that new politics."

"But, gentlemen, what is the consequece of this attitude? The consequence of this attitude is that the man you now have before you is accused of crime, is accused of treason. We are accused of treason in the province, treason towards out country, and treason towards the British Empire. I have been accused of treason, but I have grown accustomed to that charge during the past four years."

Hon. Geo. P. Graham, in a short speech, said that times had changed. The eastern manufacturer must learn a lesson from the west. The United States said it could give Canada certain advantages. Canada wanted to know what they were. If satisfactory Canada would consider them. If not there would be no deal.

It was time that the business men of this country realized that they should stop depending on the Government and look after their own interests.

THE JESUITS MUST GO

Portuguese Government Orders Them to Leave—Property Confiscated.

Lisbon, Oct. 11.—The demonstrations at the capital are being unparalleled in the provinces and the remote country districts. From everywhere comes reports of fetes in honor of the new republic.

Tranquility prevails throughout the country. The normal life of the nation proceeds. Lisbon is resuming its ordinary appearance. Business routine has been renewed.

A monument to the victims of the revolution will be erected. The funeral for Prof. Bombarda and Admiral Reis will be held on Sunday.

Official decrees expelling the Jesuits and declaring their property confiscated, and expelling foreign monks belonging to other orders were formally promulgated yesterday.

The decrees specify that Portuguese members of religious orders other than Jesuits, who accept secularization, may remain in Portugal and return to their families, but those refusing to become secular must leave the country.

Antonio Almeida, the Minister of the Interior of the Provisional Government, is quoted in an interview as saying that the fighting with the monks was provoked by them, they having fired upon the soldiers and people from the windows of the monastery without a shot having been fired at them. The monks, he said, evidently planned a counter revolution.

Going to England.

Gibraltar, Oct. 11.—King Manuel of Portugal and Queen Mother Amelie decided yesterday to proceed to England. They will leave probably within a few days, but are undetermined whether they will travel by land or sea.

The Italian warship Regina Elena arrived here yesterday to take on board the Dowager Queen Maria Pia, who will go to Italy.

The yacht Amelie, which belongs to the Portuguese navy, has been claimed by the Republican Government. It has sailed for Lisbon.

WAS ACQUITTED ON POISONING CHARGE

Brockville, Oct. 11.—Charles Landon, charged with an attempt to poison Thomas Sheridan on several occasions in June last by adulterating tea and water intended for the use of the complainant, was acquitted by Judge O'Reilly of Cornwall yesterday.

His honor recalled Constable Dyer, Thomas Sheridan and the latter's son, William, and questioned them regarding the custody of the liquids between the time Landon is alleged to have tampered with the lunch basket and the forwarding of the samples to the proper authorities for analysis. Among the new witnesses for the prosecution was Prof. Ellis of Toronto. He swore to finding several grains of zinc chloride, and if enough were taken it would cause death.

John Bower, a partner of Sheridan, could not say that Sheridan and the witness were on bad terms, the complaint had been made of Landon, who was a tinsmith in their employ, utilizing too much time talking socialism.

Judge O'Reilly, in acquitting Landon, intimated that Constable Dyer was mistaken in what he saw concerning the prisoner's alleged tampering with the lunch basket [illegible]

SUCH BAD FORM BUT WHO COULD HELP BUT TITTER

Washington, Oct. 11.—Crowds gathered yesterday in such numbers in front of the home of Mrs. Albert Barney, in fashionable Sheridan Circle, to see the life-size, nude, recumbent statue for which Miss Natalie Barney posed, that it was necessary to ask that a policeman be detailed to protect the lawn. The statue, which is called "Deserted Adriadne," is the work of Miss Alice Barney, elder sister of Miss Natalie.

The statue was shipped from Paris to be placed in the Barney residence. The artistic entrance to the studio home, however, proved too small for the work of art. The van men, indifferent or humorous, left the statue a-bathing in the warm sunlight.

All day, top-hatted men and veiled women found its necessary to pass the Barney house, and, of course, it was was not the best form, but who could help but titter at so extraordinary a sight as the nude, recumbent figure of a daughter on the lawn outside her mother's house.

WANT SENTENCE COMMUTED

Victoria, Oct. 11.—An effort will be made to secure commutation of the sentence of death passed upon Gunner Thomas Allen last week for the murder of Capt. Peter Ellison.

The matter was brought up yesterday by Dr. Ernest Hall, at a meeting of the Victoria Local Option League. At the trial Dr. Hall gave evidence to the effect that Allen was suffering from alcoholic insanity. His testimony was described by Chief Justice Hunter as "exaggerated," and obviously carried no weight with the jury.

Dr. Hall repeated his opinion with considerable vigor yesterday. He said that a jury of 12 ordinary men can no more tell when a man is insane than they can tell when he has appendicitis.

CROPS WOULD BE DOUBLED

Brantford, Oct. 11.—At the opening of the Dominion technical commission's session here yesterday, Prof. Robertson declared from what the commission had already learned it was an easy possibility that within twenty years with system of technical instructions in agriculture alone Ontario's farm products of 200,000,000 annually could be doubled. Yesterday afternoon T. H. Preston urged strongly the raising of the age limit for compulsory school attendance to 16 years, the enforcement of truancy act, and state assistance to large families, where a number of children had to be educated.

Will Ask Commutation.

Toronto, Oct. 11.—An appeal will be made to the authorities at Ottawa to commute the sentence of death imposed on Robert Parker at Belleville on Saturday. Parker, who is aged 71, was convicted of murdering William Masters, aged 76.

"I have very strong hopes that his sentence will be commuted to life imprisonment," said E. Guss Porter, K.C., M.P., counsel for Parker, last night. Mr. Porter yesterday had a consultation with Sir William Mulock, the presiding justice at the trial [illegible]

RAINY RIVER IN PERIL; IF WIND SHIFTS TO ANOTHER QUARTER TOWN MUST GO

Refugees Continue to Pour in From Fire Swept Areas, Telling Fearful Stories of the Destruction Following in the Path of the Flames—School Teacher Has Shoes Burned From Her Feet—Conductor's Story.

Winnipeg, Oct. 11.—The first Canadian Northern train in several days arrived here at 10.15 yesterday morning from Fort Frances, this being the Duluth special. Traffic has thus been resumed through the fire-swept zone, but through traffic has not been established from Fort Frances, east of Fort William. Telegraphic communication has, however, been restored, the wire being strung along stumps of burned trees in sections where the poles were burned. A number of refugees were on the train. Among the passengers was W. A. Preston, M.P.P., who is wiring the Ontario Government from here asking for help for Rainy River. He says that the wind has dropped and the situation for the time being is under control, but if the wind shifts to another quarter Rainy River must be destroyed.

Fort Frances sent up all the fire appliances it can spare, and big gangs of men have been contributed from all along the line to stem the conflagration at the boundary. A regiment of state militia has arrived at Beaudette and have taken charge there.

The Canadian Mounted Police were sent into the fire scene to help fight the flames. Governor Eberhardt of Minnesota ordered out two companies of militia to assist the fire-fighters and help in the rescue work.

The Canadian Government have forwarded some tents to house the people, and they were put up last night. What seems to be most needed is plenty of blankets and food.

Nine women rode from a settlement five miles from Warroad on horseback to escape the fire. Three of them carried babies. They rode directly down the railroad tracks, and were badly scorched.

A son of J. Simmons, who lost his home, only escaped with his life by climbing down a well and remaining there until the fire had spent itself. Mr. Simmons states that a whirlwind, high in the air, carried a large piece of burning bark which lit on his property one mile from the main body of the fire. He hitched up a team and with his family escaped with nothing but the clothes they were wearing.

The story told by Robert McAnany and Fred. Beck, a German homesteader, aged 75 years, with regard to the miraculous escape of themselves and others is spectacular in the extreme. Both men had the hair singed from their heads and eyebrows, their eyes were so bloodshot that they could scarcely see.

Both men say that they only managed to keep alive by standing to the chin in water and putting a wet blanket over their heads.

Edward Monahan, a C.N.R. conductor, arrived in the city yesterday and told a terrible story. "It was a spectacle, the pity and horror of which I have never seen equalled. I had charge of a wheat train which was held up by a wreck. There was nothing for us to do but to follow along the track toward Beaudette, four miles away.

"We had scarcely passed the head of the burning train when we saw at the side of the road all that remained of a woman and a child of about eight months. They were both roasted to a crips. Their clothing was burned off and the ties beneath the bodies were also charred.

"A little piece farther on we found near the track a man and two boys. They were dead beyond doubt. Only their boots remained upon the bodies, and they were charred beyond recognition.

"We passed a little creek, or were about to pass it, when we were thoroughly startled by an agonized moan which seemed to emanate from the creek bed. Investigating, we found an old man. He lay with his legs submerged in the water. We carried him out and found that his legs had been terribly burned. We brought him in, and I think it was stated that he will recover.

"Then we came upon a woman. She had given up hope and was awaiting death. Her condition was awful. She has been burned and her strength was almost spent."

When the refugees fled in panic for the freight train that bore them to International Falls and Rainy River, men crushed down women and children, it is reported, and in spite of the fact that the cars were choked so that standing room was at a premium, they insisted on cramming themselves in.

Miss Myra Burt, a young woman of Beaudette, stationed herself at the door of one car, kicked every man in the face with her pointed shoes, that attempted to board the car, and herself reached out and took babies from the arms of their mothers. When the train started there were five babies whose mothers were left behind. They are being cared for in the hospital here.

In Rainy River over a hundred deputies have been sworn in and divided into groups of ten to fight the fire from all sides.

Rainy River has a population of two thousand, and when last heard from there were over three thousand American refugees quartered there. When communication was cut off the town was entirely surrounded by flames, and it was burning in a number of places, the recently installed high pressure water system proving of but little avail against the wall of flames which are sweeping the country in all directions.

Shoes Burned Off Her Feet.

Warroad, Minn., Oct. 11.—Minnie Shearer, a school teacher of Zipple Bay, a few miles north of here, seeing that the fires were becoming dangerous, dismissed the school, telling the children to lose no time in hurrying home. She started for her own cabin, but was overtaken by the flames. She made a dash for what she considered a safe spot, while her shoes burned off her feet, and she fell unconscious in a creek. Hours later, she awoke in the darkness, terribly burned, but she managed to crawl through the burning embers to the house of William Zipple, which was in a clearing. Some thirty other refugees had gathered in the small log shanty.

Every homestead in the vicinity of Zipple has been burned out and few people have escaped.

TARRED AND FEATHERED LOVER OF HIS DAUGHTER

He Charges Members of the Family of Miss Nettie Spier, With Whom He Was Keeping Company With Having Seized Him and Applied the Tar.

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Tar in liberal quantities, with feathers added for scenic effect, was applied to Charles Abner Baker, aged 21, who lives a few miles out of Huntsville, on Saturday night last. Yesterday Baker laid a complaint, and Chief of Police Watson of Huntsville served a summons on Thomas Spier, a well-known farmer of the district, calling him to court to-morrow to defend himself. Baker also alleges that during the evening a horsewhip was used on him by Spier. Baker's hair is still matted with tar, but he has succeeded in removing the adornments from his face, though red marks still indicate where the hot stuff was. His clothes were ruined. They have been put in as evidence in the case.

According to Baker, Spier, the father of a young lady he has been keeping company with, objected to his suit. That led to a quarrel between the girl and her father. She left home and entered the employ of a town resident as a domestic. Enraged by the resistence of the pair Spier gave Baker three days in which to leave the country. But Baker did not go.

Saturday night while on his way to Huntsville. Baker met Spier coming from the town. Baker alleges that Spier set upon him, tied his hands and led him to his (Spier's) house, declaring "I'll fix you."

At the house Spier was reinforced by his wife and son. Then, alleges Baker, he was ordered to remove his coat and sweater and was tarred and feathered.

After the operation his coat and sweater were attached to a cord, which was tied tight around his neck. Then a long piece of clothesline was made into a noose and also put around his neck. Spier, sr., held the other end. The journey to Baker's home, about three miles away, was thereupon commenced. Spier followed and frequently used a horsewhip. Baker was released when about a mile from home.

The girl in the case is Miss Nettie Spier.

Rough-on-Rats Killed Him.

Chatham, Oct. 11.—T. C. Stegmann one of those who was poisoned several days ago by eating gravy in which "Rough-on-Rats" had accidentally been mixed, died yesterday. Other members of the family are out of danger.

CARTER-COTTON RESIGNS HIS PORTFOLIO

Victoria, Oct. 11.—Feeling somewhat disappointed that he was not given the portfolio of finance, Hon. F. Carter-Cotton, president of the council, yesterday handed this resignation to Premier McBride and it was accepted. Hon. Price Ellison becomes Minister of Finance and Agriculture, and W. R. Ross of Fernie was sworn in as Minister of Lands, in place of Ellison. A. E. McPhillips, member for Islands, becomes president of the council. Cotton's retirement is not surprising, for he recently sold his Vancouver newspaper, and is retiring from business and political activity with a million or so to the good. He is representative in the Legislature for Richmond, and it is not probable that he will run again.

New York, Oct. 11.—Five thousand girls, makers of neckties, went on strike yesterday for better working conditions. The girls say more workers will go out, unless their demands are granted.

DENIES STORY

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Conductor Clarence Long takes exception to the report of an occurrence on a Grand Trunk train near Millbrook. The despatch from Peterboro stated that Conductor Long roughly used a passenger who was intoxicated, and did not produce his ticket.

What happened was this: In dragging the man down the aisle to get him off the car, the man fell against a seat and cut his head. Mr. Long says he did not lock him in the lavatory, but merely shoved him in there so that the aisle would be clear for other passengers to leave the train.

Moreover, Long indignantly denies that he is a strikebreaker. He started with the Grand Trunk during the strike, but as he accepted a permanent position he thinks that entitles him to immunity from the odium that generally attaches to the term "strikebreaker."

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Benj. Sheppard, a ten-year-old boy, was killed by a train at Burlington Junction.

There is great anxiety in Spain lest the revolutionary spirit should cross from Portugal.

The steamer Moltke is being still held at New York because of the two cases of cholera discovered aboard her.

Mrs. Winnifred Pankhurst of Toronto pleaded guilty at Buffalo to a charge of criminally receiving stolen property.

The voting on the Niagara Falls waterworks extension debenture bylaw resulted in the bylaw being carried by a majority of 18.

Sir W. S. Gilbert of London, Eng., hsa received a tempting offer to direct a revival of Gilbert and Sullivan operas in the United States.

Several men were fined at Cobalt for illegal liquor selling, and a charge against one of the defendants of selling cocaine was adjourned to to-day.

Capt. Walsh, superintendent of the C.P.R. Atlantic lines, expects to see a line of steamers established between Canada and Argentina by the winter of 1911.

There is no trace of Superintendent of Fisheries Venning, who disappeared from The Hague on Sept. 1, and the officials at Ottawa fear he has been murdered.

C. C. Chipman, chief commissioner of the Hudson Bay Co., announced yesterday changes in direction of the company, by which he himself will have charge of the land department.

Dr. Baker's 60-foot yacht, one of the largest pleasure crafts in Vancouver harbor, took fire Sunday night when running in the Gulf. Three or four persons, whose names are at present unknown, were seriously burned.

WAS KILLED BY HER NEPHEW

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Oct. 11.—A despatch says a warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of Victor Hudson of Stanhope, charged with having caused the death of his aunt, Johanna Hudson, on Tuesday last.

Mrs. McMasters, sister of deceased, told the officers, who went to investigate, that after her sister had taken a cabbage from his field, Victor followed the woman to their house. A fight took place at the window between Johanna and Victor, armed with sticks.

The nephew wrestled the stick from the old lady and Mrs. McMasters went to the kitchen to get another. "When I returned," she said, "Johanna was lying insensible on the floor. Victor lifted her up trying to restore her, but in vain."

WILL TRY TO SAVE McNULTY

Toronto, Oct. 11.—A. E. H. Creswicke, K.C., thinks he can save Thos. McNulty's neck from the hangman's rope on Dec. 14, through the discovery that there was only one mail delivery at 793 Yonge street on Good Friday, and that in the morning.

McNulty was convicted in Barrie of murder, partly on the statement of Mary Nolan that she received a letter at that address from him Good Friday afternoon instructing her to strangle her child. Mr. Creswicke has been told by the assistant postmaster that it would be impossible for the mail carrier to not reach the house until the afternoon. The case will be appealed on a stated case.

Railroad Strike In France.

Paris, Oct. 11.—A strike which may spread and stagnate France industrially was started yesterday when nearly 300 workmen on the Northern Railroad quit work. The strike may involve all of the 45,000 employes of the road before night.

The strikers are demanding a minimum wage of five francs a day, a broader interpretation of the pension law, a ten-hour day and six days' work per week.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Crowds gathered to-day in such numbers in front of the home of Mrs. Albert Barney, in fashionable Sheridan Circle, to see the life-size, nude, recumbent statute for which Miss Natalie Barney posed, that it was necessary to ask that a policeman be detailed to protect the lawn. The statute, which is called "Deserted Adriadne," is the work of Miss Alice Barney, elder sister of Miss Natalie.

The statute was shipped from Paris to be placed in the Barney residence. The artistic entrance to the studio home, however, proved too small for the work of art. The van men, indifferent or humorous, left the statute a-bathing in the warm sunlight.

All day, top-hatted men and veiled women found it necessary to pass the Barney house, and, of course, it was not the best form, but who could help but titter at so extraordinary a sight as the nude, recumbent figure of a daughter on the lawn outside her mother's house.—Toronto Star.

In Europe where in civilized countries women, not of marble, but of flesh and blood, dance nude, no special comment is created unless the dancer is especially sensuous. "There is nothing more beautiful than a human body. I look upon a well formed nude woman as one of the most symetrical and complete works of God, and the sight of a nude woman dancing creates in my mind nothing more than a profound admiration for the work of the Almighty."—Chancellor Von Moltke.

Its in the head that these thoughts are rampant. Some fellows can't talk of anything but smut, tell smutty stories, read smutty books or feast on smutty photographs. They can't look at a handsome, well built woman without smutty thoughts. The drunkard sins openly, the gambler plays with a bunch of fellows in a back room, but, say, wouldn't the thoughts of some of our leading citizens, our pillars in church and state look funny if flashed with full description on the canvas of the Grand Opera House by a moving picture machine.

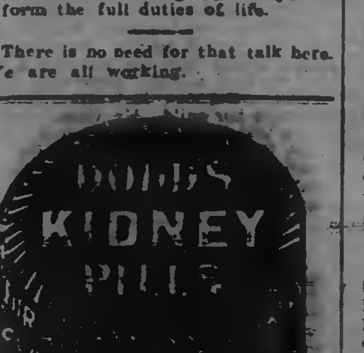
HEAVENWARD HO!

Peterborough is heading straight for heaven—there's no doubt about it. In St. Peter's church a mission has been started for men and women. St. Peter's was crowded last night. A Missionary Institute is in session in the city. There are many delegates and speakers from India and many other spots in the world. Sam Luttrell is after the sinner in the Park street Baptist church every night. Special meetings are being held in Bethany Tabernacle. The Salvation Army (band 35 strong) is ever on the warpath. Who says we're not bound for glory? No answer. The Ottawa Citizen says:

Let us quit or quarrelling and get to work.

If religion is love, as we are told often enough, then there is abundant need of it in the world to-day. With all our advance in civilisation and the claimed triumph of Christianity, there are yet thousands of our fellow-men who need our love and brotherly helpfulness. We have no time to waste if we are going to perform the full duties of life.

There is no need for that talk here. We are all working.



THE MAN WHO PERSISTS TO THE END

Anybody can do a part of anything. But only the complete thing is of actual value. The watch that lacks a cog might just well be a mass of metal in the ore. A motor car finished to the striping of the tonneau, but missing a little finger-sized spark-plug, has no more utility than a junk heap.

All the energy spent spent up to the point of completion is wasted. Endurance must be the backbone to ambition, or it remains a futile longing; tenacity must become the mainspring of capacity.—Galt Reporter.

ENDURANCE MUST BE THE BACKBONE OF AMBITION. IN THIS EVERYTHING IS SAID.

Its the man who persists to the who counts. He may be beaten to a pulp. He may fall, he may make mistakes. He may be sidetracked, but if he has the bump of "neverletgoism" he cannot fail but win. He may win by a nose. He may win by a length, but he must win if he persists to the end. From morning till bed time its a fight with all of us. Sometime men slide through life unscarred. They are not men. They are makeshifts. We admire the fighter. The man who never gives up.

THE CUP THAT CHEERS BUT NOT INEBRIATES

The United States Consul-General gives a highly interesting report concerning a new beverage that is being manufactured in Great Britain, which is made from the same materials as those used for the manufacture of ale, which possesses all the good qualities of ale and stout, but is yet absolutely non-intoxicating.

Concerning the new beverage the report says,

"It is brewed from malt and hops only and has no preservative in it.

It does not look unlike beer, and the taste is very similar. It has a bead on it.

It is made of precisely the same materials as the best English home-brewed ale, but alcohol is almost entirely eliminated, and it is stated that there is no chemical admixture of any kind.

The amount of alcohol produced by the brewing process in this beverage is given as nine-tenths of one per cent., which is less than the percentage to be found in any of the ginger ales, stone beers and other temperance beverages.

"The process by which the beverage is made is the invention of a French scientist, certain modifications being made by one of the professors of the Paris Pasteur Institute and an English brewer.

Two kinds are made, ale and stout.

The ale, it is claimed, has the flavor of light beer, and the stout tastes most exactly like a good quality of London stout".

This would seem to be just the beverage that the world has been longing for and that inventors have been long seeking.

The report seems rather too good to be true, that is, to be whole truth, because the whole truth may not yet be known.

It is natural to have some fear that though the alcohol evil is removed, some other evil or detriment to health may be discovered by the further use of this new beverage.

It is to be hoped such fears are groundless.

Tea and coffee have already been pronounced bad, very bad; water in many places is far from good; whiskey is in great danger of being so used as to prove physical, mental and moral poison; and it is therefore to be hoped that this new beverage, which so far seems to be too scared to be named, will give some chance of life and relief to thirst-threatened humanity.

MURDERERS - NOT MISTAKE MAKERS

The Halifax Herald very tritely remarks in view of the hunting season;

For several years past no sooner has the hunting season opened in North Eastern America, than the newspapers have had to report case after case of a hunter "mistaking a man for a deer" and shooting him dead; and the present season has already declared itself no exception to the rule.

How many cases of these alleged "Mistakes" have in fact been malicious murders, it is impossible to assert or deny.

Time was when the firing off of a gun was a comparatively harmless matter; its range was so limited; but the rifles of to-day may be death-dealing at a mile distant, and to fire off one of these modern weapons is to endanger human life to the extent of that enormous range.

"The only way to safeguard human life, under modern conditions, is for the law to make the man who fires off a rifle responsible for whatever results.

If a man at any time during hunting season may shoot a man he hates, at a distance of five, ten or fifteen hundred yards, and be excused upon saying that he "thought it was a deer," what safety does the law afford to human life?

Not so long ago a newspaper man and a friend left for the north with his best friend. The best friend came back in a long box. The newspaper man almost went insane. Not a solitary case, a common and a usual one. The man who rocks the boat, the man who fakes drowning in the summer, the fellow who skates on thin ice in winter, the chap who takes a long stiff drink and goes out to hunt deer in the north, these men are not mistake makers, they are too often murderers. Ask the widows, ask the orphans.

DO WE RETURN THE DEVOTION

The future of the individual child depends on the individual mother, and the future of the race depends on the mothers of the race.

Think what has been done for mankind by thousands of millions of perfectly devoted mothers.

Every mother is entirely devoted, entirely hopeful, entirely confident that no future is too great for her baby's deserts.

The little head—often hopelessly ill-shaped—rolls about feebly on the thin neck devoid of muscles. The toothless gum chew whatever comes along. The wandering eyes look feebly, aimlessly about, without focus or concentration. The future human being, to the cold-blooded onlooker, is a useless little atom added to the human sea of humanity.

But to the mother that baby is the marvel of all time. There is endless meaning in the first mumblings; endless soul in the senile, baby smile; unlimited possibilities in the knobby forehead and round, hairless head. She sees in the future of the baby responsibilities of government, and feels that one so perfectly lovely must eventually be acclaimed ruler by mankind.—From leading Editorial, New York Journal.

And, men, women, do we return that affection in later life? Mother may be old and decrepit, wrinkled and feeble, but she's still mother—the best mother in the world. Did any one ever have a better mother than you? Never. Did any one ever have a better mother than the writer? Not on your life. We all are agreed that we have the best mother, but how do we show it? Very often we don't make any manifestation till we pick out the pallbearers, order the undertaker, and see them fill in the grave.

TIME FOR A CHANGE

The Guelph Herald says that if there were 5,000,000 illiterate people in Portugal it is time for a change.

It is time for a change at Ottawa. The Globe's old cry was "Barnacles on the ship of state." The Globe is too busy defending the bunch at Ottawa now that it hasn't got time to think of the old slogan.

Barnacles and Bils, Graft and Craft. The acute anguish of the days of the sporting cabinet are over, but the quiet, cunning, scheming and plunging the country still deeper into debt is going on. On land the G.T.P., on water the Newmarket canal—what a joke. Anything for anybody. Power at any price. It is this that makes Canada like Portugal, ready and ripe for a change.

WOMEN HEROES

Estimates of the loss of life in the forest fires which started Friday wiped out several small towns and are still raging, range all the way from 50 to 200. The property loss will amount well up into the millions.

When the refugees fled in panic for the freight train that bore them to International Falls and Rainy River, men crushed down women and children, it is reported, and in spite of the fact that the cars were choked so that standing room was at a premium, they insisted on cramming themselves in. Miss Myra Burt a young woman of Baudette, stationed herself at the door of one car, kicked every man in the face who attempted to board the car, and herself reached out and took babies from the arms of their mothers. When the train started there were five babies whose mothers were left behind. They are being cared for in the hospital.—Hamilton Times.

Fire! We have seen a building burn. Man made the building. It is easily consumed. But the Almighty made the forests, and those who have passed through forest fire experience tell us that it is an awe-inspiring spectacle never to be forgotten. No poet can print it in verse. Dante or Milton might. But Dante and Milton are dead, and took their mantles with them. Miss Myra Burt is a heroine. Women heroines are not rare. Every woman who brings a babe into the world, nurtures and loves it into a life of useful activity, is a heroine. Self protection is the first law of Nature, and Miss Burt, in asserting her rights and in protecting the lives of the babes at the risk of her own was a heroine. But what of the mothers left behind? THEY WERE HEROINES, INDEED.

A Gentleman From Mississippi

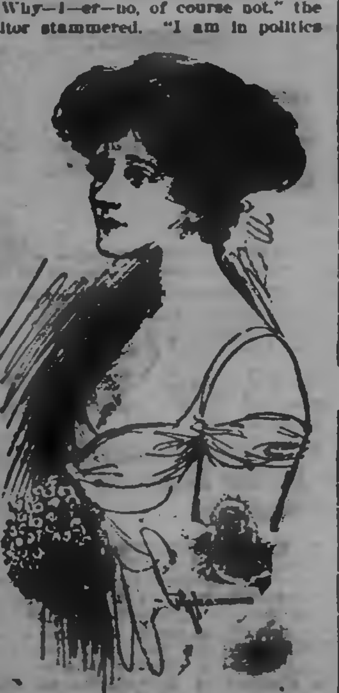
By THOMAS A. WISE

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THOMAS A. WISE

"Are you in politics as a business?" quickly spoke Colonel Langdon.

"Why—I—er—no, of course not," the visitor stammered. "I am in politics for my party's sake, just like everybody else," and Sanders grinned suggestively at his questioner.



Carolina Langdon had an austere loveliness.

"Have you anything further to say?" asked Langdon in a tone hinting that he would like to be rid of his caller.

"Well, since you are so very new in this game, senator, I'll talk right out in meetin', as they call it. I came to ask about an appointment an' to tip you off on a couple o' propositions. I want Jim Hagley taken care of—you've heard of Jim—was clerk o' Fenimore county. A $2,000 a year job 'll do for him; $500 o' that he gives to the organization."

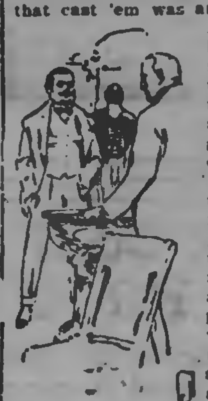
"You're the organization, aren't you?" queried Langdon.

"Why, yes. Are you just gettin' wise?" cried Sanders. "Haven't I got fellers, voters, voters, VOTERS, d—it, hangin' on to me that needs to be taken care of! An' so I make the fellers that work help those that don't. Why, Langdon, what 'n h— are you kickin' an' questionin' about? Didn't you get my twelve votes in the legislature? Did you have a chance for senator without 'em? Answer me that, will you? Why, with 'em you only had two more than needed to elect, an' the opposition crowd was solid for Wilson," cried the angry boss, pounding the long table before which Langdon sat.

"I'll answer you almighty quick," retorted the now thoroughly aroused senator elect, rising and shaking his clinched fist at Sanders. "Those twelve votes you say were yours—yours?"

"Yes, mine. Them noble legislators that cast 'em was an' is mine, mine, I tell you, jest like I had 'em in my pocket, an' that's where I mostly carry 'em, so as they won't go strayin' aroun' careless-like."

"You didn't have to vote those men for me. I told you at the capitol that I would not make you or anybody else any promises. You voted them for me of your own accord. That's my answer."



"Them noble legislators was mine."

At this point the gentlemen of the county present when Sanders entered and who had no desire to witness further the unpleasant episode rose to leave, in spite of the urgent request of Colonel Langdon that they remain. The only one reluctant to go was Deacon Amos Smallwood, who, coming to the plantation to seek employment for his son, had not been denied of his desire to join the assemblage of his neighbors.

Last to move toward the door, he stopped in front of Sanders, stretched his five feet three inches of stature on tiptoe and shook a withered fist in the boss' firmly set, determined face.

"Infamous!" shrieked the deacon. "You're a monster! You're unrighteous! You should have belonged to the political machine of Cataline or Pontius Pilate!"

"Never heard tell o' them," muttered Sanders, deeply puzzled. "Guess they was never in Mississippi in my time."

His accompanying gesture of perplexity caused the deacon to hasten his exit. Tripping over the leg of a chair, he fell headlong into the arms of the watchful Jackson, who received the deacon's blessing for "uplifting the righteous in the hour of their fall."

Relieved at the departure of the witnesses, Sanders showed increased aggressiveness. "To be sure, senator, you were careful not to personally promise me anything for my support at the election, as you say," the leader sneered, "but you had Jim Stevens to make promises for you, which was smooth, absolute an' artistic smooth"—

"Stop, sir!" Langdon furiously shouted. "You forget, sir, that your insinuation is an insult to a man elected senator from Mississippi, an insult to my state and to my friend Senator Stevens, who I know would make you no promises for me, for he had not my authority."

"Certainly you're a senator, but what's a senator anyhow? I'll tell you, Mr. Colonel Langdon, a senator is a man who holds out for his own pocket as much as us fellows that make him will stand for. When we don't get our rightful share, he's through."

With a sudden start, as though to spring at Sanders' throat, Langdon, with compressed lips and eyes blazing, grasped the edge of the table with a grip that threatened to rend the polished boards. With intensest effort he slowly regained control of himself. His fury had actually weakened him. His knees shook, and he sank weakly into a chair. When he finally spoke his voice was strained and laborious. "Sanders, you and I, sir, must never meet again because I might not succeed again in keeping my hands off you. What would my old comrades of the Third Mississippi say if they saw me sitting here and you there with a whole body, sir, after what you have said? They would not believe their eyes, thank God, sir. They would all go over to Stuart City and buy new eyeglasses, sir." A suspicious moisture appeared on the colonel's cheeks which he could not dry too quickly to escape Sanders' observation.

"But I had to let you stay, sir, because you, the sole accuser, are the only one who can tell me what I must know."

"What do you want to know?" asked Sanders, who had realized his great mistake in losing his temper, in talking as openly and as violently as he had and in dragging the name of Senator Stevens into the controversy. He must try to keep Stevens from hearing of this day's blunder, for Jim Stevens knew as well as he, didn't he, that the man who loses his temper, like the man who talks too much, is of no use in politics.

"I want to know how you formed your opinion of political matters—of senators. Is it possible, sir, that you have actual knowledge of actual happenings that give you the right to talk as you have? I want to know if I must feel shame, feel disgrace, sir, to be a senator from Mississippi, that state, sir, that the Almighty himself, sir, would choose to live in if he came to earth."

"There, there, senator, don't take too seriously what I have said," Sanders replied in reassuring tone, having outlined his course of action. "I lost my head because you wouldn't promise me something I needed—that appointment for Hagley. What I said about senators an' such was all wild words—nothin' in 'em. Why, how could there be, senator?" This query was a happy afterthought which Sanders craftily suggested in a designedly artless manner.

"Just what I thought and know!" exclaimed Langdon sharply. "It couldn't be; it isn't possible. Now you go, sir, and let it be your greatest disgrace that you are not fit to enter any gentleman's house."

"Oh, don't rub it in too hard, senator. You may need my help some day, but you'll have to deliver the goods beforehand."

"I said, 'Go!' "

"I'm goin', but here's a tip. Don't blame me for fightin' you. I've got to fight to live. I'm a human bein', an' humans are pretty much the same all over the world, all except you—you're only half natural. The rest of you is reformer."

After Sanders' departure the colonel sat at his table, his head resting in his hand, the events of the day crowding his brain bewilderingly.

"The battles of peace are worse than any Beauregard ever led me into," he murmured. "Fighting to conquer oneself is harder than turning the left flank of the Eighth Illinois in an enfilading fire."

But the new senator from Mississippi did not know that for him the wars of peace had only just begun, that perhaps his own flesh and blood and that of the wife and mother who had gone before would turn traitor to his colors in the very thickest of the fray.

CHAPTER III.

HOW TO PLEASE A SENATOR.

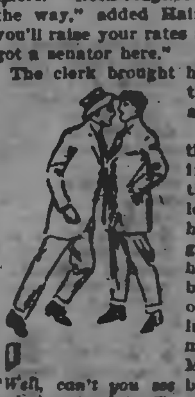
THE International hotel in Washington was all hustle and bustle. Was it not preparing for its first senator since 1885? No less a personage than the Hon. William H. Langdon of Mississippi, said to be a warm personal friend of Senator Stevens, one of the leading members of his party at the capital, had engaged a suit of rooms for himself and two daughters.

"Ain't it the limit?" remarked the chief clerk to Bud Haines, correspondent of the New York Star. "The senator wrote us that he was coming here because his old friend, the late Senator Moseley, said back in '75 that this was the best hotel in Washington and where all the prominent men ought to stay."

Haines, the ablest political reporter in Washington, had come to the International to interview the new senator, to describe for his paper what kind of a citizen Langdon was. He glanced around at the dingy woodwork, the worn cushions, the nicked and uneven tiles of the hotel lobby, and smiled at the clerk. "Well, if this is the new senator's idea of princely luxury he will fit right into the senatorial atmosphere." Both laughed derisively. "By the way," added Haines, "I suppose you'll raise your rates now that you've got a senator here."

The clerk brought his fist down on the register with a thud.

"We could have them every day if we wanted them. This fellow, though, we'll have all winter, I guess. His son's here now. Been breaking all records for drinking. Congressman Norton of Mississippi has been down here with him a few times. There young Langdon is now."



"Well, can't you see what you're doing?"

Haines turned quickly, just in time to bump into a tall, slender young man, who was walking unevenly in the direction of the cafe.

"Well, can't you see what you're doing?" muttered the tall young man thickly.

Haines smiled. The chap who has played halfback four years on his college eleven and held the boxing championship in his class is apt to be good natured. He does not have to take offense easily. Besides, Randolph Langdon was plainly under the influence of whisky. So Haines smiled pleasantly at the taller young man.

"Beg your pardon—my fault," Haines said.

"Well, don't let it occur again," mumbled Langdon as he strolled with uneven dignity toward the door. Bud Haines laughed.

"I guess young Langdon is going to be one of the boys, isn't he?"

"He's already one of them when it comes to a question of fluid capacity," laughed some one behind him, and Bud whirled to meet the gaze of his friend, Dick Cullen, representative of one of the big Chicago dailies.

"You down here to see Langdon, too?" commented Bud.

Cullen nodded. "Queer roost where this senator is to hang out, isn't it?"

"It can't be a rich one, then," suggested Haines.

Cullen chuckled.

"Perhaps he's an honest one."

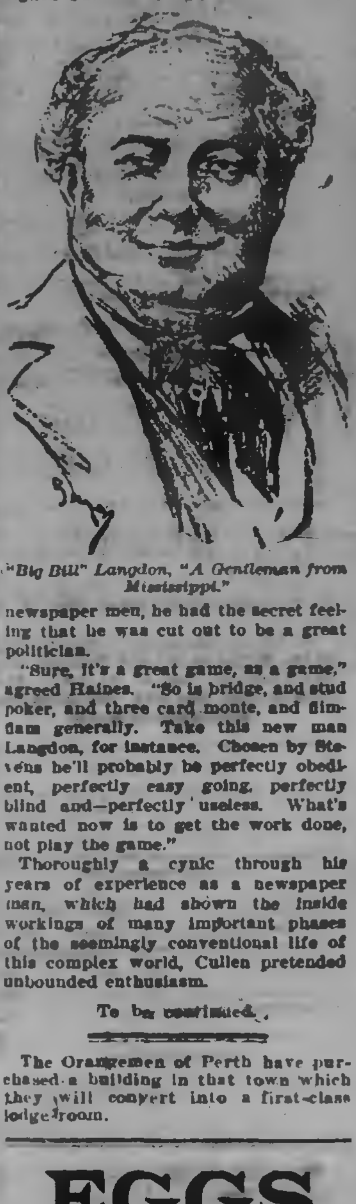
"I hadn't thought of that. You always were original, Dickie," commented Haines dryly. "By the way, what do you know about him?"

"Nothing, except that the Evening Call printed a picture of his eldest daughter—says she's the queen daughter of the south, a famous beauty, rich planter for a father, mother left her a fortune"—

"She'll cut quite a social caper with this hotel's name on her cards, won't she!" broke in Haines as he led Cullen to a seat to await the expected legislator, whose train was late.

"I don't know very much about him myself," said Haines. "All I've been able to discover is that Stevens said the word which elected him, and that looks bad. Great glory, when I think what a senator of the right sort has a chance to do here in Washington—a nonpartisan, straight out from the shoulder man!" He paused to shake his head in disgust. "You know these fellows here in the senate don't even see their chance. Why, if you and I didn't do any more to hold our jobs than they do we'd be fired by wire the first day. They know just the old political game, that's all."

"It's a great game, though, Bud," sighed Cullen longingly, for, like many newspaper men, he had the secret feeling that he was cut out to be a great politician.



"Big Bill" Langdon, "A Gentleman from Mississippi."

"Sure, it's a great game, as a game," agreed Haines. "So is bridge, and stud poker, and three card monte, and flimflam generally. Take this new man Langdon, for instance. Chosen by Stevens he'll probably be perfectly obedient, perfectly easy going, perfectly blind and—perfectly useless. What's wanted now is to get the work done, not play the game."

Thoroughly a cynic through his years of experience as a newspaper man, which had shown the inside workings of many important phases of the seemingly conventional life of this complex world, Cullen pretended unbounded enthusiasm.

YOUR BACKACHE WILL YIELD

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rockland, Maine.—"I was troubled for a long time with pains in my back and side, and was miserable in every way. I doctored until I was discouraged, and thought I should never get well. I read a testimonial about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and thought I would try it. After taking three bottles I was cured, and never felt so well in all my life. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all my friends."—Mrs. WILL YOUNG, 6 Columbia Avenue, Rockland, Me.

Backache is a symptom of female weakness or derangement. If you have backache, don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so safely and surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Cure the cause of these distressing aches and pains and you will become well and strong.

The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has restored health to thousands of women.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge.

THE SAFETY OF "FRUIT-A-TIVES"
May Be Taken For Years
The Ideal Remedy For Young and Old

Nature's gifts do us good, if used judiciously. We eat bread from babyhood to old age without ever tiring of it. We drink water, year in and year out, with the greatest benefit to our health. So too, we eat fruit in season and are better for the change of diet. This is true, because such things are the natural foods and drink of mankind. It is for this reason that "Fruit-a-tives" may be used for years in correcting some ill of the body. As is well known, "Fruit-a-tives" is made of the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes.

Just as fresh fruit may be eaten at every meal, so "Fruit-a-tives" may be taken every night for 20 years or more with the greatest benefit.

The absolute safety of "Fruit-a-tives" has been a great factor in its success. Those who suffered with chronic troubles such as Constipation, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, etc., naturally took a number of boxes of "Fruit-a-tives".

As they became better, they found that instead of being compelled to increase the dose as in most medicines, they were decreasing it, and gradually taking fewer doses.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At dealers, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

SPECTACLES SHOULD BE CHANGED

Frequently people will get spectacles which suit them, and go on wearing them for years without having their sight tested to discover whether any change has taken place. This is wrong. All who wear glasses should have their eyes tested at intervals, even if the necessity of such is not apparent to them. As a general rule spectacles for old sight require changing about every 3 years, but it is desirable that the sight should be carefully tested every two years.

Have Eyes Tested at Intervals

Whenever you feel uneasy in your spectacles don't hesitate to call and see us. We are always glad to help you.

WINNING MISS WON AKRON

What the Arkon, Ohio, Telegraph says of "A Winning Miss," which comes to the Grand on Monday next.

After remaining dark for three days last week the High Street theatre opened Monday afternoon with that splendid musical production entitled "A Winning Miss," and no matter what has been said of previous entertainments, and with all due regard for the good shows that have been presented at the High Street in the past, it can be said that none of them have come anyways near being in the same class with "A Winning Miss." If the show were entitled, "Winning Misses" it would be more appropriate, for without paint, powder or "rats" there is beauty "unconfined" and the fresh bloom of young womanhood and girls in their teens is evident.

It isn't a lot of pick-up chorus girls either. They can sing, they can dance and they can act. But that is not all they are fitted out with the very latest styles, from the hobble skirt to the hobble hat.

Max Bloom—you all remember him—that fellow who couldn't talk sense if he had to—he is there, too.

"Eve," as sung by Mr. Backus, is an artistic bit of work, and Mr. Boyle Woolfolk couldn't write a more catchy piece if he tried ever so hard. Then Miss DeVon makes one of the hits of the show with "What I Want is That Dreamy Music." Miss Lorraine Lester is back as Winnie Winters, after her brief illness at Cincinnati last week, and is just as chic and as natty as can be.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To My Friends and Customers of the City of Peterborough—

I beg to notify all my friends and the public generally that I have disposed of my drug business in this city to Mr. C. M. Moncur, Phm B., a gentleman whom I can highly recommend to the citizens of Peterborough as one who is fully capable of taking charge of and carrying on a drug business in a careful and up-to-date manner.

In making this announcement I take the opportunity of thanking my patrons for their many kindnesses shown to me in the forty years that I have been before them, and I trust that they will give the same confidence to my successor as they did to me. As he has been associated with me for some time past I know that he is well versed in all that pertains to the drug business, and in retiring it gives me great pleasure to feel that I have placed my interests in the hands of one who is so well worthy of the respect and esteem of the citizens of this city.

Signed,

Very respectfully,
J. D. TULLY

INTIMATION

In connection with the above, I beg to announce that I have purchased the business of Mr. J. D. Tully. I will do my utmost endeavor to give the people of Peterborough a drug service that will in every way be equal to that of any in the city.

I feel, owing to my long experience in the business, not only in this city but in Ottawa, Detroit New York and Newark, in which places I have spent some eight years as a dispensing druggist, that I am fully qualified to give every attention and care to the patrons of the store.

It is hardly necessary to say that this stock of drugs, supplies, etc., will be kept thoroughly fresh and of the highest quality, and that every care and attention will be given to the preparation of prescriptions and orders.

Very respectfully,
COLEMAN M. MONCUR, Phm. B.

FATHER CASEY OPTIMISTIC FOR SUCCESS OF SOCIETY

Officers Elected at St. Peter's Ladies' Literary Society—Vote of Thanks to Father McColl—A Lecturer Coming.

St. Peter's Ladies' Literary met at the Lyceum last night, when the officers and executive committee for the 1910-11 session were elected. A good deal of interest was manifested in the balloting, and eventually the choice of the society was made as follows—

President—Miss L. Hurley.
Vice-President—Miss H. Kane.
Secretary—Miss B. McNamara.
Treasurer—Miss May Kelly.

The following were elected to the committee—Miss Clara Cahill, Miss Nora Coughlin, Miss W. O'Brien, Miss J. O'Donnell, Miss Ethel Hayes, Miss Maud Landry, Miss M. McManus, and Miss M. O'Heron.

After the election Rev. Father Casey outlined the year's work. He would not enter into detail, as it was an established fact that girls could not keep a secret, but they could take it that they intended to break new ground. The social side of the society would not be neglected, but as it was primarily a literary society they would endeavor to live up to their name and make it literary in the best sense. He did not advocate the multiplication of clubs—many clubs meant a neglected home—but clubs in moderation—unlike whiskey—could be made to serve a very useful purpose, and they would, is that they got all that they could out of the society. It would be something more than an agreeable way of wasting time, if all worked together. They could make it a society that it would be an honor to belong to, and that was the ideal they had set for themselves.

A vote of thanks to Rev. Father McColl for his interest in the society proposed by Miss Hurley and seconded by Miss Coughlin, was unanimously adopted.

A meeting of the new committee is called for Wednesday evening at eight o'clock at the Lyceum. The first general meeting will be held on Friday, October 22nd, when a very able lecturer will inaugurate the year's The general public are cordially invited to this lecture, further particulars of which will be announced later.

On His First Trip

The roadbed and general conditions, both in operating and service on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Winnipeg and Edmonton is coming in for great praise from patrons who have gone over the road. At the general offices in Montreal a letter was received from a professor of one of the prominent Collegiate Institutes in the west, which reads as follows—

"On my recent trip in the west I travelled over the Grand Trunk Pacific between Saskatoon and Winnipeg. It was my first trip over this road, and must say I was surprised to find the roadbed in such excellent condition. It seemed like travelling on one of the old main lines in the east. The dining and sleeping car service were first-class in every particular and I found the train officials courteous and obliging. Passengers whom I met were unstinted in their praise of the road and its appointments.

SPLENDID OPENING SERVICES OF MISSIONARY INSTITUTE A TALK ON FAR OFF INDIA BY THE REV. DR. DAVIDSON WHO IS RETURNED MISSIONARY

The progressive movement of missions all over the world, wherever heathendom and idolatry reign, is now conceded to be no longer a thing that is vague, shadowy, or unreal, but a movement that is purposeful, logical, and far-reaching. No longer is the field of mission work left entirely in the hands of women. Men everywhere, the big men, the brainy men, men who do the thinking for the land, see what a mighty power the missionary movement is to-day, and the still mightier influence it is destined to be. For this reason namely the promulgation of missionary principles among the young people of the church, is the Missionary Institute being held in the city. As stated last night, it is a school of methods for studying in a practical manner how to organize and conduct the missionary work of a congregation and to train young people to be teachers in the missionary work of the church. This is a missionary age, characterized by great forward movements.

Last evening the Missionary Institute in session for three days in the city, got off to a splendid start. Intense enthusiasm and interest was displayed. The attendance of delegates from the various cities is indeed gratifying to the committee or arrangements.

From 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. only the registration of delegates and visitors took place in George street church. They each were assigned to their billets. From 5.30 to 7.30 supper was served to the delegation by the young ladies of the various churches of the city, in George street Sunday school room.

OPENING EXERCISES.

The evening session was held in St. Paul's church and opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. Robert Pogue, pastor of that church. Rev. J. R. Webb, of Murray street Baptist, then addressed the visitors and delegates. In an eloquent though brief manner he welcomed them to the fair city of Peterborough, assured them of the pleasure that all felt by their presence and expressed his gratification at the interest the young people of the land were displaying in the field of missionary work. Mr. Webbb's remarks were mainly based on the meaning and purpose of missionary zeal, and he brought out many useful points that should be treasured and remembered by those present. They were full of earnestness and excellent advice.

REV. DR. DAVIDSON.

Owing to having missed train connections at Port Hope, Rev. J. A. Rankin, D.D., who was to have delivered the chief address of the evening, was unable to be present. Rev. Dr. Davidson, a missionary home on furlough from India, however, came nobly to the rescue in the time of need, and spoke for about one hour on the conditions and people of India. Mr. Davidson, from the moment he entered the pulpit claimed the attention of his audience. Throughout his whole address he had the undivided attention of his listeners and such was the knowledge of his subject and the pleasant manner of his delivery that it was indeed a pleasure to listen.

Mr. Davidson said that he was much honored in being asked to address such an audience. We could not get too abundant missionary information. Regarding the work in India he would attempt to give some estimate of the work, but to do so he had to have some standard by which to measure it, and he would take as his standard, the words of the Lord Jesus in John 10, 10.

"I am come that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly." The church stands to-day for the same work as Jesus stood for. If not, it is time for us to inquire. The Hindoos, although far below us in culture and education, at present, will when Christianised, and when they have seen as much as we have, will easily excell us. They devote themselves to whatever they adopt with a zealousness unparalleled, and it is the same with their religion. When converted their first thought is for the other fellow. The old teaching of the Hindoos did not do this. When converted they are unselfish, and their life is one that is overflowing, one that seeks to communicate itself unto others. There is an organization in India called the National Missionary Society, that is non-denominational, whose supremest object is to do good to others. Its principle is to carry the gospel to all parts of India. It was begun, financed and carried out by the Indians alone, and is complete. It throbs with the spirit of Jesus Christ.

The society met last year, and many of the members made large sacrifices in order to further the work of God.

HONESTY OF THE HINDOO.

Another striking feature in connection with a Hindoo when converted is his immovable honesty. The speaker cited an example of where a native who, when he signified by his actions that he was a follower of Christ, was completely ostracized by his fellow-men. After, however, they witnessed the holy life and actions they came voluntarily to him, to beg him to accept the position of head man of their people.

They refuse money when it retards the work of God. When not converted however, they will do anything for money, even missionary work. Three out of four natives engaged in doing Christian work in India will confess that they are doing it for stomach's sake. The native found it hard to believe that a missionary will come there to do Christian work, except as a means of financial gain.

ALL CAN BE TAUGHT.

Many of the lower castes of India are thought to be worthless and of no intelligence. By teaching a class known as the Beales, the missionaries have disapproved the statement and have shown what can be done by Christian enterprise and by their devotion to the lower class whom they seek to uplift.

ARE BEING WON TO GOD.

Many would come over to the Christian experience, but dare not for fear of losing caste. But, then, old beliefs and systems are being honeycombed and ground out, and Christian and civilized customs are taking their place. Great things have been accomplished by the Hindoos through prayer, and the speaker told some interesting examples. Many, although non-Christian, are reading the Bible, some of them much more frequently and systematically than people in this land.

Mr. Davidson concluded his stirring and splendid address by pleading for a more generous response to the cry of that vast country for spiritual and financial aid.

Rev. J. G. Brown, of St. James' church, presided last night.

GUY BROTHERS PLEASE AT OPERA HOUSE

Time honored and hoary headed, Guy Bros. Minstrels visited Peterborough last night. The audience was large and appreciative, and the singing of the quartette was a feature. There were several distinct features, a falsetto, a lyric tenor, a pair of club jugglers, and a man who punched a bag while balancing on his head. A cowboy who changed his clothes in a box not much larger than a tea-caddy, and refused to be kept prisoner though securely tied, neck knees, and ankles.

Some of the jokes were fresh, some were ripe, but then there is nothing new. The show was one that pleased and the applause was liberal and frequent. Guy Brothers last night lived up to their old reputation and made good.

ONE OF THE OLD BRIGADE OF LACROSSE PLAYERS

Mr. Jack Simpson Who Wore a Peterborough Uniform Along With "Billy" Rudkins, "Jack" Craig, "Kit" Rutherford and Others, Is On a Visit this Way

Lindsay Warder.—Mr. Jack Simpson, of Vancouver, B.C., accompanied by Mrs. Simpson, is visiting his brothers at the Simpson house and is being warmly welcomed by his many friends. Jack distinguished himself away back in the eighties as a member of the famous Peterborough lacrosse club. Those were the days of the long runs and long throws, and Mr. Simpson participated in many a hardfought struggle on the old cricket grounds in Ashburnham. Associated with him on the team at that time were Billy Rudkins, Mike Halpin, Dod Fortye, Jack Craig, Kit Rutherford and Billy Scott, at present residing in Peterborough; Jimmy Sheehy, of Chicago, the late Dr. Yelland and Billy Sanderson, of Peterborough; Jim Coughlin, in the West; Mike Tierney, in Rochester; Joe Joyal and Percy Myles, residence unknown; Billy Morrow, of New York; Dick Kelly, afterwards with the Montreal Shamrocks, who was considered to be the greatest centre fielder in the world; the late Rev. Father Rudkins, of Peterborough; the late Jumbo Henderson, of Orillia, and Mike McDonald, in British Columbia. This great team made its last stand in the summer of 1885, when it went down to defeat at the hands of Orillia.

Away back in 1882 Jack Simpson was attacked by a cannibal named O'Neill on the Maitland lacrosse team, from Toronto, who planted his teeth in Jack's shoulder; O'Neil was afterwards sent down for assaulting a lake captain.

When Mr. Simpson went west some years ago, he was largely instrumental in introducing lacrosse on the coast.

Cotton Operatives Back.

Oldham, Eng., Oct. 11.—The cotton mills of Lancashire resumed operations yesterday. George Howe, a local employe, whose discharge caused the strike at the Fern mill and resulted in the lockout of 130,000 operatives, was given work in another factory.

In one week the lockout cost the workers half a million dollars in wages and depleted the union funds by $200,000.

TOOK MORE MONEY THAN WAS DUE HIM

Charged with misrepresentation of the amount of wages due him, Walter Mahaffy, appeared this morning before the magistrate, and pleaded guilty. He was remanded for sentence for one week.

Mahaffy was employed by Messrs. Taylor and Hall, cement, brick and block manufacturers. He was paid seven dollars and a half by the bookkeeper, who was told to do so by her father. She, thinking that the wages were due him for 4 1-2 days work, but, having worked 4 1-2 hours, he took the money and did not say that the amount was incorrect.

CONTRACT FOR ELECTRICAL FIXTURES WAS AWARDED

The Property Committee met last night with Ald. Duncan in the chair. Mayor Morrow and Ald. Graham and Morgan were also present.

An application was read from Robt. Wilson, chairman of the city hall premises, asking for an increase in salary. This was laid over.

The tender of $549 from Alexander & Miller for electrical fixtures for the Public Library was accepted.

The architects will be instructed to complete the plumbing and heating of the Public Library without delay.

True Bill for Murder.

Chatham, Oct. 11.—At the sittings of the fall assizes, begun here yesterday afternoon before Justice Middleton, the grand jury brought in a true bill for murder against Frank Jackson, the colored man charged with shooting Jacob Enos on the night of July 18. It is understood that the plea will be self-defence.

On the charge that James Johnson was an accessory to the murder, they found no bill, and Johnson is accordingly discharged.

Niobe Has Sailed.

Devonport, Oct. 11.—Admiral Sir W. Fawkes yesterday inspected the Niobe, which sailed in the evening for Halifax. The Niobe is expected to arrive at her destination on the 21st, Trafalgar Day. The Niobe, like the Rainbow, has no intoxicants in the canteen, and instead of H.M.S. the crew have H.M.C.S. on their cap ribbons.

England Has Cause to Fear.

New York, Oct. 11.—H. W. Taft, brother of the President, who has just returned from Europe, declared in an interview yesterday that, in his opinion, England had good cause to fear Germany's military and naval strength.

Couldn't Identify Him.

Brantford, Oct. 11.—William Burke, brought to this city recently from the Central Prison to face a charge of defrauding Morris Leaboyitz out of $230 on a fake diamond deal here last summer, similar to a series of frauds pulled off in Toronto and other centres, was discharged yesterday. Although Leaboyitz picked Burke out of five prisoners at Toronto, he was unable yesterday to swear to his identity.

Date of Coronation.

London, Oct. 11.—The Pall Mall Gazette states on good authority that the date of the coronation will be in the week commencing June 18, probably the 21st. The Premiers and other members of the Oversea Governments, and the governor of every state and dependency owing allegiance to the British crown, have been invited. Each will be represented by a contingent of troops.

Smuggled Rare Violins.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Twenty-seven rare old violins, which federal authorities declare were smuggled into this country without paying of duties by John Hornstein, have been seized. They are said to have been purchased from Williams & Co., Toronto, from time to time in the past two years.

A New Daily.

Berlin, Oct. 11.—A new daily paper made its appearance here yesterday. It is called The Live Wire Daily.

Drowned In Reservoir.

New York, Oct. 11.—After having drawn off 90,000,000 gallons of water in the Croton Aqueduct mains near the Highbridge station, in the upper part of the city, searchers yesterday found the body of Joseph Plenty, a nine-year-old boy, who fell into the aqueduct through an emergency opening while playing with companions on Saturday. It took nearly a day to empty the big pipes in the section into which the boy fell.

The Cholera Danger.

New York, Oct. 11.—That the danger of cholera is still very great on all vessels coming from Mediterranean ports, was admitted by Health Officer Doty yesterdya, but he reiterated his assertion that there is absolutely no chance of a case getting by the port authorities.

Gets Ten Years and Ten Lashes.

Vancouver, Oct. 11.—Ten years with ten lashes was the sentence imposed by Judge McInnes yesterday afternoon on Herbert Helliwell of Tacoma, a young man charged with assaulting nine-year-old Glenn Walters.

Caruso Wounded.

Berlin, Oct. 11.—During the last act of "Carmen" last night Enrico Caruso, the tenor, received an accidental thrust of a sword in his knee.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Old Country Cables Firm—Hogs Lower at American Points.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—London and Liverpool cables quote American cattle steady at 13¼c to 14½c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef higher, at 10½c to 11¼c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Oct. 10.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 105 carloads, consisting of 2130 cattle, 69 hogs, 715 sheep and lambs and 16 calves.

Exporters.

E. L. Woodward bought 79 export steers for London market, 1423 lbs. each, at $6.20 average, and a range of $6.10 to $6.30, and one extra load at $6.75; also 315 steers, 1300 lbs. each, at $6.15, or a range of $5.85 to $6.20.

Geo. B. Campbell bought for Morris & Co. 190 steers for Liverpool, averaging 1300 lbs. each, at $5.70 to $6.10.

Butchers.

Loads of good butchers sold at $5.50 to $5.75; medium, $5.15 to $5.40; common, $4.80 to $5; cows, $3 to $4.75; canners, $1.75 to $2.50.

Feeders.

Good to choice feeders, 900 to 1150 lbs. each, sold at $5.25 to $5.60; feeders, 800 to 900 lbs. each, $5 to $5.25; stockers, $4.50 to $4.85.

Milkers and Springers.

A moderate supply of milkers sold at from $50 to $90 each.

Calves.

Veal calves sold at from $3.50 to $8 per cwt., and one extra quality calf was sold by Coughlin & Co. at $8.75 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

The market for sheep was strong, and lambs sold at from 10c to 20c per cwt. higher. Sheep, ewes, sold at from $4.75 to $4.85; rams, $3 to $3.50; lambs, $6 to $6.25 per cwt.

Hogs.

Dealers quoted selects, fed and watered, at $8.50 per cwt. at the market, and $8.15 to drovers for hogs, f.o.b. cars at country points, which would mean about $8 per cwt. to the farmer.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Oct. 10.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Oct. 8 were 2400 cattle, 4170 sheep and lambs, 2970 hogs, and 275 calves. The offerings on the market this morning for local consumption consisted of 1400 cattle, 3140 sheep and lambs, 700 hogs and 200 calves.

Prices were firmer than they were on Wednesday last. Some of the larger butchers have commenced buying for future requirements, and several loads of northwest ranch steers and heifers were bought at $4.65 per 100 lbs., which will be killed down and put away in cold storage.

Choice steers sold at 5¾c to 5¾c; good at 5c to 5¼c; fairly good at 4½c to 4¾c, fair at 4c to 4¼c, and common at 3½c to 3¾c per lb. Some good bulls brought as high as $4.60 per 100 lbs., and the lower grades for canning purposes sold at 3¼c to 3½c per lb.

A steadier feeling prevailed in the market for hogs. There were only 700 head on the market, for which the demand was fair, and sales of selected lots were made at $8.50 to $8.75 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars. Cable advices on Saturday from all the leading foreign markets on Canadian bacon were weak, and noted a decline in prices of 4s to 5s per cwt.

Sheep sold at 3¾c to 4c, and lambs at 5¾c to 6c per lb. Calves were scarce, and prices ranged at from $5 to $15 each, as to size and quality.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

FAMOUS
BRITISH ADMIRAL

Royal Naval Club, Portsmouth

To the Zam-Buk Co.

Dear Sirs.—I have found Zam-Buk most reliable for healing cuts and abrasions; while for the relief of skin irritation it is invaluable.

Yours faithfully.

(Signed) RODNEY M. LLOYD, Admiral.

Praises Zam-Buk

How It Healed a Terrible Burn.

From top to bottom of the great British naval ladder Zam-Buk is known and used. Admiral and stoker alike have proved its value, as the foregoing and the following show:

Stoker Kingsnorth, of H. M. First Class Cruiser "Cochrane," says:—"One day I slipped and fell with my arm on an exhaust steam pipe, which fairly frizzled the skin. At once the ship's surgeon dressed my arm, but from the first, the burns took the wrong way, owing to a lot of coal dust and dirt from the pipe having got embedded in the flesh and setting up blood-poison. A large scab appeared, and from underneath the festering flesh matter oozed out. I was in fearful pain and didn't know how to get ease

"For weeks I remained under treatment, but the ordinary ointments proved no good for my arm. Indeed, I got worse, and I became alarmed at the spreading of the poison. I therefore obtained a supply of Zam-Buk and almost as soon as this was applied I got ease. From the very first application, healing commenced; and a few boxes of Zam-Buk healed my wound completely."

No matter in what occupation or stage of life you may be, for skin injuries and diseases of all kinds you will find Zam-Buk is the latest and best in scientific healing. That is why it is so popular to-day. Mothers should see that it is always handy in the home.

It is a proved cure for eczema, ulcers, abscesses, ringworm, poisoned wounds, tetter, itch, bad leg, varicose ulcers, suppurating wounds, cold sores, chapped hands, babies' sores, inflamed patches, etc. Zam-Buk is also a specific for piles. All druggists and stores at 50c. box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse all substitutes and harmful imitations.

GENERAL HEALTH OF THE CITY IS GOOD

Brief Session of Board of Health Recommended Sewer Connections for Benson Avenue Between Manning and Aberdeen Avenues

The general health of the city is good, in fact, very satisfactory.

There is only one original case of typhoid fever.

So said the Board of Health at its regular meeting this morning, and at which were present the chairman, Dr. McNulty, and Dr. Young, James Murty and W. G. Morrow.

At the request of the plumbing inspector, the Board was notified, through the city engineer, of the unsanitary condition of two stores.—Received.

A request for a sewer connection on Benson avenue, between Manning and Aberdeen avenues received the recommendation of the Board.

There was no other business.

CHIMES PROJECT WAS DISCUSSED

A Vestry Meeting at St. John'n Last Night—The Wide Use of the Bells—Public Spirited Resolutions Passed

Last night an important meeting of St. John's Vestry was held, with a good representative attendance of members of the congregation. The object of the meeting was to discuss the chimes project in its relation to the church. Reports were presented by the rector as chairman of the Chimes Committee, and by Mr. G. C. Wainwright, the treasurer, stating the present position of the fund and what had been done. The whole subject was most thoroughly discussed. The work has been carried out on the groundwork of a verbal authorization given to the committee by the Easter Vestry meeting in April.

After a kindly and comprehensive discussion the meeting expressed itself in the following resolutions, which were adopted with unanimity and enthusiasm:—

1. That the Vestry of St. John's Church do hereby express its willingness to thankfully accept, when offered, the chime of bells obtained by public subscriptions of the citizens of Peterborough, the chimes to be placed in the tower without expense to the congregation.

2. That on behalf of the congregation and parish of St. John's, this Vestry hereby agrees to use and operate these chimes for ever as a Public Trust for the the glory of God, for the good of His church and holy religion, and for the benefit of the citizens of Peterborough.

3. That in conformity with the above resolution this Vestry undertakes to cause the chimes to be rung on public holidays and national occasions.

4. That the rector and Wardens may at their discretion, at the request of any citizen, cause the bells to be chimed on the occasion of any marriage wherever celebrated in the city the applicant paying the ordinary fee.

The first resolution embodying the principle was passed by a standing vote, and the whole four resolutions were finally adopted en bloc, on motion of Churchwarden C. W. Coulthard, seconded by Dr. Boucher, chairman of the Finance Committee, and were carried by a standing vote, the meeting fully realizing the importance of the step taken.

There was a considerable discussion in regard to the disposition of the present bell, which has become endeared to the congregation, as well as to many citizens of Peterborough.

It was pointed out on behalf of the committee that that they were looking to the value of the bell, which was considered to be about $600 to meet the expense of installation of the chimes, the alterations required to the tower and other necessary final expenses, including the placing of a suitable tablet in the porch. It was determined that this whole matter should remain in abeyance for the present, and the bell remain in possession of the congregation until there was necessity for its disposal.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Having seen by last evening's copy of your paper that the Womans' Art Association were going to hold their annual meeting, I was reminded that the prizes offered by said association to the scholars of the Public schools for the best copies of art drawing, have never been presented. The competition referred to took place before the summer holidays, and the scholars have often asked why were not receiving their prizes. As this long delay makes the children lose confidence in people who are older than themselves, whom we teach them are their superiors, I trust that the said association will, without further delay, look into this matter.

TEACHER.

Peterborough, Oct. 11, 1910.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Your article under the heading of "Shall Peterborough push out for Power?" is an anachronism. What is the use of advocating the locking of the stable door after the horse is stolen. The whole power of the Kawartha Lakes was originally vested in the Government, who should have held it in trust for the people in common instead of allotting it to a few favorites who hold it at exhorbitant prices which causes the factories to give us the go by. We should have the cheapest power in the world situated as we are at the foot of a water power two hundred feet above us. Instead, other places, such as Welland, underbid us with cheaper power and get the cake. It is true we used to get some of them by giving them nonusers lands, and even parts of our streets and saddling the poor ratepayer with their taxes. Poor Peterborough!

Yours, etc.,
CITIZEN.

you do not have to work close to the stove, which is usually far from the window. You can work where you wish, and be warm. You can work on dull winter days in the full light near the window, without being chilled to the bone.

The Perfection Oil Heater quickly gives heat, and with one filling of the font burns steadily for nine hours, without smoke or smell. An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap, put in like a cork in a bottle, is attached by a chain. This heater has a cool handle and a damper top.

The Perfection Oil Heater has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back, so the wick can be quickly cleaned. The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged and can be unscrewed in an instant for rewicking. The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in japan or nickel, is strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

CRITICS CONFOUNDED

Interested critics said a year ago: "Do not buy a Knight motor, it is an experiment—in a year or two it may be all right."

Partly this is true—the Knight engine will be improved. Quite frankly we venture to hope that each Knight engine and each Russell car we make will be better than the one before. We believe that our 1914 cars will be better than those of to-day.

But this is the fact that must be borne in mind:—

The Knight engine built in its first year, by the first firm building it in a commercial way, under official observation, put up a performance which no valve motor made by any firm after years of experience has been able to equal.

Is not this conclusive proof of Knight superiority?

Then consider that since that time the engineering skill of five of the leading engineering firms of the world have worked for the improvement of the motor, and have been aided by the experience of over 2,000 users.

To-day the Knight motor stands on its record in all quarters of the globe as a tested, tried-out product of superlative excellence.

In the 1911 Russell "38" you get the culmination of this work in engine design.

SPLENDID DISCOURSE BY FATHER GILLIES TO MEN

First of a Weeks Meetings at St. Peter's Cathedral to Men—The Murder of the Soul by Sin

"Cry out, cease not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, speak to my people of their evil doings, and let my people know of their [illegible]" Isaiah 58:1.

Such was the text on which Rev. Father Gillies, of New York city spoke to a large audience of men at St. Peter's Cathedral last evening, the occasion being the first of a week's meetings for men.

Rev. Father Gillies is holding a retreat here, and next week for three nights he speaks to women only.

Last night he received an attentive hearing and when in the course of his plain and forcible remarks he told the story of the cross there was a silence on the part of his auditors that was eloquent with significance.

"The history of humankind, from the beginning till now is to a very great extent a history of human sin," said the speaker. "Go where you will, wherever you go you will find sin. Draw aside the curtain that divides the modern history from the ancient, and you will look upon an age that is in no way different from our own. There you will find sin.

But you need not go back. Pass out to the door of the church and ask for the penetrating vision of the spirit of God. Stand there and behold the vast world as God beholds it. You would see a world of mortals stricken with sin. You will see sins of man against man, and man against God. You will see the same sight that broke the heart of the Man when he looked upon it—Jesus Christ. He had omnipotent power. He was infinitely strong in His first gift, but it broke His heart until it bled.

And what wonder!

Yet, brother, I beg you to permit me to ask you to look upon that sight to-night; to haul sin into port, to indict sin, for what sin has done to man and what sin has done to God.

First look upon a human soul in its glory, clean from the hands of God—the very image, the likeness of God Himself. The soul the home of noble thoughts, the means of the communication of God and man.

Then behold the soul in its degradation. It is the home of Satan—a kind of localized hell. The devil flings back a challenge and threats to the the spirit of God. Give the man free will,' says the devil, 'and that will make the man rebel.' This is when the highest becomes man the lowest. Do I exaggerate? Am I carried away with a fanatical fervor? Then come away from the imaginary as you will. Take sin as you find it. Take the sin of drunkenness. The fellow who rolls in the gutter with the dogs, or the respectable drunkard who gets home from the club in a cab. Look at him—his eyes, his tongue. If he talks he looks like an idiot. He cannot reason.

Now, show me the image and likeness of God in that man. Take another man, the moral leper. The man who is depraved and vile. God gave him reason and [illegible] power. He gave him the power to say, 'I will' to the things that are good, and 'I will not' to those that are not. He was given the power to say, 'I am master of my own destiny.' But look at him! His passion [illegible] here or go there and he does. Do this vile deed, and he does this vile deed. Do this unspeakable action, and he does it.

What is his free will? What has become of the God in this man? That man is a slave—he does just what he is told. He is in a worse condition than the slave, because he is bound to his own low passions. He has to say, "my [illegible] not my own, my body has the upper hand of my soul."

But there is something worse. Sin has a masterpiece, just as God had His masterpiece in the beautiful soul of the man created in His image.

The masterpiece of sin is the murder of the son of God—and that is the most [illegible] catastrophe in the human race.

Then the reverend gentleman took his hearers back to the time when God looked down upon the sin of the world and sent prophets to speak to His people. The speaker told of how the prophets came and of how the people refused to hear them, and they died as martyrs. Then, as a last effort He sent His own beloved Son.

Then followed the beautiful story of the [illegible] told in a plain but eloquent manner.

"Who was responsible for that murder?" he asked. There is some mystery about it. Men are not brutal by nature, nor bloodthirsty. They will listen to a fanatic, they will jeer at him, but they won't murder him. Then, why was it they butchered and murdered Jesus Christ? You say it's perfectly plain, and that Judas, Pilate and Jews killed Him. The true reason is Jesus Christ died on that awful black Friday because there was some unforeseen force clamoring for the death of that Christ. It was the whole [illegible] world of sin crying out with Judas, Herod and Pilate and the others. Sin killed Jesus Christ. The people were willing to listen to Jesus but they said 'Thou shalt not speak to us about our sins.' But He did and so they killed Him.

Rev. Father Gillies' closing appeal to the men was calm and impressive. He speaks again to-night.

MR. WEEDON GROSSMITH
The Celebrated English Comedian Who With His London Company Intact comes to "The Grand" Next Thursday Oct. 13 in "Mr. Preedy and the Countess." The Seat Sale Opened This Morning.

MOST POWERFUL MEETING OF THE SERIES WAS HELD LAST NIGHT AT PARK SREET. BAPTIST CHURCH-EX-TANK CAME OUT FROM THE BROAD PATH TO STRAIGHT AND NARROW ONE

The most powerful meeting yet conducted by Dr. Sam Luttrell of Denver, was held last night in the Park street Baptist church. It was a most memorable event.

The doctor took for the foundation of his remarks the incidents recorded in the fifth chapter of St. Luke's gospel.

The audience listened with rapt attention as he graphically drew four pictures, so true to life, that many saw in them their own counterpart, and were convicted. That the address was effective was evidenced by the number who responded to the invitation to take Jesus as their personal Saviour and live a better life.

Among those who came to the alter was a well-known Peterborough citizen whose life had been spoiled by the cursed drink habit, and who told in a determined manner his intention of trusting in God for strength, and giving up the accursed stuff, for, said he, in his testimony to the large assembly it has been the curse of my life.

There were several others of like character who made such determination.

Yes, Dr. Luttrell explained, when God, through Christ, can save a sinner like me, he can save anybody.

Converts who just intimate where they would like to unite, their names and address would be forwarded to the right pastors. Such broad-mindedness, said Dr. Luttrell, was Christ-like. There was no denominational bigotry about me. We are here to save souls not to build up the Baptist denomination.

There will be another mass meeting for men next Sunday at 3 p.m. The George street Methodist male quartette will lead the singing.

During the evening Mr. G. W. Mulligan sang a most effective gospel message, which brought the congregation very near to the cross. Mr. Mulligan will sing again on Thursday evening.

One feature of the meeting that appealed to the evangelist, was that part where the pastor, Rev. W. C. Riddiford, said that this was not exclusively a Baptist revival. Already the names of converts have been handed to other churches.

Meeting to-night at eight o'clock. All made welcome.

STRUCK BY TRAIN

Young Boy Tossed Into Ditch But Escaped Without Dangerous Injuries---Was Crossing Track In Front of Double Header Freight

Struck by a fast moving double-header freight train this morning about 8.30, Victor Baker, seven years of age, residing on Park street, is now at home suffering from bruises, cuts and a general shaking up. The young lad's escape from instant death was miraculous. The accident occurred on the Grand Trunk railroad curve at the corner of McDonnel and Park streets. The train was travelling at a good speed, and young Baker, being a precocious lad, attempted to cross the track in front of it.

He was just a little bit too late. The cow-catcher caught him up, lifted him into the air and he was hurled into the ditch beside the track. Somebody shouted "My God, the boy's struck."

The train was quickly brought to a standstill and the unconscious boy carried into Graham's grocery store. Dr. Cameron was phoned for and on his arrival took the boy to his home, a short distance away, and attended his injuries.

It is not thought that he is injured seriously, but those in the vicinity say that his escape was nothing short of marvellous.

THE RAILWAY IS CHANGED TO ROAD TO SALVATION; A CHAPEL ON WHEELS

The celebrated chapel car which was at the Eucharistic Congress, Montreal attracted considerable attention at the C. P. R. Station yesterday.

The car is a catholic chapel on wheels, and passed through from Montreal en route for New Brunswick.

The car has been the source from which five churches were started and these were built and spread in the past eleven months. Thirty five non-Catholic services were given from the car. In fifteen of these places there never was a Catholic service given until the car went there, and they are towns of from six thousand to seven thousand people.

At the Eucharistic Congress, Montreal the car was inspected by the leading dignitories of the church and they were greatly surprised at the excellency of its appointment.

A Novel One

We have heard of talking jags, of crying jags, of laughing jags, and many other kinds, but the mouth-organ jag is an absolute novelty.

There is a man about town who has been of this peculiar species of musical drunk for several days. He plays on the street corner, plays in the street car, and was playing at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon at the football game.

He doesn't solicit money, but plays only in a spirit of misplaced jubilation.

He should get his act copyrighted. It is certainly a new and novel one.

Preston's population is now 3,504, an increase in one year of 261.

A test is about to be made on the Illinois Central Railway of a new device for picking up and delivering mail by fast trains.

SIR JAMES AND HON. ADAM BECK PRESS THE BUTTON

Hydro Power Turned on at Berlin.

Fathers of Hydro-Electric Get a Tremendous Ovation When First Power is Turned On.

Berlin, Ont., Oct. 12.—Fittingly concluding with a banquet, cooked with electric power from Niagara, the celebration of the inauguration of the Hydro-electric power service in Berlin yesterday was a most happy and auspicious occasion to all concerned. The Hydro-Electric Power Commission has surmounted the several obstacles and difficulties inseparable from such undertakings, and has demonstrated to the representatives from other municipalities, gathered in large numbers here yesterday, its ability to "deliver the goods." The demonstration of approval which the affair brought to Hon. Adam Beck was shared in also by Sir James Whitney and Hon. Mackenzie King, and Sir James' reference to Messrs. King and Beck as two Waterloo boys who have both made good was warmly appreciated by the audience. Sir James did another graceful thing when he associated Mr. Beck with the act of turning on the power, and the people gave vent to warm approval of the courtesy. The decoration and arrangements were above criticism, and the inauguration may be accepted as a happy omen of the future of the enterprise, which is designed to do great service to western Ontario.

MAYOR HAHN OF BERLIN.
Who Was Master of Ceremonies at Yesterday's Celebration.

The city presented a picturesque spectacle at night, when the official party, with Gen. Green (president of the Ontario Power Co.), Mr. F. H. McGuigan (who has the construction contract) and Chief Engineer Sothman, were driven around the thoroughfares. On either side of the streets were charmingly arranged strings and chains of colored incandescent globes, while at regular distances great arc lights made the night seem like day. On Main street a magnificent illuminated arch, erected by the Hydro-Electric Commission, was much admired. It was an intricate piece of electrical craft, splendidly designed and supporting illuminated crests of the province and the County of Waterloo.

The banquet in the big market building at night was a brilliant affair. The long auditorium was beautifuly decorated with flowers, foliage and bunting, and lit by a myriad of tiny Hydro-electric orbs. The elaborate menu also was cooked with the new white coal. Over fire hundred men, representing nearly all portions of older Ontario, attended the banquet, over which Mayor Hahn presided. Two little maids presented the Premier and Hon. Mr. Beck with beautiful bouquets of American Beauties. The Minister of Power gallantly passed his on to Mrs. Beck.

WARNS AGAINST RECIPROCITY

London, Oct. 12.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Judge Grantham, speaking at Lewes, said Canada was the workingman's paradise. There were no idlers, and no unemployed, but work at high wages for all. Many Canadians complained bitterly that the Mother Country would do nothing to assist in their economic difficulties, but in her financial arrangements is treating them no better than their commercial enemies. They were in danger of losing Canada as she became deceived by the tempting bait of reciprocity.

Judge Grantham, continuing, said Canadian railway men and miners sent this message by him to fellow-workers: "Britain, give up your false pride in strength and numbers. You are fighting for shadows, and losing substance. You are killing the bird that lays the golden eggs. The capitalist is your greatest friend. He is the only man who can create work. Without work you cannot live. Help him, do not thwart him at every turn."

CRIPPEN CASE UP BEFORE GRAND JURY

London, Oct. 12.—The October sessions of the Central Criminal Court opened here yesterday morning. In charging the grand jury, Recorder Sir J. Fulton said there were ninety-five persons to be tried at the sessions, and amongst the cases to be disposed of was the charge of murder against Dr. H. H. Crippen, who was described as a dentist, and Miss Ethel Clare Leneve, who was indicted for being an accessory after the fact.

"So far as Crippen is concerned," he continued, "by the evidence I have briefly indicated to you there is an abundance of evidence to justify you in finding a true bill against him for the murder of his wife.

"The case of Miss Leneve is on an entirely different footing. What she is charged with is being an accessory after the fact. It is necessary for the prosecution to satisfy the jury that she relieved, comforted, and assisted Crippen, and that she knew he had committed this murder. Certainly there does not seem to be anything in the statement made by her on the 8th of July in which she seems to indicate that she had not any knowledge at all that Crippen had committed murder. It will depend very much upon her demeanor, but it appears to have been a rational statement.

"You may take it with very great consciousness that every consideration will be given her case. She will have every opportunity, if she desires, to avail herself of giving any further information she may wish in the course of the trial."

Crippen will be represented at his trial by three lawyers, the best known of whom are Alfred Aspinwall Tobin, Unionist member of Parliament for Preston, and Huntly Eugene Jenkins. Of the two who will look after the interests of Miss Leneve, Frederick Edwin Smith is a leading Conservative member of Parliament for Walton division of Liverpool.

THE DYNAMITE WAS STOLEN

San Francisco, Oct. 12.—Army officials of the presidio have given a new turn to the hunt for the Los Angeles Times dynamiters, by laying before the civil authorities their findings in an investigation into the theft of a quantity of dynamite from the reservation. Four days before The Times' building was destroyed 20 sticks of dynamite, 50 feet of fuse and half a box of percussion caps were stolen from the presidio quarry. With the explosives were several expensive instruments, but none of them was disturbed.

It is the belief of the army officials that civilians were responsible for the theft, and that the dynamite was carried off in suit cases by probably three men, and conveyed to one of the north shore wharves, where it could easily have been smuggled aboard a boat.

PRECAUTIONS TO KEEP OUT CHOLERA

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—The necessity of taking additional precautions to prevent the introduction of Asiatic cholera into Canada was yesterday afternoon emphasized upon Hon. Sidney Fisher by an important deputation from Quebec. It was composed of Dr. J. A. Beaudry, medical health inspector of the provincial board of health; Dr. A. John, chairman of the board of health of Quebec City and Dr. P. Caellier, medical health officer of the city.

Another deputation is here to ask for an improvement of the immigration inspection facilities at Quebec.

Ottawa's Water Unsafe.

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—Allan Hazen of New York, who has been examining the water supply, reports that, while the Ottawa River shows surprisingly little pollution for so large a river, yet the pollution is sufficient, so that the water cannot be used with confidence. The color, also, is not good. He suggests that the water supply should be taken from McGregor's Lake, fifteen miles north of the city.

Alberta's Triumph.

Spokane, Oct. 12.—Alberta won the grand state trophy for the best exhibit at the dry farming congress. The trophy is a $250 silver cup, given by the governor, M. E. Hay, of the State of Washington, for the best exhibit on the grounds.

Alberta was in competition with Australia, Colorado, Montana, Utah and many other exhibits.

$2,250,000 FOR RESEARCH

Berlin, Oct. 12.—The celebration of the 100th anniversary of the University of Berlin began yesterday. The feature was an address by Emperor William, who announced that the work of the University would be broadened further by a foundation for scientific research, for which he had collected from private individuals nearly $2,250,000.

Lord Strathcona, representing McGill University, extended the felicitations of Great Britain [illegible]

DOMINICAN FATHERS EXEMPT FROM EXPULSION ORDER

Lisbon, Oct. 12.—Although the city remains under martial law, the soldiers have been gradually withdrawn from the streets. Hardly any were to be seen yesterday. The people have resumed their business occupations, and perfect tranquility prevails. Several churches re-opened yesterday morning.

Guards have been supplied to those establishments of the religious orders which are still occupied, and flying foreign flags, to prevent possible attacks. The papal nuncio, Monsignor Tonti, has hoisted the Austrian flag over his residence at Cintra, but there was no sign yesterday of hostile demonstrations.

The Government has announced that the Irish Dominican Fathers and nuns, who have conducted a school here for many years, will be exempted from the order of expulsion. This step, doubtless, is due to the desire of the republicans to keep on good terms with Great Britain. It is said that Foreign Minister Machade has requested Great Britain to grant immediate recognition to the new regime, ostensibly so that it will be in a position to communicate its full program to the British Government.

The casualty list from the recent fighting falls below the most moderate of previous estimates. The official estimate gives the number killed as between 100 and 150. Unofficial estimates place the number still lower.

One of the plans attributed to the organizers of the revolution was to bring off the coup d'etat on Oct. 5, when King Manuel was visiting the Premier in the northernmost province of the kingdom. It was arranged that the train bearing the king should continue through to the frontier, and the soldiers there were to prevent the king from re-entering Portugal. In the meantime, the Ministry, who would have assembled in a body at the station in Lisbon to see the king off, were to be surrounded and arrested after the departure of the train. The republic was then to be proclaimed.

SERIOUS RAILWAY TROUBLES ARE GATHERING IN FRANCE

Paris, Oct. 12.—The French Government is again facing a serious strike situation. The employes of the Northern Railroad struck early yesterday, and last night the strike spread to the Western Railroad, which is owned by the state. Indications are that to-day will see a complete tie-up in northern and western France.

The strikes now involve about 80,000 men. The strike on the Western Railroad was voted last night by 8,000 men employed in Paris and the suburbs. They count upon the national unions to tie up the provinces. It is reported that the movement may also extend to the Eastern and the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean railroads.

As is usual in such circumstances, the City of Paris is threatened with a scarcity of food supplies. Freight, mail and passenger transportation is partially restricted, and the vast army of working people in the northwest are unable to reach their places of business.

Military engineers are taking the places of the strikers, and troops are guarding various stations and important sections of the roads. Large military forces were hastily distributed on the first evidence that a strike had been declared, and additional troops were ordered out last night. The Ministry has placed the railroads on a military basis and may muster the railway employes into service as reservists. The strikers have voted to continue the strike until the demands have been met, but have requested a conference with the railroad officials.

The conservative newspapers condemn the strike as indicating a revolutionary general federation of labor, trying to absorb the railroad unions but the Socialist press hails it as a commendable battle for needed reform.

The demands of the employes are as follows: A general increase of wages, to meet the higher cost of living; a retroactive application of the employes' pension law; a more equitable division of work; the granting of one day off in seven of all employes; distinct employment by the month instead of the day.

IN THE SHADOW OF THE GALLOWS

Special to the Review.

London, Eng., Oct. 12.—The Grand Jury, sitting in Old Baily court, today returned an indictment, charging Dr. H. H. Crippen with murder in the first degree for the death of his wife, Belle Elmore, the music hall singer.

Miss Clare Leneve, Crippen's companion in his flight to Canada, was indicted on the charge of being an accessory after the fact of the murder, in that she had guilty knowledge that a crime had been committed.

Under the indictment Crippen, if convicted, may be hanged, but Miss Leneve's severest punishment would be a prison term. The young woman thus escapes any possibility of a death sentence.

WIRELESS FLASHES

Walking Round the World.

Chatham, Oct. 12.—Henry Stewart of San Diego, Cal., arrived in the city yesterday on his way from San Diego, on a walk around the world, and will visit Palestine, China and Japan. He expects to get back home in time for the Panama-California Exposition in 1915. He left yesterday afternoon on a weary tramp through Ontario and Quebec. He will take the steamer at Quebec. He left San Diego on Feb. 14 of the present year.

Adept Commission Government.

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 12.—The commission form of government was adopted by this city at a special election held yesterday. Of the 22 precincts in the city, 18 voted in favor of the change.

At the municipal election in December the voters will elect five men as a commission to govern the city, and on the first Monday in January this commission will supercede the present mayor, board of aldermen and city council.

A Love Tragedy.

Cortland, N.Y., Oct. 12.—R. L. Loomis of New York, followed Miss L. E. Dodge of this place after she had refused to marry him, and finding her yesterday at the home of J. K. Stevens, shot her twice and then put a bullet through his head. It is thought that both will die.

Aviator's Motor Exploded.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 12.—While 500 feet in the air, the motor of the aeroplane used by Aviator Parmelee at the state fair, exploded yesterday. The aviator succeeded in bringing the machine safely to the ground, although he was burned somewhat.

Too Many Peaches.

London, Oct. 12.—The Canadian Associated Press have been officially informed by the secretary of the High Commissioner that the cause for the fall price of two to three shillings per box on Canadian peaches was due to over supply, in addition to some picked too green.

Bank Manager Killed by Auto.

Sarnia, Oct. 12.—George H. Griffin, manager of the Bank of Montreal at Sarnia, died at 11 o'clock Monday night from the effects of being struck by an automobile on the evening of Oct. 3.

Washed Overboard.

Lewes, Delaware, Oct. 12.—The British schooner Inga, from Philadelphia for Sydney, C.B., with a cargo of magnesite ore, returned here yesterday leaking badly as the result of encountering a severe northwest gale. The schooner shipped heavy seas, and one of them carried Clive Stephens, aged 18 years, of St. Martins, West Indies, overboard.

Will Have No Detectives.

Winnipeg, Oct. 12.—The City Council took some retrograde steps Monday night, reversing their former decision to establish a salvage corps, and cutting off all appropriations to the police department for a staff of plain clothes officers, in which is regarded as the segregated area.

Will Soon Be Housed.

St. John, N.B., Oct. 12.—Treasurer McKenzie, of the Campbellton relief fund, states that they hope to have all the people housed very soon.

Good Word For Grand Jury.

Chatham, Oct. 12.—His Lordship Justice Middleton, who is presiding over the fall assizes in this city, in his address to the grand jury, stated that he was a firm believer in the usefulness of the grand jury as an intermediate body standing between the accused and the court of law. He had no sympathy with those who would abolish the grand jury.

License Chinese Laundries.

Windsor, Oct. 12.—The proposal to place Chinese laundries under a license system was adopted by Windsor City Council. The fee that will be imposed is from $5 to $20, according to the number of men employed, and the council reserves the right to refuse licenses unless satisfactory conditions are maintained at the laundries.

Merely Swelled Head.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Merely because a man has a badly "swelled" head is no excuse for sending him to the lunatic asylum; all inventors have "exaggerated ego," but are not necessarily insane. Such, in effect, was the verdict passed upon the mental condition of John W. Currell, an inventor of aerial torpedoes, whom alienists declared had that peculiar brand of lunacy called "exaggerated [illegible]

THINKS BRIDEGROOM WAS SANDBAGGED

Guelph, Oct. 12.—That George Edgar Clarke, who disappeared from the Iroquois Hotel, Toronto, on the eve of his marriage to a Guelph young lady, and who was found Monday at Bradford, was sandbagged and robbed of $100, is the opinion of his mother, Mrs. W. R. Clarke, 127 Perth street.

When seen yesterday morning, Mrs. Clarke said that her son had not recovered his senses fully as yet, and so far as the time which elapsed between his leaving the hotel and his recovery at Bradford is concerned, his memory is a blank. There are no superficial wounds, that could be found in medical examination, and it may be merely a case of forgotten identity.

What makes the sandbagging theory stronger, however, is the fact that Clarke left the Hotel Iroquois with $100 in his possession, and when found by his cousin, Mr. Holtby, at Bradford, no trace of the money was found. Clarke was found by Mr. Holtby in his barn two miles out of Bradford, and to him he said he had met with foul play, how he did not know. Holtby telephoned to his father in this city, who brought him back Monday.

The Toronto police are investigating the story, but find it difficult to trace the matter, as Clarke cannot tell anything which occurred after he left the hotel. He does not know which direction in the city he took, so that the scene of the accident or foul play, whichever it might be, cannot be located.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

C. V. Parker, sheriff of the County of Bruce, died at Walkerton from pneumonia. He was 66 years of age.

The annual report of the Department of Indian Affairs shows a great improvement in the condition of the redmen.

Donald Morrison, K.C., has been nominated as British expert commissioner in connection with the fisheries arbitration.

Mr. Hays' request for permission to import Asiatic labor to work on the Grand Trunk Pacific was refused by the British Columbia Government.

By orders issued at the U. S. Navy Department Commander Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the north pole, will be advanced to the rank of captain.

The Spanish Government has received confirmation of the report that King Manuel will shortly proceed to England, where he will take up his permanent residence.

The first trainload of wheat over the G.T.P. arrived at Fort William yesterday, and is being unloaded at the G.T.P. elevator. There were 36 cars on the trip, which was without event.

REDUCED TO MANSLAUGHTER

Chatham, Oct. 12.—The charge of murder preferred against Frank Jackson for the killing of Jacob Enos was reduced to manslaughter at the fall assizes here yesterday. Jackson pleaded guilty to this charge as read, on the advice of his counsel, O. L. Lewis, K.C. The case, therefore, never went to the jury, and his honor Justice Middleton sentenced Jackson to one year in the common jail. The judge said he would have been moved to discharge Jackson on the evidence taken by the magistrate, had it not been for the circumstance that he was carrying a loaded revolver previous to the killing.

Admitted Forgery.

Montreal, Oct. 12.—Mme. Lajeunesse, accused of forging the name of Hon. S. N. Parent to checks for $230 and $900, admitted the forgery yesterday, and added that she had, with the aid of her husband a man named Samuel Parent, fraudulently obtained no less a sum than $5,000 within four years. Checks had been forged for different amounts and cashed at different places. The gang got caught, however, when they got rid of a check for $230 upon a Mrs. St. Jacques.

PROSPERITY HIS RUIN

Cobalt, Oct. 12.—A veteran of the Spanish-American war, Charles Crawford, was Monday night sentenced to two years in Kingston penitentiary. Crawford forged two checks on Willard Pooler of the Colonial cafe, where he had worked for some time. Till a year ago, when he received a legacy of $2,000. Crawford was a steady workman, but could not stand prosperity.

Roosevelt Up In the Air.

St. Louis, Oct. 12.—Theodore Roosevelt went up with Aviator Hoxsey yesterday afternoon in an aeroplane, and made three laps of the field. He was in the air three minutes and twenty seconds, and landed easily.

Mr. Roosevelt, after alighting, said it was the finest experience he ever had, and that he would like to stay up an hour if he had the time.

VICTIMS OF FOREST FIRES ARE ALL IN GOOD SHAPE

Number of Victims Are Placed at 125.

Supply of Tents is Ample and Sufferers' Immediate Needs Are Secure.

Rainy River, Oct. 12.—With the promised liberal supply of tents for temporary shelter, by the Minnesota militia department, the immediate needs of fire refugees here are satisfied. There is an ample supply of provisions on hand, which, with the relief supplies en route, will feed all existing and prospective refugees for three or four weeks.

"We are not in need of provisions," said J. U. Williams, mayor of Beaudette, and chairman of the general relief committee. "We need tents, and they have been promised by the state militia. The people of the Northwest of Canada have been generous, and seem anxious to help us; further, cash donations amount to nearly $3,000, and more are promised.

Mayor Williams was proprietor of a drug store which carried $12,000 stock. He informed your correspondent that to-day he is just worth the suit of clothes he is wearing. He appreciates fully the extent of the disaster which befell him, and his city, but he is working constantly to relieve his people, many of whom are more unfortunate than himself.

The known dead in this vicinity are 36. The list includes Mr. and Mrs. Goffin and three children; Julius and Mrs. Broutin and seven children; Mr. and Mrs. Roulien and eight children; Hans Jorgensen, Detroit, Minn., and fate little doubted of Kate Jasmer, servant of Hon. Albert Beggs in Spooner; Sarah Larsen, aged 10, found in Spooner school yard; Mathieu Berg, wife and five children; Alex. Watts, nephew of Judge Watts of Crookston, and Mark Varman.

Some Towns Still Threatened.

Warroad, Minn., Oct. 12.—The wind increased yesterday, but blowing over the lake and driving the fire back off the burned area. There is no danger here, but Roosevelt is in a rather dangerous position. Zipple, on the Lake of the Woods, was in hard straits, and many families are destitute.

Clear River is burned. The roads are all blocked, and it is impossible to get details. There is a bad fire at Cedar Bend. Salol was saved, but many persons are destitute.

Nine bodies were taken out of the woods at Cedar Spur. Beaudette, although mostly burned, yesterday was declared under martial law. Captain Ott of Bemidji is in charge with a company of National Guardsmen. The remnant of Beaudette is in a panic. Several hundred refugees are cared for in tents, and the remaining houses of Beaudette and Spooner. A car load of clothing and provisions reached Beaudette yesterday, and more supplies are on the way.

An Estimate of the Victims.

Beaudette, Minn., Oct. 12.—No one doubts that the number of victims of recent forest fires will be at least 125, and the secretary of the relief committee stated last night that the number of known dead was 74. Among the victims were the Roblin family, consisting of ten, father, mother, and eight children. The bodies, which were found huddled together, were fearfully burned. Death in each case must have followed almost instantly after the cyclone of flames overwhelmed the victims.

2,500 Square Miles Burned.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Forester Graves yesterday received this telegram from Supervisor Marshall of the forest service at Cass Lake, concerning the forest fire situation in Minnesota:

"Reports to-day give one thousand burned and missing. The area burned is estimated to be 2,500 square miles. Fires still burning. Situation in this forest well in hand."

BISHOP RESUMES HIS ATTACK

Montreal, Oct. 12.—His lordship Mgr. Archambault of Joliette says he was not properly understood when he made some statements a few weeks ago on Freemasonry and for this reason he will take occasion in the near future to refer again to that organization. His lordship returns again to the charge, because he learns with the greatest sorrow that there are Freemasons in his own diocese of Joliette, and he has documentary evidence to prove it.

His lordship will divide his address into three parts: (1) Teachings and doctrine of Freemasonry; (2) The real object of Freemasonry; (3) Mode of operating. Organization, public or occult. The means of action, open or hidden, of Freemasonry.

Bishop Archambault will contend that Freemasonry neither admits the idea of religion or of God, and his lordship says he is able to prove it. By documents in the hands of the Bishop of Joliette, Masons deny the Trinity, the incarnation, the redemption and the fall of man. It is not necessary to believe in the sacraments of the church, neither in her dogmas. It is further stated that the object of Mgr. Archambault's lecture is to make it quite impossible for a French-Canadian to belong to any form of Freemasonry.

Flour Mills Burned.

Brampton, Oct. 12.—About 11 o'clock Monday night fire broke out in the flour mils of Messrs. H. Bracken & Son of Boston Mills. Although every effort was made to save the mills they were totally destroyed, together with the contents. Mr. Bracken had operated the mills for the past twenty-five years.

SENSIBLE

Buchan—Entered into rest, on Friday evening, Oct. 7th, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Buchan, 400 Woolwich street, Guelph, Ettie, youngest daughter of the late J. H. Buchan, aged 24 years. Funeral strictly private. No flowers.—Guelph Herald.

Mrs. Buchan displays much good sense.

Funerals are times when people crowd in to see the house. Very often they had no special use for the corpse when it walked and talked, but they have a morbid desire to see just what it looked like when in the coffin. They also want to see how the relatives took it. So they crowd in and gape. Then they go out and gossip. What right have the public to butt in in the hour of death—the supreme tragedy.

A RECORD

Boston, Oct. 10.—A record which, it is believed, has not been surpassed since Old Testament days, is claimed by Joseph A. Sears, of No. 19 Hillside avenue, East Dedham, Mass.

He is 57 years of age and has 34 children, including four sets of twins; 12 of them are alive now and several have homes and children of their own.

He has been married twice. He had 18 children by the first Mrs. Sears, and the second wife brought him 16.

He is a Canadian carpenter, and has been a native of this state about 12 years. He was married when 17 years of age.

We always take pride in our Canadians, as they go across the line. James J. Hill, builder of railroads, born in Eramosa, nine miles east of Guelph; Dr. Neil McPhatter, president of the Canadian Club, in New York. Bully for you. But, say, when it comes to keeping one's end up, who can equal Joseph A. Sears, Canadian, the father of 34 children! Why in the world didn't you buckle up in Canada!

IN LAURIER'S CORNER

The Lauriertes have got a new champion just out from England to talk Free Trade, fight British Tariff Reform from Canadian platforms, and favor Canadian Reciprocity with the United States.

This is surely a man after Sir Wilfrid Laurier's own heart, and the more we look into this new champion's record, the more does he resemble Sir Wilfrid in his colossal temerity and inconsistency.

This new champion's name is Sir Alfred Mond, and he has a record which, when compared with his present campaign and his Free Trade speeches, will be found highly interesting.

To begin with Sir Aldred Mond is the gentleman who recently made himself conspicuous by taking to task Sir James Whitney, Premier of Ontario, for going to England and daring to talk there against Free Trade, and in favor of Tariff Reform and British Empire Reciprocity.

And then Sir Alfred comes to Protectionist Canada to talk Free Trade, to assail and misrepresent—grossly misrepresent—the policy of British Tariff Reform and Empire Preference and to advocate a Reciprocity Treaty between Canada and the United States.

This of itself is sufficient to show that Sir Alfred is not wise particular about the unseemly and inconsistent; but it is only a trifle compared to the fact that this travelling champion of Free Trade, this knight-errant carrying on a crusade against British Empire Reciprocity, is engaged in a business which enjoys a high measure of protection from competition and flourishes on monopoly profits.

It is an open secret that this Sir Alfred is a beneficiary of one of the greatest monopolies in the world. The facts came out during a recent controversy.

An international combination regulates the production and sale of nickel and nickel and salts, and as a result Sir Alfred's English nickel trust is to charge 15 per cent. more for nickel salts in Free Trade England than they bring in Protectionist America.

A hard and fast trade understanding prevents the United States manufacturers from invading the British market. Sir Alfred Mond and his associates enjoy the Protection which he would deny to his fellow citizens.

Once more! Sir Alfred Mond is the beneficiary of the Sudbury mining region. He and his allies in the United States derive their raw material from that district.

The matte is taken to the United States, refined and sold back to Canadians at a price of 15 or 20 per cent. higher than the figures which competing American manufacturers have to pay.

Though Canada has almost a monopoly of the world's nickel ore deposits, the refined product costs more here than it does in the countries to which the ore is exported.

THE UNION JACK

Besieged in their monastry by an infuriated mob, and in danger in danger of their lives, the Jesuites of Lisbon hoisted a flag; the mob at sight of it withdrew, and the inmates of the monastery were saved. It was the Union Jack—the flag that was not deemed an appropriate decoration for the Montreal city hall during the Eucharistic congress.—Hamilton Herald.

"You may take the wings of the morning,
And flee round the world till you're dead,
But you can't get away from the tone
that they play,
And the blooming old flag over head."

"Yes, when we went ahead we saw principally the Union Jack." It was an American sailor confessing to a friend. He was here on a holiday. Boys we're British and we're proud of it. We're not king worshippers, but there's a something that stirs us when we see the old flag stirs us, yes dam it, and we forget the lords and nobles and their gout and richness and foolishness, our religious differences—and we'll fight at the drop of the hat.

DIVORCE

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 10.—Because her husband would not let her put her cold feet in the middle of his back to enable her to get to sleep, the court granted Mrs. Margaret Owens a divorce from Robert Owens.

Mrs. Owens said her husband had become so touchy he would almost crawl out of bed every time she touched him with her cold feet, and he had not kissed her in three years. Judge Lairy held that this was cruelty.

Owens put up the defence that three years ago, after a quarrel, his wife informed him that thereafter they "would live together only as hired girl and boarder." Being a married man, he said, he had had scruples about kissing the "hired girl."

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Because, as he said, his wife, Christina, ate six pounds of beef and fifteen pounds of vegetables daily, Alex. Sanderson, a Norwegian, asked Superior Court Judge Tallmen for a divorce.

The lady with the conquering appetite is 42 years old, six feet high and weighs 350 pounds. When she sits down to the table she fills her husband with gloom, and he says it costs him more to feed her than his employer earns across with. Sanderson himself only weighs 124 pounds. He is a bricklayer by trade and earns about $100 a month, but his meat bill is $75 a month.

These two despatches will cause a laugh when read. But this is a grave problem that will some day wreck our friends to the south. Divorce for cold feet! Divorce because of his wife's appetite! Sure, divorce for anything, but, gentlemen of the jury—and the jury is the world—is old England right in her divorce laws, and is Canada, or is Uncle Sam!

AN EPOCH

Hon. Adam Beck will die. Certainly he will. But Niagara will go rolling on forever. Yesterday was a day that will signal an epoch in Canadian history—the lighting of Ontario homes, the turning of Ontario's wheels by electricity generated at Niagara Falls at low rate. Men will come, men will go, but with the dull roar of Niagara with its spray, will rise a monument to Sir James Whitney and the Conservative Government of Ontario.

JUST FOR TO-DAY

"Be not therefore anxious for the morrow"—St. Matt. vi., 34

Lord, for to-morrow and its needs
I do not pray;
Keep me, my God, from stain and sin,
Just for to-day.

Let me both diligently work
And duly pray;
Let me be kind in word and deed,
Just for to-day.

Let me be slow to do my will,
Prompt to obey;
Help me to sacrifice myself,
Just for to-day.

Let me no wrong or idle word
Unthinkingly say;
Set Thou a seal upon my lips,
Just for to-day.

Let me in season, Lord, be grave
In season gay;
Let me be faithful to Thy grace,
Just for to-day.

Lord, for to-morrow and its needs
I do not pray;
But keep me, guide me, love me, Lord,
Just for to-day. Amen.
—ANON, 1880.

Whiskey Detective Huckle said he wrote the above hymn in London, England. Huck was sent to Kingston for blackmail. He was found guilty in Hamilton. While in Hamilton he was a member of Rev. W. O. Riddiford's church. Rev. Mr. Riddiford says that Huckle told him that he wrote "Just for To-day" long before there was any stain attached to his name. Knowing of Newton, the blasphemous; knowing of Burns, the drunkard; Poe and the Raven; Poe found drunk, unconscious on the street, to afterwards die without a rally; we are willing to give poor Huckle the benefit of the doubt.

Blame it, if all those who are out of jail should be imprisoned, there wouldn't be enough men left to watch them.

SIDE LIGHTS

SHE'S HOME

The buttons are fast on my trousers,
My old shirts are better than new;
The rents are all closed in my blouses,
And really I've nothing to do.
There isn't a hole in a stocking,
My collars and cuffs are complete.
The keys that I once had for locking
'Gainst servants are now quite effete.
I have left off my worry and caring
I have no occasion to row;
With eating or sleeping or wearing,
For my wife looks after me now.

DUNNVILLE

Editor Hastings in Gazette.

So far, then, the experience of Dunnville in the matter of assisting industries has not been disastrous, as the Review rashly asserts. As to the merits or demerits of the bonus system, that is another question. If it were made absolutely illegal to vote bonuses, loans, fixed assessments, or any other inducements whatever, Dunnville would be quite content to take its chances with the other municipalities of Ontario. In the meantime it is not a candidate for the sympathy the Review man tenders it.

HAVE YOU EVER NOTICED

Charles F. Raymond.

Have you ever noticed water running up a hill?
Have you ever seen success without determined will?
Have you ever seen the rose that didn't wear a thorn?
Have you ever seen the night refuse to yield to morn?
Have you ever seen a road that never had an end?
Have you ever seen a friendly man who didn't have a friend?
Have you ever noticed, when everything went wrong,
Have you ever noticed it was followed by a song?
Have you ever noticed that the rich are sometimes sad?
Have you ever noticed that the poor
are often glad?
Have you ever noticed that Nature
loves us all?
Have you ever noticed how She cares for great and small?
Have you ever noticed a little bird
to worry?
Have you ever noticed Nature in a hurry?
Have you ever felt that in this world
you played no needed part?
That you were but a tiny speck on its wide, heaving mart,
Then kneel alone and study well the grass, the blade of green,
And cease to mourn as a child would cry, for the days that might have been.
The blade may never be a tree,
Yet, see,
It grows contentedly.

The Real Bargains Go to Those Who Read the Ads

Ninety-nine per cent. of the real bargains in the stores go to those who read the store advertisements.

The other one per cent. go to those who casually drop on the bargains in the rush of shopping.

If you can't afford to be one of the "one-chance-in a hundred" people, read the store ads. and learn of the bargains straightway.

And as 99 per cent. of the bargain getters are ad. readers, so 99 per cent. of the real bargain givers are advertisers. When you read all the advertised bargains, you know about all the bargains in town that are really worth while.

A Gentleman From Mississippi

By THOMAS A. WISE

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THOMAS A. WISE

"Hear! Hear!" he shouted. "All you earnest citizens come vote for Reformer Haines. I'm for you, Bud. What do I get in your cabinet? I've joined the reformers, too, and, like all of them, me for P-U-R-I-T-Y as long as she gives me a meal ticket."

But not even Cullen could make Haines consider his views on the necessity of political regeneration to be ridiculous. His optimism could not be snuffed out, for he was a genuine believer that the natural tendency of humankind was to do right. Wrong he believed to be the outcome of unnatural causes. This quality, combined with his practical knowledge of the world and his courage, made him a formidable man, one who would one day accomplish big things—if he got the chance.

"You know you can't shut me up, Dick," was his response to Cullen's oratorical flight. "I'm going to have my say. I don't see why a senator shouldn't be honest. All I want them to do is to play a new game. Let 'em at least seem to be honest, attend to their business, forget politics. The country sends them here to work, and if they do the work the people really don't care a hang what party they belong to."

"Come out of it, Bud. Your brain is wabbly," yawned Cullen wearily. "I'll buy a drink if you'll quiet down. Let's be comfortable till this fellow Langdon appears." He caught his friend by the arm and in spite of protest dragged him off to the cafe, just as young Langdon and Congressman Norton came down through the lobby.

Though but few years older than Randolph Langdon, Charles Norton had long exercised strong influence over him because of his wider experience in the world's affairs. Like his father, young Langdon had stayed close to the plantation most of his life, particularly after leaving school, devoting his attention to studying the business of conducting the family's big estate. Norton brought him the atmosphere of the big outside world he yearned to see even as did his sister Carolina, and he imitated Norton's manners, his dress and mode of speech. The congressman's habit of confiding in Randolph, a subtle compliment, was deeply appreciated by the lad, who unconsciously became a continual advertiser of Norton's many virtues to Carolina and to his father, all of which the congressman knew.

That Norton's political career was the outcome of Carolina Langdon's ambition to shine in gay society was known to his friends as well as his family, and his desire to win her and place her where she could satisfy every whim had developed almost to a frenzy. Seeing evidences of Senator Stevens' vast influence, he did not hesitate to seek a close relationship with him, and the senator was clever enough to lead Norton to consider him his friend.

At the start of his political career Norton had higher ideas of honor than guided his actions now that he had become a part of the political machine that controlled his native state of Mississippi and of the bipartisan combination that dominated both houses of congress in the interest of the great railway and industrial corporations. Senator Stevens and other powers had so distorted Norton's view of the difference between public and private interests and their respective rights that he had come to believe capital to be the sacred heritage of the nation which must be protected at any cost. The acceptance of a retainer from the C. St. and P. Railroad company for wholly unnecessary services in Washington—only another way of buying a man—a transaction arranged by Senator Stevens, was but another stage in the disintegration of the young congressman's character, but it brought him just that much closer to the point where he could claim Carolina Langdon as his own. And opportunity does not knock twice at a man's door—unless he is at the head of the machine.

Norton, the persevering young law student who loved the girl who had been his boyhood playmate, was now Norton who coveted her father's lands, who boasted that he was on the "inside" in Washington, who was on the way to fortune—if the new senator from Mississippi would or could be forced to stand in favor of the Altacoola naval base.

His conversation with Randolph Langdon as Haines and Cullen saw them pass through the hotel lobby illustrated the nature of the Norton of the present and his interest in the Altacoola scheme.

"There's no reason why you shouldn't come in on the ground floor in this proposition, Randolph," he was urging in continuance of the conversation begun over a table in the cafe. "No reason why you shouldn't do it, my boy. Why, are you still a child, or are you really a man? You have now drafts for $50,000, haven't you?"

"Yeah," agreed Langdon, chagrined at Norton's insinuation of youthfulness and anxious to prove that he was really a man of affairs, "I've got the fifty thousand, Charlie, but—but, you see, that's the money for improvements on the plantation. As father has put me in as manager I want to make a showing."

"You can't make it until spring," urged Norton. "The money's got to lie in the bank all winter. Now, why don't you make a hundred thousand with it instead of letting it lie idle? Isn't that simple?"

The younger man's eyes opened wide, and his imagination, stimulated by the special brand of Bourbon whisky Norton had ordered for him, took rapid bounds.

"One hundred thousand! You mean I could make a hundred thousand with my fifty between now and spring?"

"Sure as a nigger likes gin," replied Norton confidently.

"How?" asked Langdon.

The young congressman leaned over confidentially.

"This is under your hat, Randolph. You can keep quiet?"

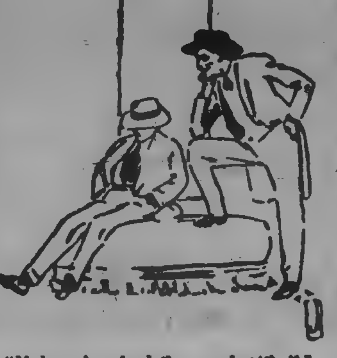
Langdon nodded eagerly.

"Then put it into Altacoola land."

"The naval base?" gasped Langdon.

Norton nodded.

"Now you've hit it. The government will select Altacoola for a naval base. Then land will jump way up to never and you'll clean up a hundred thousand at the least. Isn't it simple? There are a thousand people with money who would just love to have this chance. And I'm giving it to you because of our friendship. I want to do you a good turn. I've got my money in there."



"Make a hundred thousand with it."

Young Langdon was visibly impressed.

"You've always treated me right, Charlie; you've been for me, I know. But suppose the government doesn't select Altacoola. Gulf City's in the running."

Norton laughed sarcastically.

"Gulf City is a big bunch of mud flats. Besides, I'll tell you something else. Just between us, remember." He waited for the boy's eager nod before he went on. "The big men are behind Altacoola. Standard Steel wants Altacoola, and what Standard Steel wants from congress you can bet your bottom dollar Standard Steel gets. They know their business at No. 10 Broadway. Now, then, are you satisfied?"

Randolph was more than satisfied. Already he felt himself rich, and honestly rich, too, for Norton had convinced him that there was no reason why he should not use the $50,000 of his father's, when it had to lie in the bank anyhow all winter, and he would have it back in time to use on the plantation in the spring when it was needed. How proud of him his father would be when he showed him a clear profit of $100,000!

"I'll go get the drafts at once, Charlie, and I'm mighty much obliged to you," he said, with gratitude in his voice.

Norton's smile was one of deep satisfaction.

"That's all right, Randolph. You know I want to do anything I can for you."

Randolph was starting for his room when Haines and Cullen turned sharply around the corner of the hotel desk. Again Bud and the young southerner accidentally collided.

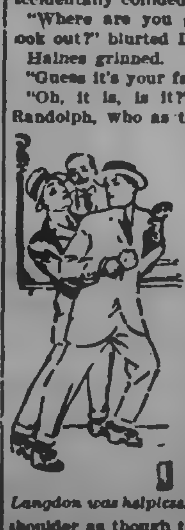
"Where are you going? Can't you look out?" blurted Langdon.

Haines grinned.

"Guess it's your fault this time."

"Oh, it is, is it?" irritably replied Randolph, who as the "young marse" had been accustomed to considerable deference on the plantation. "Well, take that," he angrily cried, aiming a savage swing at Haines.

The reporter's athletic training proved of ready service. Dodging under the clinched fist, he turned dexterously, seized young Langdon's outstretched wrist and bent the arm down over his (Haines') shoulder as though to throw the young attacker with the wrestler's "flying mare." Langdon was helpless, as Haines had also secured his free hand, but instead of completing the "throw" the reporter walked away with his foe held securely on his back—to put him to bed, a kindly service, in view of Randolph's mental state.



Langdon was helpless.

From across the lobby Charles Norton had watched Randolph's discomfiting encounter with Haines with amusement.

"Now that I've got the young fellow to sew up his old man's money in Altacoola land," he chuckled, "reckon Senator William H. Langdon won't see anything wrong with that same noble tract of universe when he comes to vote for the naval base. Senator Stevens will be pleased."

CHAPTER IV.

"JUST THE MAN WE NEED."

As Bud Haines returned from young Langdon's room, where he had left the latter in bed, towel filled with cracked ice around his head, he saw two familiar figures standing in a secluded corner of the lobby. They were talking earnestly in a low voice.

"Whew!" whistled the newspaper man. "It must be something important that brings both the boss of the senate and Stevens of Mississippi here."

"Good afternoon, Haines. How are you?" Senator Stevens said cordially, as, looking up, he saw the newspaper man approaching. "Senator Peabody, you know Haines, don't you? The brightest young correspondent in Washington."

Senator Peabody of Pennsylvania, the leading power in the upper house, was a man of commanding character and of strong personality. The fact he used these attributes to advance in the senate the financial interests of himself, of Standard Steel and other commercial organizations met with very little protest in Washington. That he deserved the title frequently used in referring to him, "boss of the senate," none would deny who had knowledge of the inner workings of the senate and the various committees.

Senator Peabody was very affable to the reporters, especially to those of Haines' stamp, who had never accepted any favors from him and who opposed his methods. He aimed to win the friendship of these opponents by diplomacy—as he had found that reporters of the Haines sort could not be influenced by money. He considered a reporter who would take a bribe as a constructive, conservative member of society and frequently regretted that so many of the correspondents sent to Washington could not be bought nor had bills they wanted passed or defeated. He extended his hand to Haines as Stevens concluded and said warmly:

"Of course I know the representative of the Morning Star! How do you do, Haines?"

"I wonder if we're not all here on the same errand," suggested the newspaper man.

Senator Peabody appeared to be all candor.

"We came to call on Senator Langdon, Senator Stevens' new colleague," he said.

Bud Haines opened his eyes wide. "By Jove, Langdon stock is going up when the chairman of the naval committee drops in to welcome him."

"You see, Langdon went in on a naval base platform," explained Stevens. "Our section of the south is red hot in favor of the government spending its naval base appropriation right there."

"Certainly," interrupted Haines, "but"—

"And, there being a vacancy on the committee on naval affairs," continued Stevens, whose dignity was offended by the reporter's interruption, "the friends of Senator Langdon are working to have him appointed on that committee, because he comes from the state where the naval base will be located and will, like myself, be more familiar with the availability of the various sites suggested than a man from another state."

Haines nodded.

"Yes, of course. What town's going to get it, senator?"

Senator Stevens paused judiciously.

"Well," he said, "Altacoola and Gulf City are the chief candidates. I suppose you had better talk to Langdon about it."

The reporter smiled.

"That's just what I came for, senator, but I have to go up to the war department now. When Senator Langdon comes will you be kind enough to tell him I want to interview him?"

Stevens bowed cordially.

"Indeed I shall. I'll tell him he's in luck to have the smartest young man in Washington on the job."

"All right," laughed Bud, "only don't make it so strong that he won't recognize me when he sees me. Good day." And he hurried away to keep a belated appointment.

"Clever boy," said Stevens as the newspaper man disappeared.

The boss of the senate agreed.

"Yes, only I'm not sure it's a good thing for a newspaper man to be too clever. Spoils his usefulness. Makes him ask too many confounded questions."

Stevens acquiesced, for it would never do to disagree with the boss.

"It's very kind of you, senator," he began, changing the subject, "to come with me to welcome the new senator from my state, my old friend and colleague."

An inscrutable smile—a smile, yet a cold one—accompanied Peabody's answer.

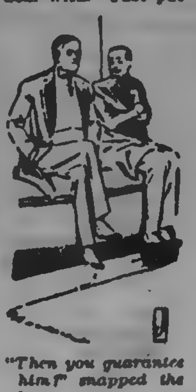
"I have always found, Stevens," he said, "that a little attention like this to a new man is never wasted, and I make it a rule not to overlook opportunities."

Again the senior senator from Mississippi acquiesced, and he laughed heartily at Peabody's keen insight into human nature.

"I think you'll like Langdon," Stevens remarked after a pause, "and you'll find him easy to deal with. Just put up any measure for the benefit of the south and Langdon will go the limit on it. Even a Republican majority doesn't mind a little Democratic support, you know. I think he's just the man you can use in this gulf naval base bill."

"You can swing him?" asked Peabody sharply.

Stevens drew closer to Peabody.



"Then you guarantee him?" snapped the boss.

"I elected him, and he knows it," he chuckled.

The boss nodded.

"And it's likely that a man like Langdon, new to politics—a simple gentleman of the old school, as you describe him—might have considerable influence on opinion throughout the country."

Langdon's colleague grasped the arm of the senatorial dictator.

"He's just the man we want, senator. He's one of those old fellows you just have to believe when he talks. He'll do what I suggest, and he can make the public believe what we think."

To be continued.

The Orangemen of Perth have purchased a building in that town which they will convert into a first-class lodge room.

SPECTACLES SHOULD BE CHANGED

Frequently people will get spectacles which suit them, and go on wearing them for years without having their sight tested to discover whether any change has taken place. This is wrong. All who wear glasses should have their eyes tested at intervals, even if the necessity of such is not apparent to them. As a general rule spectacles for old sight require changing about every 3 years, but it is desirable that the sight should be carefully tested every two years.

Have Eyes Tested at Intervals

Whenever you feel uneasy in your spectacles, don't hesitate to call and see us. We are always glad to help you.

TURNER—NESBITT.

A wedding of much local interest was solemnized at St. Luke's church this morning the contracting parties being Eva Lillian Nesbitt, only daughter of Mr. Henderson Nesbitt, jailer at the Peterborough jail, and Mr. W. F. Turner, youngest son Mr. Mrs. J. J. Turner. The ceremony was performed at 9.30 o'clock by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt. The aisle leading from the chancel steps, where the first part of the ceremony was performed, to the alter, was decorated by salvia and over the place where the bride and groom stood, was hung suspended a wedding bell. On the altar were bouquets of asters.

Miss Sisson officiated at the organ and also played the wedding march.

A large number of invited guests and friends were present.

Mr. Turner, sr., father of the groom, had given his employees a half holiday in honor of the occasion.

The bride, who was given away by her father, Mr. Henderson Nesbitt, was attired in a tailored suit of navy blue with hat to match and carried a wreath of chrysanthemums. The groom's gift to the bride was a topaz necklace.

After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of the bride's father where a wedding breakfast was served, Coleman Bros. catering.

—Mr. and Mrs. Turner left on a wedding trip on the 11.28 C.P.R. for Montreal and on their return will reside at 454 Mark Street, Ashburnham.

HAYES—BARNES.

The Edmonton Free Press of Sept. 27, contained the following—At St. Joachin's R.C. Church this morning Miss Bessie Mae Barnes, eldest daughter of Mrs. F. G. Barnes, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Wm. Berton Hayes, of this city, formerly of Peterborough.

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of old gold and silk with a handsome hat to match. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Gladys Lynch, who was similarly gowned. The groom was supported by Mr. W. R. Coughlin.

After the ceremony the young couple drove to the home of the bride's mother, where a sumptuous dejeuner was partaken of. After hearty congratulations, they left to spend their honeymoon with friends in Calgary and Banff. On their return they will be at home to their friends at 653 Fifth street.

The bride received many handsome gifts, testifying the high esteem in which they were held by their numerous friends. The groom's gift to the bride was a set of pearl ear-rings and a gold brooch set with pearls; to the bridesmaid a pearl ring, and to the groomsman a pair of gold cuff links.

DIED

LILLICRAP—At Lakefield, Ont., on Monday, October 10, Mrs. Jane Lillicrap, widow of the late capt. J. H. A. Lillicrap, in her 86th year.

THE WINTER TIME IS CURTAIN TIME

The time when you enjoy the long evenings in your home—the time when every little thing about the house makes or mars the cheerfulness of the family and makes the long, cold cheerless winter fly more quickly. The Curtains are among the main decorations of the home. Some cold winter's night, for instance, take the curtains from the windows and note the disheartening effect which results. Beautiful, homey curtains decorating a window adds more to the home than one would think, both from the inside and outside. Think this over.

Now is the time to secure your needs in this line. We are commencing the season with a tremendous sale of curtains, not old, shop worn goods, but our fresh, new lines just opened up, and for three days only. After Saturday the original prices will prevail. Don't ask for cut prices after this week. Three days only, and only three days. Note the following:

ALL DOLLAR NOTTINGHAM CURTAINS 79c

These are well finished curtains, colbert edges, first quality at this price, size 2½, 3 and 3½ yards long, and up to 48 inches wide, twelve good patterns, strong mesh, all our dollar curtains for.................. 79c pair

ALL OUR $1.25 NOTTINGHAM CURTAINS 98c

Plain, fancy and point de esprit Nottingham net, in eleven select patterns to choose from, white only, size 48 to 54 inches wide, 3 and 3½ yards long. This is the popular low priced curtain and our showing this season is better than ever. All $1.25 Lace Curtains 98c

SEE WINDOW.

THE $1.50 KINDS FOR THREE DAYS $1:19

All brand new goods, mostly just opened up and put in stock. There are 9 patterns in cable net, fancy net and Nottingham weaves, finished with colbert edges and "hang easy" tops. There are also a few cable net curtains in this lot to be sold at same price, size 48 to 60 inches wide, and 3 and 3½ yards long, in white and ecru. $1.50 regular. 3 day price.................. $1.19

$4.50 and $5 SWISS NET CURTAINS $3.50

A few patterns in Swiss Embroidery Curtains, in plain, spray and shadow effects, a very dainty parlor curtain, 3 yards long, usual width. Three days price...................... $3.59

$4.25 NOTTINGHAM CURTAINS FOR $3.49

A popular high grade Curtain, not too expensive, yet distinctive designs, 8 new patterns in two tone ecru, also plain whites, a most beautiful line of Curtains, 3 yards to 3½ yards long, and medium widths, well finished. Three days sale price $3.49

$3.50 FANCY NET CURTAINS $2.79

Two patterns only of fish net curtains, in cream and the new fashionable Egyptian shade, a nice draping curtain, well finished edges and top, exclusive designs, 3 yards long and the usual width, double bordered, all $3.50 values. Three days price......... $2.79

THE NEW SCRIM CURTAIN

This curtain is the latest curtain novelty shown this year. It is a scrim centred curtain with wide border, composed of heavy Egyptian lace insertion and beading, 54 inches wide and 3 yards long. This curtain is made in Canada and promises to make a hit this season. Regular $6.00 value. Three days price $4.79

$6.00 BRUSSELS NET CURTAINS $4.23

Irish point and Swiss shadow embroidery, on fine brussels net, 3 patterns only, in white, all high class goods, exclusive in design, 3 yards long and 50 inches wide. Regularly selling at $6. Three days price............................ $4.23

$3.00 CURTAINS (Exclusive) FOR $2.45

We have not a great deal of demand for a $3.00 Curtain, as it is an odd or medium price and is too near the popular $2.25 curtain. However, there are 5 or 6 designs in this lot, including fancy or plain Nottingham nets, in cream and ecru, usual widths and usual lengths. Our $3 value for....................... $2.45

OUR $10 HIGH GRADE NET CURTAINS $6.98

Or two pair for $13. These curtains cannot be duplicated anywhere either in pattern or quality, for less than $10. They come 3½ yards long and are 50 inches wide. Only a few patterns, in white. High grade $10 Curtains. Three Days price $6.98

OUR BIG SPECIAL—$2.25 CURTAINS $1.79

This priced curtain is the big seller because it is within reach of all. We show it in at least 16 different and distinct patterns including, fillet net, Nottingham weaves and new novelty nets, in white, cream and ecru, neatly finished curtains, in sizes 3 to 3½ yards long by 48 to 54 inches wide, (mostly the popular 3 yard length.) Come and see this big special and note the window display. All $2.25 Curtains, price pair... $1.79

LIFE'S CONTROLLER

Masterful and Appealing Discourse by Dr. Sam Luttrell—Able Evangelist is Still a Magnet for Large Audiences at Park Street.

Still they come, men and women of all classes, to hear this man who, according to the Toronto papers, is "A modern miracle of grace."

It is truly wonderful this power that can lift a man from the horrid depths a rumism, destroy the appetite and remake the man.

Dr. Sam Luttrell has been rescued from a horrible pit, and he is not ashamed to confess it to the world. He has found a safe and sure life controller in Jesus Christ.

He will tell his life story and rescue from a drunkard's grave next Tuesday evening, the 18th, in the Park street Baptist church. A freewill offering will be taken.

Last night the foundation of the doctor's remarks, was II. Timothy 1, 7. "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear, but of power, and of love, and of a sane mind.

The power of the Holy Spirit to overcome temptation. The love of God for other men. The sweet reasonableness of Jesus to solve life's perplexing problems.

Timidity is the devil. Fear belongs to hell. The moral coward is the worst kind of a coward. The devil's chief gift to his followers is one of fear. Any clown can serve the devil, it takes a man with a man's courage to serve God. "We have to fight the fight of faith." We must lay hold of eternal life.

You can slide down to perdition, You have to climb to glory. Fear, what an awful curse it is.

I would shake that young man, and shake him quick, if I was a young woman, who was a Christian, and didn't have spunk enough to acknowledge it.

And if I was a young man and my sweetheart smiled and jeered at me when I testified for Christ, I would shake her.

Yes, God takes away the man-fearing spirit and gives us power and love and a sound mind.

I have sat on several sanity boards and I have yet to find a real converted man or woman a fit subject for an asylum.

God always makes a man in whose hands a woman is safe.

If the captains of industry would speak out their minds, they would confess that the best and most reliable men and women they have in their employ were Christian men and women.

God gives a sound mind, not a mind unhinged by drink or drugs. But a mind as pure as the crystal dew drop that hangs in all its God-given purity, upon the blade of summer years. Sin makes things rotten. God makes all things sound. A number came out last night. Meeting to-night at 8 p. m. Everybody made welcome.

The Record

Isn't it wonderful how every incident that takes place upon earth is recorded upon nature.

They say that it takes our light about eight minutes to reach the sun, and the sun is now looking at what we did eight minutes ago.

It takes about a million years for our light to reach the more distant stars and out upon the ether with the light goes the impress of every incident that takes place here.

So out upon the ether is rushing at great speed the whole record of our world since creation.

We are making a record this season. We have greatly extended our mantle department.

We have the long, stylish mantles of the season from $5 to $30. But it is to the $15, $18 and $20 mantles we want to draw your attention. They are beautiful wraps and you can wear them with pride to any function.

Never before have we shown so many of the new up-to-date fashionable waists in the Paisley, clinging chiffon lace, and the Battenburg lace. Let us show them to you.

We have so many it would be impossible to list them, you will be pleased to see so much of fashion and quality so moderately priced.

In dress-skirts we handle the most desired range of styles in Canada. Our factory turns out the most stylish garments in the trade at $3.75, $5.00 and up.

WHO'S COMING AND GOING

Mr. White, of Orillia, is at the White House.

Mr. Fred. Reese of Medicine Hat, Alta, is in the city.

Mr. Thomas Fitzpatrick, of Toronto, is in the city to-day.

Mr. Percy Hethering and Miss Fry were in Millbrook on Monday.

All Saints' Annual Dinner will be held on October 24. Further announcements will appear later.

The many friends of Mr. Wm. Logan, 221 Brock street, will regret to hear of his serious illness.

Mr. P. T. Gilbert has returned to the city after six months in Kindersley, Sask., where he took up land.

Mr. George Perks, late of North Bay, has accepted a position on the Trent Valley Canal at Campbellford.

Mrs. (Dr.) E. V. Frederick George street, will receive on the second Thursday of each month during the fall and winter months.

Mrs. W. A. Graham and Miss Annie Finney have returned home from Calgary, and Banff, where they have been visiting friends.

Mrs. R. A. McKee (nee Miss Ethel Sawyer), will receive for the first since her marriage on Friday afternoon and evening, Oct. 14th, at her home, 197 Dublin street.

Mrs. John Mcllmoyle, with her daughter, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. McClure, of Los Angeles, Cal., have been visiting with Mr. Fred W. Scott, Communication road, Smith, during the month past, and left last week to visit friends at Oshawa and London, Ont. Mrs. Mcllmoyle, who came across the continent on this visit, is 86 years of age, but stood the journey very well, and declared it was not so tiresome as when she and Mr. Mcllmoyle and children went west in 1860, travelling all the way from Peterborough to the western part of California in waggons. They spent four months on the journey and had serious encounters with the Indians of the plains in which two of their party were killed and scalped. Her children are well settled in and about Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. Mcllmoyle died during September last and was a half-brother of Mrs. Alex. Scott, of Smith.

WAS LIQUOR SOLD IN LOCAL OPTION NORWOOD?

County Magistrate Edmison will go to Norwood on Monday to hear the evidence in a charge which has been laid against Larry Kilorne, the proprietor of a hotel in that place, by License Inspector Elias Williams.

Norwood is local option, and, it is alleged that liquor was sold at the hotel on a certain date during the latter part of September.

Some time ago a charge against the same man was proven, and he was fined $100 and costs.

Witnesses to the number of twelve will, it is expected, be present to give evidence.

In the event of a second charge being proven, there is no option of a fine, a term of imprisonment being the penalty.

THIS IS A STEP FORWARD

Another step in choral music will mark this season in Peterborough, as one of Mendelssohn's masterpieces is to be presented by St. John's choir in December.

The work "The Ninety-fifth Psalm," better known as the "Venite," will tax the efforts of the local singers, but Mr. R. J. Devey has every confidence that they will accomplish the task.

This will make the fifth work, choral or operatic, presented by Mr Devey during his four years in this city, viz., "Crucifixion," four times; "Mikado," twice; "Daughters of Jairus," "Geisha," and "Ninety-fifth Psalm." The opera "A Greek Slave," will be given in the spring.

The singers in the choirs of the city are asked to assemble in St Paul's church to-night at 7.45, to lead the singing at the evening session of the Missionary Institute. Mr. R. J. Devey will preside at the organ.

DELINE'S HEARING

Will be Held at Havelock To-morrow — Analyist's Report in Crown Attorney's Hands

Hugh Deline, the alleged murderer of his wife at their home in Belmont township, will be taken to Havelock to-morrow, for his preliminary hearing before Magistrate Edmison.

The report of the anaylist at Toronto, on the stained garments, which were forwarded by the prosecution, is in the hands of Crown Attorney R. E. Wood.

The report, however, it is understood will not have any great bearing in the case.

Meanwhile Deline is fairly well in his cell at the county jail.

He shows no inclination to talk and never complains.

He sleeps well and eats heartily, and is improving in his general apperance.

A citizen of North Vancouver has presented to that city ten acres of admirably situated land as a park site.

SPORTING NEWS

PETERBOROUGH BOYS ON WESTERN RUGBY TEAMS

Harry Roddy, who will be remembered here as the southpaw pitcher of the Charlotte street ball team, played for the St. John's rugby team at Winnipeg Saturday against the Rowing Club. He worked the line. Jack Crough is also a member of St. John's fourteen, but did not play, he still being under the care of a doctor, suffering from a broken collar bone, which he received during a game on a previous Saturday.

"Rubbie" Fitzgerald's Port Arthur team defeated Fort William Saturday by a 20—1 score. In a previous game the figures were 42—2 for the Ports.

MADE ALL HIS HITS FAIRLY

Lajorie Claims That He Played on the Level—Should Have Had Nine Hits

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 11.—"Every hit I made in the double-header played in St. Louis on Sunday was on the square," declared Secondbaseman Lajoie, of the Cleveland team to-day.

"I did not speak to a St. Louis player about my batting average, asked no favors from anyone, and worked my head off to make the safe drives collected.

"After my first hit, a clean drive to centre for three bases, the St. Louis players played deep, expecting me to pound the ball out every time. I fooled them the next time by beating out a bunt, and knowing that a bunt would be the unexpected every time up, continued to lay the ball down and beat it out. Not only was every hit I made a clean drive, but the St. Louis scorers cheated em out of one hit in the third inning of the second game. With a man on third I bunted the ball down the left field line. Neither Corriden nor another player could have handled the ball in time to get either of us. Instead of crediting me with a hit, as should have been done, the official scorer have the fielder an error and me a sacrific hit. Instead of eight hits in eight times at bat, I should have had nine safe drives put to my credit in that many trips to bat."

Harrison Will Take Him Up

Aug Otto Raddtz, of New York city, issued a wide open challenge in the Toronto News to all walkers in Canada. Jim Harrison is willing to meet him anywhere, any time, for any amount, under any conditions, and has written to the sporting editor of the News to that effect.

LANDED A LARGE LUNGE

The fishing season is not over yet by any means, as was proven yesterday morning by Mr. Sam. Baker, the Water street tonsorial artist, who hied himself to the Little Lake for the purpose of trying his luck. Sam has a knack of catching the big ones and letting them get away again, but yesterday, just to prove to Mr. Lunge that he could land him when he felt like it, he pulled in a 14 1-4 pounder. Sam is still smiling and says he will get a few more before the snow flies—maybe.

Presentation Plate For Niobe.

Halifax, Oct. 12.—The Nova Scotia Government has purchased a handsome piece of plate for presentation to the cruiser Niobe, on her arrival at this port.

The State of Michigan is asking for $3,000,000 in back taxes from the Grand Trunk Railway.

Why Should I Carry Insurance?

BECAUSE

It is better to have it and not need it, than to need it and not have it.

Insurance Co's are paying out over one million dollars every day of the year to those who have met with misfortune, but who have sufficient foresight to have made provision against such mishaps by insurance.

You cannot find stronger, safer, better or more liberal companies in their settlements than those we represent for fire, life, accident, plate glass, live stock, marine or automobile, or other insurance.

BALLADS OF THE SCOTTISH BORDER

The Subject of Address to be Delivered at Evening Session of Teachers Convention at the Collegiate

The annual convention of the Teachers' Institute for this city opens tomorrow at the Collegiate Institute assembly hall, with a session at 9.30.

A joint meeting of the city and county teachers will be held at the Normal School at 2 o'clock.

In the evening, at eight, at the Collegiate assembly hall, Prof. M. W. Wallace, of Toronto University, will give his address, the subject being "The Ballads of the Scottish Border."

Miss Choate and Mr. Lynch will assist in a short musical programme.

The public are cordially invited to be present.

The convention will be continued on Friday.

THE CAPITAL IS CAPTIVATED

Weedon Grossmith and Company Score Heavily in "Mr. Preedy and the Countess"

The Ottawa papers grow enthusiastic over "Mr. Preedy and the Countess" The Journal says in the course of a long and glowing appreciation of the celebrated London farce:

To those who will regard the matter of a play and its presentation with an open and dispassionate mind, it will always remain obvious that an English comedy is superior to an American comedy. Not only is English comedy superior to American in the matter but also in manner.

"Mr. Preedy and the Countess," is termed a farce on the programme, and in big spots of humor which almost obscure entire acts of the play, it is farcial in the extreme. The scene of the farce is the bachelor apartments of Mr. Hamilton Preedy in London. Mr. Preedy up to the time of the play had apparently been a retiring sort of gentleman with a leaning toward, if not an aspiration to, the state of celibey. But the apostatical play came and Mr. Preedy openly avowed his desire to take unto himself a wife.

Mr. Grossmith as Mr. Preedy reveals the possibilities of humor when a sincere endeavor is made to elevate it above the plane of the vulgar.

Miss Grenville, as the Countess of Rushmere plays a difficult part with remarkale ease and finesse. The rest of the cast are splendidly adapted to their roles, and it should be stated here that seldom has a company visited this city whose cast presented more perfect balance and finished acting.

DIRECT TAXATION

To the Editor of the Globe—Your articles on the tariff question reveal the uneasy head that underlies the Fielding tariff. You appear to be well aware that the country needs something more suited to the developing and diverse energies and needs of a widely scattered people. But in vain have I looked for a word or two in direct taxation. You know, and I know, that in the old days the Liberal party proposed to raise all it needed for great public works by direct taxation, the alter ego of free trade. Your powerful journal turned savagely in the midst of its assaults upon the demon of protection to say to the trembling inquirer that protection was inexcusable even from a revenue point of view. And yet to-day we have protection excused on the ground of the necessities of revenue and public works, and not a word direct taxation. Surely this omission must shake the faith of any reasonable man in the Liberal party's strength or consistency. Is it not so?

WOMEN'S ART ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Women's Art Association, for the election of officers for the year, will be held on Monday evening, Oct. 10th, at the Y. W. C. A. All who wish to join or are interested in the work of the Association are cordially invited to meet with the members on Monday evening.

Evening Classes

The evening classes in mechanical drawing, shop arithmetic, matriculation and electricity, will open this evening at the Y. M. C. A. There will be about twenty young men who will start in these clases to-night; there will be a large number who will start after the classes have started, and a great many more who will wish they had started when it is too late. If you are wise, young man, you will be present to-night and register. Now is the time to decide to use the valuable winter evenings. The expense will be very small and the value of the work inestimable to you.

It is reported that a new C. P. R. station will be built at Carleton Place this year.

THREW LIGHTED MATCH; YOUNG LAD BADLY BURNED

Young Son of Mr. Harry Stenson Painfully Injured While Playing With Other Boys—Timely Assistance by Mr. Tom Collins.

Harry Stenson, a little boy living at 436 Driscoll Terrace, was painfully burned this afternoon while playing with matches, in company with several other little boys. The accident occurred about one o'clock.

It appears that one of the boys threw a lighted match at young Stenson. It lodged inside his blouse and ignited the cloth immediately. The boy screamed loudly, and his cries attracted Mr. Thomas Collins, who smothered the blazes with his coat. The flames, however, had completely burned the front part of the boy's blouse, scorching the flesh on his chest, neck and face. Dr. McPherson was called, and hurriedly arrived at the home of the boy's aunt.

The little fellow did not faint, and bore the excruciating pain bravely. Morphine was administered to deaden the pain.

Comstock's ambulance conveyed the suffering boy to Nicholls Hospital

OBITUARY

PATRICK COSTELLO.

At the House of Providence Patrick Costello, aged 80 years, passed away this morning about 8 o'clock.

He is survived by two brothers, Michael, of Ennismore, and John, of Minnesota.

The funeral will take place Friday morning to St. Martin's church, Ennismore, and thence to St. Martin's cemetery.

Barnum's Band

Barnum's band, a brand new organization of musicians, took part in an interesting event this morning, and Mr. J. J. Turner, sr., had a photograph taken of it.

The band, which was composed of employees of J. J. Turner & Sons was organized to give Mr. Webber Turner and his bride a hearty send-off, and they beat all the past marks for proficiency in this line.

AN INSPIRING APPEAL BY CANON TUCKER FOR THE EVANGELIZATION OF THE WORLD

A stirring address by Rev. Canon Tucker, on behalf of missions was delivered last evening in St. Paul's Presbyterian church. As the immense audience left the building at its conclusion it was plainly evident that the words of the speaker had penetrated deeply the hearts of his hearers. The needs of Japan, of China, of India, of Darkest Africa, as told by Canon Tucker, thrilled all with their enormity. "And yet," said he, "we come across men in the twentieth century who claim to be intelligent, and who say that they do not believe in missions. If there is one command above all others laid upon us by God it is this, 'Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel.'"

DUTY OF THE CHURCH.

This great command cannot be overlooked. Apart from this object, what was the church placed in the world for? A luminary that gives no light is no luminary, and a church that gives no light is, assuredly, no church. No matter how wealthy, fashionable, or great, to uplift humanity is the highest and only motive of the church. It must be a missionary agency. As an act of gratitude we should pass on what we have received from others.

Think of the saints, the martyrs, of an early age; how our forefathers took their lives in their hands to carry the gospel and to further it amongst all people. Are we going to sit in our own church, and in our homes, fold our arms and leave Japan, Africa and China to perish? Never before were we brought into closer contact with the heathen nations of the world, and it is inevitable that either we must Christianize them or they will heathenize us.

MISSIONS ARE MIGHTY.

The man who to-day says that he does not believe in missions may be intelligent in his business, but not in other things. Let him go home and read missionary literature. The gospel, wherever it has reached, has uplifted. We could not meet in a missionary institute or study a more interesting subject. The leading men of America, the most famous statesmen of England, including Lord Balfour and others, all have taken up the subject, and an aggregation of the greatest scholars of the British Isles, day after day, are studying the the subject. The London Times says it would be impossible for a man to be respected who would say "I do not believe in missions."

Canon Tucker here gave the results of the Edinburgh conference, which met recently. Its object is to study out the problems in missionary work which every country presents, and men who have devoted their lives to the mission enterprise are astounded at its enormity.

GOOD MISSIONARIES NEEDED

A man, to be a successful missionary, must be consecrated to the work, and must have an adaptability for it. There is a delusion that if a man cannot be a success in Peterborough or Lakefield, why, send him out to China. This is an unsuccessful experiment. They think that he will do well there, forgetting that the brain of the heathen is keen, and often more subtle than that of the European. They are great readers and students of human nature.

THE PROBLEM AT HOME.

Then again, the real problem of the world's evangelization is not abroad, but at home. Is our Christianity worth propagating, and has it propagating power? Are the big hats we see in our churches, the handsome autos we see on our streets, representative of Christianity? The cushion seats in our churches and the luxurious comfort of our homes, do they represent Christianity? No. When a man spends five thousand dollars on himself, and gives five dollars for the redemption of the world, you naturally ask, is that Christianity.

DOORS ARE OPEN.

The outstanding feature of the missionary field to-day is that the doors are open and the land is accessible. Japan, fifty years ago sealed to the missionary and to commerce, is now wide open. The same holds true with China, Korea, Manchuria, India.

One hundred years ago William Carey preached the gospel to China under the Danish flag, not being allowed to do so under the British. But Christianity gained a foot-hold, and now predominates. Years ago Mahomet was looked upon in eastern countries as the stumbling of God, as the arch-fiend of good. Christian, Jew and Moslem were cutting each other's throats. Now they walk in peace.

RESULTS IN AFRICA.

Africa, darkest Africa, is now, through the efforts of the missionary, receiving the gospel. Railways pierce the land. Only a short time ago the sculling championship of the world was decided on the Zambesi river, in Africa, the scene of deadly carnage in exploration days.

"The question again arises, is this religion worth propagating, is the cause of all this good worth supporting?

THE STORY OF CHINA.

Rev. Canon Tucker gave as one example, China. He showed what a mighty nation it was. It is one-half of the human family. Invention and discoveries in science were made there hundreds of years before other countries. They had gunpowder six hundred years before we did. Chinese kings composed music that is sung in the present day, long before David's harp was tuned.

China, only ten years ago, was a bone of contention among the nations, each hungry for their share of it, and this is one of the reasons that China is unevangelized to-day. Opium wrought its havoc amongst them.

"What are we going to do to save them?" said the speaker.

Canon Tucker is a man of much experience in missionary work, and his address last evening was one of the most educative and interesting of the session here so far.

Before the address Mrs. Middleton sang a solo with much expression.

Rev. J. G. Brown, of St. John's church, presided.

GENUINE FAITH MUST EVER BE MANIFESTED

In Our Daily Life by Good Works—Father Gilles Scores the Professing Christian Who Does Not Cultivate Purity and Cleanness of Heart.

The lectures by Rev. Father Gillies are arousing great interest in the city. He deals in a clear, forcible manner with the subject of morality and its relation to Christian life, and denounces in scathing words all forms of vice, both visible and hidden.

Last evening an even greater concourse of people assembled in St. Peter's Cathedral to hear him. Taking for his topic, "Religion and Morality," he made some preliminary remarks about the theological discussions concerning the relation of good works with faith, and insisting with St. James that faith or religion, if it be genuine and bona-fide must be manifested in good works.

He went on to say that one possible mistake of many men who call themselves Christians, is to think that they are indeed Christians, because they believe in God, in Christ, in the future life. Religion does not consist in professions of faith. "The devil, says St. James, believes in religion, demands virtue, morality and good works, and anyone would deny that they would be a pagan or an heathen. Among the ancient Romans, in the days of the decadent empire, men seemed to have thought that they pleased the gods by indulgence in the lasciviousness, obscenities and immoralities of the saturnalia, but since the coming of Christ, we may hope that no one will dare to associate religion with immorality, and that any enlightened Christian will respect instinctively the theory of religion, that would teach faith without virtue would be sufficient for salvation.

If any man think himself religious because he believes in God, or profess himself to be a Christian, while he lives like a pagan, that man is deluding his own soul. Any man imagines he is religious because he can talk religion or assume a sanctimonious air, because he attends church services and goes through other forms of worship without cultivating inward purity, cleanness of heart; if any man think that he can live according to his inclination and his passions, taste all the forbidden pleasures of the world, and in the day of judgment receive the judgment of God with a profession of faith, that man is laboring under the most foolish fallacy that ever entered into possession of the brain of a human being.

There are many Christian men who in their dealings exhibit about as much business honesty as the much maligned Jews are supposed to possess. These same men would be insulted if you denied that they were Christians. There are some men, perhaps not a few, who claim to accept the ethics of the Sermon on the Mount, and yet who practice about as much purity of heart and body as a degenerate pagan. There are some who in theory accept the fundamental Christian principles concerning marriage, that is to say monogamy, one man, one wife; but who in their practice show about the same regard for sexual morality as a Mohammedan.

The most unfortunate phase of the situation is that men, who to all intents and purposes are pagans, not of the obvious type, are up-to-date, educated, polished pagans. Nevertheless they expect the rewards of the Christian, the eternal kingdom, upon the mere mention before the great Judge of the fact that they were always normal Christians.

Father Gillies speaks again to-night and everybody is invited to hear him.

GAVE LECTURE ON THE CHURCH AND STATE

A large number of men gathered last evening to hear Mr. J. H. Burnham, who had been invited to lecture on "Church and State." Mr. Burnham said that the present world-wide crisis was not to be looked upon as a contention between religions. It was due to the Pope's recent condemnation of democracy. The Pope said some hard things of the people in August in his now famous condemnation of the Sillon movement in France. The actual words of the Pope are: "The Sillon proposes to itself the uplifting and regeneration of the working classes. * * * Our predecessor of happy memory * * censured a form of democracy which goes so far in its perversity as to attribute sovereignity to the people of the people and to aim at the suppression and levelling of classes." In commenting on this papal decree, the Roman correspondent of the Catholic Register says: "The Sillon exalts human dignity, liberty and justice beyond measure; its theories tend to the political, economical and intellectual emancipation of the people. * * The Holy Father rejects this dream so full of errors."

This ~~agent~~, the speaker said, the overwhelming of the people, whether Catholic, or non-Catholic, by the present head of the R.C. Church, and he could not believe that the majority of the people would be induced to stand for it.

Mr. Burnham and Ald. Gillespie were seen this morning by the Review in connection with their invitation to address a meeting on "Church and State" at the Temperance Hall on the Fourth Line of Smith to-night.

Mr. Burnham will go, but Ald. Gillespie said much as he would like to be present, he would be unable to, on account of the recent fire. It is expected that there will be a large gathering, as much interest has been manifested.

LINE UP FOR "Y" CLASSES

These are days of strenuous doings at the "Y." Yesterday has been the largest attendance at classes so far this season. In the four classes that were held yesterday there were new men enrolled at every class, and the attendance on the "gym" floor was just under the 100 mark. The intermediate class have adopted "The Biggest and Best all round class in the association," as their motto, and it looks as if they were going to make good in earnest.

The business boys had 18 boys out last night and are making excellent progress under the leadership of Mr. Galley.

Senior class to-night at 8 o'clock. If you have not taken in one of the classes yet line up to-night, or come around and see for yourself and you will enjoy every minute.

HON. MR. HANNA VISITS FALLON FRENCH PAPERS FEATURING IT

Provincial Secretary Has an Interview With Bishop of London, and Writes a Letter to Dr. Pyne Outlining Prelates Position Regarding French in the Schools.

Montreal, Oct. 13.—Le Devoir and a number of French-Canadian papers throughout the province of Quebec are giving considerable prominence to an article by Michel Renouf, recently published at Quebec, dealing with correspondence between Hon. Mr. Hanna and Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, regarding bilingual schools in Ontario, and the part taken by Mgr. Fallon in that regard. The article strongly attacks Mgr. Fallon, and professes to expose his protestations of amity to the French race and language in Canada.

In opening, Mr. Renouf quotes a declaration of Bishop Fallon at London last September, in which he takes exception to articles published in various papers to the effect that he was opposed to the French-Canadians, and declares that he is as friendly to them and as careful of their needs as of any people in his diocese, and categorically declares that he has never made any statement whatever regarding the teaching of French or any other language in the schools of his diocese, separate or otherwise.

Bishop Fallon further stated that he has not the slightest objection to the teaching of French or any other language conformable to the laws of the province and the rules of the Education Department. He therefore declares that the whole agitation was not only without foundation, but supremely unjust to him.

The letter says in part,—

"Dear Dr. Pyne,—Yesterday afternoon Rev. Father Kennedy (Cure of Sarnia) telephoned me asking myself and Mrs. Hanna to go to meet Mgr. Fallon, Bishop of London, who was to officiate here on the occasion of his first visit to this part of his diocese. After some conversation Bishop Fallon expressed the desire to see me particularly with regard to a matter of great importance to this part of the province, which concerned the whole question of bilingual teaching in the schools. He has resolved, so far as it is in his power, to cause to disappear every trace of bilingual teaching in the public schools of his diocese. The interests of the children, boys and girls, demand that bilingual teaching should be disapproved and prohibited."

"I observed to his grace that, according to my views, in districts where the French-Canadians were numerous and spoke French it was believed that the master of such a school would succeed better and would be able with better advantage to conduct the children to the use of English by speaking French.

"To this he replied that it was a mistake, and if it was thus in theory it was never put honestly into practice; that the argument in favor of having a French master in French-speaking districts was the argument of clerical or political agitators, and, shaking his arm and fist towards me, he said: 'I will engage myself to look after the clerical agitator, but I cannot control the political agitator, if it is in the sphere of politics, without the aid of others.'

"He proceed to say that the politicians and the French-Canadian political agitators did not fail to say that the French-Canadians controlled 15 or 17 counties of Ontario. He replied that the French-Canadians did not control anything of the kind, that they had worked for ten years under falsified or stuffed census lists as in the province of Quebec, always with one end, their single aim being to secure control of church and state, and that instead of being crushed or choked off, they would dominate in both.

"That in order to make the Government take the attitude which is believed to be the desire of the great majority of the Catholic Church in this province, the bishops had recently met and had formulated resolutions, and that soon a deputation representing this episcopal gathering would go to the Government and submit their views. That they were resolved to put this question as one which outranked all others in so far as it concerned them and their subordinates. That up to now they had let it go, but had lost much ground by their silence.

"Throughout his attitude was not that of an enemy, but we must not deceive ourselves. He is an extremely energetic man, and has this question very much at heart, and whatever comes of the matter he will either give it all his support or all his opposition in his diocese.

"I suppose that you and Sir James Whitney will be glad to know how much this question is taken to heart by the bishop, and, therefore, I am sending a copy of this letter to Sir James. Sincerely yours,

"W. J. Hanna."

A Breach of Tradition.

London, Oct. 13.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Strong complaint is being made in the Liberal press about the political nature of Judge Grantham's speech, a summary of which was cabled on Tuesday. They say it is a breach of the ancient tradition of the British bench.

Reciprocity Negotiations.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Secretary of State Charles Murphy of Canada said in an interview here yesterday afternoon that he expected reciprocity negotiations between the United States and Canada would be resumed about Nov. 1.

Banquet to Sir Henry.

London, Oct. 13.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Sir H. Hargrave, president of the Society of Knights Bachelors, presides at a banquet given by the society to Sir Henry Pellatt on Nov. 1, as a mark of appreciation of his work.

SHERIFF RUTLEDGE ACCUSES CANADIANS OF EXTORTION

He Charges That Prices Were Out of all Reason at Rainy River and That Canadians Did Nothing to Help the Minnesotans.

International Falls, Minn., Oct. 13.—Sheriff Rutledge declares the worst outrage of the whole scenes following the fire is the attitude of Canadians at Rainy River. He says the King Edward Hotel will not permit refugees to sit down in the hotel, charges them $2 for a bed, 50 cents for a sandwich, and that he paid $1 for two soft drinks at the bar, while making an investigation. He says other prices are in proportion, and that not one of the Rainy River citizens has helped in the work at Beaudette or Spooner of seeking out the dead or burning animals.

Governor Eberhart of Minnesota and staff arrived here yesterday morning. Despite the early hour, the governor at once left his car, and looked over the situation, finding less than sixty refugees quartered here, and he ordered that they be at once sent to Duluth and Bemidji. For the stock, which had been saved by the settlers, he ordered three carloads of hay and a car of oats, and they are expected to arrive to-night from Bemidji.

"Everything is in good shape at International Falls," said the governor. "The people do not need soldiers, neither do they need nurses, nor supplies, for there is no danger now. Those who have arrived here from the burned districts and need medical attention will at once be sent to places where they can receive the best attention. The town is well patrolled, and the authorities have the situation in hand."

Twenty-six typhoid fever patients found here during the night are being sent to Duluth. It is the belief of doctors here that the disease was contracted in dirty camps beyond the city. The militia have been forbidden to drink water of any description, and the citizens are warned not to do so. Health officials are now en route from Duluth and will analyze the water.

One merchant who fled panic-stricken to Rainy River on Saturday morning, telling of having seen 169 bodies, did not in reality see one, and there are many others who have spread similar reports without having been anywhere near the fire. Search parties are being sent out under militiamen and efforts to obtain a true statement of the number of dead are being made through various sources.

There is no wind to-day, and throughout the burned country the authorities have the fires well under control, and nothing is to be feared unless a windstorm arises.

George Watts, chief fire ranger at Fort Frances, who was sent to Rainy River by the Ontario Government to report on the fire situation, wired on Tuesday that the town of Rainy River was not yet out of danger. Financial loss would be serious, but there had been no loss of life on the Canadian side. He estimated the number of those who had lost their lives on the United States side at 100.

Aubrey White, Deputy Minister of Lands and Forests, holds the opinion that the reports of losses on this side are exaggerated. Most of the valuable timber in that country has been cut over, and only the small stuff has been burned.

GHASTLY RECORDS FOR SINGLE DAY

Tortured, Then Murdered.

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—Part of a human face, badly burned with acid, was handed over to the chief analyst of the Government yesterday morning by Dr. Fagan, provincial health officer at Vancouver. It is the only clue to the solution of a mysterious murder recently at Revelstoke.

The victim was a miner named Frank Julian, who is thought to have been set upon by members of the Black Hand. He was cut up with an axe, but before being murdered was evidently tortured. A ring around his face was burned in by the use of acid.

Used Body as Bullet Shield.

New York, Oct. 13.—Adolph Borg, 21 years, was arrested yesterday afternoon, on a charge of homicide, accused of being the man known as "Pickles," who held 12-year-old Charles Fischer in front of him as a shield from a fusilade of shots from the revolver of Henry Greenwald, alias "Biff" Clark, Tuesday afternoon. The boy was killed, and when Greenwald was cornered, he shot and killed himself.

Murdered His Brother.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 13.—A quarrel of many years' standing culminated here yesterday in the murder of Harry Scherr, 25 years old, by his brother, Louis Scherr, 22 years of age, of 227 East Second street, New York City. The deed was committed at the dead man's tailoring establishment in East street with a knife. Louis was arrested shortly afterwards.

Negro Lynched.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 13.—Grant Richardson, a negro, was lynched on Tuesday night near Centerville by a mob of whites. He was being brought to Bibb County jail, charged with assaulting a white woman. The deputy having him in charge was over powered and the negro's body was riddled with bullets.

Too Strong for Boys.

Chatham, Oct. 13.—As a result of drinking the contents of a quart bottle of whisky they found, two Chatham Township boys were found in a precarious condition. Wellington Bissell, 14, has just recovered consciousness after 24 hours; Van Solomon is still unconscious and may die.

Took Rat Poison.

London, Ont., Oct. 13.—Daisy Henwood, a 14-year-old girl, took a dose of rat poison yesterday morning and is dead. She was a ward of the Children's Aid Society, and not very bright. Tuesday night she secured some candy on credit at a store. The grocer thought it was suspicious, and followed her up. She was evidently frightened, and took her life. No inquest will be held.

Broke His Skull.

Brantford, Oct. 13.—At the inquest into the death of Frank Simon, who succumbed to injuries received in a fight with Armenians, two doctors who performed the autopsy, testified that the deceased came to his death from a fractured skull, and that the latter might have been caused by a fall on the pavement after being struck in the face with a dinner pail. The Armenians, Kopaian and Magaraian, have been remanded for a week.

Worse Than Hanging.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Judge Marcus Kavanagh, in a remarkable opinion, handed down in sentencing Jos. Welcome to life imprisonment for murder, contrasted death with the tortured soul of a life convict to his solitary confinement, and told the prisoner that it is not correct to regard the death penalty as the most severe punishment that can be inflicted.

Accidentally Discharged Pistol.

Brantford, Oct. 13.—Mrs. William Noyes, a Cathcart woman, is lying at the hospital here in a serious condition. While cleaning out a drawer at home she ran across an old pistol of her husband's, which accidentally discharged. The bullet, which entered her shoulder, has not yet been located.

Fall Causes His Death.

Woodstock, Ont., Oct. 13.—George Young, a well-known resident of Bright, died Tuesday night after lingering for a few hours following an accident by which he fell out of a tree while picking apples.

More Opium Seized.

Toronto, Oct. 13.—Another seizure of opium—the fourth in three weeks—was made by the customs officers yesterday, being a consignment of forty pounds addressed to 179 East Queen street, valued at $1,500.

WIFE SLAYER FOUND GUILTY SENTENCED TO HANG DEC. 14

Rufus Weedmark, the Man Who Came Home Drunk, Choked His Wife to Death and Boasted of "the Good Job" He Had Made of it, Pleads That He Did Not Realize What He Was Doing.

Perth, Oct. 13.—After being out three-quarters of an hour the jury yesterday afternoon found Rufus Weedmark of Smith's Falls guilty of the murder of his wife Kate, in their home on the morning of April 30. Chancellor Boyd thereupon sentenced Weedmark to be hanged on Dec. 14.

When the prisoner was arraigned yesterday morning he pleaded guilty, but his counsel, C. J. Foy, insisted on a plea of not guilty.

Dr. Stammers swore Weedmark stated to him on the fatal morning, just after he had choken his wife to death by the throat and nose: "I did it, doc; didn't I make a good job of it, doc, eh? She would not send him down any more, her mother and other neighbors talking lies about him." Witness found marks on the throat and windpipe.

Alex. McLaughlin recounted how he had heard Weedmark and his wife quarreling. "Weedmark started to assail her," said McLaughlin, "and I told him he was a coward to strike a woman. He then desisted. Weedmark did not appear to have been under the influence of liquor."

Evelyn Weedmark, a daughter of the prisoner, is 14 years of age; she gave her evidence in a clear voice, though her manner was naturally subdued.

"During the night, about 4 o'clock," she said, "I heard my mother screaming and ran downstairs. Father was holding her by the throat and had his hand over her nose."

"Did you try to do anything?"

"Yes, I tried to pull him off, but he told me to stop."

"What did you do then?"

"I ran out side and yelled."

In reply to Mr. Foy, she said that her father had been drinking, but he was not "good and drunk." Her father had accused her mother of having been bad with Amos Allan.

Mrs. Gilligan, James Handyside, Florence Dowdall and W. H. Code swore that Weedmark had told them he had killed his wife, and boasted he had make a good job of it.

Rufus Weedmark was called on his own behalf. He was twice married. His first wife died 14 months after marriage, and he had been married to his second wife about twenty years. He impugned his second wife's chastity, and stated she was running with other men within 24 hours after their marriage, but admitted this did not cause him to murder her. She had been a good wife to him for fifteen years. On the night of the tragedy he was drunk, having drunk in a few hours about three pints and a half. His wife was drunk that evening, too.

When he came home that evening his wife asked him to go and get whisky for her, but he refused, he swore, as he was drunk. Then he says she cursed him. Both continued wrangling, and witness told his wife if she didn't go away and leave him alone he would slap her mouth. Later both had several drinks and they fell asleep downstairs. About 2.30 he ordered his children to bed, and asked his wife for a drink of water. She replied to him, "Go to —— and get it." He got the water, but stated in reply: "You are pretty stiff." With that Weedmark, swears his wife threw a galvanized teapot at him, bruising him on the shoulder.

"Then I grabbed her on the floor and choked her," said Weedmark. "I lost my head altogether, and didn't realise it until Evelyn stood in the door and said: 'Pa, you are killing me.' I then went over to Mrs. Gilligan's and said I had killed Kate. When I killed her I was drunk. She made me mad by throwing the teapot at me. I was angry at her for sending me to the Central Prison last year. I never intended to kill her, and I am sorry for myself and little children."

On the resumption of the trial after intermission for lunch, Dr. Bruce Smith, inspector of prisons, said he visited the Perth Jail on May 11, 11 days after the tragedy. "I made a careful mental, as well as physical, examination of the prisoner," said the doctor. "On the left chest I saw a coffee brown stain. I asked him what had done that, and he said it was the result of his wife having thrown a teapot at him."

"When you examined the prisoner," said A. E. DuVernet, prosecuting counsel, "did you find him to be a strong, well-developed man?"

"Yes," said Dr. Smith. "He was in excellent condition, both physically and mentally."

Charles Edwards, the chief of police of Smith's Falls, said that the prisoner, when arrested, spoke quite rationally.

Dr. Stammers said that when he was called in after the commission of the crime, about half an hour later, the prisoner appeared to be perfectly sober.

STRIKE IS SPREADING

All France is Threatened by the Railway Deadlock.

Paris, Oct. 13.—The strike of the railroad men, which threatens to spread throughout the length and breadth of France, was denounced yesterday by Premier Briand as "an insurrection purely, built upon criminal foundations."

The Premier declared that the strike was called while negotiations were going on through himself and the Minister of Public Works, for an adjustment of grievances, and he promised that the instigators of the strike would be criminally prosecuted.

The River Seine, which in January threatened to destroy Paris, now looms up in the role of a savior. The Government has made arrangements to rush food supplies to Paris from the sea, requisitioning all tugs, boats and barges to meet the crisis, brought about by the stoppage of the railway service, and ease the food market shortage, which is already hard hit.

The employes of the Eastern and the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean railways have not yet, to any appreciable extent, responded to the leaders' call to strike, and the Government's weapon of mobilization has induced some of those employed on the northern road to return to their posts. Nevertheless, the Northern and Western railways are prostrated. The call to the colors has been ignored by the large majority, and at mass meetings held yesterday the strikers reiterated their determination not to respond to the call.

Much destruction has been wrought on the western system, where the strikers and their supporters have held up and derailed trains, blocked tracks, destroyed signals, ripped up tracks and destroyed telephone and telegraph wires. The Government has ordered the arrest of a score of strike leaders, and instructions have been issued to the troops to use severe measures wherever occasion offers.

Berlin Still Ablaze.

Berlin, Oct. 13.—The auditorium was crowded again last night at the big electrical exhibition, the proceedings being enlivened by a concert by the 29th Regiment Band. The streets presented even more brilliance than the night before, and some fine pieces of incandescent lamp designs have been added to more important buildings, notably one on the top of the tall tower of the fire station.

NEW FOOD STANDARDS PREPARED

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—New food standards, prepared during the past year by Mr. Anthony McGill, chief analyst of the Inland Revenue Department, assisted by experts working under him, are now before the Cabinet Council, and will probably be premulgated by an order-in-council this autumn. The new standards, so far prepared, cover milk and its products, meats and meat products, and grain and grain products. After a month's advertisement the new standards become law.

Other standards for medicinal products, etc., are now in the course of preparation.

SALARY ISN'T BIG ENOUGH

Chatham, Oct. 13.—Richard Knight, recently appointed tax collector and assessor for the city of Chatham, until the balance of the year, has resigned the position. It is claimed that, after paying for the bonds which the council insist upon, and after hiring help to collect the unpaid taxes, of which there are a lot still outstanding, $1,000 a year salary would not be sufficient to reimburse him for his work.

When they appointed Mr. Knight, the council combined the offices of tax collector and assessor. There were over twenty applicants for the position, when Mr. Knight was chosen.

ARE NOT QUITE SURE ABOUT IT

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Ottawa Publicity Bureau, it was decided to rescind, temporarily at least, the bureau's slogan, "Twice as much power as Niagara at half the cost." Before adopting such an expressive motto a committee was appointed to enquire into the facts.

Caught the Chinamen.

Boston, Oct. 13.—Four Chinamen who were captured in a freight car at Holyoke Sept. 18, and brought here, charged with violating the emigration laws, have been started back to China, the United States being put to an expense of $1,500 for their deportation.

MAKE NO ARRESTS ON THE RESERVE

Brantford, Oct. 13.—Members of the Brant County Council have made a request to county constables to make no arrests on the Indian reserve. The county annually foots the bill of the cost of the administration of justice, which is made up largely by Indian cases. The reserve, however, bears no proportion of the cost, and the councillors are of the opinion that the Indian Department should administer its own justice.

Crippen Trial on Tuesday.

London, Oct. 13.—The grand jury found true bills against Dr. Hawley H. Crippen and Ethel Clare Leneve, charging the former as the principal and the latter as an accessory after the fact, with the murder of the doctor's wife, whose stage name was Belle Elmore.

Lord Chief Justice Alverstone, who will preside, later fixed upon Tuesday as the date for the opening of the trial.

A FOXY TRICK OF FOUR BOYS

Rochester, Oct. 13.—For some time money has been missed from the cash exchange of a large departmental store. A watch was set, and yesterday the police solved the mystery, when they caught four small boys fishing bank notes off the piles by means of a stick pushed through the steel screens, on the end of which was a piece of gum. The bills readily stuck to the gum, and hauls of from $10 to $20 were made at a time. The boys were arrested.

Prophecy Double Tracking.

Winnipeg, Oct. 13.—Members of the National Transcontinental Railway Commission have arrived here, after their first trip over the new line from Fort William. They made an official inspection of the road and were highly pleased with the progress of the work so far. They even prophesied that double tracking would be necessary before long.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

The office of C. D. Sheldon, the Montreal broker, has been closed.

Federal and provincial health authorities are in session at Ottawa.

Absolom Beaton, a colliery manager for the Dominion Coal Co., is dead.

Robert Dobson, a retired marble dealer, was thrown from his conveyance at Streetsville yesterday and instantly killed.

The wind was too strong yesterday for Walter Wellman to attempt a trial flight in the balloon with which he hopes to cross the Atlantic.

The German Government has refused satisfaction for the assault which the Berlin police committed on British and American newspapermen.

Garceau and Picotte, who killed Carter as a result of a practical joke, and were found guilty of manslaughter, were fined $25 or three months.

The Minister of Railways warns the C.P.R. that unless construction is commenced within eighteen months route approvals for the second C.P.R. line from Toronto eastward may be cancelled.

Robert Ironsides, the millionaire cattle exporter, died yesterday morning in Montreal, after a somewhat lengthy illness. He had been suffering from enlargement of the heart for some time.

The carriage factory of A. S. Fillmore, at Southampton, 20 miles from Amherst, was destroyed by fire, with twenty sleighs which were in the factory. The loss is $35,000 and the insurance $6,000.

DOMINION COMPETING WITH ONTARIO

London, Oct. 13.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Mr. Colcock, Ontario Government agent, says the prices of Niagara peaches have not fallen. They are being sold at six to eight shillings a box. He claims the Dominion Government is competing with Ontario, having sold peaches at five shillings a box, doing injury to the trade. One Covent Garden merchant purchased fifty boxes of Niagara peaches, paying five shillings a box, and sold them as low as four shillings.

One Liverpool dealer who agreed to take twenty boxes of Niagara peaches per week wished to cancel the agreement, as he found he could get other Canadian peaches cheaper. Colcock has received a letter from King George's secretary, saying the peaches sent His Majesty were appreciated.

HON. MR. MURPHY SPEAKS AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Oct. 13.—At the Discovery Day banquet of the Knights of Columbus last night addresses were made by Hon. Charles Murphy, M.P., Secretary of State for Canada; Vice-President Sherman and Judge Peter S. Grosscup of the U. S. Circuit Court. Political and economic subjects were avoided by Mr. Murphy and the vice-president. Senator Lorimer was a guest at the Speaker's table.

ARRESTED FOR BIGAMY

Sherbrooke, Que., Oct. 13.—Joseph Pinneault, alias Alexis St. Laurent, was arrested here on a charge of bigamy, on the complaint of Mrs. Pinneault, his first wife. Pinneault is a resident of Montreal, and lived with his first wife near St. Cunegonde street until he deserted her nineteen months ago. He then came to Sherbrooke, and on May 2 married a Miss Charest of this city.

Fashionable Burglars.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Mrs. Mattie Jennings, 60 years old, and her two daughters, Mrs. R. E. Hayden and Miss Laura Jennings, were arrested in their home in fashionable Prairie avenue yesterday morning, accused of being women automobile burglars who robbed a score of farm houses near Crown Point, Ind., and escaped with the loot.

Approve Archbishop's Stand.

Montreal, Oct. 13.—The masses appear to sympathize with the Archbishop of Montreal in the stand he has taken as regards Mayor Nathan's speech at Rome, and the demonstration on Sunday evening will be very largely attended. It is not at all likely, however, that the proposed motion of censure will go through the City Council.

Reeve of Tavistock Dead.

Woodstock, Oct. 13.—The death occurred very suddenly about 1 o'clock yesterday morning of George Staebler, reeve of Tavistock, and a member of the Oxford County committee investigating the alleged good roads graft. Mr. Staebler was a prominent man in Oxford County. He was aged 56, and was in the implement business.

First Exhibition a Success.

Windsor, Oct. 13.—The first exhibition of the Windsor and North Essex Agricultural Society, which is being held here this week, is a decided success, and is a surprise to some people, who predicted only failure for it. The showing of stock, poultry, fruits, etc., is excellent.

Famous Singer Dead.

New York, Oct. 13.—Charles Gilbert, the famous French baritone and buffo of the Metropolitan Opera House, died suddenly Tuesday night in his apartments at the Hotel Gregorian.

PLEASE PASS THE APPLES

Behold the apple champion. He says that he has discovered a cure that will beat the gold cure or any of the lesser known remedies. It is simple—EAT AN APPLE A DAY.

Years ago an "Apple a Day" society was formed. The press commented on it. But whether the supply of apples ran out or not is not known, but the society is dead, dead as a mackeral. Now comes a doctor who says that he has cured many a soak by the magic of the apple, his claims are seriously regarded by an organization that is prominent in temperance work. This organization has sent out many copies of a leaflet in which it is stated that habitual drinkers as a rule do not eat apples. "There seems to be a peculiar combination in apples" the leaflet declares, "that allays the irritation, or so-called appetite, produced by the use of liquor." Please pass the apples. But as Sam Luthrell says there is no cure for the soak but the God cure.

GRAMMAR

Chicago, Oct 11—Grammar is mostly tommyrot, just as little Willie has always suspected. The science of substantives and other queer things, as it is taught to protesting "kids" at present, is no better than a polite form of buncombe. This discovery has been made by Prof. Otto Jesperson, of the University of Copenhaven.

The foreign educator exposes the evils of his favorite subject in an article on "Modern English Grammar" in the October number of the School Review. According to the theory of the Danish professor, it is a wise child that objects to the daily drill in linguistic terminology.

Prof. Jesperson states that much perfectly good mental energy has been wasted in composing grammars and in doling out their contents. Instead of teaching long definitions to children, he would allow the children to make their own terms and let the definition go. But he says that grammar is "fascinating," and he wishes the teachers to make it more so by forgetting their pedagogical training. "I think the study is really more or less useless, and is extremely fascinating," he says.

The fact that there are two teachers' convention in the city leads us to reproduce the above despatch from Chicago. True education is that which prepares a man to fight the battle of life to the best advantage. If he is going to be a lawyer—shoot the language into him. Is he to become a surveyor, souse him with dynamics, algrebra, euclid, trigonometry and everything else along that line.

Is he to be a railroad engineer fill him with mechanics.

Has he got his eye on the pulpit. Get his soul right and teach him. Oh, ye professors, not to worry about Jonah and the whale, but to rustle like St. Paul. We need men fighting men, human men in the pulpit, not debaters, nor men full of creed, but of the love of God.

We need specialists and the day will surely come when the schools will turn out specialists instead of stuffed heads and useless hands as is now too often the case.

A LIBERAL NO LONGER

The Welland Telegraph mentions the case of a young man who two years ago made Canada his adopted country and Welland his adopted home. He came to this country to fill an important post. He was a reader, a thinker, a student of affairs. Being young, radical in his views, and unversed in Canadian conditions, the label "Liberal" worn by one of the political parties attracted him. There is something in the very word Liberal to interest a young man of generous and sanguine temperament. He joined the local Liberal Association.

But he soon found that "Liberal" as applied to the office-holders at Ottawa, was a misnomer. In the words of the Telegraph this new Canadian citizen soon found that Canadian Liberalism has been shorn of its robes, that the very flesh has been eaten away, and that there now remains but the naked skeleton of what the Reform party once stood for.

Disgusted with the party's abuse of power, and with its abdiction of principle, this young Canadian in the making at last withdrew his name from the local party organization, and cancelled his connection with Canadian Liberalism. Thousands of young Liberals all over the country must be dissatisfied with the reactionary and hopeless tendencies of the present regime at Ottawa.

THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Another institute opened this morning in Peterborough—the Teachers' Institute—and for two days the more important phases of education will be discussed. The London Times says that no one can be respected who does not believe in missions. Yes, missions are important, but the heathens afar are vague to most of us. The child, the scholar, from the little toddler with his A B C's, to the man or maid with the morter board, we have ever among us. Tom, what will he do? Mary, what will her vocation be? These are questions that parents everywhere puzzle over. Dad, you may influence Tom. Mother you may mould the will of Mary, but the teacher who daily instructs, has a real influence that never dies. The institute closes to-morrow.

GET AFTER THE GANG

Chicago, Oct. 7—If you want to appeal to a boy you must cultivate his "gang."

This is the conclusion of Prof. Allan Hoben, Ph. D., of the University of Chicago after an exhaustive study of the subject, "boy." He told an audience at the Fullerton avenue Presbyterian church his ideas about the topic when he gave an address on "Biology and the Boy Nature."

Professor Hoben has reached the conclusion that "boy" in the stages between 12 and 16 years has instincts as primitive as those of the cave dweller. His reasons are;

The boy's love for his "gang." His love for "vagrancy," which the speaker included under the heading of wandering and the boy's love for adventure.

His love for fire even on the hottest summer days.

His love for physical exertion and for a "mix-up" "any old time."

"The animal instinct in a boy is like that in a little savage," declared the professor "I have made investigations and I discovered that "gangs" existed on an average of one in every two blocks.

"The time has come when we must take cognizance of this spirit if we hope to win the boy's confidence. We must appeal to him through his 'gang.' In several instances where we gained the confidence of the "gang" we organized athletic clubs, and in this way we appealed to the love of the boy for physical exertion. Through this agency we could teach the boys of higher things. It is almost impossible to convert him you must convert his entire gang.

"Between the ages of 12 and 16 the boy forms habits. It is at this period that one must strive to win the "gang's" confidence. It is easy to influence the boy during this period, either for good or bad.

"The 'gang' to him is what society will be later in life. We must become a member of the gang to win him. The old story of the mother sending the maid out "to see what Johnny is doing and to tell him to stop' must be stopped.

"The proper way to cultivate a boy and to make him your friend is to find some outlet for his energies and let him exert himself to the limit."

Why doesn't the young man go to Sunday school. It's not made attractive enough. Young people have to take their religion as a young person and not as an old man or old woman. Drummond in his masterly talk to boys said; "Boys, you don't need to sit and study your Bible by the hour as your grandma does. Be live, be good, be true, be happy and jolly.

Preacher, be one of the gang of young men, madame put out that serious manner and be a girl again. Then they will come to you. Get after the gang, that's what counts.

GARCIA

Napoleon trusted no orders to orderlies. He had no aids picked by influence or family. Out of all his army he chose the keenest and best young company officers. Of these he had several hundred. They did nothing but carry his orders, in peace and in war. Their badge carried them through all the lines. It was a point of honor that they rode at top speed and, though the trip were long, by day and by night. None halted if the ride were less than three or four days, and a man with changes of horses goes far in four days if he never draws rein.

In battle they were always under fire. Regiments, brigades and their officers moved to the attack and in the short range of fire of the day were kept sheltered behind hill or slope, until the order came. The emperor's messengers had their work on the firing line. One had eleven horses killed under him in a day of battle. Another killed five horses in his headlong rides when there were no relays, as in battle there are not.

But speed, courage and endurance were trifles. These men were the eyes and ears of Napoleon. Nothing must escape them.

Nothing must be missed on the swift battle rides, roads, houses, barns and the lay of the near or distant land. "Where is General C—?" asked a slack aide of Napoleon as he was told to take a message to a general he had never heard of. "Not my business" said Napoleon, and turned his back and the luckless man went back to his regiment to drudge and share no more the eagle-eye which saw all and beckoned to glory.

Out of these young officers came colonels, generals, marshalls and governors.

It was Napoleon's way to ask men to work as all men should always work, seeing all, forgetting nothing, at top speed, careless of life, sleep or strength, asking no questions, permitting no delay, but always and everywhere going straight to the task, cost what it might.

It is this way that all men work to whom success is precious and the men to whom it is not is always hunting a job and never finding either job or success. —Vancouver Province.

"Go find Garcia." One day Hubbard spun this little story. "The message to Garcia." It has been reproduced in nine languages. The message rings out to-day, GO FIND GARCIA.

Who is Garcia? Never mind. Where is Garcia? Never mind. Find him. We all have our Garcias to find. It may be in the factory. "John, do that." Our Garcia may be in the ability to do a thing without being told. Perhaps it is in punctuality, in agreeableness about the house or in the office, under difficulties. We may never be rich, we may never be great but we can all find Garcia. We all want to succeed. Well, have you a Garcia in view? If you have the world wants you. Most of us have no further thought beyond three meals and pay day. We have no Garcia, but here and there comes a man up from the crowd. The world pauses and looks. That man is looking for Garcia; that man will succeed for he will find him.

A REASON

A society engagement is announced in a New York paper. The man has been divorced, and the new marriage will take place when the woman in the case is legally free from her present matrimonial contract. The parties are not celebrities, who sometimes seem to regard themselves as entitled to rule of their own in the matter of quick changes in their domestic relations, but are of the wealthy leisured class, to which some have looked for the continent's political salvation. The millionaires do much for America industrially and otherwise, but their families sometimes furnish fearful moral examples.—Montreal Gazette.

The usual disagreements in married life do not arise from the fact that hubby is a sport or drinks, or that the wife can't make cake as good as mother used to, it is from the simple reason that the two were married in their teens. They thought they loved each other. It was all a mistake. But time is inexorable, and the passion of youth burned out, they pass their days in scrapping.

Incompatability of temperment—this is the reason why the divorce courts grind and grind and grind. A law should be passed that no kids should be allowed to marry.

A Gentleman From Mississippi

By THOMAS A. WISE

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THOMAS A. WISE

"Then you guarantee him?" snapped the boss.

"Unreservedly, senator."

"All right," said Peabody. "He goes on the naval committee. That ought to be enough honor for a man who a year ago was growing cotton on an old plantation miles away from civilization."

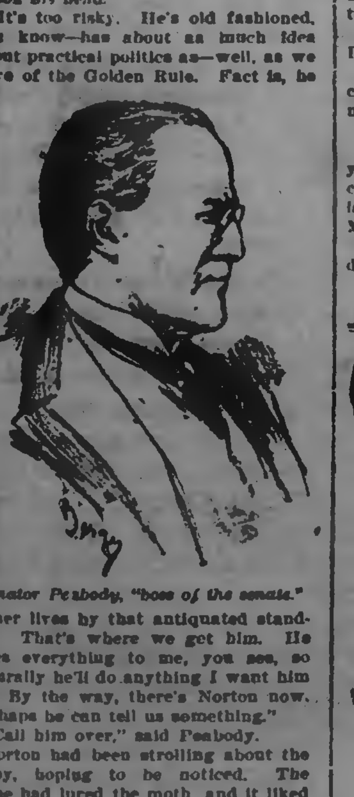
"We have control now of all the land about Altacoola that can be used," said Stevens. "I have had Norton, the congressman from Langdon's district, working on it. There isn't a foot of land there which we do not now control under options, and," he added, with a chuckle, "the options were dirt cheap."

Peabody grunted approvingly.

"There won't be any New York fortune in it, but it ought to be a pretty tidy bit," he said. "Now, if we could only get Langdon interested, directly or indirectly, in a financial way, that would clinch everything."

The senior senator from Mississippi shook his head.

"It's too risky. He's old fashioned, you know—has about as much idea about practical politics as—well, as we have of the Golden Rule. Fact is, he rather lives by that antiquated standard. That's where we get him. He owes everything to me, you see, so naturally he'll do anything I want him to. By the way, there's Norton now. Perhaps he can tell us something."



Senator Peabody, "boss of the senate."

"Call him over," said Peabody.

Norton had been strolling about the lobby, hoping to be noticed. The flame had lured the moth, and it liked the manner of the singeing. The congressman hurried precipitately across at Stevens' summons.

"I've been wanting to speak to you, gentlemen," said Norton, full of the good trick he had turned, "but I didn't like to interrupt you. I think I've done a big stroke for Altacoola today."

Even Peabody pricked up his ears.

"Yes," said both senators together.

With a keen sense of the dramatic, the congressman let his next words drawl out with full effect.

"I've got Senator Langdon interested—financially interested," he said.

His two hearers exchanged a significant glance.

"How?" asked Peabody sharply.

Norton smiled shrewdly.

"Well, I just let his son invest $50,000 of the senator's money in Altacoola land. That ought to help some."

Stevens stared in amazement at his congressman, his eyes threatening to bulge out of his head.

"What!" he gasped. "You got Langdon's money in Altacoola, through his son?"

"I sure have, senator," chuckled Norton. "He's in to the extent of fifty thousand, and I've promised that the fifty shall make a hundred by spring."

"It'll make three hundred thousand at least," snapped Peabody. "Norton, you've done a good day's work. By the way, a New York client of mine has a little business that I cannot attend to handily. Doesn't involve much work, and a young, bustling lawyer like you ought to take charge of it easily. The fee, I should say, would be about $10,000. Have you the time to undertake it?"

The congressman drew a long breath. His eyes beamed with gratitude.

"I should say I have, senator. Of course it won't interfere with any of my duties as a congressman."

Peabody smiled.

"Of course not, Norton. I see that your sense of humor is improving. If convenient, run over to New York the last of the week. I'll give you a card. My client's office is at 10 Broadway."

The ruler of the senate nodded a curt dismissal.

"Thank you, senator; thank you very much." And Norton bowed and left, rejoicing.

Peabody turned to Stevens.

"You see, even a congressman can be useful sometimes," remarked Stevens dryly.

"Keep your eye on that young man, Stevens. He's the most valuable congressman we've had from your state in a long while. Does just what he is told and doesn't ask any fool questions. This was good work. Langdon's on the naval committee now sure. Come, Stevens; let's go to some quiet corner in the smoking room. I want to talk to you about something else the Standard has on hand for you to do."

Hardly had they departed from the lobby when resounding commotion at the entrance, followed by the rushing of porters and bellboys and an expectant pose on the part of the clerk, indicated that the new senator from Mississippi had arrived.

CHAPTER V.

THE BOSS OF THE SENATE INSPECTS A NEW MEMBER.

An actor playing the role of a high type of southern planter would score a decided success by picturing the character exactly after the fashion of Senator William H. Langdon as he strode to the desk of the International hotel. A wide brimmed black hat thrust back on his head, a long black perfecto in his mouth, coattails spreading out behind as he walked, and the "Big Bill" Langdon smile on his face that carried sunshine and good will wherever he went, he was good to look on, an inspiration, particularly in Washington.

Following the senator were Miss Langdon and Hope Georgia, leading a retinue of hotel attendants staggering under a large assortment of luggage. Both beautiful girls, they caused a sensation all of their own. Carolina, a different type from the younger, had an austere loveliness denoting pride and birth, a brunette of the quality that has contributed so much to the fame of southern women. Hope Georgia, more girlish and a vivacious blond, was the especial pet of her father and usually succeeded in doing with him what she chose.

A real senator and two such young women handsomely gowned seemed to take the old hotel back a score of years—back to the times when such sights were of daily occurrence. The ancient greatness of the now dingy International lived again.

"How are you, senator? Glad to welcome you, sir," was the clerk's greeting.

The genial senator held out his hand. Everybody was his friend.

"Glad to meet you, sir; glad to meet you," he exclaimed. "Must make you acquainted with my daughters. This is Miss Carolina Langdon, this Miss Hope Georgia Langdon."

The two girls, with their father's idea of courtesy, shook hands with the clerk, who was not at all taken aback by the unexpected honor.

Hope Georgia was thoroughly delighted with everything, but Carolina looked at the worn and faded walls and furnishings with evident distaste.

"Oh, this is Washington," murmured Hope Georgia ecstatically, clasping her hands and gazing at a vista of artificial palms in a corridor."

"Ah, this is Washington," sighed the new senator contentedly as he gazed across a hall at the biggest and most gorgeous cigar stand he had ever seen or ever hoped to see—the only new thing added to the hotel since Grant was president.

"Truly magnificent establishment you have here, sir; magnificent!" he exclaimed as an imitation marble column came within his purview. "I remember my friend Senator Moseley speaking to me of it thirty years ago. Are our rooms ready?"

The clerk, hugely pleased, hastened to assure him that everything was in first class order, waiting.

"You better go up, girls, while I look around a bit and sort of get the hang of things."

"Yes, I think we had better look around a bit, too, before we decide, father," said Carolina diplomatically.

Her father patted her affectionately on the arm.

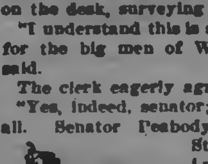
"Now, don't you worry, Carolina. I see you think this place too expensive from its looks—too good for us. But I tell you the best, even this, isn't too good for you girls and your dad. Run away, and I'll come up and see you soon."

The new senator leaned his elbow on the desk, surveying the place.

"I understand this is a favorite haunt for the big men of Washington," he said.

The clerk eagerly agreed.

"Yes, indeed, senator; we have them all. Senator Peabody and Senator Stevens were here just a moment ago. Boy, find Senator Peabody and Senator Stevens and tell them Senator Langdon is here."



"Boy, find Senators Peabody and Stevens."

The two senators came quickly.

"I'm glad to see you, Langdon; glad to see you," exclaimed Stevens, with an assumption of effusiveness. "I want to introduce you to Senator Peabody of Pennsylvania."

Peabody bowed, and Langdon held out his hand.

"I'm delighted to meet you, senator. This is a proud day for me, sir."

Peabody had put on his smoothest and most polished manner.

"I came especially to meet you, Senator Langdon," he said. "Although we are on different sides we may be interested in the same things. I hope we shall see a great deal of each other."

Langdon chuckled.

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Canifton, Ont.—"I had been a great sufferer for five years. One doctor told me it was ulcers of the uterus, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor. No one knows what I suffered. I would always be worse at certain periods, and never was regular, and the bearing-down pains were terrible. I was very ill in bed, and the doctor told me I would have to have an operation, and that I might die during the operation. I wrote to my sister about it and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Through personal experience I have found it the best medicine in the world for female troubles, for it has cured me, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me while passing through Change of Life."—Mrs. LETITIA BLAIR, Canifton, Ontario.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to suffering women.

"That's mighty good of you, senator. I'm depending on you experienced fellows to put me through. Don't know much about this lawmaking business, you know. Raising cotton, arguing the government and bossing niggers have been about the extent of my occupation for the last forty years, so I reckon I'm not much of a practical lawmaker."

"Oh, you'll learn; you'll learn quickly," assured Peabody. "With Stevens, here, for a guide you can't go wrong. We all look up to Stevens. He's one of the powers on your side. He's an able man, is Stevens."

The new senator from Mississippi gladly corroborated this.

"You're right, sir. A great man! I tell you, when he told that legislature what they ought to do, Senator Peabody, they did it. If it wasn't for Stevens I wouldn't be here now."

In mock protest the senior senator from Mississippi raised his hands.

"Now, now, Langdon, don't say that. Your worth, your integrity, your character and our old friendship got you the senatorship."

The old planter laughed gleefully.

"Sure, Stevens, I have the character and the integrity, but I reckon the character and integrity wouldn't have done much business if you hadn't had the legislature."

Clearly delighted, Peabody considered it certain that this new senator knew just the way he should go and would cause no difficulty. His keen sense of gratitude made him appreciate how he had been elected. Peabody literally beamed on Langdon.

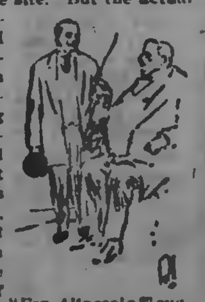
"I hope we shall be able to work a good deal together, senator," he said. "I have the interests of the south at heart, particularly with regard to this new naval base. Perhaps we may be able to get you on the naval committee."

"Me!" laughed Langdon. "Well, that would be going strong! But I tell you I'm for the naval base."

"For Altacoola?" suggested Stevens.

Langdon hesitated. Peabody and Stevens watched him as eagles watch their prey from the mountain crag.

"Well, it looks to me like Altacoola ought to be a fine site. But the actual place isn't so important to me. I tell you, gentlemen," he said in impressive seriousness that rang with sturdy American manhood—"I tell you that what is important is that the great, sweeping curve of the gulf shall hold some of those white ships of ours to watch over the Indies and the canal and to keep an eye on South America.



"For Altacoola?" suggested Stevens.

"And right there on our own southern coast I want these ships built and equipped and the guns cast and the men found to man them. I want the south to have her part in the nation's defense. I want her to have this great naval city as the living proof that there is again just one country—the United States—and the north and the south both have forgiven."

Senator Peabody clapped the new member on the back.

"Good!" he exclaimed. "You've got to make some speeches like that. We'll have you as the orator for the naval base."

Langdon's eyes opened wide.

"Orator!" he gasped. "Me! An orator!"

"Why, that was oratory, good oratory," exclaimed Stevens, with enthusiasm.

"Huh!" grunted the planter. "You call that oratory. Why, that was only the truth."

"We'll see that you do some more of it, then," laughed Peabody. "Remember, we count on you for the naval base."

"For rural simplicity he's perfection," whispered Peabody to Stevens as they left the planter. "He's a living picture of innocence. We'll push him forward and let him do the talking for the naval affairs committee. Hiding behind him, we could put through almost any kind of a proposition."

Once more did the senior senator from Mississippi acquiesce.

CHAPTER VI.

NEW FRIENDS—AND AN OLD ENEMY.

Langdon gazed at the two departing senators with varied emotions. He sat down to think over what they had said and to carefully consider what manner of man was Peabody, who showed such an interest in him. He realized that he would have considerable intercourse with Peabody in the processes of legislation and finally had to admit to himself that he did not like the senator from Pennsylvania. Just what it was Langdon could not at this time make certain, but he was mystified by traces of contradictions in the senator's character—slight traces, true, but traces nevertheless. Peabody's cordiality and sympathy were to Langdon's mind partly genuine and partly false. Just what was the cause of or the necessity for the alloy in the true metal he could not fathom.

SPECTACLES SHOULD BE CHANGED

Frequently people will get spectacles which suit them, and go on wearing them for years without having their sight tested to discover whether any change has taken place. This is wrong. All who wear glasses should have their eyes tested at intervals, even if the necessity of such is not apparent to them. As a general rule spectacles for old sight require changing about every 3 years, but it is desirable that the sight should be carefully tested every two years.

Have Eyes Tested at Intervals

AN OCTOBER BRIDE

A very pretty autumn wedding took place on Wednesday, October 12, in Port Hope, at the home of Mrs. Harry Keelar, Sherbourne street, when a popular young Peterborough lady, Miss Laura Victoria Quinn, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Jeffrey Pearson, of Peterborough. The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. H. Keelar, looked charming in a dress of white silk mull. After the ceremony the guests partook of a dainty wedding breakfast, after which the young couple left for their new home on the 4.30 train. The bride travelled in a pretty costume of grey broadcloth with hat to match, and a maribu stole. On the arrival at Peterborough an informal reception was held at Mrs. Roberts', Bethune street, of the young friends of Mrs. Pearson.

Many costly presents were received, among which was a cheque from the bride's mother and Mr. Pearson, showing the high esteem in which the bride is held.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearson will receive at their new home, 187 Antrim street, on November 3rd, afternoon and evening.

DELINE CASE! STARTLING IS THE EVIDENCE

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Oct. 13.—Hugh Deline, the alleged murderer of his wife in Belmont township, appeared before Magistrate Edmison here this afternoon for his preliminary hearing. Deline was brought down from the county jail by Constable Cochrane. The same witnesses as sworn at the inquest gave their testimony. Mrs. Matthews Little said that when she examined the body she found cow manure on Mrs. Deline's leg that looked as if it was off a man's boot. She saw a mark in the dirt on the floor at the body like the imprint of a man's knee and this led her to examine the body. Mr. McMillen also saw dirt flattened out on the floor, but could not say what had caused it.

Mrs. McQuaig, who helped to wash the body, saw signs like cow manure on her leg. Round marks like a knee under the body. Mr. McMillan also saw flattened dirt on the floor, but did not know what made it. Mr. Little also saw marks on the floor. Deline when he returned, changed his boots and socks, but gave no reason for it.

Deline was committed to appear at the fall assizes at Peterborough on October 25th.

LAST SESSION OF THE MISSIONARY INSTITUTE

What is it lays behind the missionary movement of the present generation?

Do the non-Christian nations need the gospel of Jesus Christ?

Either Jesus Christ is a world Christ or He is not ours.

These were the important questions which Mr. J. Lovell Murray, M.A., educational secretary, of the student volunteer movement, discussed at the closing session of the Missionary Institute held in St. Paul's church last night.

The attendance was large, the remarks of the speaker practical.

Regarding the first, the speaker said that different answers are given. One was that the movement had as a basis the character of God. That, he said, was one that the whole enterprise could be staked on.

It was sometimes said that the real fudamental basis is to be found in the personality of Jesus Christ.

Again, men say that the basis is to be found in the various institutions of the church—the character of the church.

Still again, is given as a basis, the teachings of Jesus, and again all could be staked on that.

These teachings of Jesus are binding upon us. The command was "Go ye into all the world." No place could be found, where Jesus had made an exception.

Business men and others had approved of the movement as a means of promoting national and international peace. Men have been benefited by their part in it. They have found themselves becoming bigger, and look upon it as the greatest, most monstrous, the most difficult and yet promising undertaking that men have engaged.

The speaker then went on to show how the present conditions in India, Turkey, Corea, need a guiding hand. These countries are handling difficult problems and the outcome makes a lot of difference.

And the non-Christian world is in need of Jesus Christ and desperately in need. This matter is doubted, but the church would not have its struggle of to-day if this was not true.

It had been said that the religion of Jesus Christ was distinctly for the white race and that it was a mistake to give it to the others.

Again, another had said that "God made the people what they are and God was greater than the missionaries. "But," said Mr. Murray, "if He is not for the Asiatic, He is not for the Anglo-Saxon. If He does not belong to the others, He is not for the Canadian or the American. After Christ's death a church began. Missionaries went out. They told our forefathers and we have bases our institutions and education accordingly. Then Jesus Christ is a world Christ or He is not ours.

Then in answer to the question of "Do these people need Jesus Christ," the speaker referred to the condition of the heathen race of the world and put before his audience the terrible and degrading lives which they lead.

People speak about social problems but we don't know the real meaning of social problems. If we were to leave some great city and go to some of the unchristian faces, we would see how great is the difference.

COUNTY TEACHERS IN SESSION; SYNOPSIS BY THEIR REPORTERS; LIVE MATTERS MUCH DISCUSSED; THE CHILD AND IT'S YEARNING

The opening session of the Peterborough Teachers' Institute was held this morning in the assembly hall of the Collegiate Institute. In previous years the conventions were held during the month of June, but as the members of the association were in the midst of preparations for examination and as therefore the same interest could not be expected as under the present conditions the departure to the fall months has indeed proved a pleasant and profitable one.

Miss Weir, the president of the association, in her address described her trip to the 47th national educational association held last July at Boston, at which a great many Canadian teachers were present. As the participants in the programme were several of them amongst the foremost educators of the republic, the recital of their addresses in brief proved very interesting and profitable.

The attention paid to the moral and physical well being of American school children and the patriotic spirit displayed at all times throughout the convention in Boston were to be admired. The arrangements made by the various committees to make the stay of the visitors pleasant were all that could be desired. Miss Weir's address was received with great enthusiasm and was discussed by several of the teachers present.

The nominating committee for the present session was then named by president.

Interesting and valuable papers of arithmetic were read by Messrs. Richardson, O'Brien and Mowat, under the following heads:—(a) Cancellation (b) Measures (c) Some Difficulties. In connection with the treatment of the above subject blackboard demonstrations of the various phase of each were given and a thorough discussion was held after each paper.

A joint meeting of the city and county teachers is being held this afternoon at the Normal school, a report of which will be published in to-morrow's press.

NINE WALKED TO FRONT, KNELT DOWN, PRAYED; IMPRESSIVE SCENE LAST NIGHT AT PARK ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

The practical side of the Missionary Institute was ably demonstrated at the Park street Baptist church last night, when in response to the invitation by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Riddiford, nine came boldly out from their seats and walked to the front, and kneeling before God, gave themselves over to the Christ who is able to save, and keep to the uttermost all who are willing to put their trust in him. The meetings continue to grow in spiritual power, and each night of the mission has seen souls tried, tired of the life of selfishness and sin, crying for mercy.

Dr. Sam Luttrell gave a very instructive and really eloquent address upon the "Personality of the Holy Spirit."

Taking his text from Ephesians 4, 30, "Grieve not the Holy Spirit," he showed in a masterful way how it is possible to grieve the Blessed Third Person of the Holy Trinity.

The Holy Spirit might be called the Mother-God.

A man in his sober, sound mind would not knowingly grieve his mother.

Many do through drink, "I have done it, but thank God to-night my mother in glory can look down upon a son saved by grace.

It was a most telling and powerful address.

Mr. Mulligan will sing again at to-night's service.

The closing night of the mission will be next Tuesday evening, when Dr. Luttrell will tell the wonderful story of his life and rescue from a drunkard's grave and hell.

A free-will offering will be taken and we are sure that all whose who have attended the services will feel like helping as best they can this man of God.

All should come and hear this wonderful story of redeeming grace.

Service to-night at 8 p.m.

Everybody welcome.

ORIGINAL PRODUCTION OF 60 PEOPLE

There is no doubt that "A Winning Miss," by Doyle Woolfolk, is one of the most stupendous and beautiful shows to visit Peterborough this season. The original production of 60 people, strengthened by Max Bloom was considered to be the most beautiful of any of the musical successes of last season in Chicago.

Max Bloom will be remembered for his connection with "The Mayor of Tokio," and he has a very much larger scope to show his versatility in a much higher class piece and has never been funnier than he is found in this vehicle.

The music in "A Winning Miss," is of the regular Woolfolk type, among the hits are "Eve", "The Land To-morrow", "Mean Thing", "Different Ways of Making Love," and "Did You Ever See So Many Funny Looking Hats," and a half dozen others, all of them with a pretty swing, and just sufficiently plaintive to grip the audience hard and leave them humming, whistling or singing when they leave the theatre.

LORRAINE LESTER
With "A Winning Miss"

The costuming of the show is a revelation to every woman in the audience; the stylish show girls, dapper chorus men and quartettes artistically encased in stupendous scenic embellishments, all go toward making one of the season's best offerings.

A "Winning Miss" will play at The Grand Opera House, Monday, Oct. 17 for one night only. A special augmented orchestra will be used for this occasion and it might be a wise plan to procure seats early as this attraction has been doing a phenomenal business ever produced.

The seat sale opens to-morrow morning.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I would like to correct a false impression with reference to the hymn, "Just for To-day," published in yesterday's issue of the Review, and credited to Wm. Huckle, now confined in Kingston Penitentiary. This hymn, which appears in the new Anglican hymn book, was, I understand, taken from a volume of verses written in the year 1880 by a Sister of the Community of Notre Dame in England. Mr. J. Edmund Jones, secretary of the compilation committee on the new hymn book, met the Sister in question and saw the volume of verses written by her, of which this is one. Three verses of this hymn were not used by the committee, one of which reads:—

"Let me in purgatorial fires
Brief space delay,
O, let me, if to-day I die,
Go home to-day."

This verse shows Roman Catholic influence and would not be accredited to Huckle, who, I believe, is a Baptist.

The hymn is credited "Anon. 1880," in the hymn book.

Yours, etc.,
ANGLICAN.

ELLIOT'S

The Reason Why Taffeta Silk Shrinks

There was a demand for a cheap silk that would rustle, a silk that would almost 'stand alone.' A rich gros grain silk would do this.

But it is quite expensive as it takes so much silk to make this quality.

After much experimenting and many trials, it was discovered that if they used a light silk thread and 'loaded' the woven fabric with very finely ground glass, the finished article would have the desired rustle and stiffness. And when the silk was ready for the market it could be sold for just a fraction of the price the solid silk would cost. They did this and called it taffeta. When the taffeta is very heavily loaded with the glass, varying humidity and temperature causing expansion and contraction of the silk is the reason why the silk cuts when simply hanging up. Also the friction of wear will cause it to cut. When the silk is slimsy it hasn't so much glass in it and it won't cut so quickly.

In our Waist Section we are showing all the newest designs in dressy waists for Fall in all the new silks and warm fabrics.

"PRIEST HAS FULL POWER TO FORGIVE ALL SIN" SERMON TO MEN LAST NIGHT AT ST. PETER'S

Another large gathering of men listened to Father Gillis last evening in St. Peter's Cathedral. The words of St. John "Whose Sins ye Retain, They Shall Be Retained," was the text of his discourse last evening, and although differing somewhat from the nature of his addresses so far, yet was very instructive. Father Gillis explained the Roman Catholic meaning of confession, and from what source the priests received power to grant forgiveness of sins. He dwelt on the fact that the most universal and conspicuous feature of the world to-day was sin. The most ghastly fact in the world's history has been sin. The blackest sin, is not spiritual or mental blindness; it is sin. The heaviest cross that rests upon the shoulders of mankind is the cross of sin, and the greatest curse is not the fear of death or sorrow, but the curse of sin.

Unless a man blind his eyes, deafen his ears, stupify his mind, he must admit that the biggest problem that confronts religion to-day is sin. If any man is to come into the world to do good, he must be a man who can face the problem.

A man may captivate other men by oratory, he may take the minds of people by storm by the very brilliancy of his thoughts, but all these things do not make a man capable of besting sin.

Any man who is to be the Saviour of the race, must be given power to forgive sin. It was one of the chiefest works of Jesus Christ. He gathered a little group of devoted men around him, empowered them with power to forgive sin, preach and baptize. It is the firm belief of the Catholic religion that Christ gave these men power to forgive sin and to retain it, and if any man wants to know how the priests can forgive sin it is because they were ordained by the descendants of these apostles to whom was given power by God. This is the origin of how priests can forgive. It is the continuance of the power down through the ages from the apostles to the present day.

"Although my dear men you are living in a non-catholic community," said Father Gillis, remember I do not counsel controversy. There may be stumbling blocks to your religion around you, but live peaceably, be charitable for the soul and light of religion is charity. A gigantic blunder was made when the Catholics and Protestants fought each other about the religion of Jesus Christ. "The Protestants" said Father Gillis, have an explanation of from where the Catholics priests received their power to forgive sins. Not the learned or scholarly Protestants, but those who have only skimmed the surface of history and theology. They said that in the year 1215, in Rome, a decree went forth commanding all faithful Catholics to confess sins to priests. This theory, stated the speaker, is nothing but a myth. Human nature is human nature everywhere, and if any person thinks that a body of priests would gather together and concoct the above decree, that man does not know human nature. Suppose a Presbyterian must confess to a Presbyterian minister; would there not be a disturbance. Yes indeed, there would be a revolution. If a group of priests put that yoke upon the church, there would be a split, a discord. The decree was a rank impossibility.

Priests have to confess to Bishops. Bishops have to confess and even the Pope confesses every day to his confessor. If a man commits sin he must confess it, and the duties of a priest are arduous and his health often pays the forfeit of it.

The Catholic religion, the belief in confession has existed for nineteen hundred years. All the weapons of hatred have been directed upon it, have sought to overthrow it. It has been the favorite means of attack of all non-catholic believers, but it cannot be overthrown. The numbers are growing, their strength is increasing in England, in United States and in Canada, their numbers are growing with incomprehensible rapidity. Let opposition annihilate catholicism in some parts, as is Mexico, if it can, but there is no smothering out the Catholic people.

In closing, said Father Gillis, "I command you all to prepare well for confession. Your sins will be forgiven, for God empowers man to do anything he wills, whether it be the raising of the dead, performing miracles, preaching or baptizing.

To-night Father Gillis extends a cordial invitation to all men, especially non-catholic, to be present at the meeting, as he will have something to say of special interest to them.

SEVERE INJURY

Mr. Harry Huffman, a young man living on King street, son of Mr. C. H. Huffman, the contractor, had the misfortune to be badly injured while at work this morning. He was employed at the new addition to B. F. Ackerman's factory and was jammed between the wall and one of the doors of the elevator. He was badly crushed. Comstock's ambulance conveyed him to his home. While he is severely injured, it is not thought that his injuries will prove fatal.

WANT REPRESENTATIVE ON PUBLIC LIBRARY BOARD

Trades and Labor Council Think They Should Have One to Look After Interests of Technical Literature — Local Non-union Products Not Regarded With Favor—To Question Aldermanic Candidates.

The regular monthly meeting of the Trades and Labor Council was held in their hall Simcoe street, last evening and it was the best meeting of the council since its reorganization. A large representation from the various unions was present and by the many lively discussions that took place and the resolutions that were passed during the evening it was quite evident that the new council was a live one. By a resolution passed all the indebtedness of the old council has been wiped out and it is expected at the next regular meeting that the council will have the pleasure of working under a new charter. Attention was drawn to the fact that many non-union stoves, and possibly non-union carpets were being offered for sale in the city and the unions will be notified of the matter. The question of the new library board was opened up, and owing to the needs of the trades generally in technical literature it was considered advisable in these interests that a representative from the Trades and Labor Council should be placed upon the board. A committee was appointed to see what could be done in having the wishes of the council carried out. The question of the long hours of labor that some contractors are making use of in doing city work was brought up and a committee was appointed to investigate and report on the conditions. This committee will be asked also to draft a number of questions to be put to various applicants for municipal honors in the coming elections. Some were in favor of the council nominating candidates, but this step was not considered necessary.

GET IN THE GAME NOW

Judging by the number of men who turned out last evening to the first meeting of the evening classes at the Y. M. C. A., quite a number of men have decided to spend their long winter evenings in study. Those who want to take up mechanical drawing were in the majority. This class promises to be the most successful, although the men who want matriculation work are in dead earnest about their classes.

The first session of the class in mechanical drawing will be held on the evening of Wednesday, October 19th, when the instruments will be on hand and the teacher will meet his class. That is the session to start in on, otherwise a man misses some very valuable information.

Much of the work of this class is hand to hand. The individual needs of each student is dealt with, and the teacher helps the man through his own problems. The study of shop arithmetic will be combined with the drawing and they will both be given for the price of one. The cost of these lessons has been placed at the lowest possible price, so that any young man can take advantage of them.

The men who have not decided yet whether they will take up the course in matriculation had better get busy. The winter nights will be with us before we realize it and it may then be too late.

There will be a class in electricity taught by a competent man, the very thing for the young men who intend to follow up this line of work. Get your name in to the secretary at once so that the class can start.

FINE MEETING AT SMITH

One of the largest meetings in the history of the 4th Line of Smith was held last evening to hear Mr. Burnham, who had been invited to be present and speak on "Church and State." Other city gentlemen also had been invited, but they were not there. The speaker said that he was pleased to see that the management had taken every pains to remove "suspicion" from the occasion by inviting speakers from both political parties. It was too bad that some of them had not turned up. Some people, like some of our newspapers were getting afraid to call their souls their own. Such people did not deserve to have any souls. He paid a strong tribute to the Times in this relation and said: "It was the one avenue of getting arguments on "ticklish" questions before the people of the city. The speaker said the present question was not a religious question. The Pope had made it a question of State. The papacy considered, as it freely stated, that Protestantism was almost dead, and it was devoting its immense power to the crushing out, not of Protestantism but of the idea of the sovereignity of the people. He said it was no doubt irritating to Protestants to bear that they were not really married, but living in unholy and corrupt union, that their missionaries were "hyaenas," that their religion was "soulless," &c., but they could stand that. When, however, the freedom of the people was attacked, when the sovereign power and will of the people was declared to be an intolerable condition of freedom, when the time was considered ripe for forcing us back to the old class system, it was time to take notice. The Church of Rome felt powerful enough now to move in the matter. Immense numbers of prominent and educated men had of recent years become Romanists. Rome was fighting the battle of the Church vs. the People, not of the Church vs. Protestantism. The recent decrees of His Holiness made this position quite clear and definite. If the mass of the people did not fight their own battle for intellectual freedom, the classes would not do it, for the classes are with Rome. It was to be hoped that right would not have to yield to might. Liberty looked doubly sweet when it appeared as if it might have to be given up. The power of the Church of Rome in Canada was greater than that of all other churches combined, and possibly of the State also. Recent events demonstrated that the patriot-rebels of Portugal, France and Spain were not turning Protestant. So it is plain what the true state of affairs really is.

CANADA'S FAMOUS FOOTBALL TRAINER

Gives His Opinion of Zam-Buk

Mr. Sim Vaughan, trainer of the Hamilton Tiger's Football Team, and admittedly one of Canada's finest trainers, is amongst those who have proved how useful Zam-Buk is to the athlete, as well as in the home. He says: "I hold Zam-Buk in the very highest esteem as a balm and embrocation for athletes. As trainer to the famous Tigers Football Team of Hamilton, I introduced it some time back and it would be safe to say that there is not one single member of the team who has not been indebted to Zam-Buk for the cure of some bad bruise, cut or sprain. Zam-Buk prevents wounds "taking the wrong way," and ensures rapid and healthy healing.

"Many of the ordinary preparations cause hard encrustations to form on a wound or cut, and when these get knocked off, the wound is worse than ever. Zam-Buk, on the contrary, while healing a wound keeps the tissue soft.

"In my estimation it is the finest healing balm obtainable; and no athletic institution or no athlete should be without it. I say this after over fifteen years' experience as a trainer of athletes, and after experimenting with nearly all known embrocations. Zam-Buk is, without doubt, entirely superior."

Athletes should note that the above opinion is shared by such well-known sportsmen and athletes as Sherring, of Hamilton; Longboat, the All Blacks, of New Zealand, and all the leading football organizations of England. For sprains, cuts and abrasions, for stiffness, muscular rheumatism, and as an all round embrocation and balm, Zam-Buk is—as Mr. Vaughan expresses it—"entirely superior." All druggists and stores at 50c. box. Refuse imitations.

SPORT IN ENGLAND.

A Pheasant Run Is Not a Branch of the Poultry Business.

"A Plain American in England," by Charles T. Whitefield, is a highly amusing diatribe on the gentle art of British entertainment. It appears in the American Magazine, and in the course of some descriptions of English customs the author relates the following incident, which happened at a pheasant run:

"A friend for whom I have a great admiration took me to see a pheasant run. The place looked just like a big chicken yard such as we have at home. There were hundreds of the birds feeding on scraps and grain thrown to them by the keeper. I had seen strings of these birds hanging up in the markets for sale at low prices, had bought their eggs in the swell restaurants at high prices, and I naturally supposed that this trade was conducted like any other branch of the poultry business. When you have been in England a short time you realize that you must approach the subject of trade or business with some delicacy, but I longed to know the modus operandi of poultry packing among the swells. I wondered if they could teach our Chicago stockyards anything. So I asked the keeper in my broadest English:

"'How do you collect and ship these birds?'

"'Collect 'em, sir?'

"'Yes,' I said, 'how do you kill them and get them to market?'

"'We don't kill 'em. We send in beaters and shoot 'em. It's great sport, sir!'

"That seemed to me a disgusting proposition—to beat a flock of tame, harmless pets to death and shoot them besides—and I remonstrate:

"'Why don't you simply wring their necks with a quick twist of the wrist, insuring a rapid and painless death, and then'—

"But my friend grasped me violently by the arm and drew men abruptly away. I felt badly about it, because this good and valuable host said it would be at least twenty years before he could look that gamekeeper in the face with tranquillity."

TOO GOOD A SHAVE.

It Lulled Budd to Sleep While the Price of Stocks Tumbled.

One of the anecdotes in Joseph L. King's "History of the San Francisco Stock Exchange Board" is as follows:

While stocks were quite low during a spell in 1873 a discovery of ore was made in Ophir, the stock advancing in price. It was the policy of those in control of a Comstock mine to keep secret any improvement until they could secure for themselves a good quantity of the stock.

Budd heard of this Ophir discovery and bought some stock, and as the price advanced from $16 to $85 the profits on his purchases at low figures enabled him to buy more stocks. Being quite a plunger, he purchased in all 2,500 shares. As the stock still advanced to higher figures he sold about 1,500 shares, leaving him a balance of 1,000 shares when the stock reached $82, which would have given him quite a large profit if all were sold at that figure.

During the recess that day he determined to sell the remainder, which would give him quite a profit. The afternoon session was devoted to the calling of outside stocks, occupying half an hour, after which the members would call up, through the chairman, any of the Comstock shares. Budd, thinking he had time sufficient during that first half hour to get shaved, sat down in a barber's chair and, being quite flush, gave the barber $5, directing him to give him a good shave. It turned out to be too good a shave, as Budd went to sleep, and the barber, being well paid, devoted quite a time in making his customer appear respectable. Budd woke up, looked at his watch and made a rush for the board. He ascertained that Ophir had been called and had broken so badly that when his stock was sold he only obtained $40 a share for it.

He always claimed that that shave cost him just $40,000.

Getting Into a Life Buoy.

The average person in danger of drowning usually attempts to lift a life buoy over his head, with the result that he is immediately plunged deeper into the water. A good swimmer can do this with a sudden upward jerk, but with the nonswimmer it is almost an impossible feat. What he should do when he has seized the buoy is to place both hands, palms downward, on the buoy on the part nearest the body, pressing it downward and slightly away, when the farther part of the buoy will rise out of the water and actually fall over the head. The arms can then be put through easily, "and there you are."

Just the Same.

"Try one of these light biscuits," the bride suggested. "I thought they might be a welcome change from bread."

"Fine!" exclaimed the young husband. "Just like those we got at the bakery when I was living at home."

"That's where I got them," she said.—Buffalo Express.

The Story of the Icelanders.

Lately, there has been history on the Red River. A few days ago, a little party of Icelanders filed out of their church and marched to the big steamer Winnitoba for a short excursion. They were a reflective crowd, thinking of the old days. Thirty-five years ago the first men of Iceland reached Winnipeg. From there they pushed out in barges northward to the west shore of Lake Winnipeg. The trip was not very smooth. Sometimes the frail craft grounded; notably when the St. Andrews Rapids was reached. Four days they drifted. At last, the mouth of the river greeted them; then there was a pause till the Colville of the Hudson Bay Co. fleet chugged into sight and hauled the lonely foreigners on board. On Sunday, Oct. 20, 1875, at a jut of land on the west coast known as Willow Point they disembarked from the Colville. Possibly this Sabbath Day was the most depressive that they ever spent in their lives. From the crowded thoroughfares of the east to the trails of the wilderness was rather an abrupt transition. Indians stalked out of the bush and welcomed them with mild wonder. The night were hideous with the barking of prairie wolves.

That was thirty-five years ago. Willow Point is now Gimili of the Icelanders, one of the prosperous immigrant settlements of the Dominion. To-day there are at least ten thousand Icelanders in Canada — great many assimilated. Icelanders sit in the legislatures, publish newspapers; some of the young chaps have won Rhode Scholarships and played football. Such is the making of Canada.

Why Should I Carry Insurance?

BECAUSE

It is better to have it and not need it, than to need it and not have it.

Insurance Co's are paying out over one million dollars every day of the year to those who have met with misfortune, but who have sufficient foresight to have made provision against such mishaps by insurance.

You cannot find stronger, safer, better or more liberal companies in their settlements than those we represent for fire, life, accident, plate glass, live stock, marine or automobile, or other insurance.

Dry Your Clothes on a Wet Washday

With a New Perfection Oil Heater

When clothes can't be hung outside, and must be dried in a room or cellar, the New Perfection Oil Heater quickly does the work of sun and air. You can hang up the wet clothes, light your Perfection Oil Heater, open the damper top, and the heat rises and quickly dries the clothes.

Do not put off washing to await a sunny day in order to avoid mildew. Dry your washing any day with hot air from a

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

Absolutely smokeless and odorless

It gives just as much heat as you desire. It is safe, odorless and smokeless.

It has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back, so the wick can be quickly cleaned. Burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and can always be easily unscrewed for rewicking.

An indicator shows the amount of oil in the font. Filler-cap does not need to be screwed down, but is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain. FROM THE CAVAN BLAZERS

An Anniversary—Returned From West—Farm Sold—Personals

Special to the Review.

Cavan, Oct. 5.—Mr. Wm. Elliott arrived home last week from Burke's Falls, where he has been visiting for the past three weeks. He is at present engaged in putting in the cement work in connection with the new stable being built by Mr. Ned Sisson.

Miss Isabella Lowes, of Peterborough, is a welcome guest at the home of her brother, Mr. John Lowes, Bethany.

Mr. Chris. Sisson left on Monday to attend the fall meetings of the High Court as a petit juror. Mr. Justice Britton will preside.

And still they come! The stork paid a friendly visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Winslow last week. As a result a fine baby girl now adorns the home.

ANNIVERSARY.

Anniversary services were held at the Fallis Line Methodist church on Sunday. A large and appreciative audience turned out to hear the Rev. C. E. Craig, of Foxboro, a former pastor.

RETURNED HOME FROM WEST.

Mr. Fred Staples returned home last week after an extensive trip throughout the west. He reports an excellent time.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Matt Staples, of Manvers, spent Sunday at the home of his uncle, Mr. J. W. Gardiner, Cavan.

Messrs. Wm. and Richard Swain were visitors at the home of Mr. Joshua Swain over Sunday.

BOUGHT FARM.

Mr. Fair, of Manvers, has purchased the John Howden property east of Ida, where he intends to commence operations in the spring.

Mr. Bert Tinney, of Cobourg, was a guest of his uncle, Mr. Wm. Tinney, Cavan.

The Ladies' Aid Society held a business meeting at the home of Mrs. Jim Douglas on Wednesday last, when several important items of business were dealt with, after which the various topics of the day were discussed.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Sam Ferguson, a former resident of Cavan, was a visitor to the fair on Friday last.

A TYPHOID EPIDEMIC.

A typhoid fever epidemic has appeared around Lotus and the surrounding country. Precautionary measures have been adopted to stamp the disease out.

FARM CHANGES HANDS.

Mr. John Morton, of Manvers, has announced his intention of returning to the farm now occupied by his son, Mr. Lou Morton, of Cavan. Lou has purchased 50 acres of land south of Millbrook, where he intends to remove in the spring.

Mr. Wm. MacMaster had the misfortune to lose a valuable horse last week, colic being the immediate cause of death.

ANNIVERSARY

The anniversary services were held at Ebenezer on Sunday, while a similar event will take place in Bethany Methodist Church on the first Sunday in November, followed by a fowl supper on the following Monday night.

Special anniversary services were held at Cavanville Methodist Church on Sunday. A large crowd turned out both morning and evening to hear the Rev. Mr. Mounteer, a former pastor. Special music was provided. Mr. Carley, station agent, rendered valuable assistance along that line. The handsome sum of $162.50 was received as a thank-offering.

AFTERMATH—MILLBROOK SHOW

The Midway—Boy Scouts—Good Horses—Parade—Grand Finale.

Special to the Review.

Millbrook, Oct. 7.—Favored by bright autumnal weather, the Millbrook Agricultural Society threw open their gates to-day to what we believe to have been an unusually large crowd of people. From early morning until late in the afternoon they streamed in from all parts of the country, in all kinds of conveyances, from the old grey mare and the buckboard up to the automobile. They were all out to see the show, to see the results of the painstaking efforts of the officers of the Millbrook Agricultural Society to produce "the best yet," and they certainly realised their anticipations, judging by the favorable comments of the crowd on all sides. Once inside the grounds, a scene of animation was spread out before you, while the strains of the Millbrook band were heard in the distance. As we proceeded on to the main building the crowd became more dense, but by a strenuous effort we succeeded in gaining an entrance at the expense of crowding somebody else or tramping on their heels, but they usually returned the compliment by tramping on ours, so honors were equally divided in that respect. The exhibits in the main building far surpassed those of previous years, both in quantity and quality. The garden produce was especially good, while the floral department was also well represented. There was also a splendid showing in the art department of pencil drawings and water colors, the work of some of our local artists of no small repute. Some of the town's enterprising tradesmen also had exhibits of their respective goods, among them being a beautiful case of hand-made horse shoes, made by Mr. Nugent. Needless to say, they were decorated with a red ticket.

Mr. Abe Payne also had an exhibit of up-to-date stable fittings, comprising stanchions, letter carriers, etc.

During the afternoon melodious sounds were heard floating across the grounds, which, on investigation being made, proved to be the results of the combined efforts of a score of lusty young roosters to make themselves heard. There was a splendid exhibit of fowl of all kinds, needless to say, they needed no advertising. Mr. W. Mein, of Peterborough, and Mr. Jim Baptie were the principal exhibitors. They succeeded in carry off a number of prizes.

THE MIDWAY.

You couldn't keep the crowd away from the midway with a cudgel as T. P. Barnum, the late well known circus man used to say. The people love to be humbugged, which saying is not entirely devoid of truth, judging by the crowd which hung around the midway this afternoon, whether they were humbugged or not does not matter here, they enjoyed themselves anyway that's what they were out for. The number of people occupying space on the midway were considerably less than previous years. One man did a rushing business with a game, the name of which presents an unsolved mystery to the uninitiated, while another man requested you to sit in a chair, to the great amusement of the onlookers at your strenuous efforts to look pleasant while the man in question produced a mutilated likeness of yourself on a button, this was about the extent of the midway operations.

REVIEW OF BOY SCOUTS

Another interesting feature of the show was the review of the Boy Scouts by Col. Young, of Port Hope. At three o'clock the Scouts were assembled by their leader, Capt. Winslow, and marched to the parade ground, where, in the presence of Col. Young, they were put through their various drills. Great credit is due to the leader and the boys themselves, for the efficient manner in which the various manoeuvres were carried out, after which a short address was given by the colonel, in which he congratulated the boys on their efficiency and general behavior, and bade them be prepared to defend their country's honor, should the occasion arise.

SOME GOOD HORSES AT SHOW.

There was a splendid turnout of high horses in all the various classes this year especially among the draught horses Mr. Joe Staples and Mr. Sanderson being prizewinners for the draught team competition, while Mr. Woods, Mr. Joe Perin, Mr. Fred Staples and Mr. J. N. McGill figured as prizewinners in some of the other classes. Th etrotting event swere also an interesting feature, there were only three entries this year, despite the heavy heavy rain on Thursday, the track was in excellent shape on Friday for the contests which were all run off without a hitch.

PARADE FINALE.

A general parade of prize winning stock took place at 4.30 and was well represented after which one of the most successful fairs for this part of the country in recent years was brought to a close and last but not least, was the highly successful concert of the following high-class talent Miss Clarry, pianist; Miss Eva Cuthbert, vocalist and dancer; Miss Walker, elocutionist, and Eddie Piggot, all of Toronto. The hall was packed to overflowing while the frequent encores which were given the entertainers was sufficient proof of their ability to deliver the goods.

PERSONALS

Miss Laura Clark left last week for Orillia, where she has accepted a position as teacher in the Public school there.

Mr. Geo. McKim, of Peterborough, was a visitor to town last week, Geo. along with two Port Hope landsmen, assisted the band on fair day.

Mr. Geo. Locke returned home last week from the west where he has been working for the past three months. He has an excellent opinion of the country.

Mr. Sid Fitzgerald has returned home after an enjoyable trip to Chicago. Sid is getting to be quite a globe trotter.

The Misses Parnel's of Peterborough, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Burnham for a few days last week.

Dr. Turner was in Montreal for a few days last week.

IMPROVEMENTS.

Mr. John Fair is making extensive improvements to his newly acquired property on Main street now occupied by Dr. Fisher.

The extensive improvements being made to the Methodist church are rapidly nearing completion under the guiding hand of Mr. Graham, decorator. They expect to have it done in time for the anniversary to be held on Oct 23rd.

ACCIDENT.

Mrs. Isaac Larmer had the misfortune to fall and dislocate her collar bone last week. We all hope for a speedy recovery.

SHOW.

The Denton Co., consisting of a troup of minstrels gave a very creditable performance in the town hall on Monday night last. They arrived in town on Saturday night and had considerable difficulty in securing accommodation, but finally they secured a place above Mr. Adams' store where they spent the two evenings upon the floor.

ON THE SICK LIST.

We regret to say that Mr. Maxwell Henry is on the sick list these days. We all hope for a speedy recovery.

Dr. and Mrs. Stanford Hawkins of Port Hope were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Senfield Staples over Sunday.

LAKEFIELD NOTES

Lakefield, Oct. 12—The Laymen's Missionary Banquet held in the lecture room of the Methodist Church, Lakefield, Friday, Oct. 7, was from every point of view, a great success. It was interdenominational and the interest taken by all the protestant churches, resulted in a gathering of 150 men, from the village and surrounding community. After a most sumptuous banquet which had been prepared by the ladies of the various churches, most inspiring addresses were delivered by the three speakers secured. It is not too much to say that a profound impression was produced on the minds of the men and a resolution embodying the aims of the Laymen's Movement was proposed and unanimously carried. The three speakers whose masterly addresses will long be remembered were D. W. Dumble, K. C. of Peterborough; Canon Tucker and Dr. McKay of Toronto.

Miss J. Murdoch returned home after spending a month with friends in Midland and Orillia.

Shooting matches for turkeys will soon be the order of the day. A number of expert shots have already started in training for the events.

Miss J. Macnab of Peterborough is at present the guest of the Misses Rayk.

A Sunday School rally will be held in the Bridgeworth Church on Tuesday, Oct. 18.

Mr. Russell Chant of Lakefield left on Monday for the Dental College in Chicago.

Rev. Dr. McKay of Toronto, gave an excellent address in the morning and evening in the Presbyterian Church, Lakefield.

NEWSY NOTES FROM NORWOOD

The Fair—The Board of Education—Personals

Special to the Review.

Norwood, Oct. 4.—The Board of Education met on the above date, the following members being present:—Messrs. J. E. Squire (chairman), C. W. Waters, E. P. Cuffe D. McNaughton, J. A. Finlay, F. Anderson, J. Doherty, H. N. Drain and J. F. Elliott.

Minutes of last meeting read and adopted.

The chairman reported that the Government grant to Agricultural School of $1,200 had been received and deposited in the bank.

The resignation of Mr. T. Loughbridge as member of the Board was accepted, on motion of Messrs. Elliott and Cuffe.

The chairman reported that the janitor had been re-engaged at a salary of $450.

Re insurance on public school; Mr. Squire promised a report at next meeting of the Board.

The special committee appointed to investigate the state of the fences on the school premises forming a portion of the fair grounds reported they had not been able up to the present to ascertain the exact extent of the Board's liabilities in regard to same as the deed covering the land owned by the school could not be found. After some discussion Mr. Cuffe moved, seconded by Mr. Doherty, that the secretary write the secretary of the Agricultural Society expressing the regret of the Board that they had up to the present time been unable to ascertain the extent of their obligations in regard to the fair grounds, but the matter would be attended to during the coming year.

Moved by Messrs. Finlay and Cuffe that the secretary be instructed to procure a copy of the missing deed from the County Registrar covering the portion of land owned by the Board in the fair grounds, and that he ascertain what a safe can be secured for to keep valuable papers in.—Carried.

The Property Committee reported that they had had the floor in the principal's room in the Public School laid, and also that they had found it necessary to have new furnace pipes put in both in the High and Public schools.

On motion of Messrs. Anderson and Drain the action of the Property Committee was confirmed.

A lengthy discussion took place in regard to certain phases of the work in the Agricultural Department of the High School, after which the following motion was passed:—

Moved by Messrs. Waters and McNaughton, that Messrs. Finlay, Doherty, Elliott and Drain be a committee to interview Mr. Duffe in regard to the Agricultural School.—Carried.

The following accounts were passed:—W. C. Doughty, work on agricultural plot, $5.50; J. W. York, supplies and equipment for Agricultural School, $20.27; Alex. Small, laying floor in Public School, $15.50.

Mr. Cuff presented a list of equipment, etc., for the Science Department in the High School, which would amount to about $80.00;

Moved by Messrs. Finlay and Doherty.—That the Supply Committee be authorized to purchase the supplies, &c., required as per list read, they to act in conjunction with the principal of the school.—Carried.

The Supply Committee reported having purchased a car of soft coal at $5.25 per ton—Approved.

A PROPHECY

Tuesday promises ideal weather for the fair and as a consequence entries are pouring in so fast that secretary Roxburgh and his assistants are kept on the jump to accomodate all the enquirers for space to show their exhibits.

REPAIRS

The John Finlay & Sons Company's works are shut down for a few days to do some necessary repairs before winter.

Norwood lovers of sport are anxiously awaiting the opening of the season for partridge shooting, and it is expected that some good bags will be reported as the king of Ontario game birds are said to be very plentiful in the woods this fall.

Mr. P. W. Severette has rented one half of Mr. John Davidson's brick double house on Queen Street and will move into it in the near future.

Mr. Jesse Thompson has completed the work on his new store on Colborne Street, and is now ready for customers, with a well assorted up-to-date stock of groceries.

Mr. Ben. Weese has improved his residence on Alma Street by the addition of a new kitchen and fresh cove siding on all his house, which when decorated with two or three coats of paint will present quite an attractive appearance.

DIED IN THE "PEN"

Kingston, Oct. 12—Robert Wardell, an inmate of the penitentiary, died on Monday ~~evening~~. Deceased was sentenced at Peterborough to three years for arson. He arrived last February, and had been in the institution hospital most of the time suffering from rheumatism. He was the oldest prisoner who ever entered, being over 83 years when he commenced his term.

RAZED BY FIRE

(Special To The Review.)

Montreal, Oct. 13—Twenty-five business concerns were burned out this morning, when the King's Hall building on St. Catharines Street West was destroyed.

The firemen made a couple of thrilling rescues. Edward Coates, elevator man, who slept on the top floor, and John Jones, billiard hall attendant, sought safety on the roof, which is five stories from the ground.

The fire swept toward their corner. They seemed likely to lose their lives owing to the difficulty of getting their extension ladders through the maze of wires in front of the building. But they were finally reached and saved.

Both men had to be revived at the hospital.

Several firemen sustained severe injuries during the progress of the fire and several of them had to be taken to the hospital.

Wonderful Cure of Rheumatism by Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mrs. Hutchins of Dunham, Que., Could not walk across the room—Story of her speedy and complete cure.

Dunham, Que., October 12, (Special).— Missisquoi County is ringing with the story of Mrs. G. M. Hutchins, who after suffering from rheumatism, lumbago and neuralgia, is again a strong, hearty woman. In an interview Mrs. Hutchins says:

"I was affected with rheumatism, neuralgia and lumbago. My limbs would swell; my muscles would cramp; I was nervous and had a heavy dragging sensation across the loins.

"I could not even walk across the room. Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking six boxes found myself in the best of health—as well as ever I was in my life."

Mrs. Hutchins' troubles were all caused by Kidney Disease. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills cured them so completely and quickly. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure only Kidney Disease, but they are a sure cure for any form of it from backache to bright's disease.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN MONTREAL SIX PERSONS INCINERATED

Three Men, a Woman and Two Children Dead in Montreal.

Not Until Ten Hours After the Start of a Conflagration In King's Hall Building Is It Discovered That Six Are Missing — Night Watchman Found With His Two Children In His Arms—Firemen Injured.

Montreal, Oct. 14.—Six persons, three men, a woman and two children, lost their lives in the disastrous fire that early yesterday morning completely gutted the King's Hall building on West St. Catharine street. That anyone had perished was not known until nearly noon, ten hours after the fire had started, when the checking over of a list of persons supposed to have been in the building during the night resulted in the discovery that six were missing.

At 1.30 the firemen working in the debris on the top floor of the building found the first positive evidence of the tragedy. In a small room near the front wall of the building the body of Frank Withall, 33 years of age, night watchman of the building, was found. In his arms were his two children—one, a little girl of four years of age and the other a little boy of a year and a half. Thirty feet away from the father and the two children the searchers presently found the body of the mother, a young woman 30 years of age. Her hands and feet were badly burned, but death, as in the case of her husband and two children, had evidently been the result of asphyxiation.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a fifth victim was found, Charles Thessier, a man 58 years of age. The body was found in a passage way outside his bedroom door on the top flat. It looked as if he was returning to his room to dress, preparatory to making his way to the fire escape leading to the roof. Thessier was manager of the King's Hall billiard and pool room, and had come here from Boston only about a month ago, to take charge of the rooms for the United States firm of Billiard, Limited. It is said that he was once amateur billiard champion of the United States at 14-inch balk line billiards, and had also held the professional championship of New England.

The last victim was found about 6.30 o'clock in the evening. He was [illegible] Richards, 40 years of age, assistant manager of the King's Hall billiard and pool room. The body was found, not on the top floor, as in the case of the five other victims, but on the third floor of the building, in a bedroom that he occupied.

During the progress of the fire several firemen sustained severe injuries, and some of them were taken to hospitals. They include: Patrick Reilly, arm broken and bruised; William Daniel, burns and bruises; —Beauchemen, internal injuries; J. Saunderson, overcome by smoke.

Two men, Edgar Coats, elevator man, and John Jones, colored, attendant at King's Hall billiard room, had a thrilling escape. They were asleep in the fourth storey of the building, when awakened by the danger. They fled to the roof of the building, where, enveloped in great clouds of smoke, and surrounded by flames, in the very midst of a roaring inferno of fire, they remained for 15 minutes. They were rescued by Sub-Chief Mann.

Dr. H. P. Adams, a dentist, whose office and living quarters were in the building, saved himself by getting out of the third storey window with a rope.

The Hamilton departmental store was threatened, but was very little damaged.

Twenty-five business concerns, agencies, dentists, dressmakers, etc., shared in the losses. The ground floor was occupied by the uptown branch of the Eastern Townships Bank and the Knit-to-Fit retail stores.

A DARING BANK ROBBERY AT QUEBEC

Quebec, Oct. 14.—A daring bank robbery was committed Wednesday night at Saint Pacome, a small parish in the County of Kamouraska, where a branch office of the National Bank was broken into. The safe was blown open and about $5,000 taken. The robbery was done about midnight. Luc Lizotte, in whose building the bank office is installed, heard a muffled noise, but did not suspect anything, as the bank kept a watchman in the building. This man happened to be away Wednesday night, and no trace has so far been found of the robbers.

Request Chief's Resignation.

Cincinnati, Oct. 14.—Because of conditions in the police department, revealed by Safety Director Small's investigation of graft, Col. P. M. Milliken was asked to resign from the office of chief by Mayor Schwab yesterday. No mention of Col. Milliken as an alleged partaker of "graft" had been made, but the mayor held that he should have been conversant with conditions and corrected them.

Col. Milliken refused to tender his resignation, and said he would fight every effort made to cause his removal.

Robbed Jewelers' Windows.

Winnipeg, Oct. 14.—At two yesterday morning, when the noise of a long line of cars returning to the barns drowned their operations, one man threw a stone through Porte and Mark's window, and his confederate abstracted two hundred dollars' worth of jewelry. Proceeding to Main street, and pursuing similar tactics, they took three hundred dollars' worth from Matthew's jewelry store. The men are not caught yet.

NO PAPAL BLESSING FOR IRISH PARTY

London, Oct. 14.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Pall Mall Gazette says The Catholic Times has made a bid for the Irish support of late by the rashness of its deductions from the casual meeting of Cardinal Vannutelli and William Redmond during the recent Eucharistic Congress at Montreal. The Catholic Times says that Vannutelli requested Redmond to call and see him in order that Vannutelli might express sympathy with his party and give his benediction to Redmond's labors.

The Catholic Times adds that the Irish will deduct from this manifestation of sympathy on the part of the representative of the Pope that the right for Home Rule in Ireland has the approval of the head of the Catholic Church.

The Pall Mall Gazette, however, points out that a correspondent of The London Times at Rome says he made enquiry at official quarters and learned that the comment of The Catholic Times is unfounded. The Pope has no intention of giving the Irish party his support.

To Welcome the Niobe.

Halifax, Oct. 14.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been invited to come to Halifax to take part in the reception of the cruiser Niobe, on Oct. 21, and address the Canadian Club.

A naval and military display has been proposed when the expected ship would arrive here earlier in the season, but Admiral Kingsmill wrote that the crew of the ship was reduced to the minimum and he thought it would be most desirable that men should be engaged immediately after the ship arrived, in getting her in shape to receive visitors. This, he thought, would be more suitable than landing a few seamen.

The fishery protection fleet will escort the ship to the harbor. The Minister of Marine and Fisheries wrote that he wished to assist Halifax in every way possible in the matter of the reception. The Department's fleet would be gathered here and, if necessary, a steamer would be placed at the disposal of the committee.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

President Taft has recided to visit the Panama Canal next month.

The steamer Phoenix, which foundered near Kingston early in the month, has been floated.

Nichola Bartimalu, an Italian, was killed by the bursting of a wheel in the Ontario Iron & Steel Works at Welland.

C. D. Sheldon, the missing investment broker, failed to return to his Montreal office yesterday, as he had promised.

The anarchists who gathered in Barcelona to celebrate Ferrar Day were overawed by troops and no demonstration took place.

The ten-year-old daughter of Thos. Kennedy of Kingston, was bitten about the eye by a cocker spaniel, almost destroying the eye.

A deputation of Winnipeg business men waited on Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Ottawa and urged an appropriation of $2,500,000 for the Winnipeg World's fair in 1914.

Four masked men, heavily armed, rode into Proctor, Cal., Wednesday night, shot up the town, dynamited the state bank and escaped after a running fight with citizens. They got no money.

The death is announced of John T. Molson, of the brewing firm of J. H. R. Molson Brothers, at 72 years of age. In early days, he was a prominent civic politician and is the third generation of the Montreal Molsons.

The wet, wriggling end of a snapped hawser, as thick as a man's wrist, suddenly coiled about the neck of Oscad Hansen, of New York, a deckhand aboard an East River tug yesterday, and then, like a gigantic snake, strangled the man to death.

Struck Floating Wreckage.

St. Pierre, Miq., Oct. 14.—Seven men, including the captain, are missing, following the loss of the fishing schooner St. Pairaise of Granville, France, 25 miles off St. Pierre.

News of the wreck became known yesterday when the thirteen survivors reached Miquelon Island. The St. Pairaise was coming to Miquelon from the Grand Banks. When about twenty-five miles off St. Pierre on Tuesday night she struck some floating wreckage. A great hole was torn in the vessel, and she sank quickly. The thirteen men who escaped were able to launch their dories, but, after the waters had closed over their vessel, they could see no sign of their captain or six comrades, and it is believed they were drowned.

The survivors headed for Miquelon, but it took thirty-six hours of steady rowing to reach the island, and when they finally set foot on shore, they were nearly exhausted from cold and exposure.

G. T. P. Telegraph Completed.

Fort William, Oct. 14.—The Grand Trunk Pacific telegraph system between here and Edmonton, a distance of 1,200 miles, was completed yesterday afternoon. A. R. Smith, superintendent of telegraphs, said twenty new stations with operators, would be opened to-day between Winnipeg and Fort William.

PARLIAMENT WILL OPEN FOR BUSINESS ON NOV. 17

It Will Probably Be a Hot Session at Ottawa.

The Outlook at Present Is That the Coming Sitting of Parliament Will Be the Last Before Election—It Will Be a Short Assembly, Because of the Coronation, Which Sir Wilfrid Will Attend In June.

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—Parliament will assemble on Thursday, Nov. 17. The date was decided upon at a meeting of the Cabinet Council yesterday.

The coming session is expected to be of more than ordinary interest, in that there is the possibility that it will be the last before another general election. The Opposition, therefore, may be expected to make the most of the chances they will have to embarrass the administration. The Government is weaker numerically than it has been since 1896, its majority occasionally falling below 20.

What will lend especial interest to the coming conflict of parties is the situation in Quebec. Whereas a year ago there was a small outbreak on the part of F. D. Monk on the Conservative side and Col. McLean on the Liberal side over the naval policies of their several parties, the outbreak has grown to larger proportions in the Government party. The Bourassa campaign in Quebec is now of a more serious character, while other incidents which occurred lately have caused the English-speaking supporters of the Government to look with suspicion upon its actions.

The Government legislation will not involve much discussion, the most important being the revision of the bank act, which was sent over from last session. The Ministry hopes to have a short session, in view of the imperial conference in May and the coronation in June, both of which Sir Wilfrid Laurier will attend.

As already announced, Hon. Mr. Templeman will introduce a bill providing for more adequate Government supervison of the manufacture and sale of explosives. The outlines of this bill were announced at the recent conference of provincial representatives here to consider the matter.

Whether or not the long-deferred question of the extension of the boundaries of Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec will come up for final action this session will depend largely on the attitude of Manitoba and Ontario. If these two provinces can come to an agreement with each other on the question of the territory to be annexed, and if the Roblin Government will meet the Federal Government in any reasonable compromise on the question of financial terms as intimated by Sir Wilfrid Laurier last July in Winnipeg, there will be nothing to prevent the boundary extensions from going through this session.

Questions of transportation will as usual bulk large on the sessional program. These will include the question of the Government's policy in regard to the construction and operation of the Hudson Bay Railway, the deepening of the Welland Canal, the carrying out of the Government's policy of constructing a thirty-five-foot channel in the St. Lawrence up to Montreal, and provision for the proposed international tribunal for control of railway rates on international traffic.

LET HIMSELF DOWN BY SHEETS

Galt, Oct. 14.—As the result of a fire which occurred at his home on Blenheim road at an early hour yesterday morning, John Egerton is homeless, without furniture or other effects, but thankful that he escaped with his life.

Mr. Egerton was awakened at 3 o'clock by the noise of something falling, only to find the house on fire, the noise being the plaster falling from the ceiling in the room below. When he opened the door of his room smoke poured in and he could see that the staircase was burning.

Realizing that prompt action was all that would save him, Mr. Egerton took the sheets from the bed and tying them together and one end to the children's cradle, let himself down to the ground through the window at the front of the house, clad only in shirt and shoes, and nearly smothered. The house is a total loss. It was valued at $5,000, no insurance.

The catasthrope might have been worse but for the fact that Egerton's wife and two daughters spent the night at the home of her father, John Clelland of Rockton, having gone there to attend the fair.

Contracted Diphtheria From Body.

Waterford, Oct. 14.—After accompanying the body of his little nephew from Detroit to Simcoe for interment, Louis Beemer developed malignant diphtheria, from which the child had died, and is seriously ill at the home of his parents in this town. Much anxiety is felt throughout the town and country around, as Mr. Beemer mingled freely with the young people of the district before developing the disease.

Howitt by Acclamation.

Guelph, Oct. 14.—At a meeting of labor men held Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Guelph Trades and Labor Council, it was decided not to put a candidate in the field for the coming bye-election in South Wellington. J. R. Howitt, Conservative nominee, will go in by acclamation.

BALLADS OF THE BORDERLAND

(An Interesting Talk by Prof. Wallace)

Those stirring and fascinating lays of the old minstrels "The Ballads of the Borderland," were delightfully treated of last night at the Collegiate Auditorium by Prof. Wallace, of Toronto University. The address was given under the auspices of the city teachers' convention, and Mr. H. A. Yenney, principal of the South Central school, was in the chair.

Violin solos by Miss Julia Choate, of the Conservatory of Music staff, and recitations by Mr. George Lynch were warmly encored. Miss Sisson, of the Conservatory staff, acted as accompanist for Miss Choate.

It was not always that ballads were considered literature, Prof. Wallace said, or the legitimate theme of a purely literary evening. They were written by primitive men, and were changed to such an extent from the original to the form in which they are now, that they might be considered reproductions to meet the tastes of the people of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries.

They were originated largely in the borderland between England and Scotland. The people who dwelt in this district had both pictorial and warlike qualities. In winter they looked after their cattle, and in summer gave their time largely to fighting those fierce tribal battles and feuds that form such a large chapter of the history of the borderland.

In winter the dwellers of the Borderland lived happy, jovial lives with their friends. They were a hospitable people, and the only amusement they had was provided by the old minstrels who sang the ballads.

The speaker told in entertaining fashion of the themes and history of the ballads, and said many of them might be termed historic, for while the subjects were given warmth and embellishment, they nearly all had a basis of fact, usually telling of love or valor.

Prof. Wallace read several ballads, and showed an excellent grasp of the broad and homely accent of the sturdy and interesting people of the Borderland.

For this large musical menu the small admission fee of ten cents is asked.

"THE MAN YOU CAN'T DOWN" THIS IS WHAT SAM LUTTRELL WILL TALK ABOUT ON SUNDAY IMPRESSIVE SERVICE LAST NIGHT

The meeting of last night was a very solemn one.

A stillness penetrated the audience that bespoke the nearness of God's presence, and all went away last night impressed with the powerful message so ably given. Dr. Luttrell took from different passages of scripture and his subject was "some Tree Experiences."

The first one referred to was Adam, behind the trees in Eden. The sinner is like the foolish ostrich, who hides her head in the sand, and thinks because she cannot see, her pursuers therefore cannot see her.

But you cannot hide away from God.

You can hide your sin from man, and cover your dirt by religious pretensions but you cannot hide your sin from God.

God looks down into the very depths of the human heart and sees the sin hidden there. Don't try and hide from God, come out in the open, confess your sins before God and man, and seek his pardon and forgiveness, and He will supply you with power enough to conquer all your sins and evil habits. He did it for me.

Nathaniel and Zaccheus were then taken up and men who had tree experiences.

Poor Zaccheus, he was tired of his old life of sin, and Jesus encouraged his desire to see him by giving himself a free invitation to take dinner at Zaccheus's house. Yes. Jesus encouraged us, when we take the first feeble step towards him. No matter how weak the effort made to live right, Jesus sees it and encourages it.

The last experience was that of Jesus, who died on the tree at Calvary for our sins. No mortal tongue can describe that experience. The blood was shed to make a full atonement for our sins.

Mr. Mulligan sang again last night in a very effective way.

The doctor will preach next Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. In the afternoon at 3 p.m. there will be a mass meeting for men. The male quartette of George Street Methodist Church will sing, and Dr. Sam Luttrell will take for his subject "The Man You Can't Down." This will be the companion of last Sunday's subject "The Man Who Wins." All men should take this last opportunity of hearing this man, who speaks from a genuine experience about the power of God to save.

Next Tuesday evening, the 18th, at 8 p.m., at the Park Street Baptist Church, Dr. Luttrell will give his lecture upon "My Life's Story and Rescue From a Drunkard's Grave."

A free-will offering will be taken and presented to the evangelist. All made welcome.

Remember the service to-night at 8 p.m.

Mayes Wins His Case.

St. John, N.B., Oct. 14.—Gershen S. Mayes scored a complete victory over the Dominion Government yesterday morning, when in the Exchequer Court his lawyers forced the Government to acknowledge the justice of his claim, and by consent a verdict was entered for Mayes for $9,760 and all costs.

The case was brought by Mayes to recover sums due to him on account of work done in the harbor. The Government denied all claims and in a statement of defence, filed by the Government lawyers, the contention was made that Mayes had made fraudulent statements and that he really was overpaid for the work done.

PROMISES BIG SENSATION THAT WILL JOLT SOMEONE

Mgr. Fallon Says He Will Make a Statement Vary Soon.

"It Will Be a Surprise to Some People and Will Act Like a Bomb," Says Cleric Regarding His Coming Reply to the Recent Publication of His Interview With Hon. Mr. Hanna—Later Disclaims Responsibility.

Toronto, Oct. 14.—The publication of the translation of a memorandum of a conversation, which Hon. W. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, had with Mgr. M. F. Fallon, Bishop of London, in Sarnia on May 22 last, brought a vigorous statement from the ecclesiastic.

Hon. Mr. Hanna sent the following telegram to the bishop on Wednesday night: "Publication in Quebec press of memo prepared by me for Dr. Pyne and Sir James after my discussion with you last summer, amazes me. Am investigating and shall write you fully later. It did not get out from my office."

Yesterday morning the following interview was secured from Mgr. Fallon, who was at St. Augustine, Ont.:

"I stand by and reiterate every word of the statement I made on the 22nd of September, the only statement which I authorized to have published. On that occasion I stated that the assertions made in the public press that I am unfriendly to the French-Canadian people are false and malicious. I stand by that statement again to-day and reiterate every word of it, notwithstanding the publication of an interview that may have been had with me and the saying that I am opposed to the teaching of French or any other language in the separate or any other schools in my diocese."

"The Provincial Secretary did have an interview with me, some four and a half months ago. It took place at Sarnia, and this is how it was brought about. Rev. Father Kennedy, one of the pastors there, told me that Mr. Hanna was in town, and he asked me if he might request Mr. Hanna to call on me. I told him I would be pleased to have the Provincial Secretary call, and from what Mr. Hanna told me he was equally pleased to see me. At least he told me so.

"The conversation we had lasted about half an hour and the school topic took up most of the time. What transpired between us was by no means confidential, but it was not meant for publication. Whenever I want anything published I am quite capable of looking after it myself."

His lordship is taking the matter seriously, and is preparing a statement which he will issue in a few days. He promises something of a sensation, for he says, "I might add that the reply will prove quite a surprise to some people, and will act considerably like a bomb. Pending the reply I might state that there is no hostility, but in the contrary there is absolute friendliness to the French-Canadian people, their language and their interests in my opposition to the bi-lingual school system and its results in my diocese."

From the tenor of his remarks it appears that Mgr. Fallon jumped at the conclusion that the memorandum was given out by Mr. Hanna. "Politics are politics," he said, "and when one is in the game one has to use the methods. I'm not in the game, so when I have anything to say I hit straight out."

"The letter was written by the Provincial Secretary to Dr. Pyne. Whether the giving out of it was a piece of office robbery or of political treachery I don't know, but I will deal with it when I make the statement I am going to make at an early date, giving the facts to show the condition of public education under the bilingual system in the County of Essex and other parts of my diocese."

As to his attitude indicated by the text of the letter, the bishop said: "I don't care what Mr. Hanna says. I am not being fooled. I know what I said to Mr. Hanna, and the opinions I expressed to him then do not in any way conflict with the statement I authorized to be made public. I'll attend to Mr. Hanna when I get the time."

French Teachers Scarce.

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—Le Temps yesterday published another anti-Fallon story. It reproduces the text of a long resolution passed at the recent meeting of the Canadian Education Association here, when the bilingual school was discussed. This resolution, according to Le Temps, took up the denial of Bishop Fallon that he was adverse to the French language.

The resolution, after citing sworn documents about the bishop's utterances at Windsor, went on to say that, in view of these sworn documents as to the bishop's anti-French utterances, it could not accept his denial.

It is stated that owing to the scarcity of qualified teachers some of the French separate schools in Ottawa will be ordered closed by the Department of Education within a few weeks.

Indians Were Unruly.

Brantford, Oct. 14.—High County Constable Kerr, in arresting an Indian on the reserve this week, was attacked by a mob, which relieved him of his prisoner. He will return to the reserve and make things hot for the assailants, some of whom he recognised.

Case of Infantile Paralysis.

Cobourg, Oct. 14.—A case of infantile paralysis is reported from Edville, East Northumberland. Gladys Gertrude Taylor, the ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Taylor, died after about a week's illness from infantile paralysis.

J. P. MORGAN AND HIS MONEY

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 13.—Delegates to the convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, which is in session here, to-day are discussing the attitude taken are discussing the attitude taken yesterday by J. Pierpont Morgan, the financier, when modern miracles were discussed.

Morgan declared that he had heard more ridiculous statements from delegates to the convention than he ever had heard before.

He left the convention in the middle of the discussion and went to "Dalvay," the million dollar home of the late Alexander McDonald, rather than remain and listen.

"It is disgusting," he said, as he jumped into his auto.

Clergymen delegates and laymen are fearful lest the debates have so offended Morgan that he will withdraw his support from the church.

We take these lines from the Ottawa Free Press. Why are the clergymen delegates and laymen fearful? Just because J. P. Morgan may not hand out his thousands as usual. If Morgan was a poor and obscure delegate, no one would care whether he left or not. It isn't Morgan they are worrying about, it's Morgan's money. Money makes the mare go. As old as the hills, as true as the gospel; the world go church and out bows down and rises up worships and follows after money. We have no more use for J. P. Morgan than for the unknown man, who sat in the pew with him in church. We respect Morgan because he is a walking, talking, thinking man. We respect the man who shines shoes on Charlotte street. He is a good shiner. Any man who does his work well, who goes through life playing the great game fairly, we respect; but because a man has money is not the shadow of a reason why we should pay him homage. When a rich man says "Here, I have the secret of warding off sorrows and pain. Disappointment shall flee from the magic of my touch, there is a surety of heaven by reason of my purse," then we will covet and strive after money. But until then we cheerfully pay what we can, prize only health and covet nothing.

REAL FREE TRADE AND LAURIER

The simple minded free traders of Australia have been quoting Sir Wilfrid Laurier's utterances in Saskatchewan. A deputation of sugar growers and refiners of sugar grown in Queensland waited on the Commonwealth Government and asked that certain machinery be admitted free of duty. Thereupon the Brisbane Telegraph declared that "The demand is barefaced in its shamelessness—a mean demand, truly demonstrative of the callous selfishness which is the offspring of high tariffism." And then the Brisbane free trade editor quoted:

> "Sir Wilfrid Laurier's teaching "that protection encouraged wholesale fraud and and dishonesty and enabled protected industries to demand values that did not exist."

The Telegraph continues:

> "This sugar growers' demands conclusively corroborates the Canadian Premier's statement. It amounts to an attempt to defraud other industries of their share of protection, and by thus cheapening sugar production at their expense, to enable sugar growers to demand value which does not exist, for their product. Could commercial or industrial dishonesty go to farther limits? For sheer cool impudence, and for unadulterated protectionist effrontery, the demand now in question establishes the world's record."

"It would be a great shock to the writer of this vituperation, who calls Sir Wilfrid Laurier as his witness, remarks the Vancouver News-Advertiser, for him to learn that Sir Wilfrid has granted to Canadian refiners of native beet sugar the very tariff which the Australian delegation ventured to request. Thus the Canadian Premier and his associates are implicated in a like 'base shamelessness,' 'callous selfishness,' 'commercial and industrial dishonesty,' 'effrontery' and several other crimes and misdemeanors.

It is now several years since Mr. Fielding's tariff bill contained this feature. The Brisbane Telegraph seems to think the proposition too shameless, too dishonest, too impudent to ever have been made before. And yet it was presented to and promptly adopted by a Canadian Government pledged against protection. Mr. Fielding defended the clause without a blush of shame upon his face. But this may strike the free trade writer in Australia as a proof of his shamelessness.

THE GAMBLER

In Paris the other day, Lamanche, a horse hitherto unknown, won the Prix du Rhone. He at 666 to 1, the partimutuels paying 6,679 francs for every ten francs for every bet on him. A man betting $10 on Lamanche would have pocketed $6,679. —Hamilton Times.

There is a sucker born every minute, and the man who bets on the races is one of them. He may have information from the feed box, but as sure as the sun he will not win. Yes, he might win, but in the end he will lose what he won, and as much as he can borrow, beg or steal. Boozing is bad enough, but the gambler is cursed with a deeper, deadlier curse than the boozer. Is he a crap shooter, or poker player? Is he a piker, or does he walk the paddock with a silk lid on, he is under an enchantment that is almost impossible to break. A boozer goes broke, gets sick at his stomach, and lies down and sleeps it off. The gambler, say, there's no comparison.

PATRIOTISM

At the meeting of teachers yesterday, Miss Weir, a teacher in the High school, talked entertainingly. During her remarks she refered to the patriotic spirit shown in the schools across the line. Miss Weir deprecated the fact that this spirit was not cultivated here.

That's true. We have a flag, that means much. A flag shown in the United States raises a roar. Show our flag here and people would wonder. Flags, why cheer for a flag. It's only sentiment, but it's sentiment that we live for and it's for sentiment we die.

SHAKE

The Ottawa Free Press has put on a new suit. It's enlarged. It now, appears as an eight column, twelve page paper. The Free Press is a good paper, it knows news. "Son," said the edotr to the new reporter, "Have you a nose for news?" The cub thought that he had.

"There is news that is news and news that is not news. If a dog bites a man that's worth a few lines. if a man bites a dog it's worth a column."

The Free Press is a newspaper, not an organ. It's editorials are bright. The editor has sense enough to know that people don't want politics every day week in and week out. The Press has the heart throb. So has the Toronto Star.

THE COUNTRY BOY

The percentage of average attendance to the enrollment in the cities of Ontario, was last year, as follows:

Belleville	81
Brantford	68
Chatham	74
Fort William	58
Guelph	73
Hamilton	71
Kingston	75
London	68
Niagara Falls	68
Ottawa	69
Peterborough	74
Port Arthur	63
St. Catharines	68
St. Thomas	18
Stratford	74
Toronto	69
West Toronto	65
Windsor	71
Woodstock	73

The average for all the cities is 69 per cent., while the average for the rural districts is only 53 per cent. It is quite certain the boys and girls in the country parts are in too many instances given to understand that schooling is not of much account compared with the importance of getting the farm chores done.—Brantford Expositor.

However, the boy from the farm usually gets there. Jim Hill came from the farm up near Guelph, laid down his axe in the clearing, and built a railroad. Nearly all our solid men have been men who knew the quiet of the country life best. William Whyte, vice-president of the C.P.R., lived in a hamlet in Scotland. You have heard of William Whyte. As he came to this country and as he kissed his mother good-bye he said: "Mother, I'm going to America, and if my name isn't written high up in railway circles before I die, I am much mistaken."

William Whyte was a mystic, (a practical dreamer. The young men to-day who dream big things and rise to big actions are rare. When found they usually come from some obscure spot to achieve before men.

FATHER GILLIS

Father Gillis you never spoke a truer word than when you said that there never was a greater mistake made than when Protestants and Catholics quarrelled over their religion. Strange isn't it, one God, one heaven, one earth, one birth, one death—why should we fight. That Great Man of Providence who came and walked on earth in the long ago radiated love—why should we who call ourselves Christians, either Catholic or Protestants, hate, argue, villify each other? God is everywhere. Some see Him in the incense and some in the field, in the rill or in the blade of grass. Last Sunday morning a leaf blew in through the open window at St. Paul's church and fluttered to the floor. Just a fallen leaf, radiant with the autumn hues but as the leaf fell, so must we all fall, die, be buried and forgotten. Be kind and gentle, be charitable and the Great Judge will decide.

FROM SIERRA LEONE TO CANADA WITHOUT ADDRESS

The National Drug & Chemical Co of Canada, Limited, have just received a letter from the West Coast of Africa, which reached its proper destination although addressed in an extremely vague manner. The writer was evidently a native with an imperfect knowledge of English. The letter was written by a member of the 2nd. West India Regiment and is as follows:

Sierra Leone, West Africa,
August 8th, 1910.

Dear Sir:—With congratulations, I address you these few lines. May it find you enjoying good time and health at present. Sir, I have received your letter. I notice the contents. Please send me one box of your Gin Pills, 2s. 1d. I want try it and if do me good, I will send back very early. While I am your truly same.

A. O. GREEN,
B Company, 2 W. I. R.

The envelope bears only the following inscription.

National Drug & Co. of Canada. Litd.
27-29 Wellington St. West

There is no town, city or country mentioned. Yet this letter was sent from the post office in Sierra Leone to England, as shown by the London postmark, and forwarded to Plymouth, thence to Montreal, reaching this city on August 31st, only twenty-one days after being written in West Africa.

This is an excellent example, of the wide-spread reputation of the National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited and of their excellent preparations which, it may be safely stated, are known in all parts of the world.

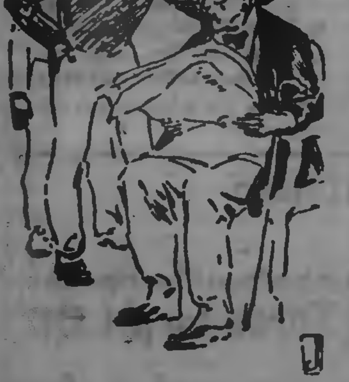
A Gentleman From Mississippi

By THOMAS A. WISE

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THOMAS A. WISE

His talk with these famous lawmakers was unsatisfactory also in that it had conveyed to Langdon the suggestion that the senate was not primarily a great forum for the general and active consideration of weighty measures and of national policies. It had been his idea that the senate was primarily such a forum, but the attitude of Peabody and Stevens had hinted to him that there were matters of individual interest that outweighed public or national considerations. For instance, they were anxious that Altacoola should have the naval base regardless of the claims or merits of any other section. That was unusual, puzzling to Langdon. Moreover, it was poor business, yet there were able business men in the senate. Not one of them would, for instance, think of buying a site for a factory until he had investigated many possible locations and then selected the most favorable one. Why was it, he pondered, that the business of the great United States of America was not conducted on business lines?



"Come along, colonel! Yo' can't sit heah all day."

He must study the whole question intelligently; that was imperative. He must have advice, help. To whom was he to go for it? Stevens? Yes, his old friend, who knew all "the ropes." Yet even Stevens seemed different in Washington than Stevens in Mississippi. Here he played "second fiddle." He was even obsequious, Langdon had observed, to Peabody. In Mississippi he was a leader, and a strong one too. But Senator Langdon had not yet learned of the many founts from which political strength and political leadership may be gained.

What he finally decided on was the engaging of a secretary, but he must be one with knowledge of political operations, one who combined wisdom with honesty. Such an aid could prevent Langdon from making the many mistakes that invariably mark the new man in politics, and he could point out the most effective modes of procedure under given circumstances. It might prove difficult to find a man of the necessary qualifications who was not already employed, but in the meantime Langdon would watch the playing of the game himself and make his own deductions as best he could.

The senator started toward the hotel desk to ask regarding the whereabouts of his son Randolph when his attention was caught by the sight of three powerful negro porters endeavoring to thrust outdoors a threadbare old man. The victim's flowing white hair, white mustache and military bearing received short shrift.

"Come along, colonel! Yo' can't sit heah all day. Them chairs is for the guests in the hotel," the head porter was urging as he jerked the old man toward the door.

The Mississippian's fighting blood was instantly aroused at such treatment of a respectable old white man by negroes. His lips tightly compressed as he hurried to the rescue. He cried sharply.

"Take your hands off that gentleman! What do you mean by touching a friend of mine."

The negroes stepped back amazed.

"Scuse me, senator, is this gent'man a friend of yours," the head porter gasped apologetically.

Langdon looked at him.

"Yo' heard what I said," he drawled in the slow way natural to some men of the south when trouble threatens. "I'd like to have you down in Mississippi for about ten minutes."

The head porter turned quickly on his assistants and drove them away, shouting at the top of his voice:

"Get about yo' wuk. How dare yo' intehfere wid a friend of de senator's? I'll teach yo' to be putting yoh nose in where it ain't got no business."

The old man, astonished at the turn of events, came forward hesitatingly to Langdon.

"I'm very much obliged to you, sir," he said. "I'm Colonel Stoneman, an old soldier."

The Mississippian stretched forth his hand.

"My name is Langdon, sir—Senator Langdon of Mississippi. I am an old soldier too."

"Delighted, senator," exclaimed the seedy looking old man, taking the offered hand gratefully.

Langdon's easy method of making friends was well illustrated as he clapped his new companion on the back. Everybody he met was the Mississippian's friend until he had proved himself the contrary. That had been his rule through life.

"Come right over, colonel; have a cigar, sir." Then, as they lighted their cigars, he inquired, "What army corps were you with, colonel?"

"I was under Grant along the Tennessee," replied the old G. A. R. man.

Familiarity with a senator was something new for him, and already he was straightening up and becoming more of a man every moment. Langdon was thoroughly interested.

"I was along the Tennessee under Beauregard," he said.

"Great generals, sir! Great generals!" exclaimed Colonel Stoneman.

"And great fighting, I reckon!" echoed the Confederate. "You remember the battle of Crawfordsville?"

The old Federal smiled with joyous recollection.

"Do I? Well, I should say I did! Were you there, senator?"

"Was I there? Why, I remember every shot that was fired. I was under Kirby, who turned your left wing."

The attitude of the northern soldier changed instantly. He drew himself up with cold dignity. Plainly he felt that he had the honor of his army to sustain.

"Our left wing was never turned, sir!" he exclaimed with dignity.

Langdon stared at him with amazement. This was a point of view the Confederate had never heard before.

"Never turned!" he gasped. "Don't tell me that! I was there, and, besides, I've fought this battle on an average of twice a week ever since '65 down in Mississippi, and in all these years I never heard such a foolish statement."

"What rank were you, sir?" asked the Union soldier haughtily.

"I was a captain that morning," confessed the southerner.

His old enemy smiled with superiority.

"As a colonel I've probably got more accurate information," he said.

"I was a colonel that evening," came the dry retort.

"But in an inferior army. We licked you, sir!" cried Stoneman hotly.

The Mississippian drew himself up with all the dignity common to the old Confederate soldier explaining the war.

"The south was never whipped, sir. We honorably surrendered, sir. We surrendered to save the country, sir, but we were never whipped."

"Did you not run at Kenyon Hill?" taunted Stoneman.

Langdon brought down his fist in the palm of the other hand violently.

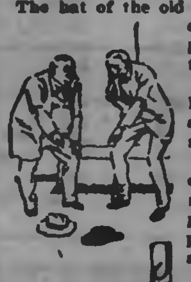
"Yes, sir; we ran at you. I ought to remember. I got my wound there. You remember that long lane"— He pulled off his hat and threw it on the floor, indicating it with one hand— "Here was the Second Alabama."

The hat of the old Federal dropped on the floor opposite the hat of the Confederate.

"And here the Eighth Illinois," exclaimed Stoneman.

Langdon excitedly seized a diminutive bellboy passing by and planted him alongside his hat.

"Stay there a moment, sonny," he cried. "You are the Fourth Virginia."



"And here the Eighth Illinois!"

The newspaper Stoneman was carrying came down opposite the startled bellboy, who was trying not to appear frightened.

"This is the clump of cedars," he exclaimed.

Both, in their eagerness, were bending down over their improvised battle plan, their heads close together.

"And here a farmhouse beside your cedars," cried Langdon.

"That's where the rebels charged us," echoed the Union man.

Langdon brought down his fist again with emphatic gesture.

"You bet we charged you! The Third Mississippi charged you! I charged you, sir!"

Stoneman nodded.

"I remember a young fool of a Johnnie reb dashing up the hill fifty yards ahead of his men, waving his sword and yelling like a wild Indian."

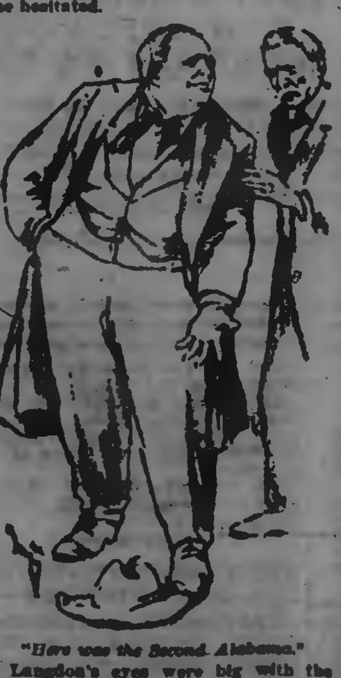
The southerner straightened up.

"Well, where in thunderation would you expect me to be, sir?" he exclaimed. "Behind them? I got my wound there. Laid me up for three months, like to have killed me."

Then a new idea struck him. "Why, colonel, it must have been a bullet from one of your men—from your regiment, sir!"

The old northerner pushed his fingers through his hair and shook his head apologetically.

"Why, senator, I'm afraid it was," he hesitated.



"Here was the Second Alabama."

Langdon's eyes were big with the afterglow of a fighter discussing the mighty struggles of the past, those most precious of all the jewels in the treasure store of a soldier's memory.

"Why, it might have been a bullet fired by you, sir," he cried. "It might be that you were the man who almost killed me. Why, confound you, sir, I'm glad to meet you!"

Each old veteran of tragic days gone by had quite unconsciously awakened a responsive chord in the heart of the other. A senator and a penniless old "down and outer" are very much the same in the human scale that takes note of the inside and not the outside of a man. And they fell into each other's arms then and there, for what strong fighter does not respect another of his kind?

There they stood, arms around each other, clapping each other on the back, actually chortling in the pure ecstasy of comradeship, now serious, again laughing, when on the scene appeared Bud Haines, the correspondent, who had returned to interview the new senator from Mississippi.

"Great heavens!" ejaculated the newspaper man. "A senator, a United States senator, hugging a broken down old 'has been!' What is the world coming to?" Haines suddenly paused. "I wonder if it can be a pose—merely for effect. It's getting harder every day to tell what's genuine and what isn't in this town."

CHAPTER VII.

LANGDON LEARNS OF THINGS UNPLEASANT.

HAINES quickly walked over and touched the southerner on the arm.

"Well, my boy, what can I do for you?" asked the new senator, turning, with a pleasant smile.

"My name is Haines. Senator Stevens was to speak to you about me. I'm the first of the newspaper correspondents come to interview you."

Langdon's familiar smile broadened.

"Well, you don't look as though you'd bite. Reckon I can stand for it. Is it very painful?"

"I hope it won't be, senator," Haines said, feeling instinctively that he was going to like this big, hearty citizen.

"All right, Mr. Haines, just as soon as I've said goodby to my old friend, Colonel Stoneman, I'll be with you."

And to his continued amazement Haines saw the senator walk away with the old Union colonel, slap him on the back, cheer him up and finally bid him goodby after extending a cordial invitation to come around to dinner, meet his daughters and talk over old times.

The antiquated Federal soldier marched away more erect, more brisk, than in years, completely restored to favor in the eyes of the hotel people. Langdon turned to the reporter.

"All right, Mr. Haines; my hands are up. Do your worst. Senator Stevens spoke to me about you; said you were the smartest young newspaper man in Washington. You must come from the south."

Bud shook his head.

"No, just New York," he said.

"Well, that's a promising town," drawled the southerner. "They tell me that's the Vicksburg of the north."

"I suppose you haven't been to New York of late, senator?" suggested the newspaper man.

"Well, I started up there with General Lee once," responded Langdon reminiscently, "but we changed our minds and came back. You may have heard about that trip."

Haines admitted that he had.

"Since that time," went on Langdon, "I've confined my travels to New Orleans and Vicksburg. Ever been in New Orleans about Mardi Gras time, Mr. Haines?"

"Sorry, but I don't believe I have," confessed the reporter reluctantly.

The senator seemed surprised.

"Well, sir, you have something to live for. I'll make it my special business to personally conduct you through one Mardi Gras, with a special understanding, of course, that you don't print anything in the paper. I'm a vestryman in my church, but since misfortune has come upon our state I have to be careful."

To be continued.

SPECTACLES SHOULD BE CHANGED

Frequently people will get spectacles which suit them, and go on wearing them for years without having their sight tested to discover whether any change has taken place. This is wrong. All who wear glasses should have their eyes tested at intervals, even if the necessity of such is not apparent to them. As a general rule spectacles for old sight require changing about every 3 years, but it is desirable that the sight should be carefully tested every two years.

Have Eyes Tested at Intervals

Whenever you feel uneasy in your spectacles, don't hesitate to call and see us. We are always glad to help you.

PRICES OF GROCERIES AND CANNED GOODS, INCREASE

A review of the prices of all lines of groceries and canned goods show by comparison with last year's prices in the wholesale business an increase in nearly every line. A traveller for a leading wholesale firm in commenting on the fact, said that it was due to an increased price in the cost of manufacture, material, etc. The higher price in some lines is due to a shortage in the crop, such as olives and raisins. The heavy rains have been another drawback.

Last year all lines of canned goods [illegible] at three for 25 cents. Two for 25 cents will be the price this year. Currants, last year which sold at 3 for 25 cents, will sell for ten cents straight this year, and a better grade at 2 for 25 cents. Valencia raisins sold last year at four for 25 cents, will this year be 10 cents a pound straight.

Sugar has taken a drop of 20 cents a cwt. in wholesale prices, and is about the only commodity where such is the case. It will be good news for many. The price of olives is up about 50 per cent as the result of a shortage in the crop. Canned fish, tomato sauce and kippered herring will sell at two for 25 cents this year. California package or seeded raisins are the same as last year.

The new fish in packages are now coming in at the same price as last year. Evaporated apples are higher, as are all canned fruits, than last year. Quite a bit of pure jam is on the market this year more so than last year.

The Dominion Canners' Association practically control all the prices in the grocery line.

MONARCH HAULED A HEAVY LOAD

Wharf Facilities on Trent Valley Canal, Greatly Assisting the Farmers

The Otonabee Navigation steamer, Monarch, docked at the Wolfe street wharf last night about 9.30 with two scows, one of which carried 288 live hogs, the largest load ever brought up the Otonabee, and the other, over one thousand bags of potatoes and grain, and the steamer's deck was loaded with sundries.

There were some splendid hogs in the load. One sent the scales over the 500 lb. mark, and four others went over 400 lbs. each.

In conversation with General Manager Pinchin this morning, he informed the Review that the wharf facilities along the route of the Trent Valley Canal, are certainly proving a boon to the farmers in getting the products of their farms to Peterborough.

INJURY TO GEO. C. BOLDT

Proprietor of Waldorf Astoria Who Was a Peterboro Bartender

New York, Oct. 11—George C. Boldt proprietor of the Waldorf-Astoria, has been confined to his apartments in the hotel for several days, suffering from the effects of a fall the first of the week at his country place at Thousand Islands.

While overseeing the work on his estate, he tripped upon a plank and fell, severely bruising his right leg below the knee. Although painful, the injury did not give him much trouble until he reached this city on Wednesday, when it became so serious that he was forced to take to his bed. He has been under a physician's care ever since.

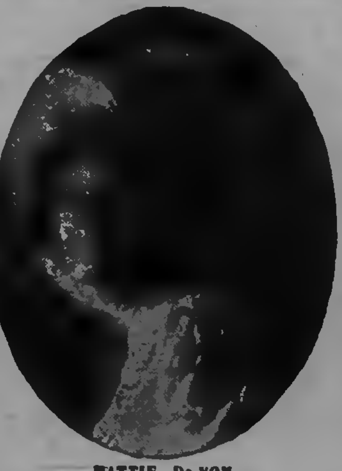
Boldt's rise in the hotel business has been meteoric.

Boldt was a bartender in the Huffman House, when that hotel was on the present site of the Oriental.

"A WINNING MISS"

It has been quite a while since the patrons of the Grand Opera House have had an opportunity of witnessing a musical comedy, and the coming attraction will be welcomed with great delight; not only because it is a musical show, but because it claims to be one of the most pretentious productions of its kind ever played here.

"A Winning Miss," which is the title of this much heralded play, is composed of one of the largest companies that has played the Grand Opera House this season, numbering sixty people. The scenery and costumes, it is claimed, set all Chicago talking during its run at the Garden Theatre, there, and the music is equal to any of the greatest successes of the past decade.



HATTIE De VON

With "With a Winning Miss"

This production has never before played here and its running expense is so large that it requires almost capacity business to pay for playing the one night stands.

The cast has not been weakened for the road, but instead has been strengthened by the addition of some of the most popular performers who play this circuit; in fact, there has possibly never been a stronger cast in the musical show field.

As evidence of this fact is shown the members of the cast, which includes Max Bloom in the leading comedy role, assisted by Percy Chapman, late star of Gus Edward's "Blonde Typewriters," Lorraine Lester who created Mary Jane in "Buster Brown" Thomas Grady, Hattie DeVon, who has recently created a sensation in vaudeville, J. F. Coglan, Clarence Backous, Grace Marlove, Alice Sher and Jessie Maker. There is also a chorus of forty-five including a magnificent quartette and novelties of a class that are only seen on Broadway.

This is the original company, and the engagement is for one night, Monday, October 17, at the Grand Opera House.

MR. PREEDY AND THE COUNTESS

A fairly good house last night greeted the presentation by Messrs. Shubert and Daniels' authors of "Mr. Preedy and the Countess" with Mr. Weedon Grossmith, the eminent English comedian. His reputation which preceded him was fully justified by the spontaneous applause which was accorded him last evening.

At the close of the second act in response to enthusiastic and appreciative applause, he was compelled to respond to a determined curtain call, and say a few words of thanks.

The finished acting of each member of the cast was superb, and notably that of Miss Granville, whose difficult role was excellently portrayed. Her gowns were charming.

WHISKY SESSION LISTERS IN COURT

Three Fines of $12.60—The Way of the Blacklister a Hard One—Farmer Drinks Up His Load of Grain--To be Listed.

"It takes a police court and a little whiskey, to make ingenious stories." This from Magistrate Dumble this morning, as he was hearing the evidence of a blacklisted man, in regard to a deal in liquor Saturday night last.

Three listed men appeared before his Worship, charged with partaking of the forbidden, and in each case the fine was $10.00 with $2.60 costs.

The three informations were laid by License Inspector Stewart, and in a fourth case he will have a farmer listed, at the request of his wife, who in a letter to the inspector says that her husband is a terrible drinker, and has been in the city since last Friday, drinking.

ONE STORY.

"I stopped a man driving past Hogan's hotel," said the first defendant, "and asked him if he ever drank anything. He answered that he did, and I gave him a bill and he went into the hotel and bought a bottle. We had a couple of drinks in the same, and I took the remainder home with me."

"Will you swear on your oath that you don't know that man's name?" asked the magistrate.

"I will," answered the witness.

"Well, you have to pay the shot," said the magistrate, as he imposed the fine. "It's pretty hard, isn't it," he continued, and to which the defendant answered that it was.

In reply to Mr. Stewart, the witness replied that he had not been loitering at the back of the City hotel and at Lipsett's hotel.

STORY NO. TWO.

When asked to tell the particulars of an affair at a blacksmith shop last Saturday night another blacklister said that he went there to pay the proprietor for a buggy, which was being repaired.

He paid ten dollars. Another dollar was given to a third man for the purchase of a bottle of whiskey, and who, on returning, placed the liquor on a bench.

In answer to the inspector, witness gave the procurer's name.

"Who took the first drink?" witness was asked, and he replied that he couldn't remember.

"Did the third man have a drink?"

"No."

"Did he know you were on the blacklist?"

"No."

"Did he know the other man was listed?"

"I don't think so."

STORY NO. THREE.

The proprietor of the shop said that he was at work endeavoring to finish up a job, and that he did not send the man with whom he used to drink before being listed, for the liquor.

"Did he know you were posted?"

"No."

Magistrate Dumble couldn't understand how this could be so, when on the witness' own admission he had been in the habit of drinking with the man in a hotel, before being listed, and had stopped.

When witness said that the purchaser of the liquor had left soon after returning, it brought the statement from the chair that "it takes a police court and a little whiskey to make ingenious stories."

"What about the disturbance at your home later?" asked Mr. Stewart.

Witness answered that his wife would not let him take the other lister in the house, as he wished, because he scented trouble.

ON A SPREE.

The farmer comes from Hall's Bridge. He came to town a week ago with a load of grain.

The odor of whiskey was still strong on his breath as he stood up in the dock.

He disposed of his produce and has since been on a drunk. All his money is gone, and there is a bill of $10.00 against him for his horses at a hotel.

He pleaded guilty to a charge of being found drunk in a public place, and the fine was $2, with $2.60 costs.

As stated above, he will be listed.

The Review was informed from a source apart from the police court that this unfortunate man had spent $90.00 or more at one hotel since coming to the city.

Besides the money, which he secured for his load of grain he brought considerable with him.

His wife came here yesterday in search of him.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE PETERBORO' BRANCH OF THE WOMEN'S ART ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the W.A.A. was held on Monday evening, October 10, in the Y.W.C.A.

There was a large attendance. Mrs. A. Stevenson, the president, occupied the chair. In the absence of Miss Carver the minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Miss Hatton, who acted as recording secretary, pro tem.

Miss M. Rush gave the financial statement, which showed a most satisfactory balance on hand. The annual report was read and adopted. It is as follows—

It is five years since the organization of this association in Peterborough. The number of its members has varied from year to year. In 1908-09 we had 42 members. In 1909-10 we had 45. We hope our members will be increased this year.

Six executive meetings were held during the year, arrangements for lectures and the offering of school prizes necessitating a great deal of work.

Last November an open meeting held, which was addressed by Miss McCrea, of the Normal School staff. Miss McCrea gave a most interesting talk on the object and methods of teaching art in the public schools.

In November also we had Fraulien Stolle's lecture and exhibition of pictures, and we were able to have one lecture for the school children for the small admittance fee of five cents. There were about six hundred children present. In the evening we had an appreciative audience of four hundred.

Later the association held two lectures, one by Mr. Wyly Greer and the other by Mr. Wadely. We had good audiences upon both occasions. The evening with Mr. and Mrs. Wadely showed Peterborough people that it was not always necessary to go out of our own town for talent, and the association feel very much indebted to both Mr. and Mrs. Wadely for that very pleasant and profitable evening.

When Dr. Symonds lectured to this association three years ago he urged that we undertake some practical work in connection with our public school classes this year. The work sent in by the pupils was most creditable. The prizes have proved a great encouragement to both the teacher and pupil, and it is hoped the association will continue to interest itself in this work.

The prize of $5.00, offered annually for drawing at the Industrial Exhibition, was won this year by Miss May Nesbitt.

We regret very much the loss of our recording secretary, Miss Cyril, who has left Peterborough to reside elsewhere.

Our Reading Club this year decided to study old China. An excellent traveling library bearing on the subject was procured from McGill University, but the attendance at the meetings was not encouraging.

The officers for the coming year are as follows:—

Hon. President—Mrs. Wignam.
Hon. Past President—Miss Bertram
President—Mrs. Morris.
1st. Vice Pres.—Mrs. Rush.
2nd. Vice Pres.—Mrs. R. R. Hall
3rd. Vice Pres.—Mrs. A. Stevenson
Cor. Secretary—Miss Bennett.
Recording Secretary—Miss Dorothy Aylmer.
Treasurer—Miss Maud Rush.

After the election also of Conveners of Committee and Honorary members representatives the new president, Mrs. Morris took the chair and discussion followed with reference to plans for the coming season.

Although our local president is always a member of the Head Executive Committee, we have never sent her as a delegate to Toronto. This year however it was decided to ask Mrs. Morris to represent our association at the annual meeting, which is to be held this month in Toronto.

A vote of thanks was tendered our retiring president, Mrs. Arthur Stevenson, and the meeting adjourned.

GRAND SCOTCH CONCERT

By permission of Lieut.-Col Stevenson and the officers of of 57th Regiment, the Band under the direction of Mr. Gliddon will give the second of the series of popular concerts at the Armouries on Friday evening, Oct. 14th. The band will be assisted by Barnaby Nelson, Tenor, Toronto, and Pipe-Major Pollock late of Inverine, Scotland. Silver collection—Ten cents.

The indictments against the Imperial Gas Company, of West Virginia, were sustained by the Federal Court.

An aged Wisconsin woman, paroled from prison, pleaded to be taken back to her cell. Her request was granted.

Neckwear workers, to the number of 16,000, went on strike in New York. Ninety-five per cent. are women.

Preparations are being made at a large coke-oven plant at Connellsville, Pa., to extract oil from smoke.

CAUGHT IN ACT OF BURGLARIZING

GOOD WORK OF THE POLICE

Two Arrests Made at Midnight in T. H. Hooper's Lower Store--An Arrest in Connection With Edgar Robbery.

Last night about 12.30 o'clock P.C.'s Newhall and Meagher, placed their hands on two well known young men of the city as they were in the act of burglarizing the premises of T. H. Hooper's lower George street store.

The thieves had made one visit to the store and had taken a quantity of goods therefrom and were making their second visit when the officers arrested them.

Both appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning and declined to elect or plead.

Crown Attorney R. E. Wood asked that the bail be $2,000 and two sureties of $1,000 each in both cases, and this amount was fixed by the Magistrate.

"This sort of thing must be put a stop to," commented the Crown Attorney, in alluding to the nature of the offence. Up to late this afternoon bail had not been furnished.

It appears that the officers noticed the suspicious actions of the two young men last night and decided to keep them under observation. Finally the store was entered through a rear door, a key being used on the lock.

The hiding place of the key, which was near the door, had become known by one of the two.

A quantity of candies was taken.

THE EDGAR ROBBERY.

With the arrest of another young man yesterday by P.C. Meagher, another case of burglary is brought to light.

On the night of October 6th, one box and a half of tobacco, and a quanity of gum, cigars, taffy and breathlets were stolen from the premises of James Edgar, wholesale dealer.

An entrance into the premises was made through a window, and the articles were hidden in the rear of the City hotel.

When the alterations now going on at the hotel were commenced, and during the noon hour the spoil was removed to another hiding place near by, and there they were discovered by the police.

The hiding place was watched, and the arrest of yesterday followed.

The accused denies being the guilty party.

FATHER GILLIS CHAMPIONS TOTAL ABSTINENCE

A Strong Message to Men — Leave Drink Absolutely Alone, He Urged—No Safety in Moderate Drinking

A strong temperance sermon was delivered last evening by Father Gillis in St. Peter's Cathedral. "Of all passions," said he, "the most powerful is the passion for drink. It is the most powerful passion that we have to conquer to-day, and no half-way measures will suffice if we would overcome it. We must fight the devil with force: radical measures must be used, and nothing short of total abstinence will give us victory. Therefore, my practical appeal to the men of this parish and to all Christian men, is to leave drink absolutely alone. I am aware," said Father Gillies, "that as soon as I mention the words total abstinence there are those who will say the priest is a fanatic like the rest, that he makes the usual mistake, and he is a crank. He is too radical. He is a 'fanatic.' Christ was a fanatic on moral topics, fanatic as the world regards them. Listen! 'If thine eye offend thee, pluck it out, and if thine hand offend thee cut it off.' These are the words of Christ Himself, the Divine Spirit. Must a priest be called fanatic because he says of drink 'leave it alone'?

"Again, St. Paul was a fanatic. St. Paul thought it his duty, not only to save his own soul, but to help save the souls of his brethren. This is the essence of Christianity. Unity of brotherhood, that no man live for himself alone, or serve his own soul alone. We are called members of Christ, and members of one family. If any man thinks he can work out his own salvation, while disregarding the obligation of helping his neighbors, that man has not seized the first principle of Christianity. Says St. Paul, 'If to eat meat is a stumbling block to my brother, I will not eat meat forever.' Must the preacher of temperance be called a fanatic because he says 'if drink be a stumbling block to thy brother take no drink forever.' If so, I would rather be a 'fanatic' with Christ and St. Paul than be a cold-blooded fish, who admits that drinking and drunkenness are the causes of an ocean of evils, but who, when you ask him what he is going to do about it answers 'nothing.'"

At this point Father Gillies took up some of the excuses men have for not signing the temperance pledge.

One says "I am no sot. I am not a drunkard. I am a moderate drinker."

Every drunkard, almost without exception, was a moderate drinker. No man becomes at once a drunkard. The pit of hell is choked up with not men who said they were drunkards, but with those who professed in the beginning that they were moderate drinkers.

Another man says, "I have will-power and am in no danger." Brethren, there are men who had stronger will-power than you or I, men who were nearer to God than you or I, who have gone to perdition because they thought they had will-power, and would be only moderate drinkers.

Another man says "I can take a drink and leave it alone."

We know you can take it, that needs no proof, but let us see you leave it alone for a year.

Still another man says "I would not want to take the pledge and break it."

Who asks you to take it and break it? Take it and keep it. Of all the examples of moral cowardice on the face of the earth, there is no more pitiable example than that of the man who can not trust himself to stand by his word, or keep his contract.

Finally, suppose that all my reasons are no reasons at all, that all my arguments prove nothing, I give you a final argument, a supreme reason that no one dare reject. The ultimate argument of the total abstainer is the cross of Christ. Christianity means the cross. The cross means self-denial, mortification, penance.

You Catholic men promise God that every time you go to confession, not only to confess your sins, but to do penance. Now, what penance do you do? Here is penance—leave drink alone.

The love of drink is stronger than the noblest of human passions, stronger than the love of a man for his wife, the love of a son for his mother. The love of drink gets into his heart, and he will beat, bruise and maltreat his wife, the child at its mother's breast. If the love of drink gets into a man he will outrage the love of his mother, flout her, jeer at her if she weep or speak he will stop her mouth with his fist. Aye, he will even murder her, and think it no crime, while the drink passion holds sway.

On Friday night another lecture will be given, but on Saturday evening the meeting will be withdrawn. The time will be given over to confession alone.

The men will all meet again at 8 o'clock mass on Sunday, and the closing exercises of the retreat will take place and the imparting of the papal benediction.

Father Gillis will preach at high mass at ten o'clock Sunday morning, and on the first three nights of next week he will address women only.

GREAT SHOWING MADE BY LINDSAY RUGBYISTS—NIX

Lindsay Post:—Lindsay won this district in the Junior O.R.F.U. series by default. Dr. Macpherson, of Peterborough, has notified Cap. Simpson that the Electric City will not have a team in the junior series this year.

The local rugbyists are evidently satisfied with this smokeless victory as they have decided to put the pigskin away for the season. The boys have not had a game this year, and they feel that they would be in no condition to meet the tried teams competing.

Hurrah! Hail to the district champions. It was a famous victory, quoth Messrs. Simpson & Co. What a joke. Lindsay never saw a pigskin this season, and for having a rugby team that could win by default from the Peterborough club—we didn't hardly expect it from Lindsay.

Under the heading of "Will Lindsay have a rugby team, the Warder says:

A general question among the sports of the town is, "Are the Lindsay people going to see any rugby this season?"

Although the Peterborough team is not progressing very well our own local team will still be in the game. The Y.M.C.A. under the leadership of Mr. Young, will have a team that should put up a pretty fair exhibition of the game.

Ken Overend had his ear badly split in a tackle and retired from the field. It did not keep him from showing up this afternoon. — Kingston Standard.

A NIGHT OF SCOTTISH AIRS

The following is the programme to be given by the 57th Band at the Armouries this evening.

March, "Bonnie Brier Bush," Slatter.

Bagpipe selection, Old Highland Airs

Overture, Guy Mannering. Sir H. Bishop.

Tenor solo (a) Mary Morrison, Burns. (b) March of the Cameron Men, Campbell. Mr. Barnaby Nelson.

Highland dance, Kame Aylmer and Hilda Cubitt.

Selection, Robert Bruce, Bonnislaw.

Bagpipe selection, the Market Place, of Inverness.

Tenor solo, The Hundred Pipers, Nairne.

Mr. Barnaby Nelson, Reminiscences of Scotland.

A silver collection of ten cents will be taken at the entrance.

At dinner especially—or at any "meat meal"—Regal Lager proves a real help to weak digestions. It tones the stomach and does the nerves good. Yet it is no more stimulant and certainly not an intoxicant.

AUCTION SALE

OF VALUABLE

Farm Property

IN THE TOWNSHIP OF DOURO

I am instructed by the administrator of the Estate of the late Maurice O'Brien to sell by Public Auction at the MUNRO HOUSE, in the City of Peterborough, on Saturday, October 22, 1910, at three o'clock p.m., the following property:

The east half of lot number 6, in the third concession of the Township of Douro, containing by admeasurement seventy-five acres, more or less, and excepting thereout a highway running across the said East half of lot number 6.

Upon this farm is a substantial two storey barn about 35 feet by 55 feet upon a stone foundation and also a log house, two wells, and a small orchard. The property is fenced with rail fences in a good state of repair. This farm has good arable soil with the exception of 10 acres of low lying lands, and is one and a half miles from a school and two and a half miles from Douro Church and Douro Post Office.

This property will be offered for sale in one parcel subject to a reserved bid.

The standing conditions of sale of the High Court of Justice except as hereinafter varied will be the conditions of sale under which this sale will be made.

Terms: Ten per cent of the purchase money to be paid at the time of sale and the balance in thirty days without interest. Further particulars and conditions of sale will be given at the time of sale or on application to the undersigned.

Dated at Peterborough this 8th day of October, 1910

FLEET OF TUGS AND DREDGES

Of the Trent Valley Canal Nearing Port, Where They Are at Work

The government dredges and tugs are working towards their winter quarters at Lakefield. Work will be continued as long as the weather will permit.

The dredge, "Little Lake," and tug J. B. McColl are at work at Lakefield, and the dredge Emmerson and tug "Bob Hall" are busy between Young's Point and Lakefield. The "Bessie Butler" is hauling stone from Stony Lake for the new wharf at Juniper Island. The tug "Herbert" arrived at Lakefield yesterday from Lake Simcoe with two scows of cookery, and will return to Buckhorn for a scow load of wood for Lakefield.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

Rev. Robert Pogue will speak to the men at the popular men's meeting in the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday afternoon at 4.15. There will be the usual bright singing by the men, and there will also be some special singing, either solo or quartette. There is no better way of spending an hour on Sunday afternoon. Every man is welcome at this meeting. It is held in the back parlor on the first floor. The Board of Directors will meet next Tuesday evening to pass the applications for membership and to transact other important business. Mr. Frank Tait is getting into harness in the Boys' Department. The boys are quite pleased with him, and from all appearances he will make it possible for the boys to have a good time and do some very good service for the other boys in the Association.

There will be a boys' meeting next Monday afternoon, to be addressed by Dr. Luttrell. This will be one of the most interesting meetings held this year in the Y.M.C.A. The doctor understands the boys and will talk to them like a good father. This meeting will be held right after school is out on Monday. Parents, get your boys out to this meeting.

The Intermediate Bible Study Club met last evening and had a very profitable hour of Bible study. This has been voted the best thing yet. Mr. Thompson teaches this club.

There were two fast games of basketball on the floor last night. The Jolliers trimmed up the Joshers to the tune of 16 to 6, and the Hustlers had to go some to beat the Pets. The score at the finish was 7 to 5.

There is more activity in the gymnasium than there has been for a long time, and many of the old members are getting back into class again. The business men are turning out well to their class, and this promises to be one of the interesting classes this year.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION

The Joint Meeting of the City and Country Teachers at the Normal School

The attendance was large at the joint meeting of the city and county teachers at the Normal school yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Park dealt in an able manner with his subject of the "Nature and Elements of Literature," and he received an attentive hearing throughout. Literature, he said, was for the purpose of giving artistic pleasure and his remarks tended to show how we could differentiate between the good literature and the other kinds.

The subject of reading in the primary forms was taken by Inspector Broderick. He based his remarks on necessity for the teacher having the proper mastery of words.

Mr. J. A. McKone, spoke on the subject of writing. He said that too little time was given to writing and also that the pupils could not be expected to become good writers, when their teachers were deficient, as was often the case to-day.

THIS MORNING'S SESSION.

In the morning session of the City Teacher's Association, much routine and new business was transacted and a number of interesting papers and addresses given.

The treasurer's report showing a good balance was read and adopted. Messrs. Srigley and Rossel were re-appointed as auditors. Mr. Mowat, the chairman of the Library Committee, read a report in which he recommended that the association take advantage of the regulation permitting the Teachers' Association to appoint a representative to the Library Board, and urged that one be elected. It was decided on motion that the representative hold office for a term not longer than three years. Mr. T. F. Matthews was the teachers' choice.

BOOKS AND EDUCATION.

Mr. S. J. Stubbs read a carefully prepared paper on "The Public Library in its Relation to Education" and the lengthy discussion following its reading showed the deep interest taken in the paper and the fact that the association will do its part to make the library a source of benefit to its members and the pupils of the city schools. A motion to have the address printed verbatim in the local press, was unanimously adopted and for that reason a further discussion of the paper is unnecessary at present.

Miss Stubbs, Miss Lochead and Mr. W. J. Neale, the new vice-principal of the Central school, dealt with the subject "Spelling" in a very practical and complete way. Each of the speakers criticized the new Public school speller, and many suggestions regarding methods were made and discussed.

Inspector Mowat read an instructive paper on the important subject "Studying." The inspiring value to the student of books was emphasised, but if the author's problem is to be assimilated and the best value taken out of them, a proper selection should be made, there must be a proper attitude between teacher and pupil and independent judgment must be developed in the student.

The following officers were elected:
President—H. A. Yenney.
Vice-President—W. J. O'Brien.
Sec.-Treas.—Mr. Petit.
Executive Committee.—Miss O'Connell, sister principals of St. Mary's and Sacred Heart school, Mr. Walkey, Miss Staples, Mr. F. E. Kerr, Miss Denne, Miss Cairns, Miss Jenkins, Miss Rush, Miss Alford.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

Sir,—"Honor to whom honor is due" is a worthy sentiment and one that should be strictly adhered to on all occasions.

Because "Anglican" without giving his name in yesterday's Review, "understands" that somebody somewhere at some time met "a sister" of some religious institution somewhere, who claimed to have written "Just for To-day," he must forsooth try to cast a doubt upon the authorship of that hymn in the face of the irrefutable evidence set forth in Monday's World that William Huckle, now confined in the Kingston in the Kingston penitentiary, is the true and only author thereof. The purgatorial and unscriptural verse imported into the hymn is a device too transparent to demand serious consideration. William Huckle's name will go down to posterity as the author of one of the finest hymns on the pages of the new Anglican hymnal.

Yours, etc.,
ONE INTERESTED.

Enquiry Office

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Guild of Goodfellowship will meet in the Princess Theatre, when an address on the above mentioned subject will be given.

All men of 18 years of age and over are most cordially invited to be present. In this guild there is no roll call, and no formal ceremony of initiation. Men can sit just where they like, and every endeavor is made to make them feel at home.

These meetings should be productive of much good, and the earnest co-operation of the men of this city is all that is required to make them helpful and interesting. Come along boys, and give your support to this movement.

You can rightly judge underwear by details. The securing of drawer straps—the fastening of buttons—the sewing; such details as there indicate a manufacturer's regard for thoroughness. Stanfield's Unshrinkable Underwear is made with but one idea in mind—to give you long wearing satisfaction. The drawer straps are securely attached on special staying machines. Nothing but best 6 ply thread and utmost care are good enough for our sewing operations throughout. The buttons go on to stay. Every seam, every stitch is tight. Stanfield's Unshrinkable Underwear is dependable.

Drawer Straps put on to stay on.

STANFIELD'S
Unshrinkable
UNDERWEAR

Made both for women and for men in perfectly fitting sizes. Twenty-one different weights and qualities; from warm, heavy ribbed garments particularly suitable for outdoor workers to the soft, finely knitted underwear so soothing to sensitive skins. NORWOOD FAIR WAS BIGGER SUCCESS THAN EVER BEFORE

The turnstile at the gate at the Norwood Exhibition fairly spun Wednesday.

The crowd commenced to come early and the crowd continued to come late, and the important and outstanding feature of Wednesday's exhibition was that the attendance was the largest that ever visited the East Peterborough annual fall fair.

In fact the growth and popularity of the fair was indicated on every hand.

Norwood was full to suffocation—that is, the crowds were so large that it was one big jam.

At the one hotel in the village since the destruction of the main business block by fire, it was like an army storming a fort. Everybody seemed to have the hotel as an objective point. A large number wanted dinner, and a large number didn't want anything but friendly association.

But the hotel was not the only place that did a land office business in the eating line.

There were impromptu restaurants here, there and everywhere, and the bells rang out till the town sounded like a huge railway station.

But, considering the rush and confusion, the meal service was excellent.

Secretary-Treasurer J. E. Roxborough informed the Review that the entries were much ahead of last year, there being an exceptionally fine showing of poultry and horses. Dr. Manhard, of Smith Falls, the government's expert judge of horses, expressed himself as highly pleased with the fine exhibit of horses.

The grounds presented a bright and busy appearance. They certainly had a full measure of money men with their specialties in the way of novelties of different kinds, from "ring the cane" to the "merry-go-round," and almost everything from shoe laces to real estate was offered the prospective buyer.

And the celebrated dancers presenting the Algerian dance—"sensational in this country, but sacred in Algeria" as the box office lecturer announced it.

The same show that "pleased" (?) the patrons of the midway here was the big noise under canvas at Norwood, and collected much silver.

AN EASY WINNER.

The first event on the sports programme was the three-mile running race with W. Willis, Y.M.C.A., Peterborough; W. Edwards, Keene, and W. Smoke, Alderville, the starters. It was won by Willis, who had over a quarter of a mile lead on Edwards, the second man. Smoke and Edwards made a sensational finish, but the Indian blew up on the stretch, after a gruelling sprint for the wire.

RACES WERE EXCELLENT

Both the green race and the free-for-all provided unusually good contests, and it took six heats to decide the former.

In the third heat in the free-for-all Driver McKeiver was thrown from his sulky in a collision with Bourbon Brook. He was badly shaken up, and a wheel of the Brook sulky was shattered.

The summary—

TELLING THE NAKED TRUTH

Mr. Wm. A. Brady, whose two new productions of the early theatrical season in New York, "Mother" and "Baby Mine", are playing to capacity audiences, will give Montreal playgoers another opportunity to see one of his new offerings prior to presentation on the New York stage. This will be "The Naked Truth" a three-act farcical comedy, that has for the past seven months been the rage of the London stage, where Charles Hawtrey is appearing in the principle role.

Henry E. Dixey, the distinguished American comedian, will be the star of the organization engaged to play this piece in Canada and the United States, and will appear at the Princess Theatre here next Monday night for a week's engagement. His excellent work in "The Devil," "The Man on the Box," and "Mary Jane's Pa," have kept him in New York City almost constantly, with but a brief tour, perhaps, to the principal cities. In "The Naked Truth", Mr. Dixey will have a role that permits of wide range, for "Bunny" Darrell, the victim of a truth compelling ring, liberates himself from many difficult predicaments. Mr. Dixey will be supported by a representative American Company of fun-makers, including Marie Nordstrom, Ruth Shepley, Isabel West, Dorothy Davies, Lillian Dix, Blanche Bryant, Marie Pert, and the Messrs. Herbert Standing, Spotswood Aiken, Kenneth Davenport, Frederick Roberts, George Ives and Thomas W. Slater. Grand Opera House, Wednesday, October 19th.

THE LIVING FOR THE DEAD HUGH DELINE BEFORE COURT

Was Remanded Till the 25th--Showed Very Little Feeling--Intense Interest Taken in the Proceedings Yesterday

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Oct. 13—Hugh Deline, the alleged murderer of his wife, Chrissy, at their home in northern Belmont, showed not the least emotion when Magistrate Edmison finished his preliminary hearing here to-day, with the words: "The prisoner will be committed for trial at the fall assizes on Oct. 25th."

Deline was brought down from the county jail on the noon train by County Constable Cochrane. He showed a great improvement in his appearance since committed to jail, and sat during the taking of the evidence untouched, although he kept a sharp outlook on the evidence given, but not with the interest a man on a murder charge would be expected to give to his own hearing.

Magistrate Edmison started the hearing at 1.30 o'clock, Magistrate Joyce, of town, sitting beside him. Mr. G. N. Gordon, of Peterborough, was present in Deline's behalf, while Crown Attorney Wood represented the Crown. Provincial Detective Reburn was also present.

All the witnesses heard at the inquest gave evidence, as well as four new witnesses. The evidence of marks of cow manure on the deceased's body, which looked like if put there by a man's boot, was brought out. It was brought out that Deline changed his boots after returning home from giving the alarm, but there is no evidence to connect these two facts so as to incriminate Deline. Part of the evidence was of such a nature as to not warrant publication. So far the evidence against Deline is not very strong, but the circumstances look very suspicious.

Margaret Newell was the first witness examined. She was the first person to whom Deline communicated the intelligence of his wife's death. This was after she had retired. She told of the conversation she had with deceased, in which Mrs. Deline had stated that she and her husband were cousins, and that she did not want to have any more children. She examined the body next morning and found marks.

Mrs Margaret Little had helped to wash Mrs. Deline's body. Shefound a substance which looked like cow manure on the inside of Mrs. Deline's leg between the ankle and knee. It looked as if it was made by a man's boot. She also saw a mark on the floor under Mrs. Deline's body, which looked as if it had been made by a knee, and this had led her to ask for Deline's pants. The stains on Deline's trousers looked similar to those on Mrs. Deline's garments.

Mr. McMullen got the trousers for Deline to change while the old ones were placed in the cellar window. When he first saw Deline he had not seen the tear in the trousers. Deline said he had a bad headache and Mr. McMullen had advised him to go to bed. When Mr. Little asked for the trousers he had got them between two barrels in the cellar, where they had apparently fallen from the window. He did not see anything wrong with them except the tear. He had also seen the dirt flattened out on the floor under the body but could not say how it was done.

Mrs. McQuaig, who helped Mrs. Little to wash the body, had also seen a substance on deceased's leg resembling cow manure, but could not say how it got there. There was a mark resembling the impression of a knee in dirt under the body, but she said it might have been made by something else.

Matthew Little also saw marks in dirt under body which lead to the examination of the trousers. Deline on returning from giving the alarm had changed his boots and socks, giving no reason for it. This change had been made in living room, but Little could not say whether the boots were dirty or not.

Mrs. Parks, the mother of the murdered woman, who lives near Bannockburn, said that her daughter had married Deline about five years ago. Her daughter when visiting her last year had remarked, "Oh, ma, you don't know the life I lead."

Mrs Almetto Parks, a distant relation of the deceased, who had lived near the Deline home before they moved to Belmont, told of finding Chrissy Deline crying on several occasions about two years ago, and of a conversation which followed in which Mrs. Deline told of her husband having been unnatural with her.

Dr. Kindred arrived at the Deline home about 8.30 o'clock on the day following the tragedy. There was a mark on her left temple, one on the left shoulder and several patches on face and slight injuries on other parts of the body. The marks were fresh and must have been made immediately before death.

Dr. Holdcroft said that in his opinion, death was caused by shock or fright. The right portion of the heart indicated sudden death.

Cora Parks, sister of Chrissy eline, was next examined. A year ago last September, she went to her sister's home in Hastings county and found her crying from some trouble with her husband and remarked "When you are down home you don't know what I put up with." Next morning on a two mile walk to the Park's home, Hugh Deline had refused to carry the baby but walked on ahead.

Constable Williams, who took Deline's garment to an analyst, for examination told of his conversation with Deline about his trousers;

"Are those the same clothes you wore on the night of the tragedy?"

"Are you sure those are the same "Yes," replied Deline. clothes?"

"Oh, no," said eline, "I have another shirt on."

"Do you mean to say that those are the pants you wore when you worked for Jas. Buchanan," said Constable Williams, with emphasis.

"Oh, no," Deline had replied, and immediately went to the cellar and got the discarded trousers."

Ethel Buchanan had seen Mrs. Deline on the day before the tragedy and she spoke of her head feeling better

Jas Hilton testified that he lived about a mile from Deline's home Deline was fixing up an old house belonging to Mr. Robt. Buchanan, which was near the road, and which had formerly been used as a sheep pen. One day Deline said that he was not going to do anything further after his potatoes were dug, he would move out if his wife was all right. He said she didn't expect she would live long as she had bad pains in her head for some time back. Deline had remarked several times during the spring and summer, that he would not be surprised to find his wife dead.

Robt. Buchanan had heard Deline say that his wife had pains in her head. Samuel Buchanan had also heard Deline say this as well as Wm. J. Doughty.

Mr. Gordon said that the prisoner should not be put on trial as there was nothing to connect him with the charge. The stains on the garments had been accounted for and he did not think there was sufficient reason to commit this man on a charge of murder.

Magistrate Edmison said that the finger of suspicion pointed towards Deline, that he had not accounted satisfactorily for the time when he left Buchanan's and arrived at Mrs. Newel's. He thought that the man might not be sane, as he went to bed with his wife lying dead in the shed. That under the evidence he thought the case should go to a higher court and be ferreted out there.

Deline was taken back to Peterborough to-night and will come up at the fall assizes in Peterborough on Oct. 25th.

Mr. G. N. Gordon will represent Deline and Mr. Meredith, K.C., will conduct the prosecution.

VICTIM OF ALLEGED ASSAULT SUES G.T.R. FOR DAMAGES

Lindsay Warder.

Barrister I. E. Weldon, of Lindsay, on behalf of William McMullen, farmer, of Emily township, has started an action for damages against the Grand Trunk Railway for alleged brutal treatment on Friday October 7th, by a conductor named Long, a recent arrival from England, and a strike-breaker.

McMullen says that he fell asleep in his seat, and was awakened by the conductor shaking him and demanding his ticket. McMullen began searching through his pocket for the pasteboard, when he alleges the conductor struck him several heavy blows in the face, knocked his head against the side of the car, and finally dragged him to the car lavatory and locked him in. At this juncture McMullen found his ticket and pushed it under the lavatory door.

At the request of several eye-witnesses McMullen tried to lay information against the conductor, but the authorities at Peterborough said it was not in their jurisdiction. To-day McMullen began his action, placing his case in Mr. Weldon's hands.

POLICE LOOKING FOR SHELDON, MONTREAL STOCK OPERATOR

Two Letters Are Received by His Manager Saying That He Prefers to Operate Abroad and That If He Is Not Interfered With He Will Reimburse His Montreal Clients—Loss Is Now Figured at $100,000.

Montreal, Oct. 15.—The chief incidents in the Sheldon affair yesterday were the swearing out of an information for his arrest by Manager David Burnside and a warrant or two for the "blind pool" broker, and the receipt of two letters from Sheldon in person saying that he cannot return, but, with the capital secured, in New York he will make money to pay off all his indebtedness in this city.

It has also transpired that a loan company in this city gave out no less than eight thousand dollars lately to people who mortgaged their property to give it to Sheldon. This fact is vouched for by the inspector's statement, made to his board yesterday, and indicates pretty well the mentality played upon during the past year or more by the absconding broker.

There is one thing, however, which no one can understand, and that is the fact of a business man like Manager Burnside remaining in Sheldon's office for many months and being hoodwinked completely by the leader, and the same observation will apply to all the other clerks in the office.

Although very little can be made of the books, it is stated that Sheldon did not get away with more than $100,000, so it may be that the losses will not be as large in the aggregate as was at first supposed. It will also be noticed that Sheldon does not give his address in the two letters he has written, if even he wrote the documents at all. Some say that Sheldon has already crossed the Rio Grande, although he mailed the letters in New York or had a friend to do it for him.

There is a story also that Mrs. Sheldon was the daring operator and, screened behind the husband, but there is nothing to corroborate any such supposition. There is great terror among the ladies for fear a list of the dupes are published, as in many cases hubby was ignorant of the whole business.

Mr. Burnside put in a great deal of his own money, and his influence led to his friends doing the same. He is one of the most highly-respected business men in Montreal, and his association with Sheldon must have been worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to the absconding broker. When Sheldon failed to return on Thursday, as he had promised, Mr. Burnside took steps to furnish the authorities with the books and all the information, which he had at his disposal.

Thousands of claims are pouring into the liquidator's office from all parts of the country, and it is besieged by a big crowd of Montrealers at all hours.

It has been discovered that Sheldon's office was visited on Monday night and every paper dealing with stock transactions was destroyed. On this account it is difficult to find the extent of Sheldon's stock transactions.

Five years ago Sheldon was a school teacher on a small salary in Boston. He was always deeply interested in the stock market, and had followed it closely. He started a small business as investment broker, and was successful for a time. After operating for three years, however, he failed and disappeared. He came to Montreal, where he had a number of friends, and claims to have paid off all of the money he owed to his Boston clients soon after his arrival here.

At first Sheldon began quietly in Montreal. He did not court publicity, and his clients were confined to a few hundred, and it was not until quite recently that he started to advertise extensively. A few months ago Sheldon began to extend his operations on a large scale. He employed several hundred agents, many of them commercial travelers, who procured a big flock of clients for him from all parts of the country. About six thousand people are now on his string.

It was Sheldon's boast that he had never lost a dollar for any client, and that he had never paid less than 20 per cent. per month.

May Be New Cardinals.

Rome, Oct. 15.—According to yesterday's Tribune, Archbishop W. L. O'Connell of Boston, and Mgr. Falconio, the apostolic delegate to the United States, will be raised to the cardinalate at the next meeting of the consistory. The Vatican refuses to confirm or deny The Tribune's statement.

Canada's Future.

Montreal, Oct. 15.—Principal Falconer of Toronto University spoke last evening at the 46th annual convention of teachers on "Progress." He said Canada would not become a great nation by mere lapse of time.

TORONTO BROKER ARRESTED

Toronto, Oct. 15.—On going down to the offices of Ralph Pielsticker & Co., Traders' Bank Building, yesterday to give instructions to sell 14,000 shares of stock, Johnson G. Newsome, broker, room 50, Toronto Arcade, discovered that the Pielsticker firm had been out of business for two days.

As a result of this discovery, Wm. M. Forrest, manager, was arrested at his home last night, 669 Palmerston avenue, on a charge of defrauding Newsome out of nearly $10,000 worth of stock. No further charges have been laid by any other parties as yet.

Ralph Pielsticker is said to have been in England since last May.

It is alleged that Newsome gave an order for 14,000 shares of Little Nipissing stock, which he was purchasing on margin, and gave as security 11,500 shares of Little Nip, and 500 shares of Temiskaming as a holding order till Oct. 31. It is these shares which Forrest is charged with selling and with retaining the cash received from the sale.

To the detectives, Forrest admitted selling the stock, but claimed that Newsome had not kept up his margins.

Forrest is 30 years of age and married. Bail was fixed at $2,000.

FRENCH RAILWAY STRIKE BROKEN

Paris, Oct. 15.—The backbone of the railway strike appears to have been broken, but rioting occurred yesterday and the Government fearing further disorders last night, brought additional troops into Paris.

Striking masons who went out in sympathy with the railroad employes, wrecked a freight dray in Montmarte, in the northern section of the city, and forming in two columns attempted to parade. The police and republican guards charged and dispersed them. During the encounter several guards and policemen were injured.

The tie-up is still practically complete on the western road, but service on all other lines is being resumed on a normal basis.

SEVERE STORMS ON ENGLISH COAST

London, Oct. 15.—The English coast is strewn with wreckage as a result of a storm that has continued for two days. The casualty list, as already reported, is a long one.

Yesterday morning the bodies of five seamen from the coasting steamer Cranford was picked up off Hartlepool. It is believed that the vessel which carried a crew of twenty, foundered and that the men were attempting to reach shore in a small boat when they were lost. Some of the wreckage coming ashore indicates that a sailing ship met a like fate.

Lifeboats from many points were out all Thursday night and in some instances effected rescues. In other cases they were unable to reach distressed craft.

Churches In West.

London, Oct. 15.—(C.A.P. Cable.—) Rev. E. R. Weeks of Winnipeg, addressing the Colonial Missionary Society, said the policy of the west was to foster churches likely to soon become self-supporting, and to undertake missionary work themselves. Referring to the exceedingly small cost of erecting church on the lands of Saskatchewan, he said: "It would be a good thing for such an institute to be put up in every town on the Transcontinental Railway."

WOULD-BE BRIDE DISAPPEARED

Windsor, Oct. 15.—A Chicago despatch says: Louis Gruff, 34 years old, a carpenter of Windsor, Ont., was awakened from his day dreams yesterday with the disappearance of his promised bride, Miss Irene Allen of Detroit, and $1,700, savings of a lifetime. Gruff said he met the young woman two years ago in Detroit, and last Tuesday, when he visited her there, they agreed to go to Kansas City and get married. They came to Chicago, and, while waiting between trains, Gruff was advised to go out and get shaved, and Miss Allen asked him to leave his money with her. Now she's vanished.

"THE RIGHT AND WRONG WAY" THIS IS WHAT SAM LUTTRELL TALKED OF LAST EVENING AT PARK STREET BAPTIST CHURCH

Taking for his text the 9th and 21st verses of the 15th chapter of John, Dr. Sam Luttrell gave a very interesting address upon "The Right and Wrong Way of Coming to Jesus."

There is always a right and wrong way to do a thing. We fail sometimes in trying to do what we thought was right, and people say "he has made a failure." God gives us credit for the things we honestly try to do and fail, and when we fall bleeding and exhausted in life's battle, instead of keeping us down, He puts His loving arms beneath us and lifts us up. He always says to every true repentant Magdalene or returning prodigal "Go thy way, sin no more."

Some approach Jesus out of curiosity. The Jews came, we read, to see Lazarus, not Jesus. The curiosity-mongers are not all dead yet.

The Jews came to have a look at one raised from the dead, not Jesus. They were more interested in the result than the Resultor.

Mere curiosity is about as cruel a treat as there is in human nature. A policeman leading a poor drunken bum is a curiosity, and always has a following. The public courts of our land are places for the curiosity mongers. A sort of universal garbage gatherers. There are two ways of looking at things. Two ways to speak about things and people. Two powers to trust the keeping of our souls to. Two destinies to which we are all hastening. The man who comes to Jesus as a mere cure for sin will be satisfied with Jesus, but he who comes to Jesus as a sinner and seeks salvation through faith in the blood will get both forgiveness of sins and cure. Only Jesus Christ can forgive sin. No man can forgive sin. We can forgive that wrong which is committed against us, but God alone can forgive the sin committed against Himself. Absolution from sin can be given only by God, through faith in the atoning blood of Jesus Christ.

If, like the Greeks, we come with an earnest desire, we will see Him. We will see Him, the one and sufficient sacrifice for the world's sin. We shall see Him as the only Saviour, who is able to save to the uttermost, all who will trust Him. We shall see in Him the cure for all ills, the peace for all life tumults, the one who alone can make our Paradise lost, a Paradise regained.

Several men and women accepted Christ as their Saviour last night.

Services to-morrow at 11 a.m., 3 p.m., and 7 p.m.

Dr. Sam Luttrell will take for his subject in the morning "Home."

A mass meeting of men in the afternoon at 3 o'clock. The George Street Male Quartette will sing. Subject, "The Man You Can't Down."

In the evening the doctor will speak on that all absorbing topic, "The Crucifixion of Jesus."

Tuesday evening next will be the last meeting of the mission. Dr. Luttrell will then give the story of his life. All will be made welcome.

HOW THAT FAMOUS LETTER TO HON. DR. PYNE GOT OUT

Dr. Reaume's Secretary Gave It to a Friend in Walkerville.

Mr. H. C. A. Maisonvile, Goes to Hon. Messrs. Hanna and Reaume and Acknowledges Having Taken Memo Although He Did Not Intend That It Should Be Published—He immediately Hands In Resignation.

Toronto, Oct. 15.—Responsibility for the publication of the letter of Hon. Mr. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, to Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, detailing the conversation with Bishop Fallon on the bilingual school question in Western Ontario, was placed yesterday to the satisfaction of Premier Whitney. In an official statement, Sir James said:

"I believe Hon. Mr. Hanna was invited by Rev. Father Kennedy to meet Bishop Fallon, and thought it well to send an account of the interview to the Minister of Education. Afterwards he (Mr. Hanna) gave me a copy of the letter to Hon. Dr. Reaume, Minister of Public Works. The latter placed the letter on his private file, from which it, or a copy of it, was taken surreptitiously by his secretary, H. C. A. Maisonville, and given out by him to a friend in Walkerville. Mr. Maisonville confessed his guilt to two members of the Cabinet, and his services have been dispensed with."

Mr. Maisonville has been private secretary to Hon. Dr. Reaume, Minister of Public works. He voluntarily made his explanations to Messrs. Hanna and Reaume of his part in the affair, and at the same time proffered his resignation. It would seem that a simple act of indiscretion on the part of Mr. Maisonville resulted in the copy of the letter inadvertently reaching the possession of some one who turned it over to the French-Canadian press, with results already known.

In an interview Mr. Maisonville said last night:

"I alone am responsible for having taken certain steps which led to the publication of the memorandum prepared by Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, and forwarded to Hon. Mr. Pyne, Minister of Education. My one great regret is that any act of mine could have brought Hon. Mr. Hanna into a controversy with His Lordship Right Rev. M. F. Fallon, Bishop of London.

"In taking the steps which indirectly led to the publication of the letter I was acting on my own responsibility alone and not in any official capacity. As a French-Canadian of the County of Essex, the teaching of the French language in those schools is dear to my heart.

"The memorandum in fact contributes nothing whatever to the controversy and does not in the least degree affect the happenings in Essex. There is actually no ill-feeling and there has never been any ill-feeling between the Irish Catholics and the French Catholics in Essex County that I know of."

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Cuba has been swept by a damaging wind and rainstorm.

Crown Prince George of Servia is ill with typhoid fever.

Robert Cughan, ex-manager of the Farmers Bank at Athens, will stand trial on charges of falsifying books and returns.

Bourassa, through Le Devoir, appeals to his readers to contribute to the Montreal fund for a monument to King Edward.

France, which barred American potatoes in 1875, because of fear of infecting native potatoes with disease, will now admit them, the French crop being poor.

Graham White, the English aviator, yesterday made a flight into Washington, alighting near the navy department building, where Admiral Dewey welcomed him.

J. Lovell Murray, educational secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, is in the city, and will address several college gatherings during the next few days.

According to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel at London, Eng., £34,500 were received in response to the appeal on behalf of church work in Western Canada.

A Presbyterian deputation, consisting of Rev. Dr. R. P. MacKay, Rev. F. W. Anderson and Rev. G. M. Ross of Honan, China, will leave on Wednesday of next week for the west in connection with the conventions to be held in the four western provinces.

Randall Morgan of Philadelphia confirms the report from London of the engagement of his daughter, Jane Morgan, and the Hon. Cecil Fisher, son of Lord Fisher, of the British navy. Miss Morgan is one of the five women in the world who hold licenses as master mariners.

MUST PAY ITS TAXES

Fort William, Oct. 15.—Charging that the G.T.P. elevator here, one of the largest in the world, does not belong to the G.T.P., and is not operated by them, but by a distinct firm, the city of Fort William will refuse to exempt the plant from taxation.

Under the original agreement with the city the G.T.P.'s terminal was to be exempt for twenty years. The city finds, according to the assessor, that the elevator is G.T.P. property in name only. As the rate is twenty-three mills, the new ruling will mean, $22,000 a year in taxes to the owner of the elevator.

Five Years For Brute.

Chatham, Oct. 15.—Five years in Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence yesterday morning handed out by Magistrate Houston to James O. Coulter of Camden Township, who pleaded guilty to offences under the Charlton Act. Coulter's victim was his stepdaughter. The offences have continued since the girl was nine years old.

Freight Car Hits Automobile.

Sebring, Ohio, Oct. 15.—Charles Albright, aged 40, manager of the Sebring Bros.' Potteries here, and three employes of the firm were all instantly killed yesterday when a freight car hit their automobile. The others killed were: Joseph Smedecker, George Frederick and John Derby. Albright, driver of the auto, was deaf.

TAKES ISSUE WITH "TAY PAY"

Winnipeg, Oct. 15.—Sir Henry Berkley, formerly attorney-general of Hong Kong, took decided issue with T. P. O'Connor, M.P., in an address before the Canadian Club yesterday. He declared that "Tay Pay" had misrepresented the attitude of the House of Lords on public questions, and had also deliberately misrepresented the aims and policy of the Irish party, which wanted more powers than Canadians had, in the matter of self-government. He said the solidity of the Empire would be endangered if such were granted. The Upper House in Great Britain was not antagonistic to the wishes of the country at large.

WHERE THEY ARE AND WHAT THEY ARE DOING

J. H. ADAMS.

J. H. Adams, B.A., although not a Peterborough boy, yet is well known enough here to deserve mention. He occupied a position on the teaching staff of the P.C.I., was a classy runner and did much to promote athletics in the city. He is now teaching at Orangeville.

HUGH MAGUIRE.

Hugh Maguire, brother of Mr. Walter Maguire, is doing well in the west. "Timmy" served his apprenticeship as druggist in the store of McDermid & Jury, and is now engaged in the same business in Nelson, B.C.

CECIL ARNOTT.

Mr. Cecil Arnott is another boy who grew up in this city, received his education in the Public schools and Collegiate Institute here. When at the P.C.I. he evinced a liking for military life and was a lieutenant in the cadet corps. Later he went to the Royal Military College at Kingston and graduated with high honors. He is now a lieutenant with the Strathcona Horse.

GEORGE HALL.

Mr. George Hall is another successful Peterborough boy. He worked in local manufacturing concerns as pattern-maker, and then went to Flint, Mich., where he was connected with a leading automobile plant. He was compelled to leave off work for some time, owing to an affliction of the eye. He is now in Indianapolis where he has a very lucrative and responsible position.

GEO. H. WILLIAMSON.

Mr. Geo. H. Williamson will be remembered for his effective work among the boys and young men of the city while occupying the position of Y.M.C.A. secretary. He is now secretary of the Fort William association and is doing progressive and splendid work.

ARTHUR EMMERSON.

Mr. Arthur Emmerson, son of Mr. John Emmerson, 356 Stewart street, learned the draughting in local concerns and is now connected with the Goldie and McCulloch Company at Galt, Ont.

FRED HALL.

Mr. Fred Hall, son of Mrs. Hall, Simcoe street, is now in Montreal. He is a draughtsman with the Allis-Chalmers Bullock Company. Fred learned part of his business with the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Company. He has been in Montreal for about two years now. While in the city he was an active Y.M.C.A. worker.

ARTHUR MANN.

Mr. Arthur Mann, is a brother of Mr. Eddie Mann. He is in business for himself as a druggist at Grand Forks. "Art" figured in the city league hockey quite prominently here and was a classy player at the game. He also played with the Grand Forks team last year. While in Peterborough he was with William Madill as assistant.

ERNEST BEST.

Ernest Best, formerly proprietor of the Best Stove Company, is now at the Springfield Training School. Ernie was a great promoter of athletics in the city, played in several crack basketball teams at the Y.M.C.A. and also was prominent in church and social circles. Last summer he was instructor of play-grounds in Winnipeg.

ERNIE BRUCE.

Ernie Bruce, will be well remembered by all. He was connected with the Bell Telephone Company in the city and was promoted to manager of the Collingwood branch. Ernie has a host of friends in the city, who are pleased to hear of his business success.

HENRY McCAFFERY.

Mr. Henry McCaffery is another druggist who is prospering in the west. Formerly employed with Wm. Madill, under whom he served his apprenticeship, Mr. McCaffery accepted a position with the Walter Alexander Company at Lethbridge, Alta., and is doing well.

GEORGE ADAMS.

George Adams, formerly with the Bank of Commerce here, is now connected with the head office at Toronto. George has made good in banking circles and no doubt has a splendid future ahead of him.

CHAS. G. KINGAN.

The following short note has been received from Charles G. Kingan, son of R. G. Kingan, who left home recently.

In looking over your paper I noticed you were writing about the boys who were away from home, and as I left home without telling none, but close relations, I am employed in the tool department of T. B. Rayls, one of the largest hardware stores in Detroit.

Yours truly,
CHAS. G. KINGAN.

The above refers to Charles Kingan, who was employed in his father's hardware store here. His many friends will be glad to hear of his success.

MOTHER MUST TESTIFY AT THE ANDERSON INQUEST

Crown Will Compel Evidence of Mother and Younger Brother of Edward Jardine, Who Is Suspected of Knowing Something of the Andersen Murder at Goderich—Refused to Appear at Inquest.

Goderich, Oct. 15.—Warrants were issued last night by Coroner Holmes to compel the presence at the next session of the inquest, of Mrs. Jardine and Frankie Jardine, mother and younger brother of Edward Jardine, whom witnesses have said was seen with young Lizzie Anderson about 10 o'clock on the night she was murdered.

This rather sensational proceeding was adopted because they failed to appear at the resumption of the inquest last night, and the crown was particularly anxious that they should attend as witnesses.

"They went to Hagersville last week, and when we notified them that their presence was required here to-night, refused to come," said Inspector Greer to a reporter.

EDWARD JARDINE.

This necessitated another adjournment. The enquiry will be resumed on Tuesday, Oct. 25, at 10 a.m.

The Jardines have been closely watched while in Hagersville, and will be brought back as prisoners unless they give substantial assurance that they will return peaceably.

George Tate Blackstock, K.C., was here yesterday to conclude the examination of witnesses for the crown. He returned to Toronto in the afternoon. Yesterday morning he visited the scene of the murder and the fair grounds, going carefully over the ground that has been referred to in the evidence to date. There are 17 witnesses still to be examined, and some startling evidence is promised by the provincial inspectors.

Interest in the case is growing daily. The spacious town hall was again jammed to the stairways and out into the street, the people surged long before the hour set for last night's session. People drove in from all parts of Huron County.

The long adjournment is to convenience some of the witnesses and jurors.

NEW COPYRIGHT NOW IN SIGHT

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—The copyright legislation which Hon. Sydney Fisher will introduce at the coming session of Parliament, is a complete emancipation for Canada from the restrictions which have hitherto been imposed upon her by British legislation, and is a distinct personal triumph for the Minister of Agriculture, who has for years been fighting for such a result. The Canadian legislation will be preceded by legislation at Westminster which will repeal the denial of Canada's right to legislate on the matter of foreign copyright.

Other self-governing portions of the Empire will benefit.

The Canadian legislation will make the law here conform to the Berlin convention. It will have the important effect of preventing United States publishers having the freedom of the Canadian market by virtue of a British copyright. Hereafter such copyright will not run here, but the Canadian bill will recognize British copyright by British authors and, as the British Government has decided to recognize Canadian copyright, absolute reciprocity in copyright within the Empire is in sight.

Can Women Vote Town Dry.

Port Elgin, Oct. 15.—An important decision was handed out by Judge Barrett yesterday at the revision of the voters' list. This place is to have a vote on local option in January next. There were 25 names in all considered. When it came to a number of women who were down as tenants, Judge Barrett decided that women could not vote on tenant qualification, and that those who were already on the list as tenants could be sworn. The decision was received with general surprise, as it has been the rule to allow women to vote who were on the municipal list as tenants.

CONFERENCE WILL SUCCEED

London, Oct. 15.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—At Manchester last night Rufus Isaacs spoke in optimistic terms regarding the result of the conference on the Lords' veto, and has effectively brushed away the rumors prevalent at the beginning of the week that the negotiations have proved a failure.

The predominant feeling in well-informed circles now is that the conference will succeed, but it is held, as already cabled, that greater issues than the Lords' veto have been raised.

The Daily Review

SATURDAY, OCT. 15, 1910.

YES, IT IS

To-morrow morning Rev. Mr. Keith will preach on the topic "Is Life Worth Living?" This morning, though cloudy and dismal, we say "You bet life is worth living." The sun may shine to-morrow. It is on account of this hope eternal that we make this bet. If we had only the past to bank on, and in this dreary, gloomy day we would say, "No, life is not worth living," but on the glad to-morrow, when the sun will shine, the love will return, the birds will sing, and we will attain our hopes, we will be happy. Ah, yes, Mr. Keith, hope sustains us, no matter how dark the present hour; life is indeed worth living.

HE IS DEAD

There is a man named Jiggins, so Stephen Leacock, Ph.D., says in Saturday night, who had the HEALTH HABIT. He is dead, dead as a door nail. Jiggins used to stand and breathe at an open window for half an hour before dressing. He said it expanded his lungs. He might, of course, have had it done in a shoe store with a boot stretcher, but after all, it cost him nothing this way, and what is half an hour?

But Jiggins is dead. He did all kinds of exercises forwards, backwards, hand-side, front side. He used to lift cannon balls, dumb bells, iron bars and could chin himself a hundred times. But he is dead. He took cold baths. He did not eat pie nor meat, nor did he drink coffee. He is dead and there's that old Rummy Stiggens, who hasn't had a bath in years and who eats every thing and sleeps in a box car or a closet, he's still living. But Jiggins is dead. There's no moral to this story except for the fact that Jiggins, who was going to live to be a hundred, is dead.

SUNDAY

Rev. T. Albert Moore says Sunday is "not a day to snooze in bed." We gather this news, from the Belleville Intelligencer. Rev. T. Albert parts his name in the middle, and is secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance. However, he's not a bad kind of a man, and we agree with him. Sunday is not a day to snooze in bed. Sunday is a day to take lots of time at the dinner table and go for a walk. Sunday is a holy day, and a holiday for most of us. We get acquainted with our wife and children on Sunday. We have time to rest and recuperate, and many of us go to church. We don't believe that Sunday is a day to snooze in bed or to snooze in church, either.

"To church, to church," the parson cries,
And everybody goes,
The older ones to close their eyes,
The young to eye their clothes.

THE CHILD

When you look at your own child, think of Abraham Lincoln, the boy almost without opportunity. His sole assets were a good brain and a stepmother intelligent and kind.

He had many defects of speech and of manner. He was ungainly, rough, uncouth from the first to the last.

When the people of the country picked him out and made him President they found a gawky frontiersman, with big hands, big feet, rough hair, roughly kind.

But they found what is more important than refinement, neatness and charming manners—a complete man, unspoiled by foolish criticism.

Young Lincoln had been allowed to develop every thought, every feeling, every power that was in him. He hadn't been harassed and kept down and worried like somebody's pet dog.

Many parents make the mistake of treating their children as only a pet dog should be treated.

Let your child develop, teach him by kindness only, never by blows. No child is ever struck except by a brutal parent, no blow is ever given except in anger, and no child that is struck and has its spirit broken in youth has an equal chance with the other children.

That is a great army attending the public schools—millions upon millions of future workers, the boys that are to do the material, outside, temporary work, and the girls that are to be the mothers, to whom is entrusted the more important, the most sacred work of continuing the race.

The statesmen, the inventors, the poets, the thinkers, the valuable dreamers, the necessary schemers and planners of the future—they are all there sitting on the benches.

You could find the poet there, just at present with no thought more poetic than the earnest desire to escape from school.

You could find the future man of a thousand millions or more sitting there in tattered clothing, barefooted, perhaps, in the country school. You could find among the little girls one with a big forehead, and a deep back head, a quiet, earnest face—destined in the future to be the mother of the man whom the world needs, and to do her work through him.

A MAN WHO DIDN'T COME BACK

Charles D. Sheldon didn't "come back." Sheldon is a wizard, one of these get rich quick Millers. Miller went to the pen. He offered investors 520 per cent, that's all, 520 per cent. Of course, he couldn't deliver the goods. Sheldon's idea was simply this: "You give me your money. I know how to double it for you." He has gone and there are 3,000 creditors. The world is crazy to make money quickly, no matter how it is made, make it, that's all. Poor fools, money is necessary, but money cannot buy more than bread. We may have a million, but we can only rest on one couch, drink and eat the same as the man in a cottage. The same sun warms us, the same sleep refreshes us, the same rain drenches us, rich or poor. The same lordly worm will feast on us. Too bad that we cannot rest a while by the way, that we cannot hear the voice saying, "There are no pockets in a shroud."

A LAUGH

The psychological aspect of a laugh. This is what Dr. Park spoke of at the Teachers' Convention in Peterborough this week.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you,
Weep and you weep alone."

A laugh! Who can describe it. We know why we cry, we know that the little duct leaks. But a laugh. Can you in any language describe a laugh? What is it? Dr. Park spoke on the psychological aspect of a laugh. He said he was baffled to describe it.

CHEER UP

Cheer up, brother! God is not dead; the church hasn't all gone to the devil; the old Gospel is not played out; men everywhere still long for the things that are best and highest; the infinite patience and the infinite love of God are all human things; and in many and marvellous ways He is leading us even when we do not know it. Speaking after the manner of men, men, we do not think that He is as discouraged and disheartened and pessimistic of the outlook as we often allow ourselves to become. And He does not intend that you and I should turn this world into a house of wailing.—Christian Guardian.

Hear! Hear! This from a sinner in the back seat. We don't believe that this is a bad old world gone to the "damnation bow wows." Friends are still true, birds still sing, the flowers still grow, the grass is yet green, the rills still run, God's in His heaven and all's well with the world. Once in a while some minister elopes with a pretty girl, but ministers usually ring true, once in a while a mother deserts her home for the arms of an amorous lover, but home life is nearly always sweet. There are more glad days than sad ones, more triumphs than defeats, yes, we may meet a stiff and a mutt, but there's a good fellow right around the corner.

BRIBERY BY PUBLIC WORKS

Speaking at Cincinnati on September 20, President Taft said:

> "The evil in the corrupt control of a Congress or a Legislature by private interest is manifest and always calls for condemnation. But there is another kind of legislative abuse as dangerous to public weal in certain of its aspects as corruption, and that is the selfish combination of the representatives of the majority of the constituencies to expend the money of the Government for the temporary benefit of a part or with little benefit to the whole. It is the duty of the majority and the minority to legislate always for the benefit of the whole people, and any enactments that look to the selfish exploitation of less than the whole at the expense of the whole and without benefit to the whole, is a species of legislative abuse that comes very near corruption in its effect, and is perhaps more dangerous than corruption, because those who support such a combination are generally bold in its defence."

And he further said:

> "A supervising board of engineers should recommend to Congress the improvements in the order of their importance, and should have the power to advise that body that the beginning of certain improvements should be postponed until after other improvements are completely finished."

Speaking at Lethbridge about three weeks earlier, Mr. E. H. Macdonald, M.P., said:

> "You want a post office here and you certainly need one badly but you will never get it so long as you vote Conservative."

Which makes the better showing the American or the Canadian public man? Mr. Taft talks like a statesman Mr. Macdonald like a very small politician. The important thing about Mr. Macdonald's performance is that it is neither exceptional nor unusual in the party of which he is a prominent member. The Liberal party in 1908 ran its campaign in an astonishingly large number of constituencies by promising public works. The electors were bidden not to concern themselves about national policy and to care nothing whether the country was well or ill-governed to pay no heed to questions whether the people's money was spent honestly or stolen—merely to try to get public money spent in their own locality. If they voted Conservative they would not get expenditures to which they were absolutely justified.

SIDE LIGHTS

HE NEVER TOLD HIS LOVE.

S. E. Kiser in Chicago Record-Herald.

He never told his love; she met him at the door
And told him he ne'er had looked so well before;
She said she was so glad he had been pleased to call
And talking, took his hat and hung it in the hall.

She had thought of him all day she hastened to declare;
She led him to a nook and sat beside him there;
She deftly smoothed his tie and tucked one corner in
And with her little hand she softly touched his chin.

She told him she was sure he'd some day make his mark;
The nook in which they sat was all their own and dark;
He found her in his arms and vowing to be true;
He never told his love—she made it needless to.

After trying the three year term for aldermen, Kingston is negotiating to return to the one year system.

A Gentleman From Mississippi

By THOMAS A. WISE

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THOMAS A. WISE

Haines searched his brain. He knew of no grave calamity that had happened recently in Mississippi.

"Misfortune?" he questioned.

Senator Langdon nodded.

"Yes, sir, the great old state of Mississippi went prohibition at the last election. I don't know how it happened. We haven't found anybody in the state that says he voted for it, but the fact is a fact. I assure you, Mr. Haines, that prohibition stops at my front door, in Mississippi. So I've been living a quiet life down on my plantation."

"This new life will be a great change for you, then?" suggested the reporter.

"Change! It's revolutionary, sir! When you've expected to spend your old days peacefully in the country, Mr. Haines, suddenly to find that your state has called on you"—

A flavor of sarcasm came into Haines' reply.

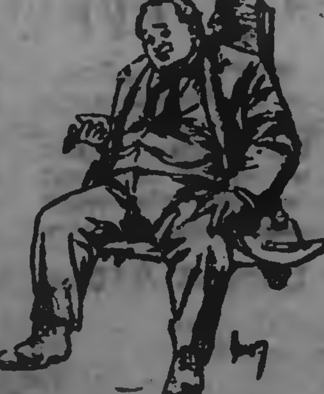
"The office seeking the man?" He could not help the slight sneer. Was a man never to admit that he had sought the office? Haines knew only too well of the arduous work necessary to secure nominations for high office in conventions and to win an election to the senate from a state legislature. In almost every case, he knew, the candidate must make a dozen different "deals" to secure votes, might promise the same office to two or three different leaders, force others into line by threats, send a trusted agent to another with a roll of bank bills—the recipient of which would immediately conclude that this candidate was the only man in the state who could save the nation from destruction. Had not Haines seen men who had sold their unsuspecting delegates for cash to the highest bidder rise in the convention hall and in impassioned, dramatic voice exclaim in praise of the buyer, "Gentlemen, it would be a crying shame, a crime against civilization, if the chosen representatives of our grand old state of —— did not go on record in favor of such a man, such a true citizen, such an inspired patriot, as he whose name I am about to mention!" So the reporter may be forgiven for the ironical tinge in his hasty interruption of the new senator's remarks.

Langdon could not suppress a chuckle at the doubting note in Haines' attitude.

"I think the man would be pretty small potatoes who wouldn't seek the office of United States senator, Mr. Haines," he said, "if he could get it. When I was a young man, sir, politics in the south was a career for a gentleman, and I still can't see how he could be better engaged than in the service of his state or his country."

"That's right," agreed the reporter, further impressed by the frank sincerity of the Mississippian.

"The only condition in my mind, Mr. Haines, is that the man should ask himself searchingly whether or not he's competent to give the service. But I seem to be talking a good deal. Suppose we get to the interview. Expect your time is short. We'd better begin."



"My hands are up. Do your worst."

"I thought we were in the interview?" smiled the correspondent.

"In it?" exclaimed Langdon. "Well, if this is it, it isn't so bad. I see you use a painless method. When I was down in Vicksburg a reporter backed me up in a corner, slipped his hand in his hip pocket and pulled out a list of questions just three feet four inches long.

"He wanted to know what I thought concerning the tariff on aluminium hydrates and how I stood about the opening of the Tento I'n reservation of the Comanche indians, and what were my idea's about the differential rate of hauls from the Missouri river.

"He was a wonder, that fellow! Kinder out of place on a Mississippi paper. I started to offer him a job, but he was so proud I was afraid he wouldn't accept it. However, it gives you my idea of a reporter."

"If you've been against that, I ought to thank you for talking to me," laughed Haines.

"Then you don't want to know anything about that sort of stuff?" said Langdon, with a hugh sigh of relief.

"No, senator," was the amused reply. "I think generally if I know what sort of a man a man is I can tell a great deal about what he will think on various questions."

Langdon started interestedly.

"You mean, Mr. Haines, if you know whether I'm honest or not you can fit me up with a set of views. Is that the idea? Seems to me you're the sort of man I'm looking for."

The other smilingly shook his head.

"I wouldn't dare fix up a United States senator with a set of views," he said. "I only mean that I think what a man is is important. I've been doing Washington for a number of years. I've had an exceptional opportunity to see how politics work. I don't believe in party politics. I don't believe in parties, but I do believe in men."

Langdon nodded approvingly, then a twinkle shone in his eyes.

"We don't believe in parties in Mississippi," he drawled. "We've only one—the Democratic party—and a few kickers."

Haines grinned broadly at this description of southern politics.

"What was this you were saying about national politics?" continued the Mississippian. "I'm a beginner, you know, and I'm always ready to learn."

"This is a new thing—a reporter teaching a senator politics," laughed Haines.

Senator Langdon joined in the merriment.

"I reckon reporters could teach United States senators lots of things, Mr. Haines, if the senators had sense enough to go to school. Now, I come up here on a platform the chief principle of which is the naval base for the gulf. Now, how are we going to put that through? My state wants it."

"You're probably sure it will be a wonderful thing for the country and the south," suggested Haines.

"Of course."

GIVE BABY A CHANCE

Don't dose the baby with soothing mixtures and narcotics—they were never known to help any baby. You might just as well dose the grown up man or woman with opium or cocaine—the result would be the same—a permanent injury to mind and body. When baby is ill give him a medicine that will cure—a medicine free from injurious drugs. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are baby's greatest friend. They never do harm—always good. Concerning them Mrs. Richard Mulhey, Lavigan, Sask., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets should be in every home where there are small children. We gave them to our baby when he was teething and they kept him good natured and healthy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Destructive Rain in Jamaica.

Kingston, Jamaica, Oct. 14.—Heavy rains have fallen here since Monday, and considerable damage has been done.

The thoroughfares are flooded and the railway and street car services interrupted. The telegraph wires are down between important centres.

It is feared that the squalls accompanying the rain will have a bad effect on the banana crop, but so far no serious damage of this sort has been reported.

Presentation to Arthur Hawkes.

Bristol, Oct. 14.—Arthur Hawkes, manager of the publicity department of the C.N.R., Toronto, was presented with a handsome silver rose bowl inscribed as follows: "Presented as a token of fraternal regard from members of the Bristol Chamber of Commerce delegation to Canada, September, 1910."

British Coasting Steamer Sunk.

Sheringham, Eng., Oct. 14. The British coasting steamer Heathfield sank off Blakeney at noon yesterday. Two sailors arrived here in a ship's boat, and reported that sixteen others were missing.

Deported Twenty Russians.

Sarnia, Oct. 14.—The twenty Russians imported to do longshore work here on steamer at Point Edward, were discharged from custody and ordered deported.

ARE KNOWN AS THE FARMER'S FRIEND

Dodd's Kidney Pills Doing Great Work in The Prairies

Michael Anderson joins the throng who are shouting their praises—They cured his Gravel and Rheumatism.

Lime Valley, Man., October 14 (Special.)—Michael Anderson a well known farmer living near here is added to the number of those who have sent the cry echoing over the Prairies, "Dodd's Kidney Pills are the farmer's friend." And truly Mr. Anderson has reason to praise the great Canadian Kidney remedy. Listen to his experience.

"A strain and a bad cold started my troubles," says Mr. Anderson, "and for twelve long years I was a victim of Kidney trouble, Rheumatism and Gravel. Doctors attended me and I tried many medicines, but they did not cure me. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me in less than one month.

It is easy to do anything when you know how. Mr. Anderson went right to the root of his trouble. He cured his Kidneys by using Dodd's Kidney Pills and with the root gone the other diseases disappeared. Dodd's Kidney Pills always make healthy kidneys and with healthy kidneys you can't have rheumatism or gravel.

BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT IS GROWING

Local Advisory Board Appointed—Boys May Go to the King's Coronation

The Boy Scout movement has gained a solid foothold in Peterborough.

There are seventy-five members in the local corps now, and a well-drilled finely-disciplined body it is. The boys are most enthusiastic, and the commendable interest shown by their parents and representative citizens generally, speaks well for the future of the movement here.

On the occasion of the King's coronation next year, an ocean liner will be available for the purpose of taking Boy Scouts to and from the old country for the small passage fee of twenty-five dollars, return. It is probable that Peterborough will be represented at the coronation by a large number of the boys, and it is desirable that they should go, for they would be certain to reflect credit on their home town, as they did in Toronto, when they were referred to as the smartest corps on the grounds.

An advisory board in connection with the local movement has been appointed, and is as follows—Judge Huycke, Lieut.-Col. Stevenson, D. O'Connell, J. H. McClellan, H. R. H. Kenner and F. D. Kerr.

At the present time the Boy Scout movement in Peterborough is assuming quite noticeable proportions, and every man interested in the welfare of his boy should begin to consider whether or not the movement deserves his co-operation and support.

There are so many phases of the Boy Scout's life that it is difficult to give a detailed statement of all that the idea is supposed to convey. However, it might not be amiss to outline very briefly what the Scout Law teaches.

1. It teaches a love of God and of the King

2. It tends to make a boy honorable, courteous, kind to his fellows and to dumb animals, and to inculcate a patriotism and fellow feeling that will never cease to be.

Of course, as in all other organizations, the aims often miscarry and it is a mistake to judge any such body by a few, the only fair way is to judge the organization as a whole and see whether or not it measures up to the standard of other organizations which have for their object the betterment of the human race. Appended is a form of application that every boy must fill in, and it must be passed upon by the committee before such boy may become a member.

As winter is drawing on and it will be necessary to outline a new plan of work, it would be well if all, who intend joining this worthy organization would do so at once. Anyone wishing to join may get an application blank from the Scout Master, Mr. W. J. Neale, of the Collegiate Institute staff, at any time.

The necessary qualifications are to be either eleven years of age or four feet six inches tall.

FORM OF APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP.

I do respectfully desire to become a member of the Peterborough Boy Scouts and do hereby solemnly affirm upon my honor that I have answered the following questions truthfully;

Signed.
Recommended by

1. Name of parent or guardian.
2. Address of parent or guardian.
3. Occupation of parent or guardian.
4. Applicant's age.
5. Applicant's height.
6. Applicant's weight.
7. Do you attend Public or High School?
8. If not, what is your occupation?
9. Do you attend Sabbath school?
10. Have you ever been expelled or suspended from either school? If so, state causes.
11. Have you ever been dismissed by employer? If so, by whom and for what?
12. Do you use tobacco in any form?
13. Do you use bad language frequently?
14. Have you read the Scout Law?
15. Will you obey it?

Welcome to the Rainbow.

Victoria, B.C., Oct. 14.—The arrival of the cruiser Rainbow at Esquimalt the first week in November, will be welcomed by the Provincial Government, detachments of regiments from various parts of the province, and local bodies. A holiday will be declared and a program held. A strip of land owned by the British Admiralty and known as Goose Spit in the Comox district has been set aside as a permanent shooting range for Imperial and Dominion troops.

A Serious Charge.

Chatham, Oct. 14.—Rev. W. A. Gunton, provincial inspector of the Children's Aid Society, assisted by Constable McCrea of Bothwell, Wednesday arrested James O. Coulter on Smoke street, Camden Township, on a charge under the Charlton Act. The girl in the case is fifteen years of age and is a stepdaughter of the accused. Coulter is about forty years of age.

The Italian Cholera Epidemic.

Rome, Oct. 14.—Twenty-three new cases of cholera during the past 24 hours have been officially reported, one in the Province of Bari, seven in the Province of Caserta, one in the Province of Foggia, 13 in the province of Naples, and one in the Province of Salerno. Eleven deaths have occurred from the disease during the same period.

Excoriated Teddy.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Vice-President Sherman was the guest of honor at the Columbus Day celebration in Chicago, and at the banquet Wednesday night made a speech excoriating "men who bluster and flaunt honesty." Sherman's speech was aimed at Roosevelt, but the vice-president refrained from mentioning the lion hunter's name.

Nearly Killed by Robbers.

Vancouver, Oct. 14.—With pockets rifled and his skull fractured, H. A. Roberts, who arrived in this city yesterday from Vancouver, was found lying in a lane between Hastings and Cordova streets, near Cambie. He is now in a hospital at death's door. This is one of several cases of attempted robbery occurring within a few days

MOTHERS WHO HAVE DAUGHTERS

Find Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winchester, Ind.—"Four doctors told me that they could never make me regular, and that I would eventually have dropsy. I would bloat, and suffer from bearing-down pains, cramps and chills, and I could not sleep nights. My mother wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice, and I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking one and one-half bottles of the Compound, I am all right again, and I recommend it to every suffering woman."—MRS. MAY DEAL, Winchester, Ind.

Hundreds of such letters from girls and mothers expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them have been received by The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by its use.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

SPECTACLES SHOULD BE CHANGED

Frequently people will get spectacles which suit them, and go on wearing them for years without having their sight tested to discover whether any change has taken place. This is wrong. All who wear glasses should have their eyes tested at intervals, even if the necessity of such is not apparent to them. As a general rule spectacles for old sight require changing about every 3 years, but it is desirable that the sight should be carefully tested every two years.

Have Eyes Tested at Intervals

A FIREMAN IS FATALLY HURT

And Engineer Injured in Collision Between Passenger Train and Stock Train Near North Bay--A Large Number of Cattle Killed

Special to the Review.

North Bay, Oct. 15.—The C.P.R. Imperial Limited collided head on with a stock train near Geneva, a small station west of North Bay, about 3 o'clock this morning. Fireman Vice of the stock train was fatally injured, while the engineer was seriously hurt. A number of other persons were reported to have been injured, but none, it is said, seriously. A large number of cattle were killed. A dense fog is given as the cause of the accident.

LOCAL CONDUCTORS TO BE AGAIN ON TRAINS

A report from Lindsay is to the effect that all Grand Trunk Railway conductors and trainmen on that division who were not taken back at the close of the strike in July, will be back in their old positions on November 2nd.

About ten men have been out of employment since the strike.

In the present situation here Conductors Haskill and McLean are not on their trains, but the Review is informed that next week will see them again in the service of the Grand Trunk.

THOS. BARRIE & CO. NOW BARRIE'S LIMITED

Capitalized at $100,000.00—Branch Stores to be Opened at Western Points, but Manufacturing Will be Centralized Here—Officers of New Company.

Some ten years ago the fur and hat business of Fairweather & Co. at the corner of George and Hunter streets the store of which was the original home of this firm established in 1867, was purchased by Thos. Barrie & Co.

Now another change has taken place. It is Thos. Barrie & Co. no longer—it is Barrie's, Limited, letters patent having been issued by the Ontario Government granting the change.

Under the present management steady growth and expansion has marked the progress of this firm and to-day Central Ontario knows it as the most complete and best handled fur business.

To Mr. Thos. Barrie and Mr. Edward Hyland much of this progressiveness is due. Both graduated immediately after leaving school into the fur business and have been stickers ever since.

The buying of raw and dressed fur skins has been followed continually by Mr. Barrie and with Mr. Hill the handling of raw and dressed furs has been born right in him and further he is an expert designer, cutter and manufacturer of fur garments and fur lined garments of all kinds. The new Company has a capital stock $100,000.00, and the president is Dr. M. A. Morrison, the vice-president Edward Hyland, and the managing director and secretary-treasurer Thos. Barrie.

The head office will be at Peterborough.

In the capital city of Saskatchewan Regina, a branch store is in full operation with Mr. W. W. Armstrong in charge and it is the intention of the new company to open a series of retail stores throughout the west at favorable points and to centralize the manufacturing end in Peterborough, only doing such work in the western branches as the nature of the business calls for. For Peterborough this means an increased staff of fur workers, with steady work assured during the year, and this in turn will mean increased efficiency.

Benefits to the people of Peterborough will be marked. More money will be put in circulation, and choice well made furs will be the lot of the buying public, and at the very lowest prices. The purchasing power will be bettered and the manufacturing cheapened, as a result of specialising and making in quantity.

Quality first and foremost will be the aim of the new company.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO CHIMES FUND

A generous contribution of $25 was received by the Chimes Committee from Peterborough Lodge No. 111, I. O.O.F., which is greatly appreciated. The handsome sum of $40 was received from the staff and guests of the Oriental Hotel through Mrs. Smith, head waitress, which was a pleasant surprise to the committee and is a striking feature of this big effort. A kind donation was also received from Dr. E. Hammes, of St. Paul, Min. The fund stands to-day at $4,911.72.

Many old subscriptions have also been kindly paid in during the past week, these being due Oct. 1st. It is proposed to call a general meeting of subscribers on Thursday evening of next week to consider the best possible way in which to spend the money for the most profitable public benefit.

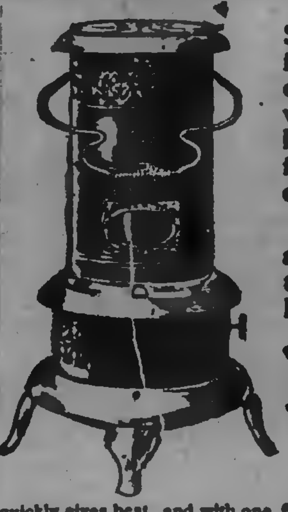
People Who Work Indoors With Their Hands



Seamstresses, watch-makers, artists, draughtsmen, and many others, cannot properly handle their tools with cold, stiff hands. Many a lost hour or two on cold winter mornings results from the delayed heat of furnace or stove.

The Perfection Oil Heater in a few minutes gives the temperature that assures the worker warm hands and pliable muscles. The quickly gives heat, and with one filling of the font burns steadily for nine hours, without smoke or smell. Has automatic-locking flame spreader which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so the wick can be quickly cleaned.

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER
Absolutely smokeless and odorless

It has a damper top and a cool handle. Indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down; it is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain, and cannot get lost.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for rewicking. The Perfection is finished in japan or nickel, is strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

LABARTORY FOR TESTING WATER IN PETERBORO'

The city and well water of Peterborough may now be tested without it being sent to Toronto.

The Water Commission has fitted a well equipped labratory for Dr. McPherson, (M.H.O.) in the city buildings. With the apparatus availabe milk may also be tested, if it is the pleasure of the civic authorities to have the tests carried on here instead of sending the milk to Toronto.

Dr. McPherson was non-committal on this matter, but it would seem probable that the authorities will avail themselves of the opportunity for milk testing.

The idea of the labratory is that the M.H.O. may examine the water from week to week all the year round under different weather conditions, so as to see if the water is bad at any seasons and then steps may be taken to effect a remedy.

For the purpose of making a study of the work of testing of water and bacteriological examination of it, the Water Commission sent Dr. McPherson, to Toronto recently, where he visited the Provincial Labratory.

The local labratory is well equipped for testing purposes. All the necessary appliances are to be found there, and all testing apparatus is steam sterilized before the tests are made.

The test is made for chlorine, and the presence of gas-producing organisms, and then the colonies of these organisms are counted under the microscope, if the test is carried through to the bacteriological stage.

This latter step is not necessary to establish the impurity of the water, but it gives a definite idea of the organisms contained, and what diseases they are likely to have caused, if disease exists in the community.

All water contains chlorine, but if the amount is greater than 6 parts in 1,000,000, the water generally has some contamination. An excess of chlorine may be produced from different causes. Salt contains a large quantity of chlorine, and salt wells may be the source of contamination, but stables and closets and other agencies are the most frequent cause.

The gas-producing organisms are developed in nutrient broth, a culture medium, the medium being put in an incubator, where the organisms incubate and the colonies may then be examined under the microscope.

CONCLUDING LECTURE FOR MEN BY FATHER GILLIS

The last of the series of addresses for men only was given last evening at St. Peter's Cathedral by Father Gillis. He drew a splendid mental picture of the habits and beliefs of the early pagans, and their conception of God. How they built idols which depicted the trend of their thoughts and their ideas of God.

Christ looked down on all this and saw that was necessary that a sacrifice should be made to effect the redemption of these people, and sent His only Son.

Father Gillis then traced the life of the lowly Nazarene from the beginning of His life as the carpenter's son until the terrible tragedy of His death upon the cross, to redeem the world.

GO EASY WITH THAT AUTO

The Ontario Statute of 1906 fixed the limit of speed in cities, towns and villages at ten miles an hour, and upon any public highway outside of the city or town limits at fifteen miles per hour, but the Act provides that any person who drives a motor vehicle on a public highway recklessly or negligently, or at a speed or in a manner which is dangerous to the public having regard to all the circumstances of the case including the nature, condition and use of the highway, and to the amount of traffic which actually is at the time, or which might reasonably be expected to be on the highway shall be guilty of an offence under the Act. The penalty under the Act is not to exceed $50 for a first offence, for a second offence $100, and for a third or subsequent offence, imprisonment not exceeding one month.

The police commissioners at their last sitting considered this matter, and it was considered that on George street, between McDonnel street and the C.P.R. station, and on Charlotte street, between George street and the G.T.R. station, six or seven miles an hour should be the limit.

The owner of the automobile is responsible under the Act for all violations of the law, and boys and girls should not be allowed to drive autos.

The commissioners instructed the chief of police to prosecute all offenders, and to put a stop to the evil habit of delivery boys riding and coasting their little wagons on the sidewalks.

FOR CHARITY'S SAKE

On Monday afternoon at three o'clock, a unique game bowling match will take place at the bowling grounds weather permitting. The married men will play the bachelors, the losers to put up a barrel of flour for charitable purposes. Games will be best two out of three. This promises to be a well contested game, and doubtless the outcome will be watched with considerable interest.

The line-up of the benedicts will be as follows:—

Dr. Marshall, D. Belleghem, F. Brightman, B. Lester.

William Ward died at Sarnia through the bursting of an artery in his head.

WILL TAG FOR THE CHILDREN

A tag day on behalf of the Children's Aid Society is a movement sure to meet with popular approval and general support.

The officers of the society are arranging a tag day for the near future when there will be numerous workers tagging everybody in the interests of the good cause.

Owen Sound's tax rate this year will be 25 mills.

THE CAR TO BUY
Russell-Knight
The Car Noted for its Great Power, Flexibility, Quietness and Endurance
Russell-Knight 1911 Models: 22, 26 and 38 H.P.

CRITICS CONFOUNDED

Interested critics said a year ago: "Do not buy a Knight motor, it is an experiment—in a year or two it may be all right."

Partly this is true—the Knight engine will be improved. Quite frankly we venture to hope that each Knight engine and each Russell car we make will be better than the one before. We believe that our 1914 cars will be better than those of to-day.

But this is the fact that must be borne in mind:—

The Knight engine built in its first year, by the first firm building it in a commercial way, under official observation, put up a performance which no valve motor made by any firm after years of experience has been able to equal.

Is not this conclusive proof of Knight superiority?

Then consider that since that time the engineering skill of five of the leading engineering firms of the world have worked for the improvement of the motor, and have been aided by the experience of over 2,000 users.

To-day the Knight motor stands on its record in all quarters of the globe as a tested, tried-out product of superlative excellence.

In the 1911 Russell "38" you get the culmination of this work in engine design.

Send your name to receive new catalogue of Russell 1911 models with prices.

A "TIP" OR "CLUE" BETWEEN THE LINES

It is impossible to get away from the fact that the spirit of deviltry is playing havoc with some young men of this city.

Of the number of arraignments before Magistrate Dumble of late, with the possible exception of drunks, the majority have been young men charged with various crimes, and again is found a majority in thefts.

Last week a young man was sentenced to Kingston for seven years. Previous to this year, he had always held a good reputation. Surprise was expressed on all sides when he appeared in the police court on several occasions.

Other young fellows have been called upon to face charges. The stealing of watches and small sums of money has been prevalent.

Thursday night two youths were arrested in a confectionary store, and yesterday another arrest was made—another young man charged with breaking into a wholesale business. Tobacco, gum, and such articles were stolen.

Is it possible to get at the root or cause of this "thieving mania?"

Some time ago Rev. R. Pogue came out with a letter to the local press in which he spoke about gambling. This short article may serve to furnish a "clue" or a "tip," as the case may be.

SPORTING NEWS

WORLD'S SERIES OPENS MONDAY

Who will win the series for the world's base-ball championship which opens in Philadelphia Monday? The Chicagos have a host of admirers who are of the opinion that the Cubs' great base-ball machine will triumph over the sterling band of Connie Mack. The Athletics have just as many supporters as Chance's men and these look to see their favorites lower the pride of the Cubs. Unbiased judges believe the two teams are pretty evenly matched as they stand at present. The betting generally is at even money. The Chicago rooters have raised several thousands of dollars to send to Philadelphia to bet on Chance's warriors.

That the Chicago will be weakened by the absence of Johnny Evers is the belief of good judges of the game. Evers was the brains of the Cubs' infield and a fine all round diamond artist. Zimmerman is a splendid young player, however. Although lacking the experience and head work of Evers, he is a better hitter. He will be put in a crucial position in the series and his perfomances will be watched closely.

Pitching is figured upon to play a big part in deciding the games and in this branch the Athletics have the better of the Cubs. Coombs and Bender are two of the grandest pitchers in baseball to-day and their work this season has been way above that of any two of Chicago's slab artists. Then, again, the world's series usually produces some surprises and the pitchers may play an unimportant part in deciding the battle.

The raising of the price of admission to the games to $1 was not a popular move. There are thousands of baseball fans in Philadelphia and Chicago that have supported the teams faithfully all season who cannot afford to pay the extra charge. The admission, in their estimation, should have remained at 50 cents.

EDDIE FOY AND HIS FAMILY BASEBALL TEAM

Talk about keeping things in the family, Eddie Foy is the only proud father who can boast of keeping a really and truly championship ball team right in his family. Foy has two fads; children and baseball. He is so much in love with children that he wasn't satisfied with the six who have the right to call him papa, but he has adopted another half dozen, and they are all quartered at his magnificent home, The Foyer, just outside of New York city.

The ball team, which is known as Foy's Own, was organized last season. The children all seemed to have inherited the love of baseball from their father. "We'll have a team made up of just the family," chuckled Father Foy last summer. The children were all tickled to death. The next week nine natty uniforms came down from New York. Then the real practice began. When the children were all good players they challenged another team of youngsters.

"The way Foy's Own beat that other team was a sin," laughs Foy.

Foy's eldest son, Charlie, is the pitcher of the team. Another son, Dick, is the catcher. Sometimes Foy plays in the games with the youngsters, but he is barred out, of course, when they are playing a championship game.

SPORTING COMMENT

The extraordinary decline in the use of the bicycle in the past 13 years occasionally gives rise to moralising as to the future of the automobile. In 1897 the United States exported bicycles and sundries to the value of $7,005,232; during the fiscal year ending June 30 last, only $602,760 worth Home consumption has of course fallen off in like degree. Each year's figures show a decline.

The passing of the bicycle was partly the fault of the manufacturers themselves. For many years they charged an extortionate price for the wheel, wholly unjustified by the cost of making. When their public had slipped away from them, they lowered their demands, but it was too late. The craze had then subsided, and what they might have saved by fair treatment of the people in the beginning they lost for good and all.

HAVELOCK HAPPENINGS

Havelock, Oct. 15.—Local cash to the amount of about $5,000, forwarded to C. D. Sheldon, the famous Montreal Pool operator, who vanished from his offices this week, is being mourned for by a number of Havelock citizens who had dreams of being placed on "Easy Street" by their investment with this broker.

Three cars on a west bound train were derailed at the eastern entrance to the C. P. R. yards on Wednesday night and were replaced with great difficulty. One car of sealed liquor had to be taken out and placed on the side to get the car back on the track.

Accuses Ottawa Official.

Port Arthur, Ont., Oct. 15.—Over his own signature, in a local paper yesterday J. J. Carrick, M.P.P., charges that C. H. Hunter of the Public Works Department, Ottawa, insulted and threatened sheriff's eviction proceedings for Mrs. D. D. McGillivray, when Mrs. McGillivray, in the absence of her husband, declined to give an option on their property, which Hunter chose as a portion of the site for the armory.

Retained the Receipts.

Moosejaw, Sask., Oct. 15.—C. W. Connors, ex-dining car conductor, on C.P.R., running between Portal and Spokane, was committed for trial yesterday morning charged with the theft of $330, being six days' receipts on his car in June last. Connors left the employ of the company in August. He was arrested at San Francisco two weeks ago.

Thirty Railwaymen Discharged.

Winnipeg, Oct. 15.—As a result of recent complaints the Winnipeg Electric Street Railway put a local detective agency to work, and the first fruits were the discharge Thursday night of over thirty motormen and conductors for drinking while in uniform, neglecting to lift four passengers and other infractions of the rules.

Bomb Near U. S. Embassy.

Paris, Oct. 15.—A powerful bomb was discovered by the police yesterday at the foot of a tree in the Avenue Kleber, near the American embassy. The officers attribute the attempted outrage to anarchists, who sought to put new ginger into the apparently dying railroad strike.

Shot While Killing Porcupine.

Vancouver, B.C., Oct. 15.—Hugh S. Wooley, printer, was kiled at Spanish River, forty miles up coast, by the explosion of a gun. He had attempted to kill a porcupine by swinging the butt of the gun on the animal, but the weapon broke and both barrels exploded.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir—In last night's issue of the Review in the report of police court proceedings you stated that a farmer spent $90 in one hotel, the $90 being the result of a sale of a load of grain. The farmer in question sold a load of peas and had $7.80 when he arrived in the hotel in a drunken condition. He was put to bed and the hotel man took his meals to his room. This same hotel man lent him $13.00 to get his horses out of the stable of another hotel where he left them when he came to the city. The writer does not excuse the hotel men he does not believe in the business but only in fair play,

Yours respectfully
CITIZEN.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir—Having read a letter published in your paper a short time ago stating that the Women's Art Association had not yet presented certain prizes offered by them early in the year to the pupils of the Public schools of the city. I was amused to read in your paper of last evening the report of the said Association's annual meeting this statement, namely:—"The work sent in by the pupils was most creditable. The prizes have proved a great encouragement to both the teacher and pupils."

Now, as this report does not agree with the statement made by "Teacher" that the prizes have not yet been presented to the pupils I wonder who is correct "Teacher" or the "Women's Art Association."

WHEN HEALTH IS RUN DOWN

A Tonic Such as Dr. Williams Pink Pills is Promptly Needed

Best Arrivals

When the health is run down from any cause whatever, a tonic is needed. A feeling of weakness, poor appetite, loss of breath after slight exertion, indicates that a complete breakdown is near. Sometimes these troubles are due to overwork or worry, or again they may be due to the after effects of fever or some wasting illness. But whatever the cause the trouble should not be neglected, and for the purpose of gaining new health and new strength there is absolutely no better medicine than Dr. William's Pink Pills, which fill the veins with new, rich blood, which tones and strengthens every nerve and every organ in the body. Mrs. Rose A. Smith, Roblin, Man. says: "Some years ago I had a severe attack of typhoid fever. When I recovered sufficiently to be able to get about I found that I was not able to gather up my strength. I tried tonic wines and other medicines, but without avail. For months I could hardly go up stairs, and if I took a walk I was always obliged to take a friend with me to help me home again. A doctor had again been called in, but he said I would grow out of it in time and gave me more medicine, but instead of gaining I kept getting worse, and was at last obliged to take to my bed. One day, while lying reading, I chanced to come across a cure made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and this decided me to try them. Before I had taken the pills long I began to feel a decided improvement, and my friends also said I was beginning to look like my old self again. From this on the improvement was steady, but I continued to take the Pills for a couple of months, when I felt that the cure was complete. Several years have passed since then and as I have remained in the best of health I am warranted in saying that the cure is permanent, and I freely give this statement for the benefit it may bring to others."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. [illegible]

CLOSING SESSION OF ASSOCIATION WAS ONE MARKED BY PAPERS OF GREAT PRACTICAL INTEREST

The closing session of the local Teachers' Association produced two papers of great interest and value to the members.

In his paper "Some Important Phases of Elementary Education," Mr. W. J. Keely, showed a complete and true knowledge of his subject. The system in vogue years ago, the present system, and the system to be expected, were dwelt upon. In the past the outlook for the boy who could not, through force of circumstance, aspire to a profession, was not a bright one. The addition of manual training has given the boy with a leaning towards the industrial life an opportunity to begin in the development of the hand. The duty of the teacher was to guide the child in the selection of his life work, and to convince him of the necessity of an education.

THE HEALTH OF THE CHILD

Dr. McPherson's address "The Health of the Child," made a profitable and entertaining close to a convention successful from every point of view. This subject, always of paramount interest to the teacher, was presented in a most practical manner, and as the speaker was for some years a member of the local High School staff, he was quite conversant with the hygenic environment necessary to the pupil. The questions of ventilation and heating were well treated, and illustrated. At the close of the convention the thanks of the association were tendered the speaker for his able address.

PUBLIC PLAYGROUNDS

The public playgrounds question received considerable attention during the session, and recommendations will shortly be made to the municipal authorities to do something in the matter.

The session closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Assembly Hall

W. P. Douglas will preach, (D.V.) the Gospel of God's Grace to-morrow night at 7.00 in the Assembly Hall, George street, four doors north of Market House. All invited.

Women, who can afford any range are proud to own

Peerless Peninsular

It is comparatively easy to make a good looking range. It requires rare skill, and an intimate knowledge of stove construction, to design a mechanically perfect range like the "PEERLESS".

The "Peerless Peninsular" Range is the result of over 50 years experience and research in the science of stove building.

In every essential feature that counts for durability, perfect baking, roasting and broiling, economy in time and labor the "PEERLESS PENINSULAR" is the best that money can buy.

Although the "Peerless Peninsular" is second to none in finish and appearance, appearance alone constitutes only a small part of the virtue essential to a good range. In fuel saving, convenience, baking qualities and all-around efficiency, the "Peerless Peninsular" is as good as it looks. And one glance at it, satisfies the most fastidious that it will be an ornament to any kitchen.

In the final test of what it does and how it does it, the "Peerless" makes its best showing. Being cast-iron of best quality, its durability is beyond question. The oven, however, is deeper than other ranges and made of the finest steel. It responds very quickly to the action of the dampers and its back is aluminized, giving it constant daylight effect. The Oven Door is also of steel and drops down level with the oven floor when open, forming a shelf for basting.

There are dozens of little points of advantage in the "Peerless Peninsular" that make it well worth your inspection. Adjustable Damper, which regulates the heat to a degree—Removable and Convertible Grate Bars—and numbers of others. The "Peerless" is made both right-handed and left-handed, thus you can get the range that is most convenient to use in your particular kitchen.

Constant Peninsular is different from the others mainly in plainer design and finish.

Adanac Peninsular—plain in design with swing door for those who prefer it.

CRESSMAN'S STAFF MAKE PRESENTATION

Cressman's staff sprang a surprise of Mr. Gilespie Stewart last evening, when he found at his residence an elegant suit case and an address, expressive of the high regard in which he is held by them.

Mr. Stewart has been identified with Cressman's for three years, and worked up from his first position to salesman in the staples department. Now he leaves Monday morning to commence his duties of assistant in the staple department of Madill & Anderson, a large drygoods firm, at St. Catharines.

The address was:—

Mr. Gilespie Stewart,
Peterborough, Ont.:

Dear Gilespie,—We, your friends and fellow employees of the Cressman store, having learned of your decision to sever you connection with the firm wish to take this opportunity of expressing to you in some small way the esteem in which you are held.

It would be impossible in this limited space to mention in detail the many remembrances we shall have of your connection with us. However suffice to say that your honorable and cheerful disposition has established a friendship that can long withstand the tide of time.

In your new field of labor we sincerely hope that you will be successful. When we consider that you have yet by far the greater part of life's arch to span, we feel assured that a great future awaits you, and in consideration of the fact that "In the lexicon of youth, which fate reserves for a bright manhood, there is no such word as fail"—any fears we have for your future are there set at naught.

As a token of remembrance of the many warm friends you leave behind, we would ask you to accept this case, hoping that wherever it is brought into requisition it will also bring an associated thought—"The Cressman Staff."

Signed on behalf of your store friends.

COUNTY TEACHERS' CONVENTION

The following is the programme of the county teachers' convention, which has been held at the Normal School the last two days. It closed Friday evening. Many valuable and interesting results were derived by the teachers which will materially assist them in instructing the young.

Thursday afternoon, Dr. Park read a paper on the nature and elements of literature. True literature, exhibits, unity, coherence, symmetry and proportion. It produces artistic pleasure, and its main aim is not to teach facts, science or morals, but to convey artistic pleasure. The intellectual qualities necessary are simplicity, clearness and animation. Literature is powerful when it moulds characters. He then illustrated how it moulded character. A short discussion on the paper followed.

Inspector Broderick next spoke on reading in primary forms. The main trouble was that children had not mastered words. The child has certain ideas when he starts school. Teachers should be interested and impressive. The phonic method was discussed.

On Friday morning the report of the Art Committee, re-exhibits next year was read. A motion was moved by Mr. Lees and seconded by Mr. Trenouth and was adopted. Report of the Nominating Committee was not given. Officers appointed were:—Sec.-Treas., Miss Kirkpatrick. Delegates, to O. E. A., Miss Martin, Mr. Smithson. Executive Committee, Miss Waters, Miss Hutchison. Auditors, Miss McLachlan and Mr. Trenouth. Moved and seconded that the following be a committee to deal with the resolution of O. E. A. and report: Mr. Smithson, Mr. Trenouth, Miss Duff and Miss Kirkpatrick.

Mr. Rowan emphasized the value of oral work in arithmetic. Elementary art was taken up by Miss McRae, and various methods which might be used in instruction. Freedom of hand and freedom of motion should be encouraged. Quite a lengthy illustration of the different colors and their uses in drawing was given. Form work in primary classes was also taken up.

A paper on agriculture and its relation to rural education by H. C. Duff B. S. A. was of much interest. This work stands for rural progress. Ninety-five per cent. of children do not go to High School. The schools educate for nearly everything but farming. There is greater scope for work on the farm than anywhere else. Every teacher should do something of real value for the section in which he teaches. More interest should be taken in agricultural colleges. Mr. Duff said that a teacher should be a leader in the work which he represents.

HOT WEATHER AND CONSTIPATION.

There is a close connection between hot weather and constipation. People do not seem to understand this, and even doctors are slow in comprehending it.

Constipation depends mainly on dryness of the bowels. During the hot weather the fluids of the body are drained away in perspiration. Unless considerable extra fluid is drunk, the internal organs are deprived of their usual amount of fluid. The fluids usually used by the bowels to keep the contents moist, are absorbed into the blood and evaporated on the surface of the body, to cool the body during the hot weather. Hence, constipation.

It is very unfortunate indeed, for any one to be obliged to take drastic cathartics to relieve constipation. Of course drastic cathartics will clean out the bowels, but the habit of constipation remains just the same. Even a little worse.

If a mild and gentle stimulant of the bowels is used, combined with a tonic that has the double effect of stimulating the natural peristaltic action of the bowels, as well as attracting to the bowels the necessary portion of fluids, if such a remedy could be devised it would be of great value to the people during the hot weather.

It is believed that Peruna comes nearer to being a perfect remedy in this particular than any other popular household remedy. Taken according to the directions on the bottle, it not only increases the appetite and gives strength to the nervous system, but it produces a slight action of the bowels, overcoming constipation without producing a cathartic action.

We are in receipt of a great many letters confirming the statements made above. One will suffice for illustration:

Mr. William Eckert, 278 North Eighteenth St., Columbus, Ohio, writes:

"I have been afflicted with chronic constipation for twenty-five years.

"About six months ago I was feeling badly, and concluded to use Peruna as a tonic. To my surprise, before I had finished the first bottle of Peruna I noted that my bowels were moving regularly, without any physic. From that time to this my constipation has disappeared. Peruna has not only built me up, but it has cured me of chronic constipation."

WHO'S COMING AND GOING

Mrs. M. P. Palling, Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. W. C. Taylor, London Street.

Mrs. M. P. Palling, Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. W. C. Taylor, London street.

Mrs. Walter Paterson and daughter, Mary, of Milwaukee, are visiting relatives after an absence of six years.

Mrs. Wm. Lee, 510 George street, has returned to the city after a three months' visit with her sons, near Innisfail, Alberta.

Mrs. R. F. Dewney will receive for the first time since her marriage on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, Oct. 18 and 19, at her home, 298 Boswell Avenue, and afterwards on the second Tuesday of each month.

SCOTCH CONCERT A BIG SUCCESS

The Scotch concert given at the armories last night by the 57th Band smacked of the heather all the way through. It was notably a Scotch night, for everything on the program was Scotch.

The band opened the evening with "Bonnie Brier Bush" march, after which Piper Pollock gave "Old Highland Airs," and later in the evening played "The Market Place of Inverness" which aroused great enthusiasm and was warmly encored.

Mr. Bernaby Nelson, of Toronto, sang his first local engagement, and made a most favorable impression. He has a robust tenor of fine quality, and was heard to splendid advantage in his heroic numbers. He sang "Mary Morrison" and "March of the Cameron Men," on his first appearance, and "The Hundred Pipers" later in the program, and was greeted with very hearty encores.

Miss A. Sisson, of the Conservatory staff, played finished accompaniments.

Esme Aylmer and Hilda Cubitt caught the fancy of the crowd with their Highland dance with bagpipe accompaniment, and, though they seemed reluctant to return, had to re-appear in response to the insistent applause.

The band played in fine form, their spirited rendition of their rousing Scotch numbers winning them cordial applause.

The crowd was a large one, and the seating arrangements were excellent. The work of supervising the seating accommodation was done by Mr. W. Metheral, the head caretaker of the armories, and he is to be commended on the manner in which provision for the large crowd was made.

REV. ROBT. POGUE AT THE Y.M.C.A.

It will be an interesting hour in the Y. M. C. A. to-morrow afternoon, when Rev. Robt. Pogue will speak to the men who will meet there at 4.15. There is no doubt about the fact that the talk will be a heart-to-heart one. Mr. Pogue has a habit of saying what he thinks, and this is never more in evidence than when his hearers are men. He has a message for men for this occasion and every man who has that hour free should hear him. The singing by the men is one of the best features of these meetings. You simply cannot help singing. Everybody sings and you feel that you must sing. Come in at 4.15 to-morrow afternoon and you will agree that it was an hour well spent.

NATIONAL NEED BEING MET

The committee of the Young Men's Christian Associations of Ontario and Quebec have issued an attractive and interesting little booklet, entitled, "Meeting a National Need." The booklet gives interesting information of the scope and progress of the Y. M.C.A. in Canada, concisely describing the special work of the various departments.

ATTENDANCE AT MARKET TO-DAY BROKE RECORD

The poor man on the market must have felt blue this morning. So inviting an appearance and so plenteous was the store of agricultural produce that a person with money could not help but invest. Some of the farmers must be credited with an artistic eye, so attractively were their wagons heaped up.

Probably the largest crowd this year was on the square to-day. It looked this morning as if larger quantities would be needed if the attendance increases.

Eggs, butter and chickens were the most bountiful. Potatoes are still high. No hay was in evidence. The little piglets now cost $8 a pair.

The prices were:
Potatoes—$1.00 a bag.
Eggs—30 cents.
Butter—27 cents.
Apples—20 and 25 cents peck.
Ducks—$1.20.
Turkeys—$2.00.
Chickens—75 cents to 90 cents a pair.

All the small vegetables sold at the usual prices.

OPERATIONS COMMENCED

Mr. Monds, of the firm of Clarke and Monds, Ltd., Toronto, contractors, has arrived in the city to take charge of the general construction work at the new power development house near Auburn.

The operations will be very extensive and will occupy about a year, giving employment to a large number of men. The work consists of a new canal on the west bank of the river, and a new power house just above the railroad bridge on the Lakefield branch.
